To those who are doing the Department work or merchandise, please remember the first of the year is upon us. Every one we are indebted to wants to be paid, and it our credit is to be kept good they must have it. If you are not able to pay us cannot pay them and there will be a break-down, and whose fault will it be? I have now in the safe notes owing to the amount of what would meet the semi-month's expenses, and I have to pay for books and books, I have to pay or say when I will call for them, and then I have it to do. I cannot do like a good brother did me, who gave his note for a bill of goods which he had over two years and been to keep it from coming up to collection collared for 60 days, which I accepted in good faith, and then when properly notified that his note was in bank, and that the obligations given which his note was expected to meet would be due, what did he say? Why he said he would pay as soon as he could, and he did not say that when he gave his note? This is only one case out of many, Brethren, and I do not do. I have only four months to report to finish my quadrennial. I ask the brethren to help me and push up to the General Conference square. Do not allow your name to appear on the report as being in debt to the Department. It will depend on you how much owe us pay, as to how we will come out in the end.

OUR MAGAZINE.

Referring to our forthcoming magazine, the Progressive American, New York, has the following:

NEW YORK, ——The first magazine published by colored people in this country is accredited to the publication department of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, Philadelphia.—Ex. In its issue of January 3, the RECORDER published the following: "Hip, hip hurrah! is the salutation a returned World of Letters gives to our proposed publication." The above publication is going the rounds of the press, apparently with the approval of the RECORDER. It may be that the editor is not aware that it is not so used, but it is. The proposed publication of a magazine is indeed worthy of all praise, and, coming from the source it does, we are sure it will be creditable to those in whose interest it will be published, and a pronounced illustration of the progress of the race in literature, a progress that carries with it advance ment in every phase of human development. But it is hardly worth while to encroach upon the meritorious labors of the past to give it its meed of praise. The new magazine will not be robbed of any of its merits by not being the first. We have before us the complete numbers of the first volume of a thirty page magazine, published by colored men over fifty years ago in this very city. We believe it was published monthly for nearly two years. The magazine of to-day must be first to realize in literary perfection or make up.

The RECORDER is far from sanctioning the thought that our magazine, when it comes, will be the first. On the contrary, it takes delight in doing honor to the men who, in the dark past, had the courage to embark in such an enterprise. As well as in 1853 the men of our Church published what they called the African Methodist Magazine. Later came the Anglo-African Magazine, doubtless the one referred to by our contemporary, with whom we agree that the "magazine of to-day must be fine to excel it in literary perfection or make up." And still later was our own Repository. We are far from making any claims to priority, and feel free to say that in the forthcoming enterprise of our Church no little effort will be required to make manifest the growth of intelligence which, naturally enough, the race might be led to expect. But we are prepared to make the showing possible at the word of the Manager. It would be imprudent for us to boast, and yet we do feel to say that from the excellence of the articles we have on hand, and readily we have said, we give the world, we feel prepared to accept the judgment that will follow.

"A QUESTIONABLE OPINION."

Under the above caption the Sunday School Review, in its issue of February, says:

We are forced to take exceptions in the opinion expressed by the editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, issue of January 17, 1884, "that more money is likely to be wasted in the Sunday school than in any other branch of the church," and the statement that "the Sunday school stands largely in the benefits of the church, and should accept some of its responsibilities."

Unfortunately for Brother Smith in being forced to take exception to the editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, he is equally forced to take exception to himself, for what the RECORDER said was simply a re-echo of the Review. In the November number editor Smith, addressing the Sunday schools, said:

Don't throw away your "old" song books, and don't be always clamoring for a new book. A song book is sometimes new when it is thought to be "old." You have no need to discontinue the use of a book because all you are familiar with every song in it. Good songs never grow old. They will be used in singing over and over again. It is foolishness to try to possess every new song book that may be advertised. It is MONEY and labor WASTE OF.

Elder Smith asks us "to explain just what he (we) means by the use of the term 'waste' in the connection referred to." Certainly. It means buying "every new song book that may be advertised," It is really unfortunate to have a bad memory!

But there is something graver in Brother Smith taking exception to our remark that as the Sunday school stands largely in the benefits of the Church, (it) should accept some of its responsibilities." We say there is something grave in this, for it is exactly on the conception that would be taken by every rabidious superintendent and teacher in the Church. There is not a book in them but would declare with Brother Smith that this is "a reversal of the true order of things," and throw up his hat at the argument the acting Corresponding Secretary of the Sunday School Union makes. Each of them stand ready to ask, in the language of our Brother Smith: "Where, then, are the benefits per se that the Sunday school derives from the Church?" In Question is the answer each would give to his own interrogatory. But we very much doubt whether either the Church sanctions any such view. We are very sure that those pastors, (and their names are legion) who have too often to fight for even a recognition in the Sunday School Union, churches they are sent to serve, will not sanction it. Nay more; we are equally certain that they will take no pleasure in seeing such an article as Brother Smith writes go into their school, for simply as a matter of fact nothing is more certain, than Church is and disloyal wherever it is read. Were it not for helping to spread the bad seed, we would republish Brother Smith's article entire and thus give the preachers a chance to see for themselves the kind of meat the Secretary proposes feeding the "Children of the Church" upon. We rank it, that it is one of those "leaders" which an editor has at times to run off in a hurry, and although we differ altogether in setting him, he suffers to pass.

THE THREE QUESTIONS.

It is to be supposed that the forthcoming General Conference will be attended by as high motives as any of the sixteen preceding it; and as high as such ecclesiastical bodies have in general. Unquestionably those of any body or organization who are "behind the curtain" don't know more of its weakness than do others. The mistake most generally made by such is to dwell at large upon those weaknesses and entirely ignore the strength that may be found at fault to all the world beside. Beyond all question this is the case taken by too many of us who have "behind the curtain" views of our work. We are given to dwell too largely upon our weaknesses, and not enough upon our real strength. And yet the possibilities are that the class among us who think and reason the most are in error in as large as any other, and judging from the elections already made, it is plainly to be seen that a good proportion of these have been elected to the General Conference for next May. We add, therefore, to the remark made at the beginning that it is not supposed that the forthcoming General Conference will be actuated by as high motives as any, but such is to be taken for granted.

With this in view the discussion of the three questions that will be forthcoming next May may be expected to end in a way that will alike be creditable to the body itself, and beneficial to the Church.

What are these three questions?

First, the rotation of the Bishops; second, the continuance of the Presiding Eldership; and third, the creation of three or even five new districts.

That each of these is closely connected with the other. If the Bishops rotate, as we view the matter, the Presiding Eldership will be a necessity. If the Bishops do not rotate, then the Presiding Eldership is not so long the case. Whether we view it, ceases to be a necessity, and that a majority follows will be the lessening the size of the Episcopal Districts and the election of two or even three more Bishops. These, then, are the questions to be discussed next May.

As much as possible be seen, it is impossible to discuss any one of these questions independent of the other, so intimately are they connected, and therefore we proceed to discuss them as a whole. Which is the better—have the Bishops rotate and maintain the Presiding Elder system; or maintain the Episcopal District and abolish the Presiding Eldership? According to our way of thinking, it is in no sense best for the Church to keep both. Within the limits of the Episcopal Districts, even as now constituted, the presence of two supreme powers is by no means desirable. But it may be said there is no such state of things existing as two supreme powers. Let us see: On page 116 of the present edition of the Discipline, referring to the powers of the Bishop, we read, in the interval of the conference, (he shall have power) to change * * * preachers as necessity may require, as declared and required by the rules on these subjects in the Discipline."

On page 121 of the same edition, referring to the powers of the Presiding Elder, we read, "He shall have power, when the interest of the Church may require it, to remove or change a preacher or preachers in the interval of the annual conference." In these two quotations it is seen that every pastor considers his relation to the Church given him at conference at the option, first, of the Bishop himself, and, second, at the option of the Presiding Elder. Neither the man nor the Church has any say in to New York World has to say of the recent marriage of Fred Douglass:

What offense does a lady commit who marries such a man? Has she taken a husband with a dark skin and a little negro blood in his veins. That is the bone and front of her offending. If she had married one of the many ignorant white scamps who, having been kicked out of all decent circles, have found a resting place in the Democratic party, her friends would not have objected. But she has chosen an intelligent, honorable, able colored man, and has given a terrible shock to "Washington society."

It is not time these prejudices against race should cease? Are we to be forever in a Republican government in which all men are now happily considered "free and equal?"

SINCE our connection with the RECORDER, we have never failed to see the necessity of having a local reporter. How often we have spoken of the neglicence of our readers who feel the want of such may judge. But in every instance we have failed, not because no such reporter could be had, not because of the dearth of news. On the contrary, there was at our command had we only a share pittance of the difference in the case in question is the districting of the whole Church. Does it legitimately flow from distinctions which have manifestly existed in our midst? We are not sure about it. Does one thing may safely be said, that until the Presiding Elder system is continued, the difference commanded the approval of the whole Church. That it would do so again is the height of easy. Our own thought is that it would require but little to discuss it. But with the Episcopal Districts continued and the Presiding Eldership abolished, we take one to be the corollary of the other—the question will arise as to the ability of the Bishop to superintend the Bishops giving their Districts the personal supervision which they will demand, especially without Presiding Elders. To say that they would, is to say that they are equal to all asserted with the position must say. A letter from one of our Episcopal Districts, a number of years ago, says, it can completely run down. This Bishop's life is a terrible strain on frame and nerve. This Bishop is not alone, either, in his physical condition or his apprehension of the work of the office. Our own thought, therefore, is, the present Church of Bishops are not prepared to give the Church the personal supervision a continuation of the Districts, making Presiding Elders, would call for. Are we asked: Have we any suggestion to make? the reply is, we have been doing this matter what we conceive to be the wisest, and longest time we might say, prayerful, consideration. At times we felt the weight of argument in favor of the Presiding Elders. Hereafter now we have reached a conclusion it is the following: First, preserve the Episcopal Districts. Second, do away with Presiding Elders; third, divide the Church into twelve districts and elect a sufficient number of Bishops to take charge of them. But some might say, this would necessitate the election of three more Bishops. Precisely so, and precisely more; for certainly one or two of the present venerable fathers ought to be placed on the supernumerary list. Consideration of moment, however, is, or ought to be, not how many Bishops such a course would require, but what is best in the interest of the Church require? If it can rationally be shown that even fifteen Districts are better than twelve, let us have them. Anything to have the work more forward.

REFERRING to the Douglass wedding, our colored correspondent, Jno. I. C. Wears, is reported to have said, "During the last year I have a noticed a marked change in the literary productions of Mr. Douglass—more purity of style and diction about them, and I have reason to believe that this is due to the graceful pen of the lady Mr. Douglass has chosen for a wife." Referring to the "interview" of Mr. Wears in which the above expression is made, a contributor, in our last issue, said, "it is really painful and insulting to hear or read of a man that cannot write an intelligible sentence without help," &c.

As we regretted the over frank allusion to Mr. Douglass by Mr. Wears, so we deeply regret this second personal allusion, and embrace this the first opportunity of apologizing for its appearance in our columns. Handled as on the very eve of going to press, we confess to not having given it the attention it should have received, and therefore the more regret that it should have been allowed to appear.

THE Magazine of Art for February comes in hand with a table of contents that might tempt the appetite of any connoisseur. Among the illustrations of Walter Hamilton Bolcok's article on Cats, is a representation of an ancient Egyptian species taken from a bronze in the British Museum. A most readable article and one to give courage to the struggling American artists is Ben Jamin's account of Chas. Henry Miller, the great American landscape painter. Aaron Watson's second article, The Lower Thames, presents illustrations which, if the reader can choose will be to have been privileged to look upon them as they are. Published by Cassell & Co. and for the small price of 35 cents per number, it would be that it has not a hundred subscription list.

"THE West Indian Abroad," is the title of a new paper shortly to be issued in New York. Its editors are Prof. J. A. M. Johns and Rev. W. B. Derrick. Its publisher, the veteran George Parker. There is something peculiarly significant in the appearance of this journal. In a large sense, it is a straw upon the current, indicating its trend. That the colored races of the Western Hemisphere are eventually to join hands and be mighty factors in the future development of it, can scarcely be denied. One in language, and in history, and in sympathy, they are to be one in destiny. Nor will many score years pass till this shall be so apparent that he who runs may read. Wa wish the West "Indian Abroad" the largest possible measure of success.

THE following is what the Democratic missionaries have become objects of hatred in the Mohammedan because of their recent successes, and some have been threatened. Dr. Watson says he never saw such hopeful signs in Egypt as he can now see. The school at Cairo has 123 day scholars, among whom are a number of new ones, chiefly Mohammedans.

The Livingstone Island Mission has been established at the mouth of the Congo river on the Upper Congo. The station at Stanley Pool is now well established at Vivi. Mr. Sims, who is to reduce to the difficult languages of the interior tribes. Mr. Stanley writes to the mission authorities in London that the station at Vivi is in a healthy situation and the buildings are the neatest and most complete he has seen on the Congo. He expresses his keen sympathy with the mission in its work, and adds: "What I have done for the English, yours, the Algerian, and the Laodana mission, intend to prove to you that what assurance I can give will be regrudgingly given to the cause for which, I believe, really is working."

The Swedish Mission station at Mukullo, East Africa, now includes 70 members, and returns baptisms during the year covered by its report of 6 converts and 3 Christian children. Sunday school contains 45 pupils, who are instructed in the Bible, Catechism, Geography, mathematics, and religion. The missionaries attach particular importance to the discipline of learning Kisuaheli, and have found that there is a wall for the pupils to know Swedish, so that newly arrived missionaries can at once be stationed at outposts. Swedish literature is also largely dependent upon as a medium of instruction.

One of the most interesting services in connection with the anniversary of the Marshall Mission in Paris was the Board in India, is the communion. At the close of the morning service, a portion of the session gathered around the table of the Lord Sunday afternoon. "There were three baptisms administered, most of whom were members of the churches connected with the Marshall Mission; the assembly number were from other Missions in Paris, and from the Reformed Churches, says a correspondent, is probably the most southern city in Western India. As such it has a right to and does claim about the 'failure of Missions': that is the remark of such a company of intelligent, joyous Christian men and women, who two and three years ago from the darkness and hopelessness of heathendom, in sufficient proof that the Word of the Lord cannot be bound, or but that it 'shall stand forever.'"

The retirement of Mr. Carl Schurz, a few weeks ago, from the editorship of the New York Evening Post because of its New York, on the ground that irreconcilable differences of opinion existed between him and his associates with regard to the policy to be pursued on the Civil Service road man with their employers, hereafter weakened enmity in no ordinary degree. Whatever may be said about his political views, he is a man of the highest character, and has to his credit a brilliant record as a soldier, as an author, and as a statesman. Dr. Dorchester, in his "Problem of Religious Progress," says of him: "Carl Schurz, a political exile, is a man of the highest character, and has to his credit a brilliant record as a soldier, as an author, and as a statesman. Dr. Dorchester, in his "Problem of Religious Progress," says of him:

The Grand Prince of Portugal, who is just over 20 years of age, speaks English fluently and converses in it whenever he can. He is the first of the descendants of the Portuguese Royal Family who has ever visited Africa, having at last been released for twelve and a half years of labor in the Portuguese possessions on the first Grambo church at Ocdogas. Sir Bartle Frere, who has been appointed Governor of Cape Colony, has left for the Cape. The first convert from this people was baptized in Pinhal in 1876. Affairs were very much disturbed in the land, so that, in 1879, a number of youth, who had been in the Mission, were obliged to flee to Omaruru, where they found employment in the mines of the Rhenish Mission, and received the assistance which they needed. This event had a good influence on their fellow countrymen, other youth became candidates for baptism. Two of the number have since returned to return from Omaruru and teach their people. Since then the work has escaped being murdered on a previous occasion. The Mission has been greatly squandered Life missionary! And all by reason of mistake made at the beginning. There is something portentious in beginning life. So fraught is it with results that reach even into eternity, that it is well it were hidden from us lest we would be afraid to make even a single step, and so accomplish nothing.

THE FOLLOWING is taken from the Liberia Observer, 22, Nov., 1883:

The undersigned beg to notify his friends, acquaintances and the public generally, that he has this day dropped the name of George Peabody, which he has been known in the Liberian settlements ever since he left Monrovia, some 12 or 13 years ago; and his now resumes the name given him by his natural father and mother, at his birth, 21 years ago, Barh Fofoh, his native town, of which is "a leader to be proud." He does not know that he may prove a leader to his people in the Christian civilization and Christianity! BARH FOFOH.

IN A LETTER just received from Bishop Ward, he speaks almost pathetically of his physical condition. "I am almost completely worn out," he says, "it is strange that this venerable father should be. Almost thirty years on the Pacific Coast, enduring the extremes of climate, is quite enough to fell on a constitution even like his. One of the strongest we have known.

NOTICE

To subscribers who are in arrears.

The law governing newspapers is that the subscriber is held responsible by law for his subscription until he pays up and orders the paper stopped. Subscribed for till he calls on the pbs, I only subscribed for till the end of one year. The question is have you received the paper? If so, you are bound for it and must pay. If you do not want the paper, send on your arrears and order it stopped. You must pay before you can compel the Manager to stop or throw the responsibility on him. If this is true in a legal point, then, of course, church members and officers could be churched for not paying their subscription to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER as in case of debt of any other kind. To whom the Publisher may each trouble, will not the hundreds of members and officers and even ministers who are in arrears please go to the Postoffice and get a postal note. It will only cost you three cents and your subscription is paid up, even if you do owe for two years as is the case with a number. I am preparing a list of those who are indebted to the Department, whether for subscription, books or merchandise, to present to the coming General Conference. If they are not paid before, I hope the General Conference will make a law prohibiting the closing out of all accounts contracted by previous two bishops, and appoint a collector with legal and sociable powers to collect every cent that we are doing by the church paper as they would any bank or firm. If you owe paper in the country, that is not paying for it, and many seem to act as if they do not intend to pay. We have kept the RECORDER going in spite of the hindrances now in the way, which are many. Only three months more, and the year will close for this quadrennial and then we shall see why the Concern does not better succeed.

MANAGER.

NOTICE.

To those who are due the Department for books and merchandise, please remember that I am not the only one in office. Every one we are indebted to wants their money and if our credit is to be kept good they must have it. If you cannot pay us we cannot pay them and there will be no widows, but the whole fault will lie by! I have now in the date notice owing to the amount of what we would meet the current month's expenses. We have 1 boy paper and stock and books, I have to out or say when I will pay for them, and then I have it to do. I cannot tell. Some of the bishops to whom we give his note for a bill of goods have had over two years and have failed to keep it from coming no in confidence. Some of the bills are over three years, which I accepted in good faith, and then was reperently notified that his note was to mature, and that the obligation given which his note was expected to meet would be due, what did he say? Why he said he would pay as soon as he could, and that was all we got. Why not say that when he gave his note? This is only one out of many. Brethren, this will not do. I have only four months report to finish my quadrennial. I ask and all other pains instantly, 25 cts. only, at druggists. and I intend to go up to the General Conference square. Do we need it, and has the money come? The report as being in debt to the Department, and it depends on how those who owe us pay, as to how we will come out in the end.

A "PRIZE TRACT."

TEN DOLLARS IN GOLD.

The Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church, designing to supplement so far as possible, the noble work of Christian education so long fostered and encouraged by the Church, having determined to issue, for free distribution, a series of five tracts, and in order to encourage and stimulate our advanced intelligence, offers ten dollars in gold for the best tract on "The Duty and Qualifications of Sunday School Superintendents and Teachers." The following are the conditions: First, the manuscript must not contain more than twelve bendred nor more than fifteen hundred words.

Second, it must be written in a clear and legible hand. Third, it must be written only on one side of the paper. S. Smith, Bloomington, Illinois, by the first day of March, 1884. This offer is open to all, and any one is free to do so. Bishop Campbell, whether bishop, preacher or layman, can compete. The only person excluded is the Corresponding Secretary of the Sunday School Union. For prudential reasons he is not allowed to write.

THE BLOOD CLEANSER.

ROBUST HEALTH

Is not always enjoyed by those who seem to possess it. The taint of corrupted blood may be secretly undermining the constitution. In time, the poison will certainly show itself, and with telltale signs betray the danger it has been allowed to permeate the system. Sores, pimples, boils, skin disease and sense of unnatural debility are some of Nature's warnings of the consequences of neglect.

is the safeguard that can be relied upon, in all cases, to eradicate the taint of hereditary disease or the accumulated impurities of the blood. It is the only alterative that is sufficiently powerful to thoroughly cleanse the system of Scrofulous and Mercurial humors, or to throw off attacks of Contagious Diseases. It also invigorates the process with by giving the vital and Scarlet Fever, and enables rapid recuperation from the enfeeblement and debility caused by these diseases.

Myriads of Cures

Achieved by AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, in the past forty years, attest its power to subdue in its blood disease, in all possible of cure, that will yield to it. Wherever the Ailments of this class are wherever found, there will be found, also, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, the only specific of Scrofula Arthritis, the remedy that will cure when all others fail. Those who cannot be benefited by this medicine may rest assured that the numerous cases of apparently hopeless disease which have been cured by it, when all other treatment had been unavailing. Prompt will do well to

than AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Numerous crude mixtures are offered to the public as "blood purifiers," which only afflict the patient with the prospect of many cheap doses, and with which it is folly to experiment while disease is steadily becoming more deep-seated and difficult of cure. Some of these mixtures are not only harmless. Bear in mind that the only medicine that can radically purify the vitiated blood is

PALE, POOR, PUNY AND PALLID.

Considering all the ills that attack little children, it is a wonder that any of the poor little youngsters live to grow up.

There are children who are truly objects of pity. They seem almost bloodless. Their cheeks are thin and pinched; their eyes are hollow, and their skin is tightly drawn over their forehead. There is nothing beauty about them. They do not enjoy their lives. They are suffering from the debility that leads to diseases. Poor things!

Do a good deed for the pale, poor, puny, pallid child. Hand its mother a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters. Here is life even for the most delicate, the most debilitated; for the child almost given up for dead. Iron is the blood in what the child needs to bring it up. The little digestive apparatus will recover. The pale cheeks will fill out. The weary groan of the child will be exchanged for the merry prattle of infantile gladness. Iron strengthens all tell you. The makers Brown's Iron Bitters has done for very sick children.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer who will give me their Express and Post Office address. Respectfully,

DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

Worth Thinking Of.

What Ayer's Cherry Pectoral does:—

It prevents the growth, to serious illness, of a dangerous cold, or disease that begins as mere irritation, and is not too old to be neglected as such.

It loosens the phlegm, relieves the larger and smaller bronchial tubes, and effects the patient a last and the only chance of recovery in bronchitis.

It breaks up a cold, and stops a cough more speedily, certainly, and thoroughly than any other medicine.

It cures whooping cough (infantile asthma) so that the paroxysms, hard breathing and "whoop" are unknown.

It cures all lung and throat diseases that can be reached by human aid.

How Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Does Such Good.

It expels the mucus from the throat and the air passages of the head, and cleanses the mucous membranes.

It stays inflammation, puts a stop to bleeding in the lungs, strengthens and enables the patient to rest.

It heals sore throats, relieves the swollen tonsils, and restores natural tone to the affected vocal cords.

Why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is so Perfect a Medicine.

Because it is a scientifically ordered compound, of great potency, the product of years of study, observation, and experience in the treatment of throat and lung diseases.

Because it is prepared from the purest forms of medicinal agents, which are chemically combined by a process known only to the inventor, and which secures a perfection and accuracy of proportion attainable in no other way.

Because it has the prestige in popular estimation for nearly half a century in this country, and the unqualified approval of the most eminent members of the medical profession.

Because it is not only the most effective medicine for the cure in which it is employed, but, owing to the enormous quantities in which it is made, is sold at a price which brings it within the means of every household.

Because it is an entirely reliable agent, that must be taken by drops, as prescribed, and which cannot, therefore, be used by the public as a mere proprietary nostrum that may be taken by the spoonful.

Where Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Stands Before the World.

It is popularly known to be a medicine that has cured laryngeal, bronchial, and pulmonary troubles after all other means had failed.

It is a tested household remedy to-day with people whose lives were saved by it, when they were young, a generation ago.

It has held the first place in popular estimation for nearly half a century in this country, and is to-day more widely prescribed, your elder year, both at home and abroad.

THE SUFFER OF ST. GREGORY.

A tale for Roman guides to tell
To careless, sight-worn travelers still,
Who pause beside the cavern dell
Of Gregory on the Cecilia Hill!

One day before the monk's door came
A beggar, stretching empty palms,
Shrunk, fever-fed, sick, for the name
Of the Most Holy, for alms.

And the monk answered: "All I have
Is in the poor cell of mine I give,
The silver cross and the vase
In Christ's name take thou it, and live."

Years passed; and, called at last to bear
The peaked cowl and keys of Rome,
This poor monk, Pope Gregory,
Sat the throne of lord of Christendom.

"Prepare a feast," St. Gregory cried
"And let twelve beggars sit thereat."
The highest name, and one stood aside
An unknown stranger, with them sat.

"I asked then not," the Pontiff spoke,
"For one of you but if need has thou,
I bid thee welcome, for the sake
Of Him who is thy Lord and mine."

A grave, calm face the stranger raised,
Like His who on Gennesaret trod,
Or His on whom, transfigured,
Whose form was as the Son of God.

"Know'st thou," he said, "thy gift of old"
And in the words the Pontiff marvelled to behold
The Parable of Dives told.

"Thy prayers and alms have risen, and bloom
Breadly among the flowers of heaven
I am The Wonderful, through whom Are answered all prayers that are forgiven."

He spoke and vanished. The Pontiff fell
With his twelve guests in mute accord
Prone on each face, knowing well
Their eyes of flesh had looked on the Lord.

The old-time legend is not vain;
Nor vain are we, Pontiff and Peon,
Telling it over and over again
On gray Vicenza's frescoed wall.

Still wherever pity shares
Its bread with sorrow, love and sin,
And love the beggar's feast prepares,
The unbidden guest comes in.

Unheard, because our ears are dull,
Unseen, because our eyes are dim,
He walks our earth, the Wonderful,
And all good deeds are done to Him.

NORMAL SCHOOLS.

BY MRS. PROF. W. S. SCARBOROUGH.

NO. II.

PRINCIPLES ASSOCIATED, EQUAL, DISCRETE, TOGETHER WITH OTHER PRINCIPLES.—OBJECTIVE TEACHING.—PREVIOUS OF NORMAL SCHOOLS, THEREFOLD.

Though heart and mind were full of the great truths of education, Pestalozzi, from repeated failures, drawback (among them his Swiss idiot) found himself unable to put them into a systematic whole or give expression to those ideas which he felt must be comprehended by educators at large. Hence it is to the services of Johannes Niederer, so he came to be called, that we owe the philosophical form in which were first published to the world. He went to Burgdorf and assisted Pestalozzi especially in teaching geography by first referring to the pupil's own home. Krusi had already prepared lessons in geography, but the first one which he saw he was enabled to prepare some systematic plan of teaching based upon his plan of work. Johannes Ruse was especially fitted for this work as successful in comprehending the relationship of the work to the principles. Besides these two there were many other assistants. We have already referred to one (Schmid), who was especially qualified to attain his own selfish ends, and was the cause of much trouble. This remainder of the story is brief in the extreme as of any enterprise where jealousy, ambition, prejudice, ignorance and narrow-mindedness take as instruments of destruction, are sufficient cause for the accomplishment of a purpose. What Pestalozzi, the friend of humanity, education of beloved associates, the assertion of the best teachers and pupils, consequently the ruin of the institution of Castle Yverden closed for all time. But, as in the case of the Apostle of the Gentiles, the result was a wider dissemination of the truth, so here the result was to spread abroad other communities, these methods of education. Pestalozzi, crushed, returned to his home at Neuhof, where a fever and died in 1827 in the 81st year of his age, and in the 82d year of the year of the same year. Thus ended the life of one who had been to come back to the spot where he first failed in his attempt, at industrial education, and to die (for posterity a last overwhelming failure) Pestalozzi was too childlike, too gentle, too visionary, too enthusiastic, too eagerin and too unselfish to be a man of the world successfully, and we find failure marking all his attempts. It can be said that he failed, but out of the ashes arose, Phœnixlike, a reform which has swept through the world. Well may Stapfer call him "that grand unappreciable man, whose mission it was to plow until he had grasped the immense field, and to sow until he had scattered through the field. Then, and not before, could he reap anything positive concerning the kind of fruit he could turn. The practice school in which the student is schooled in the principles the motive power, and the character of the field, straight or crooked, deep or shallow, is shown in the development, the unfolding of each mind that is put under the master how fruit upon the theory, nor how earned the principles, but the practice school. The degrees are reached, the false steps are retraced, the over-confidence dampened and all errors carefully corrected. Here the student learns to apply the threefold province, the normal school fulfills its mission.

A STEP FORWARD IN MISSOURI.

Saturday night—The convention was then adopted expressing the objects of the convention. The convention was resolved into a State Teachers' Association, and Prof. Dallis, Mo., selected as the next place of meeting. During the convention the Lincoln Institute choir, Miss Ida Drake, pianist, rendered excellent music. Prof. Page, as president of the convention, most efficiently received much credit for conducting each session and enforcing a decided success. We give below, as far as it has been possible to obtain abstracts of the papers read. Several of these papers give evidence of knowledge so extensive, of such earnestness and thoughtfulness that they cannot serve much fuller mention than can be given here.

"Teachers' Vocation," A. W. Williams.

I. Many persons engage in teaching without any just idea of its importance. 2. The teacher's success depends on his preparation. 3. The true teacher is a student. 4. The best objects of education are to give self-reliance, self-resource, to form correct habits and to form correct conceptions.

"Education in the County," G. W. Mitchell.

I. Position of colored schools.

1. The length of time in the white and colored schools in the same district are not the same in many instances. 2. The colored teacher receives a low salary; 3. We pay taxes in rent.

"Moral Culture," Miss Hancocks.

I. The colored voter should attend the polls. 2. Every man should have an equal justice. 3. Mere legislative enactment will not bring about radical changes. 4. Moral culture should acknowledge his capabilities and his circumstances. 5. Moral culture should develop and by practicing the cardinal virtues.

"Physical Culture," Lincoln Institute Standard Prof. J. A. Blone.

Physical, mental incapacity and moral responsibility effects of the last twenty-five years of civilization on the United States. Miss Hancocks, Lincoln Institute.

I. Every training of increased efficiency. Schools for parents, similar to the domestic schools of Germany and Switzerland, should be established in American cities, towns and villages. 2. Physical education appeals to the moral sense.

II. Wiser management in schools; more destinies aims in school training.

Home and school training should go hand in hand. 2. The best physical development of the child. 3. Moral development.

"Means of Raising the Standard of our Profession," Prof. W. O. Sears. The speaker first referred to the things which have done much to progress in mission morally and intellectually, then spoke of the present improvement. Among the things mentioned as leading to lower the standard of the profession were: First, the popular demand for home talent, frequently res

"NO MAN CARED FOR MY SOUL."

The very thought that no man took into consideration his spiritual welfare, was the occasion of the most poignant and illical opposeth. When he was dead, he will take the trouble to read the one hundred and forty-second Psalm. Compared to this he esteemed it as nothing that Saul pursued him, and with such vindictive energy as compelled him to seek safety in a cave. The cry that welled up from the depth of his soul was not that he was driven from home and country, from kindred and friends. On the contrary, it was that he was not permitted to go into the Courts of the Lord; no longer to present offerings to priests anointed of God to receive them; no longer to be enchanted with the sweet strains of Asaph and the fires of Kerah. In short, it was that no man cared for his soul. A sad condition this, all most confess. While men may not care for our bodies, our health or our lives; while they may not care for our good names, or even for anything we possess, we may yet with high hand and lofty look pursue the even tenor of our way. But let us only know that they have no care for our souls, but on the contrary, are ever in their wrath against us as to labor to have us shut out of heaven and hell, and we at once conclude that they have reached the last degree of human hate. And we will conclude aright, for he who aims to damage the body only, is a saint compared to him who aims to damage the soul. In this he ceases to be man, and becomes at once a devil. And yet how often do even Christian people, unwittingly, we believe, make this terrible charge to bring this accusation against them; and what is of most moment, with so great a semblance of truth. That that we care for we take interest in. The miser care for money and lakes interest in it, the literary man for books, the men of business for trade, the mechanic for tools. And so the illustration might be carried out ad infinitum, and in every instance it would be found to be true that that for which we care, we take some interest in. Let this standing principle now be applied to the subject under consideration. What reason has the most of the world to believe that anybody cares for his soul, when they take no interest in it; never say to him, Come, let us go up to the House of the Lord; never ask him, Is it well with you? And yet there are hundreds and thousands of whom this is true. Living in Christian families some of them; some of them brought in daily contact with believers, yet for the first time have they to be interrogated about the interest of their soul. Nor can we doubt that the time will come when they will say, and men have to say, "no man cared for my soul."

In what we have said above, it is plainly to be seen that we have written in the interest of those who feel themselves called to take up the work of the distressed Psalmist. Nor here we any wish to blot out one word written, and yet we beg to say that we have given but one side of the portentous picture. To him who is ready to say, "no man cared for my soul," we address the question, Have you cared for the souls of others? If of the late Representative, E. W. Mackey, the Charleston News and Courier, which of course was strongly opposed to him politically, says: "He was absolutely faithful in carrying out the conception of the most poignant and illical opposeth. When he was dead, he will take the trouble to read the one hundred and forty-second Psalm. Compared to this he esteemed it as nothing that Saul pursued him, and with such vindictive energy as compelled him to seek safety in a cave. Church News.

By Rev. G. T. Waters, (Cape May, N. J.):
"We have had a grand revival in our church at Cape May. Sister Emily Stevens has been with us for two weeks. She is certainly one of God's chosen people. She is a good singer, a good preacher and a christian lady. Her doctrine is filled with the power of God. My church holds three hundred people and on the weather was cold, yet it was crowded every night with white and colored to hear her. Infidels and skeptics converted; that by her teaching many hearts were touched and they now believe in the precepts of Christ. Nine souls have been added to the church and the whole church revived. I truly believe that God has proven a blessing to my church and the brethren will do not say to her."

Rev. Carter Wright, (Providence, R. On Sunday, January 20th, we had our grand rally to raise $1000, or a portion of it. Bishop A. W. The morning and afternoon services were held in Allen Chapel and were well attended. Rev. WANDERINGS IN ENGLAND.

SKETCH VIII.

SOUTHPORT.

If the reader will kindly take his map of England he will find in the western part of Lancashire, on the Irish Sea, the town of Southport. Having satisfied himself as to the location of the town he will be glad to learn something about it. The brief space allotted me will not allow of a description which would be considered altogether significant by the reader. Suffice it to say that Southport is a very healthy summer resort, and in the winter season many invalids find it a desirable place for regaining lost health. The streets are wide and well paved and are kept as clean as experienced eyes can at once see that the town is one of modern date. I was glad to see that there is an abundance of churches and chapels. From any part of the town you can see lofty steeples and square-topped towers looking heavenward. The town is noted for its existence for nought, for 58 per cent of the population attend either church or chapel.

I have had the occasion to speak before of the distinction between church and chapel, but for the benefit of those who do not know the difference, I may say briefly that the England what is known as the Established or National Church, which is supported out of the public funds, and to which the several parts of the Established Church are decomposed. Their chief efforts are to reduce the debt on Allen Chapel. On Sunday, January 20th, we had our grand rally to raise $1000, or a portion of it. Bishop A. W. Personal.

—Senator Edmunds, as president of the Senate, has ordered a bouquet of flowers to be placed on his desk every morning.

—Senator Anthony, of Rhode Island, has been enjoying almost his normal health, though he has by no means regained his strength.

—Ex-Governor Foster, the great Banking chief, is a pleasant-looking middle-aged man, with an intelligent expression of countenance. He dresses in ordinary English attire.

—Dr. James J. Mott, leader of the Republican minority party of Brooklyn, and possibly the next Governor of the State, is a small, spare man of dark complexion. He is a native of the State and noted for his courage. During the days of the Know Nothing excitement he was a howling mob and bid defiance to it.

—Prof. J. H. Gregg, editor of the State Journal, of Harrisburg, and member of the Harrisburg Common Council, has a company with C. Howard Johnson, city reporter for the same journal. These young gentlemen give promise of great usefulness in the future, and they have our heartiest and best wishes.

—Despite his cheerful, sunny face, Thomas Harrison, the "tiny preacher," is a haggard and will soon be married to Miss Griffith, a wealthy young lady of Indiana. Mr. Harrison will then probably give up at once the worn life of superannuated juvenility, his "revival" work and his accompanying $100 a week, and go abroad for several years' travel.

—Senator Morgan, of Alabama, had a hard struggle when he began the practice of law. His offishing was unsolicited for many months. Becoming desperate one day, he packed up his few books and started for the depot, determined to abandon his profession and go to Texas. He had reached the foot of the stairs which led to his office when he was accosted by an elderly man who inquired where John Morgan's law office was. "Right here, sir; my name is Morgan." "Going out?" "I am about to start

THE PRELUDE OF WENDELL PHILLIPS.

Mr. Cook said: "He whom God crowns lives by none save his crowner. There lies dead on his shield in yonder street an unselfish soldier of conspicuous reform, a spotlessly disinterested champion of the oppressed, the foremost orator of the English-speaking world in recent years, the largest and latest, let us hope not the last, of the Christian servant of the Most High God, a man whose heart beat the code of fire and kindled by a breath from the Divine glow many hearts ready to follow his leadership and tenderness. Wendell Phillips has gone, gone, gone from his lofty, lonely great reward. He is with Garrison, with Channing, with Lovejoy, with Sumner, with Wilberforce and Clarkson; he is with Jesus. Wendell Phillips has accepted the Ransom Gnachi, and of all the saintly martyrs who in every age have laid down their lives that the darkness of the ages might be a little lightened, and the heavy load of human sin and woe might be a little lightened, he was the last. He was crowded every night with white and colored to hear her. Infidels and skeptics converted; that by her teaching many hearts were touched and they now believe in the precepts of Christ. Nine souls have been added to the church and the whole church revived. I truly believe that God has proven a blessing to my church and the brethren will do not go to vain.

FROM TEXAS.

BY REV. W. R. CARSON.

MR. EDITOR:—I feel like writing one letter to the RECORDER, as I have just returned home from the Palestine Conference, where I went to sell some books. I did not do much in that line, only sixteen dollars' worth in cash. I left the books with the preachers, asked the reason for such a scarcity of money, and was told that the people refuse to buy unless they can get the books on credit. I replied that I could not afford to do that, and I don't know how many would stuck off, yet his claims he has not got his money. Rev. Mr. Gaines sent me $5000 printed in Texas last year for $15. The President has left the country. North where printing is cheap and will be in time to send them at a cost of $150. We can best that in Texas. Thank the Lord's good to me, he at the General Conference told me that I had a home about the past, and those who are in the land of the living.

The Bishop marked J. W. Bandolph for insubordination on account of that letter he wrote, and the Conference was appointed to try the poor fellow. Look out, J. W. B., this is a white man's God's color. The Bishop is after you. He says he is going to have a clean sheet at the General Conference, if the other Bishops will be like him, and if they don't he is going to Spain and Portugal.

Rev. G. W. Porter's high school is getting on nicely, which is principally under his charge. He has quite a number of students. Some that attended Paul Quinn College are now at his school.

Rev. J. G. Hamilton has been transferred to the Austin Conference. Rev. B. F. Brooks has gone back to Tennessee.

EDITOR CHRISTIAN RECORDER:

Dear Sir—Great and solemn are the follow in such quick succession as to make us live in fear and dread. I never thought that so soon after the terrible calamity of the sinking of the steamship City of Columbus, with the terrible loss of 101 lives, that this evidence of Boston were so soon to be called upon to mourn the loss of such a man as Wendell Phillips.

The Boston Monday Lecture opened on Monday, Feb. 4th, by the noble orations scholar of modern times, Rev. Joseph Cook. The death of this profound theological scholar, orator and philanthropist was the subject of his pretended, when utterances like this were made by such a man as Joseph Cook, exhibiting so clearly as they do the place which Phillips held with Garrison in the struggle which made it possible for the negro to be regarded in America as a man, I hope I may not have erred in supposing the RECORDER would give them a wider circulation for the benefit of the race for which Wendell Phillips struggled so hard and did so much. The following is from the Boston Journal:

It will only cost you three cents to send your subscription to me, even if you do one for two years as is the case with a number. I am preparing a list of those who are indebted to the Department, whether for subscription, books or merchandise, to present to the coming General Conference. If they are not paid before, I hope the General Conference will pass a law authorizing the closing on of all accounts contracted previous to 1884, and appointing a statistician to collect statistical power, and compel those who are doing by the church paper as they would not think of doing by any other paper in the country, that is, not pay for it, and as they seem to act as if they do not intend to pay. We have kept the RECORDER going in spite of the hindrances thrown in our way, and we have many. Only three months now, and our report will close for this quadrennial and that we will see why the CHURCH does not better support it.

NOTICE.

To those who are due the Department on Periodicals, please remember the first of the year is upon us. Every one we are indebted to wants to be paid, and I for one like to be kept good they must have it. If you do not like to see us occupy page in our papers you must help us. Remember there will be a break-down, and whose fault will it be? I have now in the safe notes owing to the amount of what would meet the current month's expenses. We have paper and stock on our books, I have to pay or say when I will pay for them, and that I have to do. I cannot do like a good brother did me, he gave his note for a bill of goods which he had ordered, and requested me to keep it from coming up in conference offered him a note for 90 days, which I accepted in good faith, and thus when conference met, behold that note was in bank, and that the obligation named which his note was expected to meet would be due, what did he say? Why he said he would pay as soon as he got home. Why did he not say that when he gave his note? This is only one case out of many. Brethren, this will not do. I have only four months to report to finish my quadrennial. I ask that all indebted to the Department come to the General Conference square. Do not allow your name to appear on the report as being in debt to the Department. All depends on how those who owe pay, as to how we will come out in the end.

A Safeguard.

The fatal credibly with which alkali Colds and Coughs frequently develop into the gravest maladies of the throat and lungs, is a consideration which should impel every prudent person to keep at hand, as a household remedy, a bottle of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

Nothing else allays with such immediate relief and works so sure a cure in all affections of this class. That eminent physician, Prof. F. Sweetser, of the Maine Medical School, Brunswick, Me., says:—

"Medical science has produced no other remedy at once so safe, so sure, so prompt and efficacious as the Cherry Pectoral. It is invaluable for diseases of the throat and lungs."

The same opinion is expressed by the well-known Dr. J. J. Adkins, of Chicago, Ill., who says:—

"I have used your Cherry Pectoral in my own family and in my general practice of medicine, and I consider it the best remedy for all throat and pulmonary affections of a bronchial character. In the early stages of Consumption, and for children, it is the best medicine I have ever known, and I have never failed to cure the most severe bronchial and pulmonary affections, when taking in reference to relieving even the most serious bronchial and pulmonary affections."

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

Is not a new element for popular confidence, but a medicine which, for many years, has lived at the front of the public favor, and which has never been more highly prized nor more widely used than at present. Its reputation is based on the best of all guarantees—the certainty with which it relieves even the most serious bronchial and pulmonary affections.

A SIGNIFICANT MEMORIAL.

The following has been placed in our hands. It purports to be an account of a meeting said to have recently been held in Bethel Church. In publishing it we beg to say that we have no idea of vouching for its truthfulness either in letter or spirit. Seeing nothing impracticable in it, we present it for what it is worth:

A memorial was held in the city last week and called. He was returning from Salem, N. J., where he had been visiting Rev. R. H. Miller.

The Rev. Dr. William B. Williams, of the Tryon Street Baptist Church, New York, is nearly 80 years of age. He is the senior pastor of that church 52 years. He fills the pulpit nearly every Sabbath.

Bishop Turner wishes any of the ministers in Missouri, who know the whereabouts of Miss Kemp, (he taught there while in the Indian Territory,) to report the same to her to write a full account for the hymns she sent for the book he is getting out.

The story that Treasurer Spinner's phenomenally crooked signature on certificates of stock was made so by nervousness and fright on an occasion when he was counting millions of money was left out—but not the best. It is the kind of government that demands a powerful will on the part of the teacher—it is the school, talking up part in it only that of an obedient and dutiful subject performing the will of his master. I say that such government is possible, yes, I am inclined to think that it is the most common kind of school government, and not only the most common, but the most successful—but not the best. It is the kind of government that demands a powerful will on the part of the teacher—it is the kind that is used to train up the whole ministry of the Church. The present generation of A. M. E. preachers seem not to have even the remotest idea of the terrific conference. 6th. That the local preachers be made responsible for the official board and be treated with due consideration by the itinerancy. 7th. That the Book Concern be made self-sustaining. In support of the several sections of the paper, a local dream was then repeated, "We must make the General Conference feel that if they will not do it for us, we will not bear them. As for the Book Concern," in said, the bishop told me that $11,000 had been received in four years and what have you to show for it? You have been pulled around by the nose long enough."

Having carefully read it, we beg to say: As to the right of petition, that is natural. Any man, or any body of men, has the ineffaceable right to petition for what he deems grievances, and that petition should be patiently heard and generously acted upon. As it relates to the brethren of Big Bethel, we presume petition they have this right, and the forthcoming General Conference will be unwise not to grant them. And yet there are certain things in regard to Official Boards and the like that should be observed by all. The first of these is that the parties so petitioning shall show, as a matter of fact, that they themselves know how to respect the rights of petitions. If the above paper is correct it will be seen that the aforesaid presumption it have failed in this respect. They drafted a paper, it would seem, and when presenting it to the people took occasion, so the report says, to tell them that "the paper could not be altered or amended in * * * that the paper had been adopted in the Official Board and the people could not change it." Now, we do not know whether this was really said or not, but if it were it would go a long ways in making the General Conference pay little or no respect to the requests made; for it should never be forgotten that both in Church and State the people are the sovereigns of all power.

A second feature to all petitions necessary to secure their respectful hearing is that they shall contain no threats. The cannon be said of the proposed petition, providing, of course, that it speak correctly. What that local document is said to have declared, on the principle that "the produces like" will go far toward making it enemies.

As it relates to the petition itself, we beg to say that personally we should fail to support more than one of them.

LIEUTENANT Howard L. Smith, of Boston, Mass., the colored journalist, is now writing the concluding pages of his history, "The Negro in Conflict: His Record as a Soldier." This work will very comprehensive in all its parts and treats at length of individual and collective deeds of bravery performed by colored troops in the Revolutionary war, war of 1812, the late civil war, and the Hayden and African Rebellions. There is also a very valuable appendix containing all the military statistics of the world. The work will be put in type within the next two months.

IN ANOTHER column will be found a request by Bishop Wayman that ought to command itself to the whole ministry of the Church. The present generation of A. M. E. preachers seem not to have even the remotest idea of the terrific conference. 6th. That the local preachers be made responsible for the official board and be treated with due consideration by the itinerancy. 7th. That the Book Concern be made self-sustaining. In support of the several sections of the paper, a local dream was then repeated, "We must make the General Conference feel that if they will not do it for us, we will not bear them. As for the Book Concern," in said, the bishop told me that $11,000 had been received in four years and what have you to show for it? You have been pulled around by the nose long enough."

GRADUALLY the annual celebration of the birth-day of Richard Allen is becoming generally observed. The chief of those who have met this year are Dr. Jenifer, of Boston, and Rev. L. J. Coppin, of Baltimore, both of whom have prepared extended programmes.

WE INVITE special attention to our letter from France. Written by a personal friend of the writer, one of the most scholarly of our race, we may say is worthy of consideration. When our magazine gets in operation we are assured the services of his pen.

TO OUR friend, B. Henri Herbert, we are indebted for a copy of the late survey Civil Rights Bill. It is pleasant to know that even our political enemies have the courage of beginning to believe that we are coming.

WE INVITE especial attention to the article, "Endowment Day." The first of a series, we commend them to the careful reading of all, especially the ministers elect of the General Conference.

WHAT Jane Grey Swisshelm, whom we have known for the last thirty years as a staunch friend of the right, says of the Douglass marriage, is as rare as it is rich. Douglass a white cyclist!

TO HON. D. A. STRAKER, Dean of Law, Allen University, Columbia, S. C., we are indebted for a copy of an argument recently made before the Supreme Court of South Carolina.

Personal.

—Dr. John G. Mitchell is still in the city. We are pleased to know that his visit has proved to be in great good.

—Among memories left by Wendell Phillips are two cameos, formerly carried around his watch-chain. One is a Greek head, 1,031; colored female, 422—total, 6,035. In orthography there were 558,908 students, in reading 294,627, writing 263,281, arithmetic 123,354; grammar 74,024, geography 74,087. The United States history (1,592), the science elements of geology 1,915, elements of agriculture 369. To each white teacher there was an average daily attendance of twenty-seven while pupils, and twenty-three colored. The receipts of the year were accounted to $1,206,292. Expenditures which $795,483 was for teachers and $37,904 for school sites, etc., 1) 9'15, 663; balance on hand, $287,529.

Principal Twitchell, of Hartford, Conn., in a paper which he read the other day before the Hartford County Teachers' Association, made the following practical suggestion about government in the schools: "There is such a thing as a teacher being a monarch in the school-room, and that, too, in absolute authority, asking no favors from his pupils, receiving as inspiration from no human source—in short without the pupil having any share in the government of the school, taking no part in it only that of an obedient and dutiful subject performing the will of his master. I say that such government is possible, yes, I am inclined to think that it is the most common kind of school government, and not only the most common, but the most successful—but not the best. It is the kind of government that demands a powerful will on the part of the teacher—it is the kind that is used to train up the whole ministry of the Church. The present generation of A. M. E. preachers seem not to have even the remotest idea of the terrific conference. 6th. That the local preachers be made responsible for the official board and be treated with due consideration by the itinerancy. 7th. That the Book Concern be made self-sustaining. In support of the several sections of the paper, a local dream was then repeated, "We must make the General Conference feel that if they will not do it for us, we will not bear them. As for the Book Concern," in said, the bishop told me that $11,000 had been received in four years and what have you to show for it? You have been pulled around by the nose long enough."

—Mrs. F. J. Loudin and her sons, Miss Lola Rose, were expected to leave Havenna, Ohio, for Jamestown, New York, and about the 25th inst. will be entertained by Hamburg, after which they will proceed at once to Leipsic, where Miss Thompson will enter the Leipsic Conservatory of Music to complete her musical studies. This young lady is a very promising pianist, and her European studies will doubtless go far toward perfecting her in that art. Mrs. Loudin will remain in Leipsic a couple of weeks and will then go to London to make arrangements for the coming of the Jubilee singers, who expect to sail from New York about April 1st. It is said that they will sing before the National Convention of the English Young Men's Christian Association.

Notes on Education.

The annual report of the Tennessee public school superintendent shows the schools of that state to be in a generally prosperous condition. The scholastic population, for the year was 416,822 whites and 142,624 colored; number of schools, 4,720 of which 1,384 colored; total 6,111, which are of which were under the control of city boards. White pupils enrolled 261,267, colored 65,564; total, 326,831; average daily attendance, whites, 144,205; colored, 31,498—total, 175,804. Number of white male teachers employed, 3,762; female, 1,518; colored male, 1,031; colored female, 422—total, 6,733. In orthography there were 558,908 students, in reading 294,627, writing 263,281, arithmetic 123,354; grammar 74,024, geography 74,087. Missionary Items.

A Scotch missionary, the Rev. W. Macfarlane, has been spending some time in Berlin studying the ways of the German missionary societies. Some of the societies have a system of collection and of working parties. A member of the society, or more, hold a meeting every fortnight, of about half-a-dozen, at some member's house, and collect the money which has been promised. One of the members reads to the party from some missionary publication, and the like. Women are appointed as collectors, each collector looking after ten contributors and no more. If she meet others who are willing to contribute, she reports their names to another collector. For every ten collectors there is a superior collector. Each member of these groups give three pfennigs monthly. The collections are taken weekly. Special collections are also taken in the churches and missions. Most of the German societies are voluntary and not ecclesiastical organizations. The committee of speaks highly of the fullness and accuracy of the Government statistics of Germany, which, he says, provided in abundance. He gives the statistics of nine societies, showing that the number of its missionaries, 68,066; native Christian communicants, 178,782 adherents and an annual income of $620,705.

The Central African Mission of the London Missionary Society has a fine vessel on Lake Tanganyika. The boat is of iron, and is built in sections, each section of which is carried on men's shoulders from the Coast to the Lake, a distance of 800 miles. It was all put together, undertaking, and required all of Captain Hore's tact, energy, and perseverance to accomplish it. The trip took 105 days from the Coast. The boat was launched on the 23d. A boat-shed was erected, and the boat was put together. It is 32 feet in length and 8 feet in width. Its name is the "Nyota ya Asubuo." ("Morning Star"), where he had been visiting Rev. R. H. Miller.

The Rev. Dr. William B. Williams, of the Tryon Street Baptist Church, New York, is nearly 80 years of age. He is the senior pastor of that church 52 years. He fills the pulpit nearly every Sabbath.

Bishop Turner wishes any of the ministers in Missouri, who know the whereabouts of Miss Kemp, (he taught there while in the Indian Territory,) to report the same to her to write a full account for the hymns she sent for the book he is getting out.

The story that Treasurer Spinner's phenomenally crooked signature on certificates of stock was made so by nervousness and fright on an occasion when he was counting millions of money was left out—but not the best. It is the kind of government that demands a powerful will on the part of the teacher—it is the school, talking up part in it only that of an obedient and dutiful subject performing the will of his master. I say that such government is possible, yes, I am inclined to think that it is the most common kind of school government, and not only the most common, but the most successful—but not the best. It is the kind of government that demands a powerful will on the part of the teacher—it is the kind that is used to train up the whole ministry of the Church. The present generation of A. M. E. preachers seem not to have even the remotest idea of the terrific conference. 6th. That the local preachers be made responsible for the official board and be treated with due consideration by the itinerancy. 7th. That the Book Concern be made self-sustaining. In support of the several sections of the paper, a local dream was then repeated, "We must make the General Conference feel that if they will not do it for us, we will not bear them. As for the Book Concern," in said, the bishop told me that $11,000 had been received in four years and what have you to show for it? You have been pulled around by the nose long enough."

Having carefully read it, we beg to say: As to the right of petition, that is natural. Any man, or any body of men, has the ineffaceable right to petition for what he deems grievances, and that petition should be patiently heard and generously acted upon. As it relates to the brethren of Big Bethel, we presume petition they have this right, and the forthcoming General Conference will be unwise not to grant them. And yet there are certain things in regard to Official Boards and the like that should be observed by all. The first of these is that the parties so petitioning shall show, as a matter of fact, that they themselves know how to respect the rights of petitions. If the above paper is correct it will be seen that the aforesaid presumption it have failed in this respect. They drafted a paper, it would seem, and when presenting it to the people took occasion, so the report says, to tell them that "the paper could not be altered or amended in * * * that the paper had been adopted in the Official Board and the people could not change it." Now, we do not know whether this was really said or not, but if it were it would go a long ways in making the General Conference pay little or no respect to the requests made; for it should never be forgotten that both in Church and State the people are the sovereigns of all power.

A second feature to all petitions necessary to secure their respectful hearing is that they shall contain no threats. The cannon be said of the proposed petition, providing, of course, that it speak correctly. What that local document is said to have declared, on the principle that "the produces like" will go far toward making it enemies.

As it relates to the petition itself, we beg to say that personally we should fail to support more than one of them.

LIEUTENANT Howard L. Smith, of Boston, Mass., the colored journalist, is now writing the concluding pages of his history, "The Negro in Conflict: His Record as a Soldier." This work will very comprehensive in all its parts and treats at length of individual and collective deeds of bravery performed by colored troops in the Revolutionary war, war of 1812, the late civil war, and the Hayden and African Rebellions. There is also a very valuable appendix containing all the military statistics of the world. The work will be put in type within the next two months.

FIGURES WON'T LIE.

The figures showing the enormous yearly sales of Kidney-Wort, demonstrate its value as a medicine beyond dispute. It is a purely vegetable compound of certain roots, leaves and berries known to have special value in Kidney troubles. Combined with these are remedies acting directly on the Liver and Bowels. It is because of this combined action that Kidney-Wort has proved such an equalled remedy in all diseases of these organs.

Chicago has a novelty in the way of a Gospel ship, called the Glad Tidings. It is a command of Capt. Burby, his wife, son and two daughters. It makes trips through the Northern lakes, and religious services are conducted by the family.

The disfiguring eruptions on the face, the sunken eye, the pallid complexion, indicate that there is something wrong going on within. Expel the lurking foe to health. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is advised for that purpose; see dose it.

A Massachusetts man has tried the experiment for twenty years, and is convinced that a man can support a family of six on eight acres of land, cultivate it thoroughly, if he should be a farm too small, but now he finds it land enough.

In an article for the toilet, Ayer's Hair Vigor is described. It restores blackness its rough and preserves it from scurf and dandruff, cures lasting and humors, restores faded or grey hair to its original dark color, and promotes its growth.

Of Mexico's debt of $117 000,000, Englishmen hold about $85,000,000. The rate it held is Now 3 per cent. The republic's annual revenue is about $33,000,000, mainly from the stamp tax and tariff duties.

NOTICE

To subscribers who are in arrears.

The law governing newspapers is that the subscriber is held responsible by law for his subscription until he pays up and orders the paper stopped. He cannot fall back on the plea, I only subscribed for six months or one year. The question is have you received the paper? If so, you are bound for it and must pay. If you do not want the paper, send on your arrears and order it stopped. You must pay before you can compel the Manager to stop or else he takes the responsibility on him. If this is true in a legal point, Dept. of course, church members and officers could be benefited for not paying their subscription to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER as it is their organ of debt or any other kind. To save the Publisher any such trouble, will not the hundred of members and officers and even ministers who are in arrears please go to the Post-office and get a postal note. It will only cost you three cents to send your subscription to us, even if you do owe for two years as the case with a number. We are preparing a list of those who are indebted to the Department, whether for subscription, books or merchandise, to present to the coming General Conference. If they are not paid before, the General Conference will pass a law authorizing the closing out of all accounts contracted previous to 1884, and appoint a collector with legal and social influence, and compel those who owe to pay. Such a church paper as they would not think of doing to buy other paper in the country, that is, not pay for it, and they seem to act as if they do not intend to pay. We have given the Reverend gentleman's spoil all the hindrance thrown in our way, but it is necessary. Only three months now, and my report will be made to the quadrennial and then we will see why the Conexion does not better succeed. MANAGER.

NOTICE.

To those who are due the Department for books and merchandise. Please remember the first of the year is upon us, every one we are indebted to want to pay us. Let not a cent in it be kept good they must have it. If you do not pay us we cannot pay them and there will be a break-down, and whose fault will it be. We have now in the safe notes owing to the amount of what would meet the current month's expenses for the year, and since the sale of books, I have to pay or say when I will pay for them, and then I have it to do. I cannot do like a good brother did me, send me a check for a bill of goods which he had over two years and had to keep it from coming up in confession. Some others have done the same. I accepted in good faith, and then when property I notified that the notes were back, and that the obligations given for the note was expected to mean would be due, and what did he say? He said he would pay as soon as he could. Or did he not say that when he gave the note? This is only one class of many. Brethren, this will not do. I have only four months before me to work this quadrennial. I ask the brethren to help me by pay and lift us up to the General Conference square. Do not allow your names to appear on the report as being in debt to the Department. All depends on how those who owe as pay, as to how we will come out in the end. MANAGER.

Opinion is a form of pride which means the more powerful minds; the unwillingness to be back from one's declared opinion, but it is not found in great child-like greatness.

NOTICE.

Will not car subscribers please settle with the first of the year? Best of all get our rule is pay in advance. There is no firm in the land that would afford to send their paper a whole year for three months, constant strain upon us. Just think of our poor printers when you read the RECORDER and order the information it gives, that the man who worked hard, early and late, to prepare it have not been paid. And if you have not paid you subscription now you have no poor printer's money in your pockets. I ask you, patrons of the RECORDER, how are you going to enjoy you Christmas and New Year's turkeys and mince pies and all the other good things and let the unpaid-for poor printers can have no turkey, no mince pies, no good things for their families because you have their money if you have not paid your subscription. Well, do not have it so, but pay immediately your subscription in advance for your mail, and give our printers a happy New Year, if not a merry Christmas. MANAGER.

Scrofula

Is a deadly poison that is transmitted in the blood from generation to generation. Its cure is a duty. Secondary disease, but circumstances may originate it in blood poisoned by scrofula. Ayer's Sarsaparilla produces and develops life naturally. It is a form of the luxury of the rich and the necessity of the poor. Impure Blood in your veins plants the germs of Scrofula in the veins of your children, and entails upon your children's children.

Early Symptoms

Of the presence in the system of the taint of this dangerous disease, have little to indicate its character. They may be but Pimples, slight Eruptions and Humors, or Sores, Boils, or Carbuncles on the cuticle, Boils, or sores only on internal surface of Worthless, or Lassitude, and lack of vital force. Nature "does not make mistakes" as to the work with blood. No one only be cured by the use of the most powerful of Blood Medicines.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only medicine that can be taken in the spring season, to aid Nature in throwing off the effete matter that clogs the veins. That depressing feeling of languor, of physical weakness, and lack or mental energy, which is so generally a subject of complaint at this time, is quickly overcome by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which gives tone to remedies the system, to build up healthy blood, and to infuse vitality into the whole being. Doctrine, Experience, Profession and Practice of

CHRISTIAN HOLINESS.

BY REV. J. A. WOOD.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

"A plain, clear statement of the doctrine of Christian holiness, and of our obligations, how to work out to practice the various methods of agriculture. The community, would be greatly benefited by a more general knowledge diffused, the improvement of much property would be greatly increased, and the preventing of crimes through it work prevented. The labor of many industrial schools, under whatever name they may find them, owe their origin to the "Scientific American," and are largely conducted by Fellebury.

Professional educators from Germany visited the normal schools at Bingdorf, in the central part of the country, and after a few years later we find similar schools springing up throughout Germany. Germany, Russia, Sweden, Switzerland and other countries, grew enthusiastic over the new system of education, and in a very short time the whole continent was dotted with these institutions of learning.

Professor Swan, of the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, was sent to America to examine the system, and upon his return to his native country he made a practical application of the principles, in which work he was ably seconded by Professor Stuart, of Dollar Academy. The normal school attached to the Home and Colonial Society in 1838 was the first established, and owed its reputation to starting out in full the three-fold principles.

The first normal school in the United States was established at Lexington, Massachusetts, with three pupils. Its aim was to prepare teachers for the profession but the ideas in regard to professional training were very vague. There was no practical work, everything was theoretical and consequently the after work of the pupils was largely a series of experiments. The first school in this country to introduce the regular course of practice as a part of education, was established to make object lessons a leading feature. This was the Oswego Normal and Training School. In its effort to inculcate the principles of the Pestalozzian methods of instruction in the public schools of the country, the State of New York also realized the importance of giving to do without the assistance of normal schools. Therefore application was made to the Oswego Normal School before mentioned, and the services of Miss Sheldon secured. Of this lady the writer remembers correctly, the first class formed consisted of twelve of the leading teachers in the public schools, Miss Sheldon among them. Would time and space allow, how the diligent labors of their work, as heard from the lips of these teachers themselves, might prove amusing as well as interesting. The skills hand was the zealous, then, of the teacher, and the ready tact in the application the threefold province and the ability to impart it to her pupils. In this it would be useless to try to follow the progress of this school in the United States. It is sufficient that such schools were upon the same lines are scattered throughout the States and even territories, and a large proportion are manned by graduates from this school of which their pupils in turn. Their labors have been crowned with success. Almost every one of the everlasting principles of education have been propagated and normal schools established. The present Governor of this Argentine Republic, who visited Oswego to procure teachers, gave, at one time, a very humorous description of the first two years' experience in the normal schools established there. Being the pupils' minds were not in the most receptive state for comprehending methods of work, as he related how, the second year, they were carried over the same ground as in the first and they were far more prepared for their work.

As we cannot separate the spread of the principles from the growth of normal schools, we cannot overlook the work done by such men as Horace Mann, Barnard and Arnold Guyot (but recently deceased) who represented principles that were necessary to carry out those objective principles and by the aid of their renowned influence, aided in their further development, and as a consequent growth of normal schools.

Surely, there is room for some agency in a system which from a tiny grain has become an immense tree! Surely, still, these nations cannot have been mistaken! Scotland, Switzerland, Fellesburg, New York, Horace Mann and other great educators, would not have turned from profitable fields of labor to devote their time and emoluments to follow in the humble path of Christ, if they had not something grand and eternal in the principles they advocated!

REVIEW OF WORK.

BY R. S. CAIN, D.D., BISHOP OF THE NINTH EPISCOPAL DISTRICT, A. M. E. CHURCH.

MR. EDITOR:—The sweep of time marks the advance of truth, and carries not for any one period of it. Only a few years of God drive men along whether they will or not. It is the last communication from your correspondent, and tender feelings seemed disturbed by the truths which he uttered. It is the sweep that circumstances over which we possessed no control. It is the dignity of the Church demanded the publication of those truths. There are times when even the delicate feelings of editors must not stand in the way of right and truth. It is above all things most; righteousness is more desirable than a thousand fold in the eyes of the Almighty.

This year will close the quadrennial of the episcopal diocese. A review of the work done may not seem egotistical for the Bishops to present, and set forth the progress of our Church in the South and beyond. Entering the wide field of labor in June, 1880, by way of Mexico and proceeding to Galveston by steamer, there to spend a large portion of this State. Selecting Dallas as the place of residence, we have since made it our home, whence we now write. We have literally been in the saddle ever since we have entered the work, visiting various places, and yet not overtaking the work. To this we have been able to wend our way. Yet few places there are where we have not had a visit from us. The State of Texas is as large as seven States the size of New York, and the population is not properly visit all points. Louisiana is a State of very limited area, and yet reach, there being but few railroads to it. Nevertheless, we have been able to cross it in every respect. Conferences have been generally most pleasant, and but one day of unpleasantness in any conference, which was in the Texas conference, which was in the 29th of November last. All others were days of pleasure, of families who came to greet each other. A desire to invest has been manifested in the spread of the Gospel, but public instruction in the South is among our people. Two new conferences have been formed—one in Louisiana, and one in Texas, namely the Central Texas Conference, stretching from Houston to the gulf of Mexico, taking the line of the Brazos River up to Waco; Eagle pass, and Laredo, on the Rio Grande, and the Northern International Railroad and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad, and that road to Fort Worth, embracing Denison, Sherman, Gaines Rock, Sanger and all the territory embraced in Texas and the Indian Territory. The other is the northwest embracing Fort Concho and Abilene, and the territory between and Oberlin over into Old Mexico. These two conferences are formed. Rev. F. W. Swann is presiding elder of the latter, and has met with signal success since his appointment. He is a man of energy, embraces hundreds of miles and many days in the saddle, receives a hearty welcome. The ministers of the A. M. E. church in Texas are, as a whole, men of worth, on the shores of the Republic of Mexico, and in the Indian Territory. We need a few more who can speak and teach the Spanish language to enter upon that vast work of educating the people in the Christian truth. The North Louisiana Conference is a model one. Its work has done a good work, showing an increase of 1,000 members. It has a good, qualified, Christian teachers to labor in the vast field—men who will keep sober and work intelligently before God and men, whose exemplary lives will spread to posterity as a blessing. We need Christian men and women as leaders, men and women as Christian teachers who love the race as well as themselves, and they will find no trouble in securing places. We will have a good well in the future. The cause of education has received a new impetus in the four years. Fast Quiles College has been established, presided over by Rev. James Academy, New Orleans, has been greatly improved, and has been continued with varying success. There has never been that interest manifested which we have seen during the past year. The action of the Louisiana Conference promises much for the future. The Central Texas Conference promises well. Three bodies of land, but glean the, be arose and as from the very first. Rev. J. W. OUR NEW PREMIUM LIST.

In view of the stringent efforts to increase the subscription list of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, we make the following announcement: All subscriptions that expire January 1st, 1884. Any one sending us one new yearly subscriber, with two dollars, we will send the RECORDER for one year, and send by mail (postage paid) to the person sending the subscription, one Pilgrim's Progress, a book containing four beautiful lithography five piece, price seventy cents. Wayman's Dictionary, price eighty cents, or one of our cloth bye books, price ten own homestead. This is all taught to be. We found Dr. Hunter and his goodly better half living in great comfort. His church is exceedingly desirable, being entirely free from the annoyance most common to Colored Churches. Seldom were we ever greeted by a fuller or a dearer looking audience. Much attention they gave us was all that could be desired. They seemed most zealous in temperance. Dr. Hunter is Editor of "Richard Allen and His Place in History."

Wednesday morning, Feb. 20th, bright and early, found us with our face turned westward, bidding New York only sufficiently long as to take tea with the hospitable pastor of Sullivan street Church, and to look in upon the finely-spoken class of ladies "becoming "West Indian Abroad." We could but think of the fact that here is an individual of whom we have been going beyond that of the effort made by him while A. M. E. Church! But perseverance, however excellent, are deemed to fall behind that of the entire Church, who it shall have been fully aroused. Of course, this will not be in our class, but it is so certain to come as is to-morrow.

P. S.—Our ten days absence from the office has left our correspondence unanswered, for which we stop, all stop. We hope, however, soon to catch up.

REFERRING to the "feeling of interest (said to be) among the colored people looking to their colonization in Africa," our "well esteemed and gifted friend," Dr. Sprigg, Secretary of the Colonization Society, says, "Be that as it may, there is unquestionably among the negroes much of that "unrest" which seeks the bettering of their condition; and in the minds of a portion of those so affected there are aspirations for a kind and degree of free action which cannot—at the least, will not—be attained by the present generation in the country of their birth." In the case of the Mayflower, not content to hover in the midst of strife, contention, and disabilities, though the vest majority of their people may prefer to hold on to their American heritage, with all its drawbacks." We have italicised the words to which we call attention. In the first the good Doctor unhesitatingly admits that the blodranees to the exercise of the "free action" which we demand will remain, but only for the present generation; in the second, he speaks of them as a thing that is to last forever. The first statement is the one upon which the level-headed of the race base their despair. Our disabilities are of to-day.

DR. ALCOTT'S work on the use of Tea and Coffee, first published many years ago, and now given the public by Fowler & Wells, N. Y., with notes and additions by Mr. Siser, has done it work, and now gives the public views of the use of these articles.

Part first opens with the history of tea, showing its exhilarating properties, how it was introduced, its effects when consumed, and its increase. It is shown to be a medicinal substance, and to have the effect of a powerful drug, also that it is a poison and produces a tendency to disease. The origin of the use of coffee is also given, with its effect both on the body and the mind. It is shown that some suffer more from the use of it than others. It is the opinion of eminent authority, that even a moderate use of three articles produces diseased conditions; and we would recommend those who are using either of the above articles with the thought that they are not harmed, and also those who have not acquired the habit, to procure this little work and read what is said on the subject. The publishers will send it on receipt of price, 25 cents, in postage stamps.

ASHVILLE, N. C., can boast of a Reform Club, the object of which is:

1st. To forsake all the possible moral aid to the young people of that community in their effor s to totally abstain from intoxicating drinks. To stimulate them to a higher religious, social and virtuous standing.

2nd. To prevent, so far as it is in its power, all profanity and unwarranted use of our Creator's name.

3rd. This foster seed encourages a spirit of industry, economy, heartily endorsing a course of strict integrity and honesty as the only true avenue to our future development and permanent success.

4th. To collect for our race a library of useful and instructive books and periodicals, to be under the control and management of a proper Librarian, and known as the "Rural Home Library."

Oh, how we seemed that it was not in all the cities of the nation. Stick to it, dear brethren, and accept as our donation jo the "Rural Home Library," for which we send $1.00 in care of the President, Charles F. Lane.

ONGRESS can now be sent for our new book: "Life and Times of our History and Government for Afrikan Methodist Churchmen, Ministerial and Lay." We take occasion to say that it has given us pleasure to furnish a full copies to each of the Bishops and to the General Officers As a recital of the leading facts and events of our progress, we are of the opinion that our "Outline" will serve its day. As a first commendation, we present the following:

MOUNT MISTY, Montgomery, Md., Feb. 22, 1884.

REV. B. T. TANNER, D.D.: Dear Pre.: I write to say that your book "An Outline of Christian Theology for Afrikan Methodist Churchmen, Ministerial and Lay," is a most excellent work. It is very great one, pleasure and profit, long needed in our denomination. I trust that you may receive the liberal support which you so richly deserve. I see by your book that you have been the pioneer in the publication of books, and I hope that you may live to see the more respect our Church. I hope that the time is not far distant when every school, that our children may know from their own books the history of their race. I am glad to see the above

HUMOR IN THE STOMACH.

Much of the distress and sickness attributed to dyspepsia, chronic diarrhœa and other causes is occasioned by humor in the stomach. Several cases, with all the characteristics of those complaints, have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Other cures effected by this medicine are so wonderful that the simplest statement of them strains the best proof that it combines rare curative agencies and when once used secures the confidence of the people.

"No, sir," said Fogg, "I never knew Brown to mislead or deceive anybody in his life. No, sir; fact is, he couldn't. Nobody would believe anything he ever said."

A POPULAR FALLACY.

Many people think that Rheumatism cannot be cured. It is caused by a bad state of the blood which deposits poisonous matter in the joints and muscles, causing lameness, stiffness and swelling of the joints and excruciating pains. Kidney Wort will certainly effect a cure. It acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, stimulating them to a healthy action, purifies and enriches the blood and eliminates the poison from the system. Go to the druggist, get Kidney-Wort and be cured.

Why the rabbits escaped. His lordship later than previous to 1884, and appointed a collector with legal and ecclesiastical powers, and compel those who are doing by the church papers they should not think of doing by any other people in the country. This is not pay, ing for it, and many seem to act as if they did not intend to pay. We have kept the RECORDER going in spite of all the hindrances we have met, which are many. Only three thousand dollars more and we report will close to the readers of the RECORDER why the Concern does not better succeed.

NOTICE.

To those who are does the Department for books and merchandise, please remember the first of the year is upon us, and we are indebted to many for their money and if our credit is to be kept good they must have it. If you do not pay as we cannot pay them and there will be a break-down, and whose fault will it be? I have now in the sales notes owing to the amount of what would meet our obligations, and more too. When I buy paper and stock and books, I have to pay as when I will pay for them, and then I will not be able to keep it like a good brother did me, who gave his note for a bill of goods which he had over two years and then paid it and kept it like a man. I assure office has note for 90 days, which when they promptly notified that his note was due, and that the obligations given which his note was expected to meet would be due, what did he say? Why he said he would pay as soon as he could. Why did he not say that when he gave his note? This is only one case out of many. Brethren, this will not do. I have only four months report to finish my quadrennial. I ask the brethren to pay up and let us go up to the General Conference square. Do not allow your name to appear on the delinquent list. Let it not be on the Department. All depends on how people we pay, as to how we will come out in the end.

Just think of our poor printers when you see the RECORDER and enjoy the information it gives, that the men who worked hard, early and late to prepare it have not been paid. And if there have not paid your subscription you have the poor printer's money in your pockets. That is you, patrons of the RECORDER, how we are deprived of joy you Christmas and New Years' turkeys and mince pies and a little over good things and at the same time our poor printers can barn no turkey, no mince pies, no good things for their families because you have their money you've not yet paid your subscription. Well, do not have it so. Send on immediately your subscription in advance by return mail, and give our printers a happy New Year, if not a merry Christmas.

NOTICE.

To subscribers who are in arrears.

The law governing newspapers is that the subscriber is held responsible by law for his subscription until he pays up and orders the paper stopped. He cannot fall back on the plea, I only subscribed for six months or one year. The question is have you received the paper? If so, you are bound for it and must pay. If you do not want the paper, send on your arrears and order it stopped. You must pay before you can compel the Manager to stop or throw the responsibility on him. If this is true in a local point, then, of course, church members and officers could be cherished for not paying their subscription to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER as to cases of debt of any other kind. To have the Publisher say sleb trouble, will not the hundreds of Members and officers and even ministers who are in arrears please go to the Post-office and get a postal note. It will only cost you three cents to send your subscription to us, even if you are five or ten years as is the case with a number. I am preparing a list of those who are indebted to the Department, whether for subscription, books or merchandise, to present in the coming General Conference. If they are not paid before, I hope the General Conference will pass a law authorizing the closing out of all accounts standing unsettled from 1884, and appoint a collector with legal and ecclesiastical power, and compel those who are doing by the church papers they should not think of doing by any other people in the country. This is not paying for it, and many seem to act as if they did not intend to pay. We have kept the RECORDER going in spite of all the hindrances we have met, which are many. Only three thousand dollars more and we report will close to the readers of the RECORDER why the Concern does not better succeed.

MANAGER.

NOTICE.

To the Brethren of the Texas Conference.

Previous to the setting of your conference I appointed Rev. W. R. Cuney to act as agent for the Department and be accepted in accordance therewith. I have learned that some little trouble in collection, with reports and so forth, to be made at your Conference. Since, I have learned that some little jealousy has arisen which I hope will not prevent him from disposing of the stock on hand and also collecting bills and subscriptions.

KING'S EVIL

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch The world is wiser now, and knows that can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood. This is supplied in the utmost completeness in the latest thorough and reliable medical discovery, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which, by its wonderful blood-purifying, invigorating and restorative properties, cures Scrofula in all its forms, from the worst blood-taint, or corrupted blood, to the ordinary Skin Eruptions, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Sores, Ulcers, Scaly or Rough Skin, Hip-joint Disease, Salt-rheum, &c. It should be constantly taken for Tetter, Eczema, Ringworm, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tubercular Consumption (which is Scrofula of the lungs), and kindred affections, and is guaranteed by its proprietors to benefit or cure in all diseases for which it is recommended, or money will be refunded. Sold by druggists.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

is the only powerful and always reliable blood-purifying medicine in the market. Other so-called sarsaparillas are unreliable. Their ingredients are variable, and their effects uncertain. Not the slightest reliance or confidence can be placed in them. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, on the contrary, is the best blood purifier and most powerful alterative that can be obtained. It is a concentrated extract of the best vegetable remedies for the blood, recognized and used by the most eminent physicians, and universally known to be of unvarying strength and excellence.

Regenerative Medicine is composed of the genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla, with Yellow Dock, Stillingia, the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and some ingredients of great potency, obtained from the vegetable kingdom, but not named. Its formula is generally known to the medical profession, and the best physicians constantly prescribe AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

Absolute Cure

For all diseases caused by the vitiation of the blood. It is unquestionably the most effective and reliable purifier of the blood, whether appearing in the form of Scrofula, Eruptions, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Blotches, Tumors, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Tetter, Scald-head, Rose or Erysipelatous Inflammation, Sore Eyes, Catarrhal Affections, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Female Weakness, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Debility, and all disorders arising from impure blood.

TO THE MEMBERS ELECT OF THE ORDINAL CONFERENCE:

DEAR BRETHREN.—You have doubtless read the Manager's announcement of a daily issue of the RECORDER in May, during the forthcoming session of your body.

To the end that its issues may be of increased value will you be kind enough to send me at your earliest possible convenience, answers to the following interrogations:

1. When and where born?
2. A word as to your parents?
3. How long did you attend Sunday school?
4. What schooling have you received?
5. When were you converted?
a.) When and where licensed to preach?
b.) Received into the itinerancy?
c.) Ordained a deacon and by whom?
d.) Ordained an elder and by whom?
e.) The churches you have served?

THE SIGNS OF THE HOUR.

What are they as they relate to the forthcoming General Conference? It has been our privilege to occupy the seat we do now, on the eve of the assembling of three General Conferences, those of 1872, and 1876, and 1880 We might, therefore, be supposed, to have some knowledge as to the signs which generally precede such assemblies among us. In this as it may, we are free to confess that never within our memory were the indications so ominous as the present. Changes and counter changes are in course of preparation, and the very sea of men's passion is to be aroused. Let none say that our prognostications are too dark. We shall only praise God if we shall be proved to be too prognosticate falsely. The point, however, we aim at, is to invite the whole Church to prayer. "Pray (pray is the cry of Zion) for the peace of Jerusalem." Pray that men's passions may be kept down, that their judgments may be illuminated, that their sense of right may be fortified, and that their prejudices may die. Pray, we say again, for the peace of Jerusalem.

Nor yet only for peace do we invite the Church to prayers. Pray that the wisdom which cometh down from above might rest upon the General Conference individually and collectively: wisdom in the head and wisdom in the body. At the last General Conference, very little legislation was done. If any doubt it, let him examine both the Disciplne and the minutes. In the one forthcoming, great indeed is the necessity for legislation. Aside from wisely managing all the Departments, the existence of more than one of them has to be defined, as for instance, the Department of Education, Church Extension and Sunday school. Not is there any less need for the broadest legislation in regard to the Publishing Department. Surely the time has come for something decisive as it relates to this, to be done. In so far as we personally have had a hand in shaping its destiny, we are perfectly willing and desirous that others shall take our place and try their hand, and we promise them our sincerest benedictions. But the editorial portion of the branch is but as the fifth wheel to a vehicle as it relates to final success—at least it has ever been so regarded. But every man we know anything about the power of the press knows differently. But this has been the estimate generally placed upon the organ of the Church, and, therefore, in the legislation of next May, a thing so unimportant will be easily managed. As, however, we have had occasion to say before, the present extent of the Church absolutely requires that there shall be more than one Publishing House. Quite seventeen years ago, we spoke of the time coming when the conferences of the North would be the Border conference of the connection, while the great heart of the Church would be in the South, and who can say that this is not precisely the condition of things to-day? THOUGH OF THE GREAT HEART BY NOT BY A PUBLISHING HOUSE IN THEIR MIDST? The last one of TWO General Conferences, while these have said, NO, they have failed to properly provide for such demands. It will be the work of of the present General Conference, not only to say, No, but to so provide for as effective by providing the "sinews of war" for a Publishing House, say at Atlanta, or Nashville, or Columbia—a provision that shall be equal, if not beyond that made for the old one in Philadelphia.

And so as we look out upon the work to be done it has occurred to us to say, would it not be a good time to bury all sectional hatchets, and with one accord together in love and legislate for the good of the Church? We will be told, we know, that somebody must be made to answer. Possibly it will and God sibly they won't. This we know: To before next May come and go, and no legislation be done, will be most detrimental to the best interests of the Church. Better allow every supposed grievity one to escape than one men and thus adjourn; for after all, God has an eye on every man in the Church, and though his dear people may fail to bring them to judgment, He will never fail. Either in time or eternity—and better for them in time—must they answer for the deeds done in the body.

Let us end where we began, in the most solemn appeal to the whole Church to be in prayer before Him who is its Head and Lord. Pray that He himself may come to Zion—come even with the sword if it please him. Pray that His blessed will may be done in His own way, all who stand in the way of His glory.

THE BISHOP CAIN AND ELDER CARSON TROUBLES.

When Bishop Cain sent us his letter against Elder Carson, after consulting another Bishop of the Church, we promptly vised its publication, we said editorially:

Even the dullest can appreciate somewhat of the difficulties of a position occupied by an editor, when he reads the communication of bishop H. M. Turner entitled "Disgraced." For the editor to publish it is to be considered guilty of the charges it makes, and also condemned. But what is to do? For the editor to refuse to publish it is to be condemned; for him not to publish it is to be

BISHOP WAYMAN'S SUGGESTION.

We refer to the one published in our issue of February 21st. But lest some of the brethren may have forgotten it, we reproduce it:

MR. EDITOR:—As the General Conference is fast approaching, where some of the best minds in our Church will meet in the Monumental City to consider matters of the best interests of the church of their choice. After having spent more than forty years in the service of the church, and sixty-two years of age—and should I live to see the coming General Conference I may be entitled to the same honor, I therefore earnestly ask room in your columns for a Connectional Mutual Aid Association for the benefit of the Ministers and preachers and their families. First, that every Itinerant preacher be required to become a member by paying fifty cents per year. Second, on the death of a member each be required to pay an equal amount, or more among out to the wife and children of the deceased member. Mr. Editor, I ask you and others who shall be delegates to think thoughts. Conference, consider the above

On general principles the Methodist pastor is the most unselfish of all Christian cures. Not that he is more unselfish than he so, but he is made to administer the most unselfish system, in so far as it relates to the administration, that the Church general knows. If any doubt this statement we beg to call their attention:

First, to the Catholic priest. How carefully does the system he represents look out for his temporal welfare. Why ever saw a shabby dressed priest? Who ever saw one that did not evidence by the heat of living? And so it is. The system he represents takes especial care that its administrators shall receive the very best of attention, and this whether they be active or retired. Indeed, a priest never retires, however helpless he may become.

We call the attention, secondly, of all who doubt what we have affirmed of the Methodist system of administering the Word:

To the Episcopal Clergy. To a very large extent the practical working of this system, in so far as it relates to caring for those who administer the Word, is almost equal to the Catholic system. Episcopal rectors in the vast majority of instances are well cared for. Accepting their pastors, a large part of the results of their labor accrues to their own benefit. Are they called to undergo any privations at first, it is with the assurance that they shall after enjoy the fruits of the vineyard they have planted.

And so of the Presbyterians and the Baptists and, indeed, of all who enjoy the settled pastorate. Each knows full well that he shall share in the fruits which he plants, and nurtures, and ripens.

But unlike all these is the Methodist system. Here all of its ministers the same zeal and devotion, and yet what are the promises it holds out? Absolutely nothing, save the promise that "bread shall be given and the water shall be sure," though it take years to fulfil the divine word. At least this is life it was to us. The leading Methodist bodies, such as the Methodist Episcopal and the Methodist Episcopal South, have matured plans by which the pastor in the connexion system may be bridged over and the man who serves them faithfully "in the end," is assured of support in his declining days. But in our case it is not so. Administering a system which of itself takes no account of the future comfort of its servants, we have lacked the forethought to provide a shelter when the rainy day comes. And the result is here and there we see venerable fathers, who for years served the Church until their power of serving has fled, standing out in the cold, with the drizzle of poverty chilling even to death the little warmth of humanity left in their hearts.

Bishop Weymen's suggestion, if adopted—and why should it not be?—will remedy all this and much more.

In the seven xcore, we purpose to spend at another time. In the meanwhile let some delegate, who feels able to do the Church a signal service, read the assurances of the Bishop's article and begin the preparation of such a Chapter for the Discipline as it will be best June.

MEMBERS OF THE FINANCIAL BOARD.

We promised in our last issue to give our opinion as to the membership in the General Conference of the brethren composing this Board. There are nine of them, five lineraut elders, the Financial Secretary and three laymen. Are these to be counted as members of the forthcoming General Conference, and if so upon what ground? Our opinion is that they are, and should be admitted; and for the following reasons: The Discipline, in defining the composition of the General Conference, says, "The General Conference shall be composed of all the general officers," etc. The members of the Financial Board are general officers in the same contemplated in the law? While in the mind of the framer of this law, we do not pretend to say, but of one thing we are sure, that no rational definition of a general officer can be given that will not include the members of the Board named. What is it to be a general officer? We should not care to be ready to answer this query by saying that the general officers in our Church are those who stand at the head of the general departments of the same. But any such limitation cannot be put upon the language used in the law, and for the reason that if it be done and instituted upon, the Bishops themselves will not be members of the forthcoming Body—they may, indeed, be in general officers, as in the Methodist Episcopal Church, but not de facto members. Personally we discard any such definition for the phrase "general officers," they undoubtedly our Bishops are general officers, though they do not stand at the head of any of the Departments, and therefore of right are members of the General Conference. What, then, are we to understand by the phrase, general officers? We understand by the term "general officer" one who is elected by the General Conference; who does general work, or work for the Church in general; and one who reports to the body that created him. Try the members of the Financial Board by any or all these tests, and it will be found that they meet them. They are elected by the General Conference. They do work for the Church in general. They report the same to the General Conference. If they are not to be considered members of the same, why not?

It may be said, Try the members of the Financial Board have never been recognized in the above light. Our answer is, we never had such before. The Financial Board was created by the General Conference of 1876 was so largely composed of those who were assured of their membership in the quadrennial body, that the question at last received but little thought.

But we favor the admission of these brethren on other and more important even grounds that are general. Of all things should it be a point in the legislative body of the Church to draw to it the best light and all the light possible. It should legislate especially to this point; not allowing itself, in so far as it is possible, to be shut up to the very best intellects of the Church. It is to be supposed that the man who is fit to occupy such a responsible seat as that of the Financial Board, is exactly the man this statement we beg to call their attention:

First, to the Catholic priest. How carefully does the system he represents look out for his temporal welfare. Why ever saw a shabby dressed priest? Who ever saw one that did not evidence by the heat of living? And so it is. The system he represents takes especial care that its administrators shall receive the very best of attention, and this whether they be active or retired. Indeed, a priest never retires, however helpless he may become.

We call the attention, secondly, of all who doubt what we have affirmed of the Methodist system of administering the bounce enough to contend with, even in best, therefore let the sons of light in every section see to it that they assure themselves of the victory; and at the end that God may the more be glorified in his Church.

WERE it not rather indicative of too much of the worldly mentality, the disposition of not a few of the brethren to run to the help of the wicked or principle of any supposed attack, it would really be laughable. This is especially true of the question of locating one or more of the Bishops. Although such question has been for the last twenty years one of those usually mooted and discussed before the assembling of the quadrennial session, it remained for the present dissension to be denounced as an unwarranted attempt to injure the venerable institutions of our Church. We have no idea that the Bishops themselves desire any such defenders, so utterly supererogatory is the work that they show themselves willing to do. Assured as they are that both they and their work rest in the affection of the brethren, they, of all others, feel perfectly secure. Now are they too narrow to forbid, even it were possible, any expression in regard to the Our own view of the matter is that there is more than one of these fathers, by reason of physical weakness, more ready to rest upon the laurels already won than some of these would be defenders would have them do, however, insist that they are physically able for the work, we are prepared to say, and from our heart, AMEN.

IN NEW YORK, we had the pleasure, on Saturday of seeing Secretary Townsend safe aboard the "Alaska," and comfortably ensconced in room No. 8, one of the finest among the many of that splendid floating palace. The Secretary never appeared in better spirits, and it is pleasant to know that he bears with him the prayers and sympathies of the whole Church. There present to see him off also Revs. W. B. Derrick and W. H. Thomas. Having returned to Philadelphia with Elder Derrick, we wended our way to the office of the Globe. Editor Fortune, with the numerous attaches of his office, were at their posts of duty, and seemed busy as bees. Long life to the Globe and long life to its very, very ingenious editor.

Sailing is New York on Saturday, and reaching this city (Philadelphia) while still spending the Sabbath with the minister of our Sullivan street Church, and subsequently of course, he thought of, and so, despite the exceeding inclemency of the day, we were more than pleased at the full attendance at each of the services. We found the West Indian Abroad in the midst of a down right boom. Success to the West Indian and its energetic editors.

ON a private postal received from the Rev. J. Harvey Jones, he says, "The Lord has been very gracious to us of late." Success attends which never appear."

We have no doubt this is so; although we are positive recollection of it. But will Brother Jones and the workers of his district consider that we have more than twenty-two hundred preachers to accommodate in the two pages of the RECORDER? Reduction in all the columns all around must be followed. Of sheer necessity some must go to the waste basket, or be pushed aside until it becomes too old. This last is the general fate of the articles that do not appear. We lay them aside with the purpose of crowding them in at some time; but that time never comes, and so they are lost.

THE EDITORS of St. Nicholas are gratifying the spirit of adventure and heroism of our youth, by the new (and which is appealed to by the blood-and-thunder style of literature), by furnishing sketches of "Historic Boys,"—some as the boyhood of Napoleon. Papers giving the boyhood of Marcus Aurelius, Harry of Monmouth, afterward Henry the Fifth, Giovanni of Florence, afterward Pope Leo X., have appeared in late numbers of the magazine. Among the others promised are: The Boy-Viking (Olaf Tryggvason); The Boy-Scholar (Baldwin of Jerusalem); The Boy-Chieftian (Brian of Munster). Had the writers of this series died before manhood they still would worthily rank as Historic Boys.

WE OF THE seven millions waste lots of time about the question of our appreciation by which people. We beg to say this time only to be implied. Certainly the spirit in us is not worse than that in Caiu, of whom the Lord asked: "If I am God and Lord and Master, shall thou not be accepted?" Only let us do well, and all will be well. After all, the larger share of this whole negro question more depends upon us than upon them. Let us with them to reconcile their position and feeling with their laws and their religion, and then they evade either. When they themselves will have become satisfied with themselves, we shall have no occation to be dissatisfied.

DR. JENIFER having read our "Outlines of History," sends us the following:

REV. B. T. TANNER:

DEAR DOCTOR:—I have read with care and satisfaction your "Outline of Universal History" of the A. M. E.'s church, and am pleased to say that the publication of the production will never know what their church is, or her colored people are worth, until they have read your history.

Among its many peculiar advantages is that it puts questions in the minds of its readers which many would not themselves think of, or have been able to ask. While its simple style and the rare information which it contains increase readers' interest, it starts all the while entries in the thoughtful, admirable for the wise arrangement and efficiency of the Methodist Economy.

As those of you who have seen the primitive history, and its machinery, to better plan it for all time. It requires one of what he knows, and teacher what he needs to understand. It supplies a need long felt by the colored people of this country, and is another valuable contribution to its literature which for so annual review to the same. Its additional articles, as the occasions are being felt, God is giving the soon to the needful. And long spare your life and labor to the Church of Christ and to ourselves.

J. T. JENIFER.

A CONTRIBUTOR to the Liberia Observer says:

It is a great mistake that any of our race in U. S. A. at the present day when they are aspiring so many privileges, as the citizens in that land, should ever think of emigrating to Liberia merely to better their material condition and circumstances in life, unless they are prepared and fully qualified to labor for themselves. Liberia needs no sluggards—there is no room for them in the land. Liberia needs workers—not only the sturdy, thrifty, and brawny laborer—but men and women who can unite brain with manual exertion. Liberia is a poor and weak country. And, like all weak countries, filled with hardships, inconveniences and deprivations. In such lands more than one days wisely try strong men's hearts, but light invariably succumb in the seeming to the faithful and the patient, to him and to the world. Liberia needs the able, the wise, the talented, the skilful, and the energetic, and to give place for harder and more hopeful spheres for the Negro race than the West Coast of Africa, as well as else where. Liberia's field is large, but Liberia's field is not unique. The first pages of the histories of young communities base not yet been written.

J. H. RIGGIN, of Pine Bluff, Ark., writes us:

"I desire very much to obtain the number of church membership in the A. M. E. Church by conference. This aggregate is really obtained, but where and how can I get the several conferences respectively? Doubtless you can obtain the figures of each conference before the close of the session, and oblige very much yours."

Our answer is that it is quite impossible to get the information desired this side the General Conference next May. We scarcely need tell Brother Riggin that he could himself get the information by writing to some member of each of the annual conferences, or the statesmen appear to be. We ourselves have scarcely a complete file of all the conference minutes issued for a year. But if we had, with the burden of work before us, we could not find time to do the work of answering the question.

THOMAS KEN, an English Bishop of the seventeenth Century, is author of the lines beginning:

"Thou whose purpose and whose care
Foresees and watches o'er my life,"

The venerable Bishop Clerce, whose views on higher education have been so frequently spoke as publish elsewhere, is, we believe, the only living author of the hymn, and this presumably for the higher education of the colored youth. Higher education will prove such a calamity to the Negro as the Paine Institute for?

We clip the above from the Atlanta People's Defecon. Time enough to ask that question, my dear contemporary, after Paine Institute shall have been opened. The present indications are that the people of the M. E. Church, South, will thoroughly accept the Bishop's opinion that it will never be more than an institute on paper.

TO PROF. J. G. MITCHELL, D.D., Financial Agent of Wilberforce, we are indebted for "Sketch of History of Wilberforce University," by Rev. Dr. B. F. Lee, President of the same. Only a few brief pages he gives information the most valuable in regard to this, the first school of the A. M. E. Church. Distributed with a free hand through the conference, he can scarcely fail to be of advantage to the schools. By all means should a copy of it be sent to the great papers of New York and the entire country.

Secretary Lincoln returned to attend the meeting of the Harvard alumni in Washington because Prof. Gresney, colored, was not invited.

We clip this from the Atlanta Weekly Pilot; but it is going the rounds of the colored press generally. We should like much to know whether it is really so. If it be, we feel like an ostrich in the wind? for we well remember that Greener once knocked out all the Lincolnian—and we confess to having had a good deal—we ever had.

THE TENDENCY for what some folks call "show," is not only manifest in that portion of our Church people who not only sanction but rejoice at the idea of having a robed ministry, but it has appeared among the Philadelphia lawyers, and the expectations are that before long all the Judges on the Supreme bench will be robed. How is this for High? Anything to stem the baleful tendency of reducing everything to a dead, and we might say a senseless, level.

WE PUBLISH elsewhere what Robert Collyer said of the late Wendell Phillips. Exactly what Mr. Collyer means when he pronounces the color of the "blood red" as "abnormal," we should like to be informed. We would say the fact that three-fourths, if not four-fifths, of the human family are colored, it is a little "unusual" to be called by the other one-fourth or one-fifth, as the case may be, that color is abnormal.

WHEN you hear anything to the hurt of a man whom you have known for years, and who has commanded your respect, before you receive it hear what he has to say. It is the easiest thing in the world for the man present, to misrepresent the man absent, and this is the more true if he imagines he can profit by it. Cut this out and paste it in your hat.

REV. DR. CHARLES S. ROBINSON'S "Open Letter" in the February Century on "Artistic Help in Divine Worship" will be followed by others from the same writer on the general subject of church music. Organs and Orches tras in Church" will appear in the March number, and "Worshipping by Proxy" later.

A HALO of educational light was reflected into our sanctum last Tuesday by the presence of Mr. T. Thomas Fortune, of the Globe, and Rev. C. S. Smith, of the Sunday School Review. Both gentlemen speak highly of the city of Washington, and especially as it relates to the political status of the race.

THE WORD of the veteran A. T. Hall under the caption, "Superannuation," has somewhat of a pathetic ring about it. We have no idea that the forthcoming General Conference will soter upon anything like a wholesale, or even a rational, superannuation of the fathers, be they Bishops or elders.

WRITING us from Howard University, Washington, D. C., Rev. Chas. C. Cargile writes:

Of the six young men who will graduate this year, four are representatives of the A. M. E. Church, viz: Revs. John L. Neale, of Boston, Mass., W. H. Arnold, of Washington, D. C., Wm. H. Giles, of Raleigh, N. C., and myself.

ANSWERS to our interrogatories from the members elect of the forthcoming General Conference are already coming in. We trust no delegate will delay, for we wish to have the first numbers of our Conference Recorder enriched by the opinions and sketches of the eminent men who will compose it.

REV. J. M. TOWNSEND, D.D., has sailed for England. In our city last week, he never looked better, nor in better spirits. May He who "gathers the winds in his fist," and who "binds the waters in a garment," be his keeper while on the stormy deep.

THE DALLAS POST, Selma, Alabama, of which our brother, W. H. Mixon is editor, and M. Ford Bryant Associate, got overlooked. It gives us pleasure to take it by the hand to speak cordially, and say, may you live long.

IF WE are to judge from the general of the country upon the Fred. Douglass matter, we must conclude that remarks of the white and colored press the whites are readier for the mixture than the blacks or colored.

WE PUBLISH elsewhere a letter Bishop Wayman recently addressed the editor of the Christian Advocate. It will be seen that the Bishop has in deairo to accept the special honors of the Maryland legislature.

BISHOP J. M. BROWN was in the city last week, coming all the way from Washington to see his many friends before well meeting given to the Missionary Secretary, Rev. J. M. Townsend.

Personal.

—Bishop Brown, of the A. M. E. Church, was interviewed at New Haven, Ct., on Tuesday, and left on the evening train to what he thought of Fred Douglass' last address. He said that he thought every colored person who read it must be ashamed of the manner in which he expressed himself in the Paine Institute for?

—The Rev. C. S. Smith, of Blooming ton, Ind., chairman of the colored State Central Committee, and Mr. Bryant, who is here to complete arrangements for the National Colored Convention in April, says that the convention will be a success several days, and a secret session will adopt an address demanding recognition from the people and better treatment from the white people of the South. The address will be issued next week, before the Labor Convention, and will be signed by all the delegates. About 250 delegates will be present.—Pittsburg Despatch to the New York Tribune.

—Writes of the Royal family of Sandy, Mr. Vincent Colyer, "Queen Victoria Queen as a model housekeeper. She has been known to rise at 6 o'Clock of the autumn seconds many days in the kitchen of Osborne House, and the whole afternoon she is at work with her needle. Distributed with a free hand through the conference, he can scarcely fail to be of advantage to the schools. By all means should a copy of it be sent to the great papers of New York and the entire country.

—The Rev. Dr. J. E. Clough, who has been, for some years, a missionary in India, is now in this country, and is delivering given some facts concerning the intelligence and piety of the people in that country. "The masses," he says, "are extremely ignorant, but there are many natives who are well educated. There are some men in town to whom there are not three in the land who have the degree of Bachelor of Arts in the Mother country. These are well educated, have great respect, and speak English, many of them better than I do. They are mostly Brahmins, though there are some Mahometans among the number. The Hindus inherit their religion, and have a plan similar to that of the German universities. After passing examinations they are graduated every year and degrees are conferred. The university is conducted by the Governors, and the examiners are the twenty-five men of the highest educational attainments. I noticed, in passing the Memorial Hall in Madras, that Rev. G. Hunter is our presiding elder, and Rev. Mr. Parker, our local preacher, is also stationed at Unice by the Church Missionary Society. The Methodist bodies, white and colored, are investigating the recent Danville riot, is regarded as a failure. The grand jury has been of the legislature came to my house to consult me; but they always went to the Governor. From them he was referred to the Governor, and would hardly believe that my Virginia gentlemen were so far behind as to need appologies for courtesies extended to any man, whatever his color, especially when they were extended to me.

ANOTHER SERVANT GONE.

BY T. W. H.

MR. EDITOR:—It is my sad duty to inform the brethren of the Illinois and Indiana Conferences that Rev. Lewis Alexander will not be present to answer to his name at the next session of the conference and was sent to the State of Iowa, to the Oskaloosa Mission, which is called the capital city of the State. Brother Alexander was present on that work three years and met with much success in the seed, though he had a very hard time there at first; he got hold of good church property at three places, the Iowa Conference will remember, two years ago. The Genesee river, and I shows the talents of a preacher, made his final and fatal leap, became completely blockaded by ice, forming a huge mountain of ice and snow, reaching down the Genesee River or riffowed the principal portion of the city of Rochester. This catastrophe would have, at each repeated the present year had not Providence interposed by a mild, but never felt storm, which melted the ice and snow in a few hours, and the river resumed its course. From which he was rescued in the process uninterruptedly, but also the Genesee river, which had become completed. This is respectfully submitted to the Bishops for basis for next year's appointments.

The Congress may go down to history as the greatest of public building epochs in this generation. Almost every city of importance, which is not already a government structure, is after a fight to get one, and many of these cities a very liberal policy in making appropriations for the purpose to prevail. This will help our election day economy" can be pushed through.

It is current opinion that the Western Union Telegraph Company is about to consolidate its rival, the Postal Telegraph Company, with the President Mr. Green, to control the papers showing their contracts with other companies. The name they were playing for, namely, the purchase of the Postal Company, dignity which this statement has put upon him.—Southern Tribune.

Congressman Wise, of Virginia, testified before the Danville committe that colored people should be allowed to go to his kitchen. If he hopes to prove his friendship for the race, he has taken a poor method of doing it. Wednesday a number of colored members of the House of Delegates called attention to the remark he had made and denounced it. They also thought it possible for him to burn a kitchen, and that would walk arm in arm with a white man on the streets. Congressman Wise is not wise, otherwise he never would have made so arbitrary an assertion. A negro's kitchen would descend to visit another and consequently would be a disgrace to any State assembly. And any Congressman who would invite a legislator to a conference in his kitchen, and refused renegade whose manhood does not rise to the level of his own, will ordered sham.—Chicago Conservator.

Notes on Education.

The public school fund of the State of Missouri now amounts to the sum of $9,292,000, and is accumulating rapidly. The sources of increase of the State school fund are the proceeds of sales of all of the fraternities and other associations of the country. It is also distinguished for its "grist" and "prep" professors, the fun of which consists in the grinding which the poor students have to undergo. The article is generally and beautifully illustrated, and in the hands of a family leads any similar publication in this country.

The Harvard University Quarterly Bulletin, recently published, contains the following interesting letter from Professor Josiah P. Cooke to the students of all shades of opinion as to the amount of $1,500 to be awarded to the successful competitor for the largest private collection of meteorites in the world, by the collection of Professor J. Lawrence Smith, who had died since the

Our Exchanges.

When John B Wise was character ized by the bourbons as the son of the man who banged John Brown, the colored column stood firmer if possible in his support. He is very much misrepresented in this. He is not a son of the man who banged John Brown, but of the Hon. Henry A. Wise, who, if he would have been and a sad reflection on the subserviency of some colored men, had he been hung, John Wise lied, and he knows it Wednesday every colored member of the House of Delegates in Virginia arose and denied Wise's assertion.—Louisville Bulletin.

The Chicago convention of 1884 will doubtless witness the re-enactment of the scenes which were enacted in the precincts of four and eight years ago. The fight will be between the two sections of the Republican party, and the leaders of each will be present. Each section will be represented by a delegation with a full complement of alternates, and each will be entitled to the same number of votes. The delegates from the Southern States will be chosen by the Republicans of those States, and will be entitled to seats in the convention. The Republicans of the Northern States will be chosen by the Republicans of those States, and will be entitled to seats in the convention. The Republicans of the Northern States will be chosen by the Republicans of those States, and will be entitled to seats in the convention. The Republicans of the Northern States will be chosen by the Republicans of those States, and will be entitled to seats in the convention.

Rev. T. W. Cuff (Frankford, Philadelphia): "We are now in the midst of a glorious revival. The blessed Lord is pouring out his spirit upon us. Last night at the altar, seventeen penitents presented themselves for prayers. Our house is filled to overflowing every night. Conversions are taking place daily. Our members are awakened. The whole church is deeply exercised. The altar is filled with penitents. Our meeting has commenced we have had over seventy persons to come forward for prayers, and to date many accessions. The work still goes on. Several unsaved members have been converted during the past week. Others are coming to Zion with songs of joy and gladness. They are also coming from the sister churches to us, and saying Bethel is the church of their choice."

Rev. E. H. Watson (Midway, Ala.): "Notwithstanding the exceedingly severe winter we are not frostbitten, and although the financial status of the country in this place has been in keeping with the weather, we are alive and moving a little. I arrived on this circuit December, 1883, and found a neat little church, which I have had the satisfaction of seeing completed. Our congregation is well to do, and we have a good class-leader and steward, and we resolved to do something. We filled all of my appointments and had a glorious revival. Rev. G. Hunter is our presiding elder, and he is a good man. He is a preaching elder, and he is also stationed at Unice by the Church Missionary Society. The Methodist bodies, white and colored, are investigating the recent Danville riot, is regarded as a failure. The grand jury has been of the legislature came to my house to consult me; but they always went to the Governor. From them he was referred to the Governor, and would hardly believe that my Virginia gentlemen were so far behind as to need appologies for courtesies extended to any man, whatever his color, especially when they were extended to me.

"We are doing a tremendous business and are far behind in our orders. We have been to work on a new church, also no matter how strong their constitution may be, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures all blood diseases, from a common blotch or pimple to the worst scrofula. In all diseases of the throat, such as clergyman's sore throat, bronchitis, severe coughs, asthma, and kindred affections, it is unequaled. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, chronic nasal catarrh, and all diseases of the head, accompanied with scrofulous humors, it is an unfailing remedy. Sold by druggists.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is designed to meet the wants of those who need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies. No other article takes hold of the system and lets exactly the good it like Hood's Sarsaparilla. It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving it spring all renewed life and energy. $1 a bottle; six for $5.

Dr. Werner Siemens has demonstrated, by experiment, that electricity of low degrees do not emit light, so that light given by heated gas must come from solid particles.

In the Hop Plaster the virtues of Pure Hops are combined with strengthening and stimulating properties of the essences of Wax Bark, Pain in the Side, Rheumatism, and Neuralgia or Pain in the Chest are simply removed. It is a healing more efficacious and thorough than any liniment or liquid remedies. You'll say so after using.

Herr Krupp, of Essen, has taken out a patent for a flat-headed artillery projectile. It explodes on striking the earth, and not only pierces that plates with ease, but the pointed kind, which are apt to reflect a glancing stroke from certain angles, but it is calculated to bit the iron-clads below the armor.

"From the worst stages of Heart Disease I completely cured myself by the use of Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator." T. M. Payne, Tilton, N. H." 30 years have proved the Heart Regulator a sure remedy. Sold by druggists at $1. per bottle.

A breeder of canary birds, a short time since, conceived the idea of feeding a young bird with a mixture of steeped bread and finely powdered cayenne pepper, with the view of changing the color of its plumage. It is asserted with good authority that, without inferring this bird, the pigment of the spice passed into the blood and dyed the plumage a very deep red.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by intelligent people for over forty years. It has indisputably proved itself the best known specific for all colds, coughs and pulmonary complaints.

In a paper read before the London Society of Arts some interesting particulars are given as to the swiftness attained by science in various industries. Among others, it is related that, whereas a pocket knife and outside blades of cocoons used to be considered useless and thrown away, they are now considered of great value, and, in the United States alone, there is stored up annually at a value of over $1,000,000.

Samaritan Nervine relieves the brain of morbid fancies. It's a pure family medicine.

"Samaritan Nervine cured me of 'St. Vitus Dance'" said T. S. Osborn, Richmond, Va.

The money of Tonquin is made of lead, and very bad lead at that. The coins are thin discs strung on twine, and for a quid or two one may have a travelling purse full. Of course, such a load of shopping is followed by a crowd, who carries her purse and groans under the load. Of course, such a cumbersome medium hampers commerce and keeps one of the finest peoples which the French hope to introduce to a silver currency.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the spring of the year to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the appetite, aid digestion, and restore the healthy tone and vigor of the whole physical mechanism.

In my study I am apt to converse with none but wise men; but when at table it is impos sible for me to avoid the society of fools.

No molasses and water mixture, but a concentrated extract of the active medicinal properties of roots, barks, &c., is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

NOTICE

To subscribers who are in arrears.

The law governing newspapers is that the subscriber is held responsible by law for his subscription until he pays up and orders the paper stopped. He cannot fail back on the law, I only subscribed for six months two years ago. The question is have you received the papers? If so, you are bound for it and must pay. If you do not want the paper, send on your arrears and order it stopped. You must pay before you can compel the Manager to stop or throw the responsibility on him. If this is true in a legal point, then, of course, church members and officers could be absurbed for not paying their subscription to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER as in case of debt in any other kind. To save the Publisher any such trouble, will not the hundreds of members and officers and even ministers who are in arrears please go to the Post-office and get a postal note. It will only cost you three cents to send your subscription for one, two if you do owe for two years as the law with a case. I am preparing a list of those who are indebted to the Department, whether for subscription, books or merchandize, to present to the coming General Conference. If they are not paid before, I hope the General Conference will pass a law authorizing this clerkship out of the hands of constituted previous to 1884, and appointed by the Bishop and ecclesiastical power, and compel those who are owing by the church paper as they would one, think of doing by any other paper in the country, that is, not pay. Eg for it, and refuse to send it to us if they do not intend to pay. We have RECORDER going in spite of all the hindrances thrown in our way, which are many. Only three months more and we report will close for this quadrennial and then we will see why the Concern does not better succeed.

MANAGER.

NOTICE.

To those who are due the Department for books and merchandize, please remember the first of the year is upon us. Every one we are indebted to wants their money and if our credit is to be kept good they must have it. If you do not pay us we cannot pay them and there will be a break-down, and whose fault will it be? I have now in the safe notes owing to the amount of what should meet the current months expenses. When I buy paper and stock and books, I have to cash or say when I will pay for them, and then I have it to do. Brethren, this is a matter of vital importance to us. It is asserted upon those who gave his note for a bill of goods a year ago, that if he does not keep it from coming due, that a new one once offered has note for 90 days, which is accepted in good faith, and this when properly notified that his note was in the bank, and that he could get paper which his note was expected to meet, he did not do, what did he say? Why he said to world he would as soon as he could. Why did he not say that when he gave his note? This is only one case out of many. Brethren, this will not do. I have only four months report to finish my Quadrennial. I ask the brethren to pay up and let us go up to the General Conference clear. I do not allow your name to appear on the report, but bear in mind, the Depart. must. All depends on how those who owe pay, as to how we will come out in the end.

WORTHY
Of Confidence.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla is a medicine that, during nearly 40 years, in all parts of the world, has proved its efficacy as the best blood alterative known to medical science.

SARSAPARILLA (extracted from genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla) is the basis and he powers are obtained by the extracts of Yellow Dock and Stillingia, the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and other potent ingredients.

IS your blood vitiated by the elements of the digestive and assimilatory functions? Is it tainted by hereditary disease? Is it corrupted by the poison of Mercury or the rankling virus of Syphilis?

THE suffering physicians of the United States, who know the components of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, say that nothing else can be found for the purification of the blood which is within the range of pharmacy.

ONLY by the use of this remedy is it possible for a person to have a purer and more vitalized blood in his veins, and prevent transmission of the admissible taint to posterity.

THOROUGHLY effects eradication from the system of the scrofulous poison lurking in the blood, and will not rest satisfied with less than a complete purification of the vital organs.

RELIABLE in all cases, and for all the world's suffering, accomplished by AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and by this only.

BLOOD that is corrupted through disease is made pure, and blood weakened through impoverishment is filled and corpuscles is made strong, by AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

PURIFYING the blood and building up the system, it has been found from time to time, for forty years, that all the maladies known as scrofulous are more speedily than by any other medicine.

MEDICINE for which like effects are claimed, is utterly valueless. It is shortlived in the market, under many names, but the only genuine and reliable remedy for sore of blood and general wasting of the system is

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

A LETTER WITH AN ANSWER.

WYANDOTTE, KANSAS MAY 10, 1884

DR. TANNER:—I write you an article once in a while, entitled, "danger signals" which you have failed to publish. I don't know what your reasons are for not publishing, but if it be because you want to keep out facts from the public gaze, you are a different man from the one I take you to be. Our church matters in some sections are growing terribly corrupt and nothing will bring things to a halt but public criticism. Now, if you don't intend publishing the article, inform me on the enclosed postal and I shall take pleasure in sending you the stamps for its return.

Yours,
J. H. VAUGHN.

ANSWER.

MY DEAR MR. VAUGHN:

If you know the things to be true of which you write, why not proceed against the parties, as per Discipline? You are a member and have that right. Why throw the responsibility on others of discussing them out to the world? Surely it is not publication that is needed, but action.

Yours, B. T. TANNER.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

From Jackson Point, Miss., comes the following query:

1. What must be done when a brother of the Baptist church orders the minister of the A. M. E. church to dismiss his wife from the church, and she, his wife, tells the minister not to do so, she will leave her husband?

Our answer is that a minister has no right to dismiss members against their will, save when they have been regularly tried and condemned. And this is not disunion to the sense of the Discipline, but expulsion.

2. What must be done when the minister gives out from the pulpit the election of the Conference will be in his quarters, and the members meet and cast their ballot for the brethren they like after election shall get up and tell them I will not do you any good, and will not serve?

While every member should be willing to do what the church desires, yet if he insist there is no power to compel him. And sometimes it is for the best to allow them to decline without indicating any desire to force the office and the work upon them.

J. M. TOWNSEND.

From Forrest Ark., we have received this question:

Has a bishop the right and authority, and if so, where does he get it, when a preacher, who has raised a house his wife, and they fall out and part, to appoint him in another State and put him in charge of work without him consulting a trial for the offense committed?

Supposing the Bishop to have been informed of the facts in the case, either by himself or by some worthy parties who hold themselves responsible to make the charges good when called upon, or for him to say by the presentation of charges against the offender, then the Bishop would have no such right—moral right—in the first instance and legal right in the second. But, on the other hand, supposing the Bishop not to have been posted in regard to the matter, such transfer to another conference might take place without any offense.

From Versailles, Kentucky, we are asked:

After a steward has been suspended by the preacher in charge, and he has been excluded from the church and has joined the church again, can the quarterly conference call up the same case for which he was excluded, and exercise him again?

If the suspension and the exclusion of the steward referred to above, were in connection with the Discipline, then it is highly improper for any quarterly conference to re-open the case.

OUR BOOK CONCERN.

Judging from the reports which reach us, and from all sections of the Church, the dissatisfaction with the Book Concern is general. That such should be the case is no surprise to him who will look into the provisions which the last General Conference made for its government. What the Book Concern is, we all know. The good it has done and must still give an account of ourselves.

You lay yourselves and I lay myself, for sending you books and papers and collecting the pittance due to the same, and rather go to the General Conference, or anywhere else, with my conscience clear to answer why I collect A, B, and C, those papers and books, than to go with the knowledge that I owe away why you have not paid for what you ordered and received in good faith. I am preparing to show that the Book Church had done its duty as would not owe a dollar to-day. Except it shall be stand on its own bottom, and the ruin that has on bottom must stand upon their shaves. Save yourselves in two weeks.

MANAGER.

NOTICE.

TO THE MEMBERS ELECT OF THE GENERAL CONFERENCE:

DEAR BRETHREN.—You have doubtless read the Manager's announcement of a daily issue of the RECORDER in May, during the forthcoming session of your body.

To the end that its issues may be of increased value will you be kind enough to send me at your earliest possible convenience, answers to the following interrogations:

1. When and where born?
2. A word as to your parents?
3. How long did you attend Sunday school?
4. What schooling have you received?
5. When were you converted?

a.) Where and where licensed to preach?

b.) Received into the itinerancy?

c.) Ordained a deacon and by whom?

d.) Ordained so elder and by whom?

e.) The churches you have served?

FROM DEATH'S DOOR.

M. M. Devereaux, of Ionia, Mich., was a sight to behold! He says: "I had no action of the Kidneys and suffered terribly. My legs were as big as my body and my body as big as a barrel. The best doctors gave me up. Finally I tried Kidney-Wort. In four or five days a change came, in sight of two days I was on my feet, and now my son compiles by cancel. It was certainly a miracle." All druggists keep Kidney-Wort which is put up both in liquid and dry form.

A Newark gentleman has just been relieved of one of those old, original water snakes, which he swallowed fifteen years ago. His friends have always insisted that there was more to him than people thought.

EXTREME TIRED FEELING.

A lady tells us "the first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good, her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired Feeling which she had before taking Hood's Sarsaparilla." A second bottle effected a cure. No other preparation contains such a combination of vitality, toning, purifying and invigorating properties as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

John Peter Lang, the celebrated German conductor, is dead. His death was found in a canal at Hamburg, but how it came there is unknown.

Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" has come to stay. It is established in public favor that ware it not for the forgetfulness of people it would not be necessary to call attention to its power to cure consumption, which is the scrofula of the lungs, and other blood diseases, as eruptions, blotches, pimples, ulcers and "liver complaint."

Life Drops had just passed the ordeal of vaccination. Looking at their flamed arm, she anxiously queried, "Mamma, I won't have to be pumped again, will I?"

Ayer's Hair Vigor stimulates the hair cells to healthy action, and promotes a vigorous growth of hair. In this way it can be supplied to make the natural hair beautiful and abundant; and the scalp free from dandruff, prevents the hair from becoming dry and harsh, and makes it flexible and glossy.

Madam Stambich gleefully informed a reporter, the other day, that her husband was going to buy her a hubo to practice on. She meant a banjo.

When the blood is loaded with impurities, and moves sluggishly in the veins, an attractive complexion is out of the question. Hop Bitters is the great blood purifier, and will give you a fine complexion.

When two young ladies kiss each other they call it "Kissing Cousins." They are doing no such another as they would run about do not them.

HOW WOMEN WOULD VOTE.

Were women allowed to vote, every one in the land would have used Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" would vote it to be a sterling remedy for all the diseases peculiar to her sex. By druggists.

What is the difference between a locator and a Methodist minister? One cannot change his name, and the other must.

The renowned Dr. Clendenning says one-third of all his disorders showed cases of liver complaint. He cures every form, use it. Graves' Heart Regulator, $1, per bottle at druggists.

Who is the man who is forever on the fence? The small-pox teacher.

Diphtheria poisons the blood. Consumption shall not. Kidney-Wort (liquid) is to neutralize and eradicate the poison matter.

One of our states has a quarrelsome lady in the shape of a little Rad-ical.

Ladies should wear a Hop Plaster over the small of the back, in cases of all pains and aches. 25 cts. at any druggists. All ready to apply.

The thief's favorite maxim—steal and check it out.

From Rushville Call.—Mrs. N. E. Wilder writes: "Sanford's Invigorator cured me of epilepsy."

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS BOOKS WITH CONSCIENCE.

LET US REASON TOGETHER.

Scrofula is, by many people, supposed to exist only as an hereditary disease, and is undoubtedly true that its taint is transmitted from parent to children in until—if it is permitted to continue its course—the carriage is developed. But it is a popular error to suppose that evil condition of the blood is confined to those who inherit it. Myriads of persons who are not inherited it, in the form of Boils, Tumors, Running Sores, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ulcers, or Lingering Consumption, and many other serious and often fatal diseases. Nearly one-half of those who die, fall victims to this foul taint.

Whether the poison is hereditary, or has been generated in the individual, the result is the same; except that in the latter case, the victim may be saved from the transmission of the disease to his children.

Should the purification and nutrition of the blood be neglected, this disease will, with each succeeding day, become more virulent and deadly. Eczema, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Itching Blotches, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Malignant Pustules, Scrofulous Sores, Indolent Ulcers, Neuralgia, Kidney, Liver, Heart and Blood Diseases, Tubercular Consumption, and many other serious and often fatal diseases, are the offspring of impure blood.

Nature's efforts to expel the contaminating matter of the form in the breaking out of Pimples, Sties, Skin Eruptions, Tetter and Boils. At the same time the deterioration of the blood is shown by Physical and Mental Prostration, Weariness without Effort, Languor and Lassitude. Then the hereditary resources are promptly applied at this point, and Scrofula is developed. The cure is by no means difficult, when the remedy is adapted to the disease. Many remedies

KNOWLEDGE CHEAP.

If the time ever was, and we know it was, when ignorance was really enforced upon the great mass of people, living even in Christian countries, that time has certainly passed, as we were made to know upon the reception of several pamphlet copies of most excellent works from the publishing house of John B. Alden, 18 Vesey street, New York. The prices are simply marvelous, so much so that even those who have had to do with books all their lives are compelled to ask. How can it be? Here we have in easily beautiful type and fine paper (16mo.) Poe's "Raven," and "The Legend of the Wandering Jew" for two cents; such Irving Library publications as Mr. Willis's (General) University Century Message, Hawthorne's Twice Told Tales and De-Quincy's Conversation, for three cents; the life of George Muller, the man of prayer, in the same or even more beautiful type and paper, for five cents, and the companion volume, Luther's Table Talk, at the same price, while Goethe's Hermen and Dorothea may be had for ten cents, and Dr. Macaully's Luther's Anecdotes, for eight cents. Washington Irving's Salmagundi may be had for twenty cents. With books to be had for next to nothing, where is the excuse for the prevailing ignorance among us and among the ministry of our church? The fact is, we are afflicted, if indeed we are not cursed, with a crowd of men who are simply too lazy to study. The words of Fred. Douglass, uttered in Jackson, Miss., some years ago, if our memory serves us aright, are too nearly the truth: "If you wish to put them to sleep, put a book in their hand." But these men must be taught that with books to be had for the asking, ignorance is not to be tolerated. On the contrary, it is to be pushed to the rear where it will find the company of the unworthy and the immoral who like it have been compelled to vacate for worthier and better men. And let the whole Church pray: God speed the day.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

The tidal wave of last year seemed to have irretrievably destroyed every vestige of Republican success in the Presidential election of 1884. Of the larger and most influential States Pennsylvania had elected Pattison, Ohio had elected Hoadly, while the Empire State of New York had seated Cleveland in the gubernatorial chair by the unprecedented majority of 192,000. Of course in the face of such roaring facts the man who could hope for a continuation of the Republicans in national power could only have and there he found. Talking with our friend Judge Green, of Cleveland, who had himself lost his seat in the legislature of Ohio, with a bland smile he said, referring to the prospect of a Republican President to succeed Author, "I am delighted to think that he will have to go." And so said the whole country But if, as in religion, "man's necessity is God's opportunity," so in politics, disappointed success is Democratic blunder." And the verification of the saying is seen to be true. Poll all the Democratic States and you shall scarcely more than a year ago seated the Democratic party in power, and by large majorities, and all will be found to have already repented of the rash act, and stand ready to stone for it, as some of them have already done, by giving the "powers that be" due notice to vacate. Is it asked: How has this been brought about? The answer is, chiefly by letting the Democrats have plenty ropes. The fact is, the Democratic party is a party of fraud. Neither in its history of the past nor its practice of to-day has it a solitary thing to stand upon. To speak calmly and dispassionately is the party of ignorance and corruption. What has been the result? The Democratic party is a party of fraud. Neither in its history of the past nor its practice of to-day has it a solitary thing to stand upon. To speak calmly and dispassionately is the party of ignorance and rum in the North, of ballot-dozers and ballot-stuffers in the South. And its true character always comes to the front in every election, be it State or Congress; which, the North seeing, turns from it in disgust and at the first opportunity puts it aside, as will undoubtedly be the case at the forthcoming Presidential election. As to the respective candidates, only a prophet of keenest vision could name them. As it relates to the Republicans, the indications are that the ticket will be Blaine and Lincoln. Logan for the ticket would be Edmunds and Harrison. But we see no hope of their nomination. It is generally thought that enthusiasm is needed, and we are ready to confess that the ticket we most admire would not move the country as would a ticket with the names of Blaine and Lincoln—Blaine to satisfy the North as he once swept Proctor Knott off the floor of the House, and Lincoln to attempt the work of sweeping the South.

As to the standard-bearers of the Democratic party, it would take two prophets to tell, each one of whom would be greater than the other. It really stands ready to take anybody that in any way promises success.

Taking it all in all, the political outlook is promising.

WHEREAS the United States are to regain their former preeminent rank as a commercial and manufacturing nation, as a question that no American can contemplate with indifference. The solution is found with and abiding in the North American Review for April, by the Hon. Nelson Dingley, M. C., who opposes the project of admitting foreign built ships to American registry and by Capt. John Codman, who is well known as a zealous advocate of the measure. Judge J. A. Jameson, on the same number of the Review, discusses the question "Shall Our Civilization be Preserved," pointing out the means that are at hand for rehabilating the various agencies, physical, moral and intellectual, which constitute its essence and being and to think that it will have to go." And so said the whole country But if, as in religion, "man's necessity is God's opportunity," so in politics, disappointed success is Democratic blunder." And the verification of the saying is seen to be true. Poll all the Democratic States and you shall scarcely more than a year ago seated the Democratic party in power, and by large majorities, and all will be found to have already repented of the rash act, and stand ready to stone for it, as some of them have already done, by giving the "powers that be" due notice to vacate. To subscribers who are in arrears.

The law governing newspapers is that the subscriber is held responsible by law for his subscription until he pays up and orders the paper stopped. He cannot fell back on the plea, I only subscribed for it for a week or one year. The question is have you received the paper? If so, you are bound for it and must pay. If you do not want the paper, send on your arrears and order it stopped. No man may belong you can compel the Manager to stop or throw any responsibility on him. If this is true to a legal point, then, of course, church members and officers could be churched for not paying their subscription to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER as in case of debt, or any other kind. To save the Publisher any such trouble, will not the hundreds of members and officers and even ministers who are in arrears please go to the Post-office and get a postal note. It will only cost you three cents to send your subscription to us, if you do not wish to send a check as is the case with a number. I am preparing a list of those who are indebted to the Department, whether for subscription, books or merchandise, to present to the coming General Conference. If they are not paid before, I hope the General Conference will pass a law authorising the closing out of all accounts contracted previous to 1884, and appoint a collector with legal authority to institute proceedings, and compel those who are doing by the church as they would not think of doing by any other publishing house in the land. Nothing for it, and many seem to act as if they do not intend to pay. We have kept the Record going for the sake of all the hindrances thrown in our way, which are many. Only one month now, and my report will close for this quadrennial period, and we will see why the Concern does not better succeed.

An Assembly will be held a very year at Wilberforce, at which time examinations will be made and certificates given to those who complete the course. The Theological Department is now organized and ready to commence work. All our local preachers, exhorters, class leaders and indeed our itinerant preachers, are earnestly invited to join the class. The text-books for the present year will be:

DYSPEPSIA.

Sedentary habits, mental worry, net vite excitement, excess of liquor, leave to eating or drinking, and various other causes induce Constipation followed by gastric derangement of the liver, kidneys, and stomach, in which the disorder of each organ increases the infirmity of the others.

The immediate results are Loss of Appetite, Nausea, Foul Breath, Heartburn, Flatulence, Dizziness, Sick Headaches, failure of physical and mental vigor, distressing sense of weight and fullness in the stomach, and torpor and Costiveness, all of which may in many cases run head to Dyspepsia.

In every instance where this disease does not originate from scrofulous taint in the blood, AYER'S PILLS may be confidently relied upon to effect a cure. These cases not amenable to the curative influence of AYER'S PILLS alone will certainly yield to the PILLS enabled by the powerful blood purifying properties of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

Dyspeptics should know that the longer a likelihood of their malady is postponed, the more difficult of cure it becomes.

Ayer's Pills

Never fail to relieve the bowels and promote their healthful and regular action, and thus cure Dyspepsia. Temporary palliatives all are inadequate. The truthful activity into which the enfeebled digestive organs are aroused by these beneficent pills ultimately, is inevitably followed by restoration to the full measure of vitality before.

NOTICE.

To all whom it may concern:—This may certify that I will not blame myself if the names of those who are indebted to the Recorder, for subscriptions, books &c., especially those who have given us their notes which are overdue for months and have been notified again and again—if their names appear in my report to the General Conference or anywhere else as debtors to the Department then I will make it known, and the whole church my shame, shame. March 20th closes my report. I do not leave their account open after that date may expect their names to turn up somewhere. The good Book says "Owe no man any thing save to love one another." You for yourselves and I for myself. I for sending you books and papers and you for not paying as you promised. I had rather go to the General Conference, or anywhere else, and be put to my conscience having to answer why I sent to A, B, and C, those papers and books, than to go with your conscience to answer why you have not paid for what you ordered and received for the same. I am preparing to show that if the church had done its duty we would not owe a dollar to-day. Every tub must stand on its own bottom, and the tub that has no bottom must look out for staves. Save yourselves in two weeks.

ORDER.

The full significance of the words of Paul, "Let all things be done in decency and in order," is scarcely yet comprehended by the world. And yet it has, for have we not the saying, "Order is heaven's first law?"

Beyond all question, no more weighty saying is to be found within the lids of the sacred book, for in it is wrapt up the highest philosophy of the Divine success; relegating to the rear the fact of Divine omnipotence. To speak the human tongue, God succeeded because he is orderly in his methods. The spasmodic never appears in what he does. From birth him never rises in a day. With him it is always and everywhere, "first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear." And so it would be with man and with work, if he would have success. He must cease his practice of hoping to win by surprise. And instead of efforts spasmodic, he must fall back upon the example God gives of succeeding by methods that are orderly.

It is just possible that the leaders of no church in the land have more need to learn this lesson than the leaders of the African Methodist Episcopal Church. It is scarcely a reproach to us that we have not observed much order in the past. To a very great extent this was simply impossible; made so by our peculiar circumstance. We had to catch up and run. We had to drink of the brook by the way. But we are fast developing now into a normal condition of things. And we must see to it that we adjust ourselves to them just as rapidly as possible. And this must be the case with the individual churches of the connection, and with the connection itself.

As it relates to our individual churches, they must hold themselves ready to put new wine into new bottles. They cannot expect to keep up the methods of the fathers of forty or fifty years ago, whether these methods relate to the temporalities or to the spiritualities. Our whole condition has been changed, and the change must be recognized and acted upon. Disorder, if there be any, must give place to order, and in all of its work. Our church alone, in relation to the individual churches of our connection, we note for the purpose of decrying it—the fact that no pastor has like or has had like opportunity next to a colored Methodist Church. That this is a fact, we all know. If we make the single exception of some few preachers who have a banker's fee the location of our churches that the buzzards have for carrion. We thunder it out that this state of things, if not a that every one of our churches must be as acceptable to any community or section as any other Christian Church.

And what is true of the individual church setting its house in order, must be true of the connection. Orderly methods must be provided for the accomplishment of our work in the name of the Lord Jesus. There must be no generalizing. Special work must be given to special hands; and while these must be protected from any outside intrusion, they must be held severely to an account. And this must be especially the case with the Department work of the Church. The work of each must be so clearly defined as to prevent any misunderstanding, and while the Secretary is the proper one to whom the bible that it is to jump from under the firmament or elude the grasp of gravitation.

The Divine clusterings to which we refer, following the thought of the writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews, relates to offences against the moral law; and of such a character that to commit them now is an evidence of the Divine love, even as the Scripture teaches. It is asked, how? Clearly enough. Let it never be forgotten that offenses against the moral law must as surely be atoned for as offenses against the physical law, and the whole matter all be wonderfully simplified. We all know if a man cuts his finger that it will both bleed and hurt; but we are not so certain of what will follow if we are hateful and revengeful; if we are dishonest and unclean. Now there is no reason which the wisdom of the world can advance, that can show why the broken physical law should be sloned for, and not, as well, the broken moral law. God is the author of both, as he is the executor of both, and as such he respects his own administration whether it be over the realm of matter or over the realm of mind or morals.

It is a truth, then, everywhere to be accepted, that sin must be atoned for, and that, as we have said, whether willingly or unwittingly committed. The question of moment is, When? The when is the mercy rays. Now—Today. Substantially it warns us against allowing sins to accumulate, well aware that if we do the result will be to carry us down into the pit. Therefore in love, chastenings are sent, corrections are imposed, and all to the end that we may be so impressed as to repent. "Now, no chastening for the present," the inspired psalm continues, "seemeth to be joyous, but grievous, nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby."

Let, then, God's people who find themselves seriously chastened, see in it the stroke of a Father. But they may say, when have I sinned? If there be as his obvious to you, remember that nothing is concealed from the eye of God. Penetration there was one for sins unwittingly committed and for which atonement need be made. It may be so with you. Ignorantly you may have sinned. But as ignorance is so excuse, how before the chastening rod and say, it is a loop' shape, and ready to ship. It will be a beauty as well as one of the most substantial buildings the company has put up. I am prouder of African Methodism than ever before, and heartily thinks it a marvel that we should undertake such a project."

JOHN KNOX, the great Scottish Reformer, did not begin to preach and write until he was forty years old. He could not induce him to preach, and when told that the church had called him to the work, he burst into tears and rushed out of the house. How things have changed! No, it is not the times, but men.

Why do you sleave and abridge my articles? They are certainly thus spoiled and if they appear at times a little rough, I alone am responsible for them. Besides that you would insert them just as you find them.

The above is what a brother in Arkansas wrote us. He is no exception. On the contrary, he holds the opinion that is common to three-fourths of our people, and, indeed, of people generally.

WE GIVE elsewhere the letter Rev. C. S. Smith has written and sent forth in defense of the Pittsburgh Convention. We have no doubt that it will have the effect of quieting not a little of the suspicions which the call for the Convention and the manner of its intended action seeded to arouse.

TO THOSE of the Sunday School Review who read the editor's caustic and far-fetched reference to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, we only deem it necessary to say that the article was written and in print prior to his letter to us of March 14th, and which we published in our issue of 20th March.

THE FORT Longfellow had no trouble in the matter of God's rule over nature. One of his favorite verses was:

"All is of God! If He but wave his Hand
The mists collect, the rain falls down in showers."

Till, with a smile of light on sea and land,
Lo! He looks back from the departing cloud."

AT CLINTON, Mass., the Unitarian minister and people have agreed to dispense with the use of wine at the Communion, substituting in its stead water. All this is consistent, in view of the fact that they really he said to count the blood an nohallowed thing.

TO THE members elect of the General Conference: Dear Brethren, scores of you have served previously and each has some have not as yet. Please do not delay. Only a few weeks, remember, and we wish to have our sketches embrace every member.

IT MUST have been a novel sight to the "Oldest Citizen" of Hot Springs, Ark., to have witnessed the public reception tendered to ex-Senator Bruce upon his arrival. Such a demonstration were in line, preceded by a brass band.

BISHOP PAYNE'S hearty commendation of Dr. Crummell's "Greatness of Christ," ought to place it in the hands of all our ministry.

REV. James F. A. Sisson kindly sends us the minutes of the Indian Mission Annual Conference, fourth and fifth sessions.

TO REV. M. H. SALTERS are we indebted for a copy of the Georgia Conference minutes, 18th session.

The Christian Union is the only paper we know that refuses to exchange with the RECORDER.

CORRECTION.

In the Manager's article last week, he was made to say "In the same room with their people," which would read hypocrite; also "under the care of older Christian persons," instead of elderly.

Personal.

—Mr. Samuel Sellers, colored, of Appling county, is the owner of 1500 acres of valuable timber lands.

—Rev. J. C. Price, President of Zion University, Salisbury, N. C., is on a lecturing tour through the East and West.

—The most gifted poet South Carolina ever produced is said to have been one Timrod, a colored man, who although received into the first social rebellion, was well known to be an octoroon.

—B. F. Gouchard, Henry Deman, L. A. Martinette, Wm. Harper, E. H. Wall, Clifford Morgan and P. S. B. Pinchback are the colored delegates to the National Republican Convention from Louisiana.

—His friends and acquaintances will be pleased to learn that Rev. W. E. Carr, lately Stated Supply of the colored Presbyterian church in Lynchburg, Va., has received and accepted a call to the church in Macon, Ga.

—Hon. B. K. Bruce, who has been a great sufferer from rheumatism during the past winter, left Washington last week for Hot Springs, Arkansas, where he expects to spend a month in search of health. —Hon. J. E. O'Hara, of North Carolina, and Hon. B. K. Bruce, of Mississippi, are vice-presidents of the National Labor Congress. At a recent meeting a Committee on Bourbonism was appointed, and it was resolved to give more attention to the Southern question. Congressman O'Hara, Prof. Greener, ex-Senator B. K. Bruce and ex-Governor Lynch all delivered stirring speeches.

—The CHRISTIAN RECORDER, in its last issue wants to know if it is true that "Bobbin" Lincoln refused to attend the Harvard Alumni Dinner Party if Greener was not invited. We answer, no! Mr. Lincoln said that he would not be present after the flood sufferers at that time to attend it. In justice to his character the public know that it was simply a mistake to think that his august bigness was that kind of man and Mr. Greener.

—Judge Mackey, an uncle of the late Congressman Mackey, of South Carolina, denies the story of a mulatto marriage to an octoroon, and claims that Mackey was of purely white parentage, but being the offspring of a morganatic marriage, he was brought up in a family of colored people to prevent her father from being disinherited. The judge further says in his defence of his dead brother. No body pretends to believe him, anyway.—Gate City Press.

Church News.

REV. R. H. Malo, (New Brighton, Penn.): "We are in the midst of a glorious revival; 46 converted and additions to our church and yet the altar is crowded with seekers. The Lord is pouring in great power and is making us to save. Some of the oldest and hardest members have professed faith in Christ. These meetings have astonished and delighted us. Our hearts are filled and felt for miles around. The old members of our church tell me that this is the greatest revival ever held."

REV. T. W. Henderson, (Quincy, Ill.): "We are having a most glorious seige. The altar has been crowded for a week held for three weeks and our membership has been increased by 40 and more. I have never seen so many men anxiously seeking the Lord. Our church is in most happy condition. As soon as we paid off our debt the Lord came right among us, and Christians have been reclaimed backsliders and converted sinners. The Lord has given us favor and the praise. We are now trying to enlarge our building. I believe in work."

REV. J. H. Mitchell, (Xenia, Ohio): "We held our second quarterly meeting for Rev. D. P. Coleman, in Marysville, Ohio, on the 10th. Asbury Church has been blessed with a glorious revival. Over 40 have joined the church three reclaimed and still there's more coming. The Lord was present at our meeting day in Delaware. Truly the Lord has done much for the place with which he has charged us, and some of the 28 accessions to the church. Prof. Dr. Payne, of the Ohio Wesleyan, preached the sacramental sermon at Asbury Church, and took up a splendid collection during the day was $41.52."

Susie A. Turner, (Wichita, Kansas,): "We have just closed a meeting at Oxford in which we have labored eight weeks with great success. The Lord has been with us and many have found Souls that have long wandered in darkness have come to the light and hear Doug hope of their salvation and have been made to rejoice in the love of their blessed redeemer. The Lord has visited a private residence. An ideal location would seem to be near a public park, on a wide street, with the rooms having an east and south exposure if possible, a thinly-settled and growing quarter, where land enough can be procured at moderate price to guarantee against being in front fixture building operations." Is his opinion the purity of air in school depends almost entirely on the purity of the cellar air, and he discusses for condemns the common practice of having cellar connected and filling them up with refuse or noisome matter.

OUR SPECIAL LETTER.

WASHINGTON, March 31, 1884.

The Democrats in the House here at length come to confusion. When the time came for the leaders to move in the majority and were able to carry the election of Carlisle, who pledged himself to the tariff reform, the opposition to this policy has been implacable. Mr. Morrison, as chairman of the committee on ways and means, prepared a bill providing for a horizontal reduction of 20 per cent from months ago. He has never seen the time when he has dared to present it. Indeed, he has not even been pared down in hopes of winning over the Pennsylvania members to support, but in vain. Randall, as the leader of the anti-tariff faction, has been stubbornly opposed to any move with the Republicans to defeat it. The charge that Speaker Carlisle and Mr. Morrison fell over this discomfiture of their cherished purposes by the manifest bad faith of the Randall element. They long has also stepped that they fell something must be done, and at length it seems as though the committee upon some action. The call for the meeting of Congress has been worded a caucus to fix a way out of this scrape. But it developed no plan. It simply placed the matter in the hands promises of individual freedom, that the men are to be responsible opposed to the Morrison bill, which with the Republican vote will prevent its passage.

The overshadowing importance which has been given to the tariff question and the split which has resulted, is thought by many to have been a blessing in that the Democrats in the Presidential election. The Republicans are elated over the prospect, and the friends of Grant expected good luck. General Grant says he has changed the position of his party, and that a republican president will be true to the tariff policy. That is nothing so certain to be uncertain as politics. The Democrats fully appreciate their defeat in the Presidential race, and no effort will be spared by them to get out of the hole. Randall's policy argument is used by the Morrison people to the opposition, and they permit a modified bill to pass the House in it will be certain of defeat in the Senate. Republicans believe that this will be held responsible. It is a clever game and one that can hardly be expected to admit that there is really no use struggling, but the party has made a fatal political blunder.

Speaking of General Grant, who is now in the city, he is the subject of interest which used to be his marked characteristics. He seems to talk freely, but with engaging candor. He scarcely discusses his strong opposition to any but he does discuss the chief of the tariff in Gen. John Logan. I hear, however, that Logan, of course, is not considered by a good second choice with him. Logan's record is not clear enough for those who seems to be very ardently desired as vice-president by all, and, of course, is little considered both for the head and tail of the ticket. Gen. Grant gets well known to the people of Illinois, and his stage treatment. He has arranged to spend the month of April in North Carolina.

The beautiful Arlington estate just across the Potomac river, and the old glorious heritage of 20,000 veteran graves, is the property now of a private citizen, the government. The heirs of Robert Lee were paid the remaining amount due on the purchase price, and passed upon the declaration of the attorney general that the title is now perfect in the government. This seems like wiping out the last remaining vestige of the old regime, for Arlington was in the old days a princely home, and the very type as aristocratic Southern mansion. It

THE COMING COLORED MEN'S CONFERENCE AT PITTSBURGH, PA.—SOME QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

BLOOMINGTON, ILL., March 21, 1884.

To the Editor:—In order to straighten, if possible, certain conflicting reports concerning the conference of leading colored men to be held at Pittsburgh, Pa., April 29, we ask you to give publicity to the following statement:

It has been frequently asked why the call is restricted to certain states instead of being national? To this we reply there are three chief reasons.

1st. Before any action was taken with regard to the Pittsburgh conference, a call had been issued for a National Convention to meet at Richmond, Va., July next. To have made the call for the conference a sectional affair, would have been justly regarded by the National Committee appointed by the Louisville Convention, and who issued the call for the convention at Richmond, as a pathway through the ranks of the party, and as an unpardonable offense. Therefore officials have refused to indorse such matters, and the action of surprises and alarms those who mise their government positions as a shield against assault.

Tim Thatis, the Bear and the Alert Boy, is the subject of a delightful and singular provision has been decided upby Governor Alexander Ramsey. Thatis as well as the sailors under him, that no one shall accompany the expedition who may choose to do so, provided only two and one-half pounds to every inch of height. Rapscomb has shown that men who are heavier than that is provided with a bonus of five pounds per inch. Arctic regions well. Capt. Schley prefers that they weigh but two pounds to each inch of height. The Alert has also a number of officers who otherwise would have been acceptable.

KEPLER.

"THE GREATNESS OF CHRIST," is the title of a volume of sermons from the hand of the late Rev. Alexander Crummell, D.D., of the Protestant Episcopal Church. The volume contains twenty sermons on as many different topics, among which are "The Solidarity," "The Relation of Discipline to Discipleship," "The Discipline of Human Sympathy," "The Power of Sympathy," "Building Men," "The Social Principle" and lastly" "The Destined Superiority of the Negro." The most of the twenty sermons I have carefully and thoroughly read, therefore I am prepared to pronounce them very readable. The last, the 18th, the 19th, the 20th, the 18th and the 20th can be read to profit more than once. I find I am time, I could take pleasure in quoting scores of his brilliant and eloquent passages, but will be charged this week to the space me so to do. For clearness of statement, beauty of imagination, force and point, I heartily commend this splendid volume to our rising ministry. Whoever has known that this author from the pulpits of the most learned and experienced clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, our pastoral ministry will be anxious to own and to read it.

Truly the Lord has done much for the place with which he has charged us, and some of the 28 accessions to the church. The Lord has visited a private residence. OUR SPECIAL LETTER.

The Democrats in the House here at length come to confusion. When the time came for the leaders to move in the majority and were able to carry the election of Carlisle, who pledged himself to the tariff reform, the opposition to this policy has been implacable. Mr. Morrison, as chairman of the committee on ways and means, prepared a bill providing for a horizontal reduction of 20 per cent from months ago. He has never seen the time when he has dared to present it. Indeed, he has not even been pared down in hopes of winning over the Pennsylvania members to support, but in vain. Randall, as the leader of the anti-tariff faction, has been stubbornly opposed to any move with the Republicans to defeat it. The charge that Speaker Carlisle and Mr. Morrison fell over this discomfiture of their cherished purposes by the manifest bad faith of the Randall element. They long has also stepped that they fell something must be done, and at length it seems as though the committee upon some action. The call for the meeting of Congress has been worded a caucus to fix a way out of this scrape. But it developed no plan. It simply placed the matter in the hands promises of individual freedom, that the men are to be responsible opposed to the Morrison bill, which with the Republican vote will prevent its passage.

The overshadowing importance which has been given to the tariff question and the split which has resulted, is thought by many to have been a blessing in that the Democrats in the Presidential election. The Republicans are elated over the prospect, and the friends of Grant expected good luck. General Grant says he has changed the position of his party, and that a republican president will be true to the tariff policy. That is nothing so certain to be uncertain as politics. The Democrats fully appreciate their defeat in the Presidential race, and no effort will be spared by them to get out of the hole. Randall's policy argument is used by the Morrison people to the opposition, and they permit a modified bill to pass the House it will be certain of defeat in the Senate. Republicans believe that this will be held responsible. It is a clever game and one that can hardly be expected to admit that there is really no use struggling, but the party has made a fatal political blunder.

Speaking of General Grant, who is now in the city, he is the subject of interest which used to be his marked characteristics. He seems to talk freely, but with engaging candor. He scarcely discusses his strong opposition to any but he does discuss the chief of the tariff in Gen. John Logan. I hear, however, that Logan, of course, is not considered by a good second choice with him. Logan's record is not clear enough for those who seems to be very ardently desired as vice-president by all, and, of course, is little considered both for the head and tail of the ticket. Gen. Grant gets well known to the people of Illinois, and his stage treatment. He has arranged to spend the month of April in North Carolina.

The beautiful Arlington estate just across the Potomac river, and the old glorious heritage of 20,000 veteran graves, is the property now of a private citizen, the government. The heirs of Robert Lee were paid the remaining amount due on the purchase price, and passed upon the declaration of the attorney general that the title is now perfect in the government. This seems like wiping out the last remaining vestige of the old regime, for Arlington was in the old days a princely home, and the very type as aristocratic Southern mansion. It

CLARKSVILLE DISTRICT.

BY REV. B. F. BURLEY.

MR. EDITOR:—As it has been some time since the readers of the RECORDER can hear from this section of the Church, I thought I would speak to them in general within the Clarksville district. The district consists of fifteen pastorates spread over a.ge of the most beautiful country in the State. The winter has been the hardest within the recollection of the oldest citizen in this part of the country, yet we have been able to complete our first round of quarterly meetings and we are now on our second round. Times have been very close with the farmers owing to the bad weather and other things. I found some of the charges had not seen a quarterly conference since the appointment in more than a year, and hence, the worst is not in the best condition. We have thirteen hundred and forty-two members on the district. Elder Shields is struggling with church debts and religious decline at St. Peter's Chapel; this charge has never received from the eruption of three years ago, but Elder Shields hopes, and I think he will be able to pull bar through this year. Elder Merriweather is doing well on the Red River charge. Elder Orwich is pushing things in the right direction at Bethel, Clarksville, and during high for the annual conference in 1885, and they are now building up a church with a view to that much desired event. Deacon Gollins will commence building a little more than the west of Hooston county, as soon as the weather will permit. That is one of our district conference in the next church this year Deacon Johnson is doing well on the Hopkinsville circuit. I did the district in paying the presiding elder on the 4th Sunday, and you have "that's all the presiding elders care for times days' is a saying to the people, while the preacher will be lucky if he gets to death." We expect a prosperous year on our district conference, and hope very well within our district, many of them are willing to pay their way, and to cultivate them. They need good churches and better schools; the schools are generally closed for the year, for lack of money. Being in the midst of a very important persons certificates to teach school because that it stood the test of the South, and stay there until free speech becomes as much a matter of course as it is in Illinois, and the approaches to the ballot-box are as free as they are in Massachusetts. It is a Republican party has practically abandoned the South; that for the past six years the people have been robbed of one-fifth of the Southern states except Virginia, and that the opposition is a cowardly policy; and one that has large to grow on the part of the so-called liberal Republicans. Two meetings of that wing of the party have been held recently to adopt a platform, but they expressed no decided opinion on making the Southern question an issue in the coming campaign; and at the second, they formulated a platform of the most meaningless character, and which will have no effect from the South in future national conventions. The Louisville platform has two facts taken together present a grave and serious question, viz: that the colored voters are concerned, to leave out the Southern question as an issue in the coming campaign is simply suicidal like going to battle without arms. To ignore the Southern question is to ignore the most important issue, and it is the very vitals of the constitutional rights for which we have been invented. We cannot stop to consider any other question, while the Southern question remains till the one million voters of our kindred are fully restored to their rights in the exercise of their political rights, and so shielded that they can enjoy their rights without fear or hindrance or restraint.

THE SOLID SOUTH.

The South is solid for Democracy, not as a matter of choice, but of necessity. One party is that section have wrested of bearing the burdens of citizenship, or they have been compelled to submit to government. This seems like wiping out the last remaining vestige of the old regime, for Arlington was in the old days a princely home, and the very type as aristocratic Southern mansion. It

There has been considerable dust kicked up in the Ohio Valley by Archbergh Convention. The call should be seceded to include every state in the Union. Let us march to the front and take up the gauntlet and throw it at the feet of the enemy.—Atlanta Weekly Pilot

We have tried Democracy for eight years and of these eight years three are a failure. It is time to lift Louisiana and the South from the hands of unprincipled politicians and place in power men who are honest and capable, men who will be true to the Constitution and the laws, men who are broader than that is professed and practice the principles which have incorporated the principles which gleamed from the pen of Lincoln, that as shades of that warrior's conquering hero came back to earth to rest upon the soil in which they were planted, but with the hope and blessing and love overshadow with their foliage the cabin of the humblest citizen in all the land.—Louisiana Agency.

To press these considerations upon the minds of the National Republican party is one of the objects of the Pittsburgh conference; and we earnestly hope that it will result in some assurance that their votes will be heard, because they will be a measure of political power that is bound to be respected. They can back up the speech of their tongue with the ballot, not suppressed by shot-gunners and bulldozers, as we are, to share the burdens of the party, we shall claim the right to share in its policy; particularly to those matters in which we are vitally interested. We emphatically say that we are not a party to political lines. We have the best possible ground to stand upon which to base our operations, and we hope that those who have interests to look after will see the charitable necessity of it, and their judgment until we shall have acted.—Cincinnati Gazette.

NOTICE

To subscribers who are in arrears.

The law governing newspapers is that the subscriber is held responsible by law for his subscription until he pays up and orders the paper stopped. He cannot fall back on the plea, I only subscribed for six months or one year, and the question is have you received the paper? If so, you are bound for it and must pay. If you do not want the paper, send on your arrears and order it stopped. You must pay before you can compel the Manager to stop or throw the responsibility on him. If this is true in a legal point, then, of course, church members and officers could be absolved for not paying their subscription to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER as in case of debt or any other kind. To save the Publisher any such trouble, we put the hundreds of members and officers and even ministers who are in arrears please go to the Post-office and get a postal card. It will only cost you three cents to send your subscription to us, even if you do owe for two years as is the case with a number. I am preparing a list of those who are indebted to the Department, and in order for subscription, books or merchandise, to present to the coming General Conference. If they are not paid before, I hope the General Conference will pass a law authorizing the Publisher to cut off accounts contracted previous to 1884, and appoint a solicitor in every Annual and Quarterly Conference, and compel those who are doing by the church paper as they would not think of doing by any other paper in the country, that is, not paying for it, and many seem to act as if they do not intend to pay. We have kept the RECORDER going by the skin of all the hindrances thrown in our way, which are many. Only one month's delay, and the report will close for the quadrennial and then we will see who the Cowards does not better support.

ROBUST HEALTH

Is not always enjoyed by those who seem to possess it. The taint of corrupting blood may be secretly undermining the constitution. In time, the poison will irritate the tissues, and with little warning introduce the longer it has been allowed to permeate the system. Each pimple, each boil, skin disorder and sense of unnatural lassitude, or languor, is a call for help or warnings of the consequences of neglect.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only remedy that can be relied upon, in all cases, to thoroughly purify the blood, effectually disease and the special corruptions of the blood. It is the only alterative that is sufficiently powerful to thoroughly cleanse the system of Scrofulous and other Mercurial taints and the pollution of Contagious Diseases. It also nourishes the tissues left by Diphtheria, and Scarlet Fever, and renders rapid recovery rather from the enfeeblement and debility caused by those diseases.

Myriads of Cures

Achieved by AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, in the past forty years, are attested, and there is no blood disease of any variety of cure that will not yield to it. Whatever the ailments of the blood, whether arising from the scurvy of the Arctic circle to the fevers of the Equator, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA will be found to be the best remedy that has ever been employed. Druggists everywhere, in all parts of the world, who in their personal knowledge, of remarkable cures effected by this medicine, recommend it as the best blood purifier and tonic they have ever handled. People will do well to

than AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Numerous spurious imitations are offered to the public as "Sarsaparilla," which are utterly worthless, the patient, with the pretense of many strong words, being robbed, in the end, by experiment while disease is steadily increasing, more deeply seated, and difficult of cure. Some of these mixtures do work lasting harm. Beware of the pale, sickly medicine that was radically purify the vitiated blood.

To all whom it may concern:—This may certify that I will not blame myself if the names of those who have contributed to the Department for subscriptions, books &c., especially those who have given their notes which are overdue for months and have been notified again and again—if their names appear in the next report to the General Conference or anywhere else. The good Book says "we must all give an account of ourselves." Yes for yourselves and I for myself. I for sending you books and papers and you for not paying for your prompt and paid rather go to the General Conference, or anywhere else, than to my room to answer the saving to answer why I sent to A, B, and C, those papers and books, than to go with your conscience to answer why you have not paid for what you ordered and received in good faith. REV. J. S. THOMPSON, of Chambersburgh, in attendance upon a meeting of the Trustees of the Book Concern, handed us for insertion his notice to the members of the Philadelphia Conference, which they should not fail to read. The elder is looking remarkably well.

THE TEACHING OF THE TWELVE APOSTLES.

While the world of art has recently had occasion to rejoice at the recovery of Schliemann in the Troad and Cesnola in Cyprus, to say nothing of Smith at Nineveh and Smith again at Ephesus while the classic world has been moved with joy at the rich reprint which Mariette Bey and other equally industrious Egyptologists have made the sands of Upper Miraim surrender, the greater world of ecclesiology has been made to share, too, in the common joy at what Philotheus Bryennios, Metropolitan of Nicomedia, has recently recovered from the musty shelves of the Library of the Most Holy Sepulchre in Panar of Constantinople and given to the world, but not until its genuineness was placed beyond doubt. Exactly what this "Teaching of the Twelve Apostles" is, we have preferred to let the literary editor of the Tribune, New York, tell us how to comment we print in another portion of this issue.

By common consent this recovering by the learned Metropolitan is accepted and by all, as of value beyond all estimate. The three churches mostly affected by it are the Baptist, the Episcopalian and the Roman. As it relates to the first.—the Baptist—it will henceforth be a difficult task for this church to insist on immersion as the only true method of baptism; as it relates to the second, the Episcopalian, it will be equally difficult for it to insist upon three orders, each perfectly distinct from the other; and as it relates to the Roman, the church will find it difficult to keep the cup from the laity. We have need the term "difficult" not because we have any idea that it will be practically so. On the contrary, each of the churches named will persist in the even tenor of its way, for it is prefics after all that people follow, and not really what is commanded. We very much doubt whether the people will seek the one and the same—"brainless sacrificial leaders in our Church who are forever talking economy, economy, economy."

It is a sad lesson for the ablest pastor to tell what a man says after you have heard him say, it is contradistinction to what he does not say: and so of what is said and done by the people. We rely on Tuner's complaint is, not that the people would not give, and give liberally, toward the objects named. Nor are we men in the Church say such a thing. Our people have given, do give and will give. The Bishop's complaint is against the leaders, as it is the complaint of all who lament the lack of means to carry on more broadly and more successfully the great work of the Church. But now all question the forces of the connection have not been handed up to their possibility. A church is very much like an army or any numerous organization the body of man. To have it accomplish all that is possible, it must be handled not only wisely but courageously. Ventures that often be made. The spirit that says we are lully able to possess the land must be evident. And it is to this, more than in anything else, our leaders have failed. They have been too timid. They have lacked the spirit of daring. They have not had the heart to venture either God or the people. They have too constantly kept up the cry, as the Bishop says, economy, economy, economy.

Said a prominent brother in conversing about our proposed magazine, "Why the magazine of the great M. E. Church don't fail," and, therefore, his conclusion was the A. M. E. Church should not think of such a thing. That dear brother seemed not to know that by such a guage, neither we nor his own church or any literary work. Does our Book Concern pay? Although doing a business at the rate of $16,000 a year, or $1500 a month, yet has the Church, and very rightly, too, to pay its Editor and its Manager. Guaged by the rule of "paying as not paying," our Publication Department would long since have ceased. And so of every great moral or religious movement we have attempted. Has our Hayties mission paid? Although thousands have been spent on it, it is scarcely stronger now than it was when Rev. Dr. T. G. Steward returned, or when Rev. C. W. Mossell was sent.

The fact is, religion, with its mollified agencies, is never expected to pay dollars and cents. Put it upon this basis and it can be shown to have failed But the office and work of religion is to lift up humanity, intellectually and spiritually; and whatever promises to accomplish this the Church is bound to do. It is this view of the work that has made the Church willing, year after year, to take of its hard-earned mite and support the Publication Department, as well as her foreign missionary work. And like well that she has done so, for it requires no prophet to tell what the status of the Church would have been had she refused to have supported either the Book Concern or the cause of missions.

That the leaders of the Church should not devise liberal things" for the future, assured, as they are, by the Divine word that by so doing they shall "stand," is not only the sincere wish, aye, the demand of the Bishop, but of all who are with him the mighty responsibilities of the coming day.

REV. C. T. SHAFFER, of Allen Chapel, together with his noble band of armor-bearers, purpose to give a grand illumination on the 23rd ult., in Musical Fund Hall. We know of no pastor who has a greater right to rejoice than has he. A Christian gentleman and hard worker in his midst, his administration of four years has been a marvel of success Without the least spiritual declension, he has kept the finances of the church at what might he called high water mark. Receiving the church with a debt of $4,000 resting upon it, he succeeded in materially lessening the indebtedness and in the end, in March 1883, he succeeded in paying off the last dollar. Not content with this, he has since then paid $1,000 on the church property, and has now on hand $1,000 with which to commence the work of erecting a new church. Such a record is worthy of emulation, and we trust that the illumination given by the brethren will be a success in every particular.

The jubilee concert in question is to consist of the best of our home talent found upon the choirs of our several churches, with the singing of the Philadelphia Liar. We are indebted for a pamphlet copy of the lecture—"Church and State,"—which he recently delivered before the Literary and Historical Association of Bethel Church. Lawyer Lewis is to be complimented for the industry shown in the preparation of this lecture.

PERSONALITY we should be glad if the General Conference would order lines as to the membership of the officers of the Financial Board. The more so since the Rev. G. H. Shaffer, in the communication found upon another page, shows so clearly that he is doing a vast deal of sensible thinking about it.

REV. J. W. BECKETT has been blessed with an outpouring of divine grace upon his people, such as they have not experien-ed for years. Ninety have added to the church. May God continue to bless these dear Washington people than whom the whole connection has none more worthy.

WANDERINGS IN ENGLAND.

BY L. T. M. PEEK.

SKETCH X.

MANCHESTER.

There are very few of the readers of the RECORDER who have not heard of the wonderful manufacturing city of Manchester. They are doubtless conversant with the facts as to its population of the most important place of interest to be found there, but I almost believe that not one in a score could tell the geographical position. Let the inquirer reader, therefore, take a map of the map of England and look in the southeastern portion of Lancashire, where he will find Manchester marked.

I have had the very great pleasure of visiting that city. I was kindly received within the city, mingling with her teeming population, enjoying with them not only the pleasant and sunshiny weather, but also the rain and the fog, I was overjoyed. We had a superabundance of the latter upon one or two prominent occasions. In fact, I was told that it was see trum one gas-lamp to the other, not even could you see your hand before you. Indeed, the fog was so dense that one could almost grasp it. London fogs are the worst, I am told, but I have had burning desire to interview them.

And the sun shone in all its brightness, which seems to puzzle and bewilder the mere onlooker, one seems to be lost in the time of fog. I stepped upon the platform at the railway station until I stepped off it again into the cab, and the cabs were afterward I was struck very forcibly with the large amount of business carried on within this great centre of the cotton trade. I was quite surprised to hear that very little, if any, cotton manufacturing is done in Manchester. It is simply the great warehouse from which the great ports of the world are supplied. Bolton, a small town not very far from Manchester, is one of the principal places where the cotton is prepared for the fabric. Manufacturing also in Bolton I was told that at night one might see large wagons laden with goods on this way to various Manchester warehouses. Unfortunately I did not an opportunity of seeing any of the works, and am therefore prevented from giving a description of them.

While in manchester I had the pleasure of attending several services in the places of worship and heard some noted divines. It was conspiring to hear the Rev. Dr. Parker, of London, and also such men as Alex. Maclaren, LL.D., T. A. Macfadyen, D.D., and other well-known letters. I was particularly pleased with discourses from these two named gentlemen. They both have very large congregations which they had on Sunday mornings. It has often pained me during my short experience, to see such comparatively small congregations which greet some ministers on Sunday mornings. I am sure that it would be much to the advantage of both minister and congregation if the morning services were always well attended. People would be greatly to the advantage and improvement of the rising generation if the older members would set the example. I have noticed with great interest the pains taken in the majority of chapels and Sunday schools in the country to get the children of the Sunday school to attend morning service at chapel. Most Sunday schools, if not all, where I have been hold two sessions during the Sabbath—one in the morning at 9 a. m., from which the children go direct into chapel, and the other at two or three o'clock in the afternoon. This morning session plan is an excellent thing, for it is good to see the children of the land which will never be lost for the children. One of the busiest thoroughfares in Manchester is Market street. Especially this, and amongst the thousands that pass up and down there every hour are people of every class and rank of society, from the all-important member of the House of Commons down to the little barefoot standing on the corner crying loudly, "Wan matches a penny!"

Not very far from Picadilly is the town hall, a beautiful building, built at an enormous cost. The Manchester city fathers have a splendid set of chimes in the town hall. I was really charmed when I heard them play out the merry tones of "Auld Lang Syne."

The rush of business, the huge wagons so frequently met with, the throngs of anxious architectural beauty, the well shaved streets, the cathedral and bishop, the ancient looking churches, and many other things are deserving of special attention, but I must close with a word on quiet chat by the Broadie, when you can find a stop as soon as you are tired. Adieu.

PAUL AT EPHESUS.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON APRIL 13, 1884.

BY REV. H. T. JOHNSON, A. B.

Acts 19, 8-22. When Paul went to Athens he found "the whole city given to idolatry." (Acts 17, 16.) At Ephesus he found it given to magic, conjure and sorcery. In Athens he could find a god as easily as he could find a city. In Ephesus he could find a god that idol overlopped all the gods and was a mighty power throughout all Asia and Europe. (Acts 19, 26.) It was Ephesians. This goddess they regarded as queen of heaven, and she was worshiped in the form of the moon. On earth she was enshrined in the most magnificent of temples, and was supposed to have power, one of the seven wonders of the world. In the lower regions she was enthroned as Hecate. Athens was call the city of the Muses, the seat of art and philosophy. Ephesus "the eye of Asia" on account of her immense commercial facilities. Her high priest Demetrius, one of Asia worship-ped Diana, "whom all Asia worshipeth." It was absolutely full of temples, and twenty-seven columns of Parian stone were built for a single shrine. It proved to be a very pleasant feature of the evening's exercises. The first section of this introductory portion of the entertainment the speaker began at seven minutes past 8 o'clock, and the last section of this introductory portion of the entertainment the speaker began at seven minutes past 9 o'clock, and the last section of this introductory portion of the entertainment the speaker began at seven minutes past 10 o'clock.

The early date of the document and its genuineness can scarcely be doubted. Clement of Rome knew Paul personally, who has been called the best patristic scholar of the day, and he refers to the words of a recent article, "that peculiar and wonderful writer Hermas," who possibly as far back as 120 A. D., hardly later than 140 A. D., is quoted by Clement of Alexandria in his first Stroma; by Eusebius, who speaks of it as "the most ancient writing of the Church;" and by Athanasius in his 39th Festal Letter, in which he says that it was claimed that there must have been another book of the Apostolic Canon than the Seventh Book of the Apostolic Constitutions (a collection of eight books purporting to be the work of the Apostles themselves, written down by Clement of Rome) and the Apostolic Canons, which latter was probably taken from sources, to recover and which they are the first traces of the existence of the Didache, a smaller, simpler document, and with a brilliant success, as now tested by the "teaching."

Another argument for the early date is the fact that the Didache is so very attentive to its earlier sense, "to appoint" bishops, which in the Pastoral Epistles of Testament, by Josephus, and by Irenæus, in the course of the third century, supersedes the Apostolic expression and "Constitutions," gives it the sense of "to ordain." As the Didache simply employs the word in the earlier sense—"to appoint"—it is not taken into the category of the document, antedating by decades, if not by a whole century, the Pastoral Epistles and the "Apostolic Constitutions."

The Didache begins with words which at once suggest the seventh book of the Constitutions, in which the two ways are set forth, and of spiritual death are described. Two ways there are, one of life and one of death, and there is a great difference between the two ways." The way of life, consists of practical Christian precepts, familiar to all readers of the New Testament, and the "Teaching" is expressed in the words of the New Testament, "Love God and the neighbor." "Thou shalt love the God who made thee, thou shalt fear Him, and Him only shalt thou serve." "Bless them that curse you, and pray for your enemies." "If any one give thee a blow on the right cheek, turn to him the other also, and thou shalt be perfect." "If any one compel thee to go with him one mile, go with him two." "Give to every one that asketh of thee." To the command "pray for your enemies," is added, "and fast for them that persecute you." Jesus said, "For what thank have ye if ye love them which love you?"

CATARRH.

The remarkable results in a disease so universal and with such a variety of characteristics as Catarrh, proves how effectually Hood's Sarsaparilla acting through the blood, reaches every part of the human system. A Medicine, like anything else, can be fairly judged only by its results. We point with pride to the glorious record Hood's Sarsaparilla has created upon the hearts of thousands of people it has cured of catarrh.

"What does the word 'pedigree' mean, Johe?" "It means 'descent.'" "Write a sentence on the blackboard containing that word." John went up and chalked off the following, "We pedigreed down the hill."

By lack of open air exercise, and the want of sufficient care in the matter of diet, the whole physical mechanism often becomes impaired during the winter. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the proper remedy to take at this spring of the year to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore the healthy tone and vigor.

The curiosity of a child of five has been aroused by seeing a magnifying glass. "How many times does it magnify?" asked a gentleman, during the call. "I cannot tell back on the plea, I only subscribed for six months or one year. The question as how you received the paper? If so, you are bound for it and must pay. If you do not want the paper, write them your name and order it stopped. You must pay before you can compel the Manager to stop or throw the responsibility on him. If this is done the last paid item, of course, church members and others could be churched for not paying their subscription. Ministerial Recorders as in case of debt or any other kind. To save the Publisher any such trouble will not the hundreds of ministers, officers and even ministers who are in arrears please go to the Post-office and get a postal note. It will only cost you three cents to send your subscription to us, even if you do owe for two years as in such case a number. I am preparing a list of those who are indebted to the Department, whether for subscription, books or merchandise, to present to the coming General Conference. If they are not paid before, I hope the General Conference will pass a law authorizing the closing out of all accounts contracted previous to 1884, and appoint a collector with legal and ecclesiastical power, and compel those who are doing by the church paper as they contracted before they could get any paper in the country, that is, not pay for it, and many seem to act as if they do not intend to pay. We have kept the RECORDER going in spite of all the hindrances thrown in our way, which are many. Only one month now, and my report will close for this quadrennial and then we will see why the Concern does not better succeed.

A Safeguard.

The first quality with which slight Colds and Coughs frequently develop into the gravest maladies of the throat and lungs, is constipation which should be kept every unbroken person to keep at hand, as a household remedy, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Nothing else gives such immediate relief to the sufferer, or so sure a cure in all affections of the throat. That eminent physician, Dr. J. Swoyer, of the Mutter Medical School, Reading, Pa., says:—

"Medical science has produced no other remedy equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, as a safeguard to the throat and lungs."

The same opinion is expressed by the Rev. Edward Ellis, J. Addison, of Chicago, Ill., who says:—

"I have every reason to believe that many of my friends have been saved from consumption by the timely use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have used it in my family for years, and regard it as the best medicine for coughs, colds, and throat and lung troubles. It not only breaks up colds in an incredibly short time, but counteracts them anything else in relieving down the most serious bronchial and pulmonary disorders."

AYER'S

Cherry Pectoral

Is not a new claimant for popular confidence, but has stood the test of time, during the years of the third generation of the people have learned its power to cure all throat diseases.

There is not a household in which this invaluable remedy has not been used, or rendered where its use has ever been abandoned, and there is no one living who has ever given it a proper trial who is not its friend. Its good works are the effects of cures, who has not been made well by it.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been in constant use for fifty years, and is recognized as the best remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Laryngitis, and even Acute Consumption. It relieves the most nasty catarrhs in the easiest stages of Pulmonary Consumption. It is a medicine that only requires to be taken to be well liked. Its pleasant to the taste, and is needed in every house where there are children, as it is sure to do good in every case.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for treatment of Throat and Lung Diseases.

These are all plain facts, which can be verified by anybody, and should be remembered by every body.

NOTICE

To subscribers who are in arrears.

The law governing newspapers is that the subscriber is held responsible by the publisher for payment till he pays up and orders the paper stopped. He cannot fall back on the plea, I only subscribed for six months or one year. The question as how you received the paper? If so, you are bound for it and must pay. If you do not want the paper, write them your name and order it stopped. You must pay before you can compel the Manager to stop or throw the responsibility on him. If this is done the last paid item, of course, church members and others could be churched for not paying their subscription. Ministerial Recorders as in case of debt or any other kind. To save the Publisher any such trouble will not the hundreds of ministers, officers and even ministers who are in arrears please go to the Post-office and get a postal note. It will only cost you three cents to send your subscription to us, even if you do owe for two years as in such case a number. I am preparing a list of those who are indebted to the Department, whether for subscription, books or merchandise, to present to the coming General Conference. If they are not paid before, I hope the General Conference will pass a law authorizing the closing out of all accounts contracted previous to 1884, and appoint a collector with legal and ecclesiastical power, and compel those who are doing by the church paper as they contracted before they could get any paper in the country, that is, not pay for it, and many seem to act as if they do not intend to pay. We have kept the RECORDER going in spite of all the hindrances thrown in our way, which are many. Only one month now, and my report will close for this quadrennial and then we will see why the Concern does not better succeed.

INTERROGATIONS ANSWERED.

32 EAST 22D ST., NEW YORK, 1884.

Permit me to ask your opinion concerning the wisdom and importance of an institution of applied science, for giving instruction in the trades, open to graduates of the best colored schools.

The institution proposed should be centrally located in the South, well supplied with suitable machinery and tools, and provided with instructors competent to give a thorough training, both theoretical and practical, in all the leading trades.

What relation would such an institution bear to the development of the material resources of the South?

In what respect would it modify the thought and feeling of the colored people in regard to the nobility of labor?

What effect would it produce upon their homes and home-life?

What influence would it have upon the quality of work, and number of students, in the higher classes of their best colleges?

If the trades were thus opened to those who preferred them, what changes would be thereby produced upon the average grade of teachers and preachers?

Would the best people of the South both white and colored, favor such an institution?

Respectfully,
HENRY EDWARDS BROWN,
Sec. International Committee, Y. M. C. A.

As will be seen above, the Secretary of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association makes us eight questions. Without repeating them, we give our answer in the order in which they stand.

To question first (read it) our answer is that an institution of the kind suggested ought to receive the hearty support of all who have the country's good at heart: ONLY, DO NOT DRAW THE COLOR-LINE. Let it be open to all. If the whites do not intend that it shall vie with them. To say it shall be written to the bond that no white graduate shall be admitted, will make it deserve no life. There is no doubt that the practical result will largely be the same, whether such stipulation be made in the bond or not; but it must not be said to and to the end that the case is open the whites and neither upon us or our friends.

To question second (read it) our answer is: We suppose such proposed location would possibly be the best; and we would greatly favor, wherever and Whenever it may be done, the education of Southern young men, both white and colored, in the North. Both have need to learn. We have no doubt that this is impossible, at least in any wholesale way, we accept the location suggested.

To question third, our answer is: An all-important relation. The Southern colored man has been the hands of the South ever since the South has been. In a very large measure, in the future he is to be both its hands and its brains, as these relate to the material resources of that region.

To question fourth we answer: "The thought and feeling of the colored people in regard to the nobility of labor is much the thought of white people; or, indeed, people of any color. The American colored man takes to labor as readily as any of their names will testify. In report to the General Conference or any where else as debtors to the Department that will make them blush and hang their heads. Will you please, dear brethren, March 29th closes my report; all who leave their account open after that date may expect to see their names turn up somewhere. The good Book says "we must all give an account for home and life." You for yourselves and I for myself. I for sending you books and papers and you for not paying as you promised. I had rather go to the General Conference, or any other place, with a conscience having to answer why I sent to A, B, and C, those papers and books, than to go with your conscience to answer why you have not paid for what you ordered and received in full. And I am preparing to show that if the church had done its duty we would not owe a dollar to day. Every tub must stand so its own bottom, and every man that has no bottom must stand upon the slaves. Save yourselves in two weeks.

PETER H. CLARK.

Choice Literature bound into a volume, gives you a book of the rarest worth.

TWO-THIRDS, possibly, of the members elect of the General Conference have answered our biographical questions. While the other third be kind enough to hurry up? We are already getting our facts in form and do not wish to go back.

THE Associated Press gives the news of the death of Rev. Thomas A. Cher k, one of the formest of our ministers to the region of the Northwest. He died in Des Moines, Saturday, April 5th, aged 45.

IN OUR present issue we withdraw the long list of the General Conference delegates and instead give what is substantially the same, in a different form. It was sent us by Rev. L. J. Coppin.

THE Tuesday's eleven o'clock train from Baltimore brought to our city Rev. L. J. Coppin and Prof. T. C. Scott Iron, the dramatist, both of whom called.

REV. A. J. KERSHAW, Secretary, puts us under obligations for a copy of the Conference Journal (session) of Florida.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., has proved a real sanitarium to Register B. K. Bruce. Among those "quite ill," he is now "much better."

THE friends of Rev. B. Gardner, editor of the Choice, Ga., Record, much enjoy the visit he is paying his old home.

Personal

—Rev. J. M. Townsend, D.D. arrived in the city on Monday last. While he had gone to inspect and ship to Haiti the Iron Church.

—Monsignore Preppel, Senator of France, and Bishop of Angers, is under proceedings in the Council of State for ordering his clergy to refuse information about irregularities in the management of funds for the support of priests, it ought to have a very large one.

—Rev. James A. Handy, of Washington, D.C., preached a stirring sermon to the Masons on the evening of Friday in Union A.M.E. Church. The Doctor is ever pleased to know that when one so stung gives promise of rendering years of useful work to the church.

—A literary feast may be enjoyed early in April, when Dr. T. H. Jackson delivers his lecture on the "Unity of the Race of Mankind." Those who would receive light on a question which, though old, is ever new, will not miss expense or trouble to miss such a treat.—Weekly Review.

—Rev. E. W. S. Peck, formerly pastor of St. Mark's Church, this city, has been appointed Presiding Elder over the Baltimore district. Rev. W. F. Ryder has been stationed over the Metropolitan. M. E. Church, Washington, and B. A. Read has been stationed at Asbury, N. J.—Progressive American.

—Bishop Payman, of the A. M. E. Church, will preach a sermon next Sermon at the African Church in this city, Tuesday night. This church was established for himself a warm and affectionate regard for its pastor and people, and they regret the time for his transfer has arrived.—Huntsville Gazette.

—Professor Godet, of Neuchatel, has received the title of D.D., from Edinburgh University. He is the successor of the late Professor Lecharmette. The University says: "Evangelist, "which has done itself honor by conferring the French theologian who has for many years successfully cultivated the path of hygona centuries, and who has labored with distinguished zeal in the native public that every one (ha ha friend of evil) has agreed to name him the great reformer of the Church." The increased tax on human chattels as to make their retention so unprofitable that emancipation was the only result. We are, therefore, it is remembered that in Brazil there is not the shadow of prejudice against color, the situation there is quite as hopeful as it is in our country.

AT THE Silver Wedding of Dr. J. H. A. Johnson, he had the rare satisfaction of having present the aged father and mother of his wife, with his own equally aged father and mother so graced—"Yes sar'ee! ye's a poor buzz!" "I once was, my friend;" replied the Bishop, "I can be so yet" cried the other, in all good faith, "that wrecked drink! Aye, aye! Too bad!" The incident made the Bishop—has since formed the topic of a cartoon in Punch.

THE following refers to the Easter offering called for by the pastor. Bishop Campbell preached in the morning a most interesting sermon especially as to the occasion. Of the amount raised, the Sunday school contributed $125:

No. 604 WALNUT STREET, April 14, '84.

REV. AND DEAR SIR:—Our grand total is $928.89. We trust to realize what we have in hand and to thus refers to our interests in the District:

The African Methodist Episcopal Church has now been divided between within the last ten years—first by its oldest church, Bethel, which wandered after strange gods, and is still in the wilderness; by two secessions and fully two hundred and fifty members, from Union Bethel; by a division in Mt. Pisgah last year, which left the property in the hands of members. These losses as significant, and to me, intensely painful. I thought it a reaction against Episcopal authority, the result of the political rights versus ours—no power; but as this decline is not characteristic of the M. E. or A. M. E. Zion churches, it must be regarded as resulting from mistakes in government, or an attempt at over-government, unless it be admitted that the A. M. E. Church disregards more the wishes of the people than the other denominations—a position I would be loathe to assume.

OUR readers, we doubt not, generally notice what "Our Exchanges" say; as we take occasion to present them every week. In our issue of March 27th, among others we gave an item from the Daily Graphic, which we either are forgot to credit the same, or the printer forgot to set it up. What was our surprise when we read the following in the Gazette of April 5th:

Surely Brother Tanner was not in Philadelphia last week, for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER reprinted an editorial on Peter H. Clark, of the Gazette's, and did not give us credit for it. Come, explain, Brother Tanner.

Oh yes, Brother Gazette, we were at our desk. The explanation we prefer to give relates to you; and it is that journalism must rest quite lightly on your shoulder, to notice such an insignificant affair.

AND NOW it is our good friend of the Independent who runs to the rescue of Judge Taney; but as Joshua Woodlin was once heard to break with stentorian voice the silence of a conference with the cry: "Too late! too late!" so say we. The head and foot of Judge Taney's office was that he falsely appreciated a condition of things. It was not true, as he says, that negroes for more than a century had been regarded as beings of an inferior order and altogether unfit to associate with the race white —no more true than it is now. But with similar progress as lucrative his promise that he might give the South the conclusion he knew it hankered after. The judge is doomed. The die has been cast. The decision of the people rendered. It will never be reversed, as it never ought to be.

REV. MATTHEW ANDERSON, pastor of the Berean Presbyterian Church, has reason to compliment himself as he ought to be complimented by his friends, on the success attending the Douglass oration on John Brown. Despite the inclemency of the evening, it was a large full fifteen hundred people present, while the orator seemed to be at his best—at his best, we mean, when he confines himself to moderation. It was just Douglass when swayed by his feelings against fore, his Douglass calmly philosophizing upon the virtues and heroism of an old comrade beloved. Of one thing we are sure, it will never be forgotten by those who heard it.

THE memory of our correspondent, Rev. W. H. Ogieson, Winchester, Tennessee, fails him in his statement that the A. M. E. Church introduced the presiding elder system in 1672. It was introduced in 1808, and only then after it had been voted down by the General Conference of 1848 and indefinitely postponed by the General Conference of 1852. The Methodist Episcopal Church, however, in the South made it necessary, especially for that section of the Church. It was not the hope of assisting the memories of our ministers in their pastorates that we prepared our "Outlines."

IN DISCUSSING his Educational Bill, Senator Blair said, according to the Census of 1880, out of 50,000,000 of population in the United States there were 9.82 per cent. who could not read, and 12.41 per cent. who could not write. The proportion of white people who could not write was 6.30 per cent, and of colored 47.70 per cent." With such a fact as this before him, if it is the end, as it relates to the United States, the fittest shall survive; that is, the Church that preaches and lives the purest gospel will be the one under the Head of the Church universal shall give his divine placet.

THE April number of Choice Literature is quite worthy the name given it. Possibly the cheapest of the magazines, it ranks with the best. Subscription $1 per annum. John B. Alden, publisher, 18 Vessy street, New York.

PETER H. CLARK SPEAKS.

HIS POSITION ON THE SCHOOL QUESTION —HE BELIEVES IN MIXED WORKSHOPS, MIXED TRADE UNIONS AND MIXED SCHOOLS, WHEN THEY ARE MIXED.

EDITOR DETROIT PLAINDEALER—

SIR:—I did not advocate "separate workshops, separate trades unions, and separate schools," on the contrary, I believe in mixed workshops, mixed trades unions and mixed schools. But mark you, I believe in them when they are mixed.

I do not advocate workshops in which colored workmen are tolerated and colored apprentices shut out.

I do not advocate schools in which colored pupils are tolerated and colored teachers shut out.

I do not advocate trades unions, so called, which admit colored members, but refuse to defend their rights.

It is very probable that numerous avocations now followed by colored people will soon be closed against them. Why made a "short meteor" of Mrs. Gordon, about the 60, they were proving. He knew the interest which has had Gustavus Adolphus, and all the members of the Bedford Lodge, in the welfare of the colored Americans, and they would be glad to hear of the improvement. The improvement in the race has been most marked in educational and thrifty point of view; they have property, and that they could sell, there was religious improvement; for instance, they took their old plantation meeting house and set up a church in the city. It ought to be in the hands of every African Methodist Episcopal.

JAS. A. HANDY.

Rev. John F. Hamilton, of Bellaire, Ohio, says: "Your book, 'Outlines,' is the best thing since the A. M. E. G. W. C. T. Bedford Institute, Spitalfields, London, March 28, 1884."

THE friends of Rev. B. Gardner, editor of the Choice, Ga., Record, much enjoy the visit he is paying his old home.

TOWNSEND IN ENGLAND.

Bro. the Rev. J. M. Townsend, General Missionary Secretary of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, who was initiated into the Bedford Lodge, Spitalfields, was duly elected by the Board for the Methodist Ecumenical Conference, some years ago, has just paid a brief visit to this country for the purpose of purchasing and shipping a new iron mission church, to be erected by several Wesleyan friends in London and his Good Templar brethren, all of whom were delighted to see our good colored brother, welcome him on his visit and speak a few kindly words to them on him. The night before his sailing back to the Spitalfields Lodge, he was, however, sedulously sent apart by him for a little while, that I, the writer, might have a reunion with which he had made so many warm hearted friends, and who gave him a token of love and esteem, as he, said, would not easily be erased from the tablets of his memory and showed how sincerely his English brethren of the "white race" believed in equal rights. The honors of the Good Templar Order having been accorded to Bro. Townsend, this, as the organ, the Deputy of the lodge, presented to their distinguished visitor an address which received the marked approval of all present. I ran as follows:

"To Rev. THE REV. J. M. TOWNSEND, RICHMOND, INDIANA:

"Dear Sir and Brother—The Officers and Members of the Bedford Lodge, No. 1435, of the Independent Order of Good Templars, are exceeding glad of the opportunity of welcoming you once again to their midst, and that of their members, and of shaking with you the right hand of Christian and Good Templar brotherhood. Though since your initiation in our noble order we have been separated by the waves of the great Atlantic, yet we have not forgotten you but have felt a pleasurable interest and pride in remembering you as a member of our lodge and in knowing that your efforts have been for the overthrow of the great Liquor Demon and the upholding of the great cause of social freedom and human rights. We have heard with satisfaction of your recent successful struggle to vindicate the principle of human brotherhood, though it has been at the risk of your health and life; and we sincerely and heartily congratulate you on the triumph you have achieved. Your success in this instance has thus far helped to remove the estranging of your race by those nationalities who would set at naught the laws of God and of justice; and it will assist, as a constant precedent, in the final removal of all those unrighteous barriers which exclude colored fellow creatures from an equal enjoyment of the social, religious and political rights which they are by nature entitled to, but which have been so long withheld from them. Suffer your English brethren and sisters in this lodge to urge you to persevere in the good cause you have so generously undertaken; to which you have set your hand and from which you will never be moved, but will have the honor and happiness of being dear sir and brother, on behalf of your English brothers and sisters of the Bedford Lodge, in Faith, Hope and Charity, (Signed)

THE friends of Rev. B. Gardner, editor of the Choice, Ga., Record, much enjoy the visit he is paying his old home.

Personal

—Rev. J. M. Townsend, D.D. arrived in the city on Monday last. While he had gone to inspect and ship to Haiti the Iron Church.

—Monsignore Preppel, Senator of France, and Bishop of Angers, is under proceedings in the Council of State for ordering his clergy to refuse information about irregularities in the management of funds for the support of priests, it ought to have a very large one.

—Rev. James A. Handy, of Washington, D.C., preached a stirring sermon to the Masons on the evening of Friday in Union A.M.E. Church. The Doctor is ever pleased to know that when one so stung gives promise of rendering years of useful work to the church.

—A literary feast may be enjoyed early in April, when Dr. T. H. Jackson delivers his lecture on the "Unity of the Race of Mankind." Those who would receive light on a question which, though old, is ever new, will not miss expense or trouble to miss such a treat.—Weekly Review.

—Rev. E. W. S. Peck, formerly pastor of St. Mark's Church, this city, has been appointed Presiding Elder over the Baltimore district. Rev. W. F. Ryder has been stationed over the Metropolitan. M. E. Church, Washington, and B. A. Read has been stationed at Asbury, N. J.—Progressive American.

—Bishop Payman, of the A. M. E. Church, will preach a sermon next Sermon at the African Church in this city, Tuesday night. This church was established for himself a warm and affectionate regard for its pastor and people, and they regret the time for his transfer has arrived.—Huntsville Gazette.

—Professor Godet, of Neuchatel, has received the title of D.D., from Edinburgh University. He is the successor of the late Professor Lecharmette. The University says: "Evangelist, "which has done itself honor by conferring the French theologian who has for many years successfully cultivated the path of hygona centuries, and who has labored with distinguished zeal in the native public that every one (ha ha friend of evil) has agreed to name him the great reformer of the Church." The increased tax on human chattels as to make their retention so unprofitable that emancipation was the only result. We are, therefore, it is remembered that in Brazil there is not the shadow of prejudice against color, the situation there is quite as hopeful as it is in our country.

AT THE Silver Wedding of Dr. J. H. A. Johnson, he had the rare satisfaction of having present the aged father and mother of his wife, with his own equally aged father and mother so graced—"Yes sar'ee! ye's a poor buzz!" "I once was, my friend;" replied the Bishop, "I can be so yet" cried the other, in all good faith, "that wrecked drink! Aye, aye! Too bad!" The incident made the Bishop—has since formed the topic of a cartoon in Punch.

TOWNSEND IN ENGLAND.

Bro. the Rev. J. M. Townsend, General Missionary Secretary of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, who was initiated into the Bedford Lodge, Spitalfields, was duly elected by the Board for the Methodist Ecumenical Conference, some years ago, has just paid a brief visit to this country for the purpose of purchasing and shipping a new iron mission church, to be erected by several Wesleyan friends in London and his Good Templar brethren, all of whom were delighted to see our good colored brother, welcome him on his visit and speak a few kindly words to them on him. The night before his sailing back to the Spitalfields Lodge, he was, however, sedulously sent apart by him for a little while, that I, the writer, might have a reunion with which he had made so many warm hearted friends, and who gave him a token of love and esteem, as he, said, would not easily be erased from the tablets of his memory and showed how sincerely his English brethren of the "white race" believed in equal rights. The honors of the Good Templar Order having been accorded to Bro. Townsend, this, as the organ, the Deputy of the lodge, presented to their distinguished visitor an address which received the marked approval of all present. I ran as follows:

"To Rev. THE REV. J. M. TOWNSEND, RICHMOND, INDIANA:

"Dear Sir and Brother—The Officers and Members of the Bedford Lodge, No. 1435, of the Independent Order of Good Templars, are exceeding glad of the opportunity of welcoming you once again to their midst, and that of their members, and of shaking with you the right hand of Christian and Good Temperance

Dr. McCosh, of Princeton, in a recent address to the students said: "Our college is not in a good state." This is precisely what the little Maine girl thought, who thus finished her prayer one night. And now, God, good-bye, for I'm going to New Jersey for two weeks."

HUMOR IN THE STOMACH

Much of the distress and sickness attributed to dyspepsia, carotic diarrhœa and other cances is occasioned by humor in the stomach. Such humor, with all the characteristics of those complaints, have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Other cures effected by the medicine are so wonderful that the simplest statement of them affords the best proof that it combines rare curative agents and the most exalted secure the confidence of the people.

NOTICE

To subscribers who are in arrears.

The law governing newspapers is that the subscriber is held responsible by the law for his subscription, until he pays up and orders the paper stopped. He must also send back or notify the office to send no more of his months or one year. The question is here you received the paper? If so, you are responsible if it is not paid. If you do not want the paper sent, send word after arrears are settled and stopped. You must pay before you can compel the Manager to stop or throw the responsibility on him. If this is true to a legal point, then, of course, each member and office can easily be absorbed for not paying their subscription to the Christian Recorder and in case of debt or any other kind. To save the Publisher any such trouble, will not the hundreds of members and officers and wise ministers who are in arrears please be eminent physicians, prominent clergymen, and many of our best citizens.

THE TAWAWA THEOLOGICAL CLASS.

The Tawawa Theological, Scientific and Literary Association is now entering upon active work. Classes will be formed in all the departments as soon as possible. The design is to furnish a series of cheap text books on the several branches, and to urge the young people to fit themselves into classes for home study. An Assembly will be held every year at Wilberforce, at which time examinations will be made and certificates given to those who complete the course. The Theological Department is now organized and ready to commence work. All our local preachers, exhorters, Sunday school teachers, and indeed our itinerant preachers, are earnestly invited to join the class. The text-books for the present year will be: Cox on The Divine Attributes (The Bishop prayer) 35 cents.

One on Christian Evidences, (Apologetics) 35 cents.

One on Incarnation and Atonement, (Christology) 35 cents.

Special Essay to be read.—"Death Hades and the Resurrection," 50 cents. The one on the Christian Evidences and Essay will be ready in a few days. Persons desiring to join the class will therefore please forward their names and addresses, with 65 cents, at once to Rev. T. Gould 631 Pine street, Philadelphia. Those who cannot attend the Assembly will be furnished printed lists of questions as they need not enter arrears and attend stopped. You must pay before you can compel the Manager to stop or throw the responsibility on him. If this is true to a legal point, then, of course, each member and officer could easily be absorbed for not paying their subscription to the Christian Recorder and in case of debt or any other kind. REV. T. GOULD, Dear Sir, D.D.
Your little work on Death, Hades and the Resurrection is both interesting and exegetical. I regard the subject as orthodoxically discussed, while it is presented in the Church in a new form, which is a gift or power few men possess. I hope it will be read throughout the land.

A SQUAD: AN ARMY—WHICH?

The difference between a squad and an army is so palpable that it would seem even the simplest could distinguish. And yet this is far from being the case as the comparison relates to our Church. We have men among us, and lay the scorn, too, who talk and act as though the African Methodist Episcopal Church were an insignificant squad, instead of an army of huge proportions and living banners. And what is worse, some of these account themselves as leaders of the same, and essay to dictate its policy. Question them as to the proper place of our Church among the ecclesiastical bodies of the land and they are narrow; as they are equally narrow in regard to the methods which should be employed to extend our borders. Unable to appreciate the facts of the past, they are entirely incapable of pointing out the path of the future. The one thing of all that should most engage the attention of the General Conference next month, should be to see to it that men of this class be not allowed to lead. No word of the Master is more true than that which says, when the blind lead the blind, both fall into the ditch. Leaders must have eyes; they must see; they must know; they must have courage. And when we say this they have the faith that leads them to believe what the prophet says, "The liberal deviseth liberal things, and by liberal things they stand." In order that our Methodist Episcopal Church, as an army, demands such to lead her on. Any others will only stay her progress, if indeed, they do not bring on direct defeat.

As little as humanity will ever be without religion, as little will it be without a true. If the remains the highest model of modern scoffer of God and Christ and the Bible says, they should call to mind what other non-believers, more broadly read than Mr. Ingersoll, have said of Christ and the religion he founded. We present the words of three. Said Rousseau, than whom the world never produced a more inveterate foe to the cross:

Moreover Jesus by the shallow He has cast upon the world, or by the light he has shed upon it. Shall we be told such a man never existed? Such a fact is a fact? Suppose that Plato and Newton never lived. Set aside their works, and brought their thoughts? It takes a Newton to forge a Newton. What man could have fabricated a Jesus? None but a Jesus. * * * It is more inconceivable that a number of persons should agree to write such a history than that one should furnish the subject of it. The Jewish authors were incapable of the diction, and strangers to the morality, contained in the Gospel. The marks of its truth are so striking and inimitable, that the inventor would be a more astonishing character than the hero.

Says Strauss:

Napoleon now in Thy glory, noble founder! Thy work is finished! Thy divinity is established! Thy empire, founded on the soul, will be no longer any distinction. Complete conqueror of death, take possession of thy kingdom, whither shall follow Thee, by the royal road which Thou hast traced, ages of generations. And when, after the end of the surprises of the future, Jesus will seem to have reached the highest will grow young without ceasing; His legend will call forth forever admiration and His sufferings will consecrate the noblest hearts; all ages will proclaim that among the sons of men, there is none born greater than Jesus."

Will not, then, our young men pause before they commit themselves to no belief—pause, at least, sufficiently long to give the matter the personal investigation the weightiness of it calls for? If they do not, then will they be remiss in this matter at second hand. See that you have an individual opinion of your own, and an enlightened one as well.

A PRIVATE note from the Rev. J. W. Randolph, Galveston, Texas, gives the information that, as he says, after six years toiling, the Sunday school song book is at last on the market. The title of it is "Everlasting Joy," and may be ordered of Rev. Osgood Randolph, Galveston, Texas.' Referring to the work, Brother Randolph says:

For sixteen years I have been toiling into the world, on my light he has shed upon it. Shall we be told such a man never existed? Such a fact is a fact? Suppose that Plato and Newton never lived. For sixteen years I have been toiling to get out a book that would give us some little encouragement, but except in one year we have been unfavorable men them, they will do the work assigned, regardless of praise or emolument, ever esteeming it their highest privilege to contribute somewhat to the victory of this army of God.

CASTE IN THE M. E. CHURCH.

That "busy-body in other people's matters," as it has upon more than one occasion been called, The Independent, has recently had fluttering in the work ing of caste in the Methodist Episcopal Church. So startling were its showings, so sensational in the extreme, that Bishop Simpson's and Rev. Dr. Buckley's friend, Dr. Weddon, of the Cincinnati Publishing House, that when Dr. Bashford, of the New England Conference, read the Independent's article at the Boston Preachers' Meeting, he was requested "to examine the entire field," and report what he found. Dr. Bashford is a New Englander of the clearest grit; possessing its tetest, its culture, its courage and, above all, the New England faculty of working to bring the mountain to Mahomet. With such a man as this at work upon the question of caste in the Church that glories in the sobriquet of "mother," and whose professed mission is the spread of holiness throughout the world, it is not one to expect, unless a long a cent phrase, that "somebody will be hurt." And sure enough, it is just what has come to pass somebody is hurt. But it is not the Independent; neither is it Dr. Bresbford or the New England Conference. We could wish for space—more of that which is weekly devoted to advertisements—to present his paper entire; but we have not. But read the following, which answers the question the Dr. asked: Does Caste Pay?

But we have yet to notice the coolness of our caste experiment. Its cold comfort to our conference can be calculated on the same territory only at a largely increased expense. The division of a conference or color line, tends naturally to a division of the white and colored members of the church embraced in that conference. But where are the colored people enough to maintain churches and pastors side by side, the division of the church into separate places of worship is its members. When we remember that, in addition to this double burden of separate houses and separate pastors already paid for, there is the struggling Departments of the Church has been called into existence. Moneys have been raised in the white work, and then four times a year more by presiding elders for the colored work, and then, in addition to the Freedmans Aid Collection of $154,673 and large appropriations from the Missionary Society, we are forced this year to appropriate $12,000 from the general fund to any collection to maintain our white and colored work in the South, as we simply appreciate the cost of our divided work. At this and much more would be needed in the Southern field were our Southern work consolidated. Put when we remember that, in addition to all the contributions of our Sunday Conferences for religious purposes, we pay over $1,000 a week for the collections made into the Southern work, and then count up the extra cost of separate schools, separate presiding eldership and separate churches, it is safe to estimate that the expenditures of the M. E. Church in the South would go $500,000 further each year were caste abolished. Yielding, therefore, to the ostracism of good old Puritan Host and Walker and every to lay aside our idealism, and coming down into the only place upon which a decent settlement of this compromise has ever been attempted, we find upon footing together two sections, that case is resting or perhaps $500,000 a year more than united work, and giving us thirty-seven votes in the General Conference instead of eighteen as now, and giving to eleven states a gain of .002 per cent. Against this practical basis as ever presented, a gain of .170 per cent in six states upon the ideal basis.

A goodly number of our young men are readers of the speeches of Ingersoll. The fact that he is such a friend of the race makes his approaches to them the more susceptible. But are they aware of the fact that Mr Ingersoll's position as it relates to religion and the Bible is utterly destructive of our future? If men are loath to accept the doctrine of the unity of the race with the New Testament, what would they do without it; and if the nation practically denies our brotherhood with the religion they profess, proclaiming it, what would they do without it? Before they take comfort in what this "Ah," said a young lady to a gentleman accompanying her, "Ah, you know that when one is in Rome, he must do as Rome does."

"Yes I know," was the ready response.

What is the gist of this maxim—first, however, recognizing the fact that it is one of the world's pet sayings? It is nothing more nor less than a brazen apology for weakness of character on the one hand and bad morals on the other. "When in Rome, do as the Romans do" means, if driven to its logical sequence, in the company of gluttons, be a glutton; in the company of drunkards, be a drunkard; and in the company of Sabbath breakers, be a Sabbath breaker. And so on each of the Ten Commandments in particular and of all immorality in general. We have on idea that heathenism itself has a more pernicious maxim than this, which our professed Christians have been so ready to accept, for we have no idea that it originated with any. It is manifestly sprang from our pagan aldo.

Bishop A. Cleveland Coxe favors the United States establishing a protectorate over Hayti, of course, with the consent of the Haytiens. Could such consent be gained? Is it to be considered? Supposing it to be possible, it would be a grand day for Hayti. The prophecy of Isaiah would be the salvation of our great and good friend, Chas. Sumner, was the refusal to annex St. Domingo, upon which Gen. Grant had set his heart. But he reproached as the country was too strong on the one hand, and the mistaken zeal of our colored citizens on the other, that it will yet be proved to have been one of the finest exhibitions of statesmanship ever evinced by Gen. Grant, we have no doubt. Let the matter come up as Bishop Cox suggests he really carried out, its beneficial results to all parties concerned can scarcely be questioned.

The passage of the Educational Bill by the Senate is to be written the event of the day: a million taking in hand its own redemption. If our Republic ever goes down, the historian will say that it was because it was a failure. The Sunday school is at the head of the market. The title of it is "Everlasting Joy," and may be ordered of Rev. Osgood Randolph, Galveston, Texas.' Referring to the work, Brother Randolph says:

For sixteen years I have been toiling into the world, on my light he has shed upon it. Shall we be told such a man never existed? Such a fact is a fact? Suppose that Plato and Newton never lived. IT IS NO WONDER that so many people sink into untimely graves when we consider how they neglect their health. They have a disordered Liver, deranged Bowels, Constipation, Piles or diseased Kidneys, but they let it go and think they "will get over it." It grows worse, other and more serious complications follow and soon it is too late for cure. Many of such people would take Kidney-Wort if would preserve their lives. It acts upon the most important organs, purifying the blood and cleansing the system, restores and prevents these disorders and promotes health.

A boy found a woman's switch in the opera house and restored it to her. "Thank you, my little man," said the lady, "you are an honest boy." "Oh, no," I am not so very honest; but I know it belongs to you. What are you, then?" "A hair restorer."

A GOOD INVESTMENT — One of our prominent business men said to us the other day: "I have been using my wife's sail remedy and could not say anything passing your store I saw a pile of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had taken it a week she had a rousing appetite, and did her everything. She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars I ever invested. O. I. Hood and & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Charles Monhagne as Fourville: "Will you wait a moment, my dear heart?" "Well, I'd like to oblige you, only she's in the back parlor with Mr. Bachelor Coombs, and when he starts to talk to them I must go to bed without my supper."

The enervation and lassitude of spring time are but indications of the sluggish action of the blood, overloaded with carbonaceous matter, and by the use of heating food in winter. This condition may be remedied by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier known.

A professional snake charmer says the only charmer we know of, by way to catch a reptile is by the tail, as it is the lever which is more to the body. Out this out and paste it in your straw hat when you start on your vacation next Summer.

Ayer's Hair Dressing and renovator Ayer's Hair Vigor is universally acknowledged. It eradicates scurf and dandruff, cures all eruptions and humors of the scalp, promotes the luxuriant growth of the hair, and surely prevents its fading or turning gray.

A visitor who was put in the "spare room" one night, remarks that the temperature was itegerlor rear step, avoid-d a fatal cold by shooting the bed and sleeping on the marble top bureau.

Thousands testify to the merits of Dr. Greves' Heart Regulator as a cure for Heart Disease in all forms. It is purely vegetable and Unfailing. Give it a trial for those distressed feelings.

Professor (explaining a point in physiology) "Now take my arm." A co-ed, who had blushed deeply at the idea, rouses up and murmurs: Thank you, I guess I will; it is rather slippery."

At the dawn of womanhood, or in the change of life, Samaritan Nervine is the ladies' friend.

From North Hampton, N.H., Mrs. L. D. Tilton writes: "Samaritan Nervine cured my son."

"Herr Meyer, I suppose you understood that every one was to bring along something to the picnic. What have you brought?" Mein Gott! Myself, twins, Hans and Jakob.

D'd you read how Josiah Pilkm of Chelsea, Vt., was cured of a terrible sore leg, by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the blood purifier?

"THE COLORED RACE WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE."

This is the title of a pamphlet written by Dr. C. K. Marshall, in reply to Dr. J. L. Tucker. Other men of the race have both said what they think of the colored race for and against. Dr. Marshall's speech for the colored race is opposite to Dr. Tucker's. Price 10 cts. Sale at Call [illegible] street, Philadelphia Pa.

THE TAWAWA THEOLOGICAL CLASS.

The Tawawa Theological, Scientific and Literary Association is now enterprising upon active work. Classes will be formed in all the departments as soon as possible. The design is to furnish a series of cheap text books on the several branches, and to urge the young people to form themselves into classes for home study. An Assembly will be held every year at Wilberforce, at which time examinations will be made and certificates given to those who complete the course. The Theological Department is now organized and ready to commence work. All our local preachers, exhorters, Sunday school teachers, and indeed our illiterate preachers, are earnestly invited to join the class. The text-books for the present year will be:

One on The Divine Attributes (Theology proper) 35 cents.

One on Christian Evidences, (Apologetics) 35 cents.

One on Incarnation and Atonement, (Christology) 35 cents.

Special Essay to be read:—"Death, Hades and the Resurrection." 30 cents. The one on the Attributes and the Essay will be ready in a few days. Persons desiring to join the class will therefore please forward their names and address, addressed, with 65 cents, at once to Rev. T. Gould 631 Pine street, Philadelphia, Pa. Those who cannot attend the Assemblies will be furnished printed lists of questions on request, and will be examined by their answers, and certificates will be issued to those who shall be satisfactory.

Wednesday, March 19th, Baltimore Conference, Fredericktown, Md.

Wednesday, April 16th, Baltimore Conference, Fredericktown, Md.

This is to certify that J. B. K. Butler and J. M. Jones were expelled from the Georgia Conference at its last session for insubordination.

J. S. FLIPPER,
Secretary.

A Safeguard.

The fatal rapidity with which slight Colds and Coughs frequently develop into the gravest maladies of the throat and lungs, is a consideration which should impel every prudent person to keep at hand, as a household remedy, a bottle of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

Nothing else gives such immediate relief and world so cure in all disorders of this class. That eminent physician, Prof. F. Sweitzer of the Medical College, School, Brunswick, Me., says:—

"Medical science has produced no other one agent equivalent as and as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for the breakup of Colds and Coughs."

The same opinion is expressed by the well-known Dr. L. J. Addison, of Chicago, Ill., who says:—

"I have never found, in thirty-five years of continuous study and practice, any other preparation of so good value as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for the relief of Coughs, Colds, Throat and Lungs. It has not only broken up colds and severe severe coughs, but in more obstinate cases, after resisting all other remedies, has arrested pulmonary and pulmonary affections."

AYER'S

Is not a new claimant for popular confidence, but a medicine which is ready saving the lives of those who have come into being since it was first offered to the public.

There is not a household in which this remedy is known, in the whole range of the civilized world, where its use has ever been abandoned for any other. Those who have once tried it cheerfully place it among the furnished physical lists of questions on request, and will be examined by their answers, and certificates will be issued to those who shall be satisfactory.

NOTICE.

To all whom it may concern:—This may certify that I will not blame myself if the names of those who are leaders of Department Quarterly Conferences, books &c., especially those who have charge of their dockets should remain for months and have been mutilated again and again—if their names appear in my report to the General Conference when there else as debtors to the Department in the shape of a debt. I say that the whole church cry shame, shame. Forth 24th closes my report; all who leave their account open after that date may expect their names to turn up somewhere. The good book says "we must all give an account of ourselves." You for yourselves and I for myself. I must all give an account of ourselves." You for yourselves and I for myself. I March 24th closes my report; all who leave their account open after that date may expect their names to turn up somewhere. The good book says "we must all give an account of ourselves." You for yourselves and I for myself. I must all give an account of ourselves." You for yourselves and I for myself. I had rather go to the General Conference, or anywhere else, with my conscience leaving to answer why I sent to A. H. and L. these papers of business than to go with your conscience to answer why you have not sent the books you ordered and received in good faith. I am preparing to show that if the church had done its duty we would not owe a dollar to-day. Every tub must stand on its own bottom, and the tub that has no bottom must stand upon the staves. Save yourselves and me two weeks.

ATTENTION!

Members elect of the General Conference:

DEAR BRETHREN:—As the General Conference meets in the church of which I have the honor to be pastor, and as the duty of providing for them depends largely upon me, and as I am now over most once, 1] I ask it your purpose to attend? 2] Are you a ministerial delegate or a lay delegate? As I wish to assign each member his home before he arrives, the information is absolutely indispensably necessary. Please address, at once, No. 51 Centre street, Baltimore.

NOTICE.—Now is the time for the members of the General Conference, and especially the one mention of the same themselves as to the changes in the law and government of the Church at the last three General Conferences. We have bound into volume the journals of 1872, 1876 and 1880. In this you have everything before you at a glance. Only one dollar, sent by mail, postage paid, cash with order.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The following is sent us from Pittsburgh:

If a man and his wife separate, he stays away from his twelve months, she then is overtaken in adultery or fornication as the case may be, can she marry in the Lord in the sense of the passage of Scripture? Matt. v 31, 32.

The words of Christ in the passage referred to above, tell us the one justifiable cause for the dissolution of the ties joined of God in matrimony. But until this is proved in civil court, the parties remain as husband and wife.

From Hellaire, Ohio, come the four following questions:

A pastor says or claims that it is illegal for the treasurer of the trustee board to deposit the churches' money unless the certificates of deposit is made payable to the order of the pastor in charge. If so has our money deposited. If he is right?

If the treasurer be not financially responsible and if he be not under bonds, it is very clear that some one besides himself should attend to the banking. Whether that one should be the pastor may be questioned, in view of the fact that his stay is uncertain. It is often well to have a banking committee whose business it shall be to attend to such affairs.

Ought not the money held by the Trustee Board for building purposes be deposited in the name of A. M. E. Church, payable to or on the order of the Treasurer of the Board?

To deposit money "in the name of the A. M. E. Church," is an uncertain statement, and for the reason that the Church is impersonal. If there be no banking committee then the money should be deposited by the Trustees in the name of the Church and made payable to the order of the Treasurer signed by the President of the Board.

Has a minister more Number publicly and fees let the trial lay for weeks to suit his (the minister's) whim?

This question cannot be answered until the other side is heard. There is an ocean of wisdom in what Bishop Shorter is heard often to say: "One side is good, until the other is told," when it may be shown not to be so good.

Is it just and right, or is it legal for the steward in charge to lock the doors of the church to prevent the members from holding the meetings or their literary society in the house, they, the members, will not agree to allow him (the pastor) to hold the funds in question first, above, but want it as in question second, above? And that in the face of the fact when a portion of our funds have been misapplied.

Our answer to this is given in the answer just above; and yet, if our queriet tells us the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth," the pastor referred to is not in the wrong, and greatly in the wrong.

UNIFICATION AND DEVELOPMENT.

Whatever leads to give the Church greater unity and a more rapid and yet noiseless the less normal development, ought to receive the most serious and prayerful attention of the approaching General Conference. Nor are the reasons far-fetched. It's only can find ought against formulating the interest of unity and development who has no faith in the Church's future. Once recognize the fact that the organization founded by Allen has a mission to the people; that it is not to be preserved by Brown, and by Waters, and by Quinn is to exist in the long years to come, and the duty of sacrificing everything to its greater unity and more rapid development is apparent. And where is the man in our ranks, or out of them, who has any doubt upon the matter? There are those who believe that purely as a church for colored people, the time for its more or less means assured; but as they believe that the future of those churches who will insist upon remaining purely white, is not assured. But relegate this question, of color to the past, where it legitimately belongs, and our future is as much assured as is the future of any organization in the land; PROVIDED WE DESERVE IT. But how make this deserving manifest? By expecting it and providing for it. The provision opposition in our mind, and uppermost, we should think, in the minds of the legislators to meet next week, is: Provide for greater unity among us: Provide for a more rapid development.

But how? As it relates to the first, it is in place to say that whatever tends to the preservation of the several sections and localities of the Church to secure and labor as one, is in the interest of unity. And it is apparent that the work here pointed out is plainly the work of what is known as Departments of the Church. The most important work of all these do or ever can be done, is the superintendency of unifying the Church; of holding its several parts together. Take the Publication Department, for example. Can tell the good it has done in the way of making the Church, whether found in the North or the South, the East or the West, feel that it is one inseparable whole? That it has been a costly Department we are ready to admit, for getting the work accomplished, at its own way or another it has received from the Church between seventy and seventy-five thousand dollars, and yet accessity has it, in the interest of unity, to be unify the connection and make it strong, as many more thousand could well have been spent.

And, measurably, the same has been and is true of all the other Departments. Take the Financial Department. Although it has handled church money by the hundreds of thousands, what a magnificent work it has done on the line of unifying our interests and developing a great connectional church.

Take the Missionary Department and the same is largely true. What is said of a member in any one section can be said by all: WE support a missionary in Hayti. WE have paid for and sent over an iron church.

And as it relates to the "Children of the Church," what a blessed work has been done by the Sunday School Union. How it has awakened a love of mother church in all their little hearts! And whether in Maine or Texas, in New Jersey or California, the glory of is chaoted as never before. And should that Union be legislated out of existance, a thing, however, not to be thought of for a moment, the unity of unity it has wrought would be lost, and the work will long continue to bring forth fruit.

Plainly, then, whatever legislation General Conference enacts in behalf of the Departments will be in the letter set of unity. The wish, then, should be for the wisest possible legislation in this direction. Keep the Departments we have and make others if deemed necessary; and man them with the best men in the Church, and in the fear of God.

All of which is to say, that the best solution of all. As it relates to these, there should be no half heartedness. Courage is the word, even as it was the word when Israel was on the confines of entering upon her promised possessions. "Be strong and of good courage; for with this people shalt thou divide for an inheritance the land which I swore unto their fathers to give them. Only be thou strong and very courageous, that thou mayest observe to do what Moses my servant commanded thee." Are we not upon the eve of entering upon the "land" of which these remains yet much to be possessed? Surely, then, if like Israel we are to be successful, we must not be afraid, neither must we be dismayed. "Have not I commanded thee? * * for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest." Then let the Departments continue; and let them be strengthened that in the blessed work of unifying the Church there shall not be the least diminution, but on the contrary, a real increase.

As it relates to legislation looking toward the development of our service. It is to be said that all unifying will be to no purpose if this, also, be not attended to. On the part both of ministers and people, a greater intellectual strength must be developed. The time has passed for what has been called, for the want of a better name, "jim-crow" preaching, or even "jim-crow" worship. Order and dignity must be made manifest. In preaching, the word must be preached. Paul says, in the Word must not be given to the people, as it were, in great chunks, spiritually indigestible and fever-producing; neither must it be divided or cut across the grain. On the contrary, the thing must be done RIGHT.

And so, in ways too numerous to mention, the latent powers of the Church must be developed. Its service must be broadened out. They must more thoroughly be made to satisfy peoples of all tastes. Look at any of the great churches of Christendom—the English, the Lutheran, the Roman, the Greek. How wisely they adapt themselves to the peoples of all grades, and ranks, and nations, and even races. Becoming all things to all men, that they might win some. In this the African Methodist Episcopal Church should learn a lesson. We, too, must aim to be thoroughly adaptive to all; that we might win some. As no special form of worship should be thrust upon a congregation that does not wish it, so on the other hand none should be withheld from the congregation that does with it. If there be liberty for one, there should be liberty for the other. And so in regard to other matters. Some seem to think that it is only the province of Methodism to save ignorant people. But that is the power of intelligent man worth being saved?

Lest we make our article too long to be read, we conclude with the words of another. We are moved to say, in Christian Advocate, referring to the episcopacy of that church: "Pick out five bishops who are among the wrong men ter? Them are those who believe that purely as a church for colored people, the time for its more or less means assured; but as they believe that the future of those churches who will insist upon remaining purely white, is not assured. Then let the Departments continue; and let them be strengthened that in the blessed work of unifying the Church there shall not be the least had been left off; a petition which provides for turning over the whole amount of the first proceeds of the Day to Wilberforce. The exceptions taken to it by Bishop Dickerson and Cain will be the exception of the General Conference. It is, indeed, a pity that so symmetrical a petition should have been marred by it; tending, as it doubtless will, to open a discussion upon the whole, and no one can tell what a discussion will lead to. Without this last provision, the prayer would have been granted, we opine, at once. We hope the suggestion that before presenting it to General Conference the memorialists withdraw it. We take occasion to say that we will print the memorial in the first edition of our Daily Recorder.

BROTHER Lois, of the Missionary Baptist, Memphis, makes haste to show the truthfulness of our statement, made in relation to the Brownlow manuscript. We said:

We very much doubt whether the word of an angel from heaven could get the Baptists to leave off contending for immersion, and the Methodists to spend their time in the ministry, and the Romanists to give this laity the cup. The present generation of leaders to each is beyond the reach of illumination on any portion of what they regard as cardinal.

In heading an article referring to this invaluable document, this stalwart Baptist says that this is the feature most noticeable in it, and in the connection he plainly given the old movements in educational affairs. Shall we have a high educational strength in comprehensiveness and practicability? is a grave, much graver question than, shall we have a learned episcopal ourselves, though this is important. The best way of treating the subject can be better left over for four years, when there will be a deeper, broader educational character.

The very peculiarities which render it necessary that the Conference should not be confined make it the more obligatory upon it to be cautious. The discussion came to us with more weight than an almost equal decision of the Conference. For what we will, the avenues to learning are not open to us fully. They can never be till we open them, and the whole matter of access to books and school is a matter that must be decided. And there is in the sum of educational advantages, in the form of social life, of conference life, of political life, more advantages gained under the laws of beauty, &c., and which are the basis of the common acceptance of the term. In the South we are always for learning at all schools. The mixture, so far as it has gone, has been a miserable farce, and the schools are not to be blamed, ed but the mere first step. A school is almost anything else but mixed when its entire government and tutorage are left to the control of the whites. Such a system can never produce a healthy education in the race that is taught only. But a better teaching. Does thorough, energetic, competent teacher can do more effective moulding of character of this own race variety than the associations in the schools, ever looking up into the faces of teachers uniformly white-colored, or for which is the same, say mixed schools, yes, but mock-mixed schools, a few colored children with a small consideration compared with educating our children to seek "some other profession" regardless as many of them being called teach, being apt to teach, driving our Blackburns, our Clarks, our Mitchells, our Shorters, our Scarborroughs, our Flunking Quinns to some other profession, fesulting those who are really called to those other professions by thrusting upon them ill-adapted material; at the same time rob being the teaching profession of its most competent material. "We must educate" is patent. "Too many read it according "educate" and "must," but let us read it, "We must educate." Really, I find not tempted of allowing myself to stray so far from my text. Let us return. I am more anxious to see the people educated than to see them in beautiful dress, beautiful homes and beautiful churches. Of the practicable the value of these, however, either as means or end of education, I only do not want education itself forgotten. If the A. M. E., B. M. E., A. M. Z. and C. M. E. Churches, and the M. E. Churches were unable to unite for any thing else than what they certainly unite in the matter of education. What grand effects would follow such unity! A university would be made sufficiently strong to command talent of the very highest order, and to secure to it such as would broaden the union of these great bodies as well as strengthen it; schools of a lower order would be arranged to meet the wants of the people. The Conference Board of Education, enhanced a thousand fold more rapidly than in its present disintegrated state. I believe such a union can be effected provided proper precautions are taken to entire. But one step essential to the undertaking is domestic educational conventions in the bosom of the Conference, and the Board of Secretaries to act generally throughout the Connection. Each Board to be made up of a representative of the bureau to the people, and the bureau the representative of the people. Let the bureau commissioner should arrange for the schools, colleges, &c., under the Board of Finance; the endowment of scholarships, professorships, libraries, &c., &c., so far as this matter is left to the Church instead of the trustees of the schools.

The able mind who has presented to us the excellent propositions relative to Endowment Day has made good strokes in the right direction, but we think he or Bishops, I believe all of them, are endorsed by the writer. The compromise between the old Conference system for activity in our education and the new one of Boards and Secretaries is a great moderating, yet it is a possibility. It requires out wisdom and prayer, yea, the most careful study of every point. Then, in the manner in which he was preparing his Educational report and also exhibited to them a plan for the Board of Education, that might probably accompany the document, he displayed the true spirit of the enemy, once but Sundayses (blacks) should be sent to confront the army of the living God.

It is said that one of the chief objects of the Methodist Episcopal Church is the gratification of the family or the friends of the deceased. Mohammedan Empire from Constantinople to Mecca. The Mohammedans of Turkey are beginning to make a considerable advance in the Mahdi in the "Judas," who is to restore Islam to its primitive purity and power. A large store building is reported to exist on the Mahdi's account at Lado, which was erected for the reception of the Mahdi, and in which he was born. He has been closed from the day of his birth, and the question is asked by the oldest inhabitant does not remember—and is not to be opened till opened by the Mahdi in person.

Various leaders have from time to time risen in their territories, and their people have exhibited some of the characteristics attributed in Muslim traditions to the Mahdi. Among these was the celebrated Sheikh Umaru Al-Ilaji, who conquered a great part of Islam the whole country of Bambarra—including Segu and Sansanding—before the Niger. He was killed in 1864 by the treachery of the Arabs in the neighborhood of Bandiagara, which he had made his capital. He left behind him a son, Ahmadu, who succeeded his father, but was driven out by the Tukulors, and is regarded as an impostor by the European world. Prof. Vambery, writing in the London Times, Dec. 29th, 1883,) that an Egyptian boatman said to him, "Two years or two weeks and have accomplished more for the cause than ever before. Since the population of Egypt is 17,000,000, and the Mahdi is the devil."

It is said that if the Mahdi comes from the deepbed race of Ham, which some idiots still believe to be good enough acceptable to the associating classes of Europe. But whether he is a descendant of Ham or not, he will be in forbidding matter for serious thought to England and other nations interested in the Soudan. The "precaution" which "are engaged in an aggressive war" are to be regulated under the political and commercial atmosphere of Europe. The Mahdi has certainly made a terrible and fearful withdrawal of the English troops from the Soudan, and especially in the Egyptian territories, which must pass over that region. The "all around Africa," says a recent number of the Times, "a wave of flame has been running." Recent mails from Egypt announce that the Mahdi's forces are still menacing the northeastern portion of the continent. The Mahdi, followed by uncounted numbers, has destroyed an Egyptian army commanded by English officers, is now making for Cairo. A telegram dated Cairo, Feb. 9th, states that the Mahdi is gaining ground, and that the insurrectionary movement is spreading northward. With Cairo in danger, it has brought still against Wm. W. Patton, President of the University, in the sum of $10,000. On the 19th of last March the defendant charged Miss Bright with larceny of money, arrested her without a warrant, and had her confined in a cell of the precinct station. During her incarceration from 4 o'clock P. M., until 11 or 12 o'clock the day following, she claims to have been without food or water.—Louisville Bulletin.

Notes on Education.

There are 350 Colleges and Universities in the United States, of which only twenty-four have more than 200 students, and only seventeen have more than twenty teachers. A large number of these colleges furnish no better education than can be obtained in a high school of the first class. Can a university? is this country has three professors and twelve students, and another has two professors and eighteen students. These professors can take the time to give to them the Word that must not be given to the people, as it were, in great chunks, spiritually indigestible and fever-producing; neither must it be divided or cut across the grain. On the contrary, the thing must be done RIGHT.

IS IT NOT a little surprising that Sunday school unions and Sunday school conventions never seem to bother every-body except in the First District? Who can tell why this is so? Not since the days when Manager Hunter sod clerk Hanton were about, did the churches betarest themselves in such matters. If the mother district, and the mother conference especially, do not wake up, the indications are that they will be left behind. We pen this after the reception of the printed circulars relating to the third session of the Ohio Conference S. S. Institute, which is called to meet in June.

—By order of the Trustee Board of St. John A. M. E. Church for 1883, to Rev. O., W. F. Jones, local deacon; has been appointed agent to solicit money to assist in removing the debt of the church. They say that the sermon to the Knights Templar at Bethel Church on Friday night by Rev. Derrick was the most appropriate that they have listened to in the memory of the oldest Knights.

—Rev. Moncure D. Cooway has given his views on the war question, on slavery and devotes his whole time to literature, for which he feels that both his talents and his tastes fit him. He will sail for the United States in a few days, and expects to make his home in Washington.

—Buffalo, N. Y., will be represented in the Pittsburgh convention by Mr. Crosby and Rev. H. H. Lewis, both sign of excellent ability. Mr. Crosby he perhaps the most successful newspaper man of color employed any where, being the city editor of a white paper of Buffalo. He is one of best writers of the race.

EDUCATION.

THE IMPORTANT SUBJECT OF THE HOUR.

BY REV. B. F. LEE, D.D.

Presiding elders or more Bishops, who shall be in it? Who shall fail? Will the General Conference be convinced of this proper material? These are questions that are being asked by the thoughtful as the mental and moral status of the Church.

The more we expand our field the more we complicate our machinery, the more we increase the necessity for material for us if mental incompetency and moral incompetency are to be avoided.

We have great numbers, but numbers are nothing. We multiply numbers when them there is not a large amount of wisdom and skill. Notwithstanding our poverty we have much money. But money is of little practical worth unless there is wisdom to direct. Even land becomes as such simply, is not the possessor as to handle it, or directed unwisely. The great need of the A. M. E. Church, as of the world, is education in the highest sense, in the fullest sense, in the broadest sense, in the deepest sense.

Only think of a million of souls depending upon the high or low moral character of our church system. Think of the great responsibility that quarters against our connection! Think of the scholastic movements all around us by politicians, socia l and religious societies, or their strong organizations to secure the interest of their respective business." However, we have faith to believe that the wisdom of the Conference now in session will, in a very large measure, be equal to the emergency. The Bishop's call for only a two weeks' session will also command the attention, not of the General Conference itself, certainly of the dear friends of the Monumental city. And yet, however desirable a short session may be, we have no idea that even with the greatest possible expedition of business, we can get through in two weeks. The session of 1832 was the shortest session since 1836, and it lasted eighteen days, while the one of 1864 began May 24, and did not adjourn till May 25th.

THE great Star Concert which Mr. Bergen, so well known to many of our people and friends, proposes to give in the Academy of Music on the evening of May 15, promises to be first-class in every respect. The feature most noticeable in it, and in the connection already given by Mr. Bergen, if the blending together of the two "races," in what might seem a harmonious way. This is the present instance we are to have Madam Nellie-Brown Mitchell and Miss Adelaide G. Smith, whom the manager, is taking way, calls the Patti and Nilsson of the colored people, and the celebrated Weber Male Quartette, of New York. This combination alone is sufficient to secure the best hassoo and tenor singers of four of the most cultured congregations of New York. We confess to an appreciation of the phase especially of Mr. Bergen's work. His alone, of all the managers of the country, has had the heart to give our best singers a chance to show the American public what was in them. This was largely the case when his concerts were given in the interest of churches. Nor is he inclined to depart from it, since he has entered, it would seem, more broadly and more systematically into the work. At the moment of writing, the indications are that the Academy will be crowded to overflow. We can only wish him continued success. As a citizen he is honorable in every way. He is a man who can by no means be classed with those who "pick out five bishops who are among the wrong men ter" Them are those who believe that purely as a church for colored people, the time for its more or less means assured; but as they believe that the future of those churches who will insist upon remaining purely white, is not assured. But relegate this question, of color to the past, where it legitimately belongs, and our future is as much assured as is the future of any organization in the land; PROVIDED WE DESERVE IT. But how make this deserving manifest? By expecting it and providing for it. The provision opposition in our mind, and uppermost, we should think, in the minds of the legislators to meet next week, is: Provide for greater unity among us: Provide for a more rapid development.

But how? As it relates to the first, it is in place to say that whatever tends to the preservation of the several sections and localities of the Church to secure and labor as one, is in the interest of unity. And it is apparent that the work here pointed out is plainly the work of what is known as Departments of the Church. The most important work of all these do or ever can be done, is the superintendency of unifying the Church; of holding its several parts together. Take the Publication Department, for example. Can tell the good it has done in the way of making the Church, whether found in the North or the South, the East or the West, feel that it is one inseparable whole? That it has been a costly Department we are ready to admit, for getting the work accomplished, at its own way or another it has received from the Church between seventy and seventy-five thousand dollars, and yet accessity has it, in the interest of unity, to be unify the connection and make it strong, as many more thousand could well have been spent.

And, measurably, the same has been and is true of all the other Departments. Take the Financial Department. Although it has handled church money by the hundreds of thousands, what a magnificent work it has done on the line of unifying our interests and developing a great connectional church.

Take the Missionary Department and the same is largely true. What is said of a member in any one section can be said by all: WE support a missionary in Hayti. WE have paid for and sent over an iron church.

And as it relates to the "Children of the Church," what a blessed work has been done by the Sunday School Union. How it has awakened a love of mother church in all their little hearts! And whether in Maine or Texas, in New Jersey or California, the glory of is chaoted as never before. And should that Union be legislated out of existance, a thing, however, not to be thought of for a moment, the unity of unity it has wrought would be lost, and the work will long continue to bring forth fruit.

Plainly, then, whatever legislation General Conference enacts in behalf of the Departments will be in the letter set of unity. The wish, then, should be for the wisest possible legislation in this direction. Keep the Departments we have and make others if deemed necessary; and man them with the best men in the Church, and in the fear of God.

All of which is to say, that the best solution of all. As it relates to these, there should be no half heartedness. Courage is the word, even as it was the word when Israel was on the confines of entering upon her promised possessions. "Be strong and of good courage; for with this people shalt thou divide for an inhritance the land which I swore unto their fathers to give them. Only be thou strong and very courageous, that thou mayest observe to do what Moses my servant commanded thee." Are we not upon the eve of entering upon the "land" of which these remains yet much to be possessed? Surely, then, if like Israel we are to be successful, we must not be afraid, neither must we be dismayed. "Have not I commanded thee? * * for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest." Then let the Departments continue; and let them be strengthened that in the blessed work of unifying the Church there shall not be the least

THE GENERAL CONFERENCE.

CLOSE OF DUTIES IN THE NINTH DISTRICT—FORWARD MOVEMENTS—SUMMER PRAISED.

BY REV. S. H. CAIN, D.D., BISHOP OF THE NINTH EPISCOPAL DISTRICT A. M. E. CHURCH.

MR. EDITOR:—I am just on the eve of departure to meet the Bench of Bishops. Nothing but a high sense of duty impels me to this course. I have visited in the Lone Star State and amid the wilds of Louisiana, bring no account of the advancing tide of spiritual prosperity. The addition of new churches in Louisiana, the North Louisiana Conference, and the Central Texas Conference, is a fact that speaks volumes for the growing leadership in Texas, extending our work five hundred miles southwest and across the Rio Grande into Mexico, with vast accessions of members along the gulf of Mexico, Corpus Christi, Galveston, to Brownsville, Eagle Pass and Del Rio. Go as far west, as of this be established a thousand fold more rapidly than in its present disintegrated state. I believe such a union can be effected provided proper precautions are taken to entire. But one step essential to the undertaking is domestic educational conventions in the bosom of the Conference, and the Board of Secretaries to act generally throughout the Connection. Each Board to be made up of a representative of the bureau to the people, and the bureau the representative of the people. Let the bureau commissioner should arrange for the schools, colleges, &c., under the Board of Finance; the endowment of scholarships, professorships, libraries, &c., &c., so far as this matter is left to the Church instead of the trustees of the schools.

The able mind who has presented to us the excellent propositions relative to Endowment Day has made good strokes in the right direction, but we think he or Bishops, I believe all of them, are endorsed by the writer. The compromise between the old Conference system for activity in our education and the new one of Boards and Secretaries is a great moderating, yet it is a possibility. It requires out wisdom and prayer, yea, the most careful study of every point. Then, in the manner in which he was preparing his Educational report and also exhibited to them a plan for the Board of Education, that might probably accompany the document, he displayed the true spirit of the enemy, once but Sundayses (blacks) should be sent to confront the army of the living God.

It is said that one of the chief objects of the Methodist Episcopal Church is the gratification of the family or the friends of the deceased. Mohammedan Empire from Constantinople to Mecca. The M

Nature's great remedy, Kidney-Wort, has cured many obstinate cases of piles. This most distressing malady generally arises from constipation or of a bad condition of the bowels. Kidney-Wort acts at the same time as a cathartic and a healing tonic, removes the cause, and the disease and promotes a healthy state of the affected organs. James F. Moyer, carriage Maufr. of Waynesboro, Pa., testifies to the great healing power of K dney-Wort, having been cured by it of a very bad case of piles which for years had refused to yield to any other remedy.

A little knowledge is a dangerous thing, especially of foreign languages. Jones is very fond of cracking in bits of French, pringled from Gaida's novels; and the other day, when Brown chatted him about a showy looking young lady he was seen walking down Broadway with, he made answer: "How! how! dear boy; that was only ma cousine."

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is designed to meet the wants of those who need a medicine to build up and give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies. No other article has ever held of the system and hits exactly the spot like Hood's Sarsaparilla. It has the magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy. Sl a bottle; six for $5.

"Here we are, within a quarter of a mile of land!" was the joyful cry of the captain of an ocean steamer to his grumbling passengers. "Where? Which way is it?" "Anywhere down there," said the captain, pointing downward. "The lead gives us 220 fathoms of water; and that's land cnough for us against the brine."

The "constantly tired out" feeling so often experienced is the result of impoverished blood, and accompanied by defective vitality. Ayer's Sarsaparilla feeds and enriches the blood, increases the appetite, and promotes digestion of the food, and the assimilation of its strengthening qualities. The system being thus invigorated, the feeling rapidly changes to a grateful sense of strength and energy.

A gentlemen bought a newspaper and tendered in payment a piece of forty cents. "Ah! Newspaper Wanes. I haven't the exsage. You can pay me at some reen alone to-morrow." The Gentleman. "But suppose I should not call at all?" The Newspaper Man. "Oh, all the blodrancers thrown in our way, which are many. Only one month now, and my report will close for this quadrennial and then we will see why the Concern does not better succeed.

THE TAWAWA THEOLOGICAL CLASS.

The Tawawa Theological, Scientific and Literary Association is now entering upon active work. Classes will be formed in all the departments as soon as possible. The design is to furnish a series of cheap text books on the several branches, and to urge the young people to form themselves into classes for home study. An Assembly will be held every year at Wilberforce, at which time examinations will be made and certificates given to those who complete the course. The Theological Department is now organized and ready to commence work. All our local preachers, exhorters, Sunday school teachers, and indeed our itinerant preachers, are earnestly invited to join the class. The text-book for the present year will be:

One on The Divine Attributes (Theology proper) 25 cents.

One on Incarnation and Atonement, (Christology) 25 cents.

Special Essay to be read—"Death, Hades and the Resurrection," 50 cents. The one on the Attributes and the Essay will be ready in a few days. Persons desiring to join the class will therefore please forward their names and address, with 65 cents, at once to Rev. B. W. Arnett, 631 Pine street, Philadelphia. Those who cannot attend will be furnished with printed list of questions on request, and will be examined by their pastors, and certificates will be forwarded if the answers are satisfactory.

HALL'S

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have as fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp.

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe.

Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, but those of absolute preparation, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

The New & Revised Edition
OF THE
By WILLIAM STILL,
With a Life of the Author.

A large handsomely printed, highly illustrated and beautifully bound book, which exhibits in the most graphic manner the perils, trials, hair-breadth escapes and heroic deeds of the fugitives from slavery, and of those who aided them in their flight from bondage. These records were faithfully taken from the lips of the fugitives themselves, and in many instances they had to tell their own story. Many of them could have told the tale of the slave's wrongs, but few could have told it as graphically as they themselves. As would know it. All will know it who read this book. Many of the incidents in the book, among which is carefully prepared life of the author, are of thrilling interest. The book contains about 700 pages, and is sold only by subscription. Agents are wanted in every county to solicit subscribers. Send for circulars containing full description, terms, &c. Address, JOHN E. POTTER & CO., 822 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Poetry.

WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR?

BY REV. JAS. L. HAMILTON, A.B.

Thy neighbor? It is he whom thou
Hast power to aid and bless,
Whose secret sorrow or pain may know
Thy soothing hand may press.

Thy neighbor? "Is the fainting poor,
Whose cry shall find thy ear,
Whose prayer sends from door to door;
Or thou and succor fear.

Thy neighbor? Yes to thee or man
Whose years are all a debt bring,
Bent low with sickness, care and pain;
Go thou and comfort him.

Thy neighbor? 'Tis the heart bereft
Of every earthly gem,
Widow and orphan helpless left—
Go thou and shelter them.

Wherever thou meet's a human form
Less favored than thine own,
Remember 'tis thy neighbor warm,
Thy brother or thy son.

Even a preacher of low estate
Put on a charge to die;
Think of his parents, brother, mate,
And send him some supply.

Oh, pass not, pass not heedless by,
Perhaps a wife or child
Are breaking bread from misery—
Go, share thy lot with him.

THE CHURCH OF GOD—ITS PAST, ITS PRESENT AND ITS FUTURE.

BY REV. A. J. KERSHAW.

We said there never was a time when the church of God was not, but before we attempt to define our meaning, as to how us to say there is a comparative few, even among the educated thousands of modern Israel, that understand the true meaning of the term "Church of God," hence we have been taught by Moseliy organizations, systems, forms and the like, with the true church of God. Mohenet has done the same. Greece and Rome have driven to their day, but it is a mistake in the former as well as in the latter.

Now, in order to understand the meaning of the one and the definition of the other, the true church of God and the church of God is one and the same thing. One parable is as true as the other. The genuine power of the Pontiff of Rome, with his well drilled millions on the one hand, and Mohammedanism with its millions of bristling bayonets on the other, have their followers that have crept in of late and shamefully, but are we to understand these as the true church of God? We cannot, for the following reasons: Love, peace and righteousness are the elements that constitute the true church of God, and how often have we seen the church of God, and how often have we seen the church of God, and how often have we seen the

NOTICE.

To all whom it may concern:—This may certify that I will not blame myself if the names of those who are indebted to the Department for subscriptions, books &c., especially those who have given their notes which are overdue for months AND HAVE been notified again and again—if their notes are not sent in or report to the General Conference or myself where she as debtors to the Department that will make them blush and the whole church cry shame, shame, March 20th closes my connection for all time leave their account open after that date my notes are in the hands of parties to sue somewhere. The good Book says "we must all give an account of ourselves." You for yourselves and I for myself. Thanks for seeding you books and papers and you for not paying as you promised. I have had rather go to the General Conference, at where she can rise, and in all conscience living to answer why I sent to A; B, and C these papers and books, than to go with your consciences to answer why you have not paid for what you ordered and received of the agent. I am preparing to show that if the church had done its duty we would have over a dollar today. Every tub must stand on its own bottom, and the tub that has its bottom most stand upon the staves. Save yourselves in two weeks.

NOTICE.—Now is the time for the members of the General Conference to send especially the new members, to post themselves as to the changes in the law and government of the Church at the last three General Conferences. I have been over on the 1st volume in the years of 1872, 1876 and 1880. In this you have everything before you as a glance. Only one dollar, sent by mail, postage paid, cash with order.

THE recently discovered Manuscript, bearing this title, the supposed product of the second century, and edited by the New York Independent pronounces "By all odds the most important writing, particular for the New Testament, since to possession of the Christian world," seems certain of securing a wide circulation. John B. Alden, New York, publishes it in handsome style at 50 cents. Greek text and the English translation on opposite pages, is fine cloth binding, for the usual price of 25 cents. It also issues it in one "extra" number of his monthly magazine, Choice Literature, of which he prints 100,000 copies, and sends one free, to every postmaster in the United States. Brethren, if you do not get a copy of Choice Literature, send for it.

THERE will be solid gain for both sides the house when our white fellow citizens give the colored man that thinks as much attention as they give the one that can talk. As it is, the men among us not gifted with the power of oratory have a poor show. We know men of sterling talents, and culture, and experience, vote any spirit of negro who can talk glibly is given preference. Is it because our white fellow citizens don't appreciate thinking?

TO THE Dean and Law Professor of Allen University, D. A. Straker, Esq., are we indebted for the following list of letter's account of the graduating exercises of the Law Department of the University named above. All success to Allen University. May its sun never go down.

JUDGE TOURGEE, of the Continent, greatly favors Robert T. Lincoln for the first place on the Republican ticket, and Joseph R. flawley for the second. Doubtless this is a strong ticket, but if we were consulted, we should prefer to see it reversed.

THE members of the Philadelphia Conference will do well to read the sotica sent out this week by Rev. J. S. Thompson in relation to the next session of the annual conference.

Personal.

—Miss Mary Chase, well known to many Philadelphians, in her school at Williamsburg has an average attendance of ninety-eight.

—Rev. John Torner, of Allen Chapel, leaves for the General Conference of the A. M. E. Church, which meets in Baltimore next Wednesday. Rev. Turner is every respect is pre-eminently the best minister upon whom the honor of the Episcopacy should be conferred, and he will be so honored.—Kansas City Enterprise.

—"Dr. J. M. Townsend has a well-earned reputation of being a clear-headed, pure-hearted man, and the equal, perhaps, of any other man in eastern Indiana in legislative ability. It is peculiarly fitting that this stronghold of abolition in other and darker days should be represented in this State councils by a man, though his skin is black, stands the peer of any man in the State in uprightness and lutegrity."—Richmond (Ind.) Gazette.

—The entertainment and fair at Elder Grant's church was a grand financial success. The entertainment on Sunday were over a $1000. Prizes were offered to the neatest dressed gentleman and neatest dressed lady. Brother Hubbard dress. The popular barber, Mr. James Johnson, took the gentleman's prize, and Mrs. Pater Herriford took the lady's prize. The church has been cleaned so it is almost capacity for four nights in succession. We are satisfied that good will be realized in this city.—Austin (Tex.) Citizen.

—George W. Marshal, a colored gymnast who had been for some time a student in the Oakford Turn Verein, graduated recently with all the honors of that society as an efficient gymnast. He has been offered, only a month ago, a position as tutor in the East Orange gymnasium, and the local press speak very highly of his ability to instruct. He was last winter, at Golden Gate Theatre, the prize for the championship of the Pacific Coast, a medal which he valued at $60, above several competitors. He has also been appointed to the charge of the ladies' gymnasium in the Oakford Turn Verein, and seems to be quite a favorite, and is commended by the pupils for his demeanor and gentility.—Ex Sleeper.

—Referring to Mr. George William Cable's mention of the speeches of Patrick Henry at Williamsburg, of Wendell Phillips in Faneuil Hall, and of Abraham Lincoln, at Gettysburg as the greatest in American history—"there, and there so feeling," says the London Herald correspondent writes that the orator in Tremont Temple might well have claimed the fourth and equal place for his own speech at the Wigwam in Chicago in 1860, for which the party then just springing into power reconsidered its vote by which they had denied the Declaration of Independence, and were ready to plant the old flag in the Union over the ruins of the institution of slavery, and confessed anew the doctrine of the indefensible rights of man."

Church News.

Rev. J. M. Conner, (Oskaloma, Ind. Ter.) "When I came to my work I found in bad condition. A large debt but we are doing all we can to settle our bill. We have a good preaching elder. Pray for us."

Rev. W. E. Adams, (Columbia, Tenn.): "I have just closed a revival which lasted twelve nights and resulted in 22 accessions to the church. Bishop Gaud also captured one church and 38 members in all. Our prospects of wicked-ness. When we trust God success is ours."

Rev. Jesan H. Smith, (Newark, O.): "I was transferred last October by Bishop Hinton, and have charge of the Confereece to the North Ohio Conference and appointed to the Newark Circuit, since which time we have collected and paid on repairs and lodebtedness, $100 and have raised a like sum which when paid will liquidate the entire indebtedness. Added to the church 30 had 89 accessions, and were pleased to say that our financial and spiritual interests are in a prosperous condition."

Rev. B. W. Morris, (Greesohoro, N. C.): "We have nearly completed a very neat little colored church, size about 16 x 34. It is lathed and plastered and will be living by it, thank God. Money is scarce and spiritual matters appear to be cold, but we are trying to keep the fire in the spirit, and the Holy Ghost. Elder Arthur Staton, one of our ministers, has been over on the Island of Pamlico in the years of 1872, 1876 and 1880. In this you have everything before you as a glance. Only one dollar, sent by mail, postage paid, cash with order.

Missionary Items.

A note from a well-known missionary in Japan says that missionaries feel that they are on the verge of great events in Japan. (1.) The public recognition of Christianity as equal in the sight of the law with that of any other. (2.) The opening of the country to fortune and fuller intercourse. (3.) The public movement to Christianity of a large element who are convinced of its excellence, but who hold back while Christianity is under a ban.

One of the indirect results of missionary work in Illustrated in Tahiti, where, in 1862, the imports amounted to $201,250 francs and the exports of native products to 2,701,254 francs, while the Europeans alone participated in the traffic. Had there been no missionaries, the value of Tahiti in the world's commerce would have been nothing. Pare missionary in that island, M. Vernier, has recently been made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, on the ground that he had been eighteen and a half years a member of the Colonial Council of Tahiti, had served as a director of the French school for natives, and as President of the Protestant Church Council, and had contributed much to the strengthening of French influence in Oceanica. The Protestant church at Tahiti alone numbers about 2,217 communicants in a population of 9,000 souls, and 1,100 children in the Sunday school. In the last year, 238 heathen were added to the church, and 100 were excluded, mostly as accounts of drunkenness. The Tahitians are now, with the Catholic Societies, and read the Bible assiduously. About a thousand copies north of the Bibles and Testaments were sold during the last year and a half.

Biblical Research.

Mr. Lawrence Oliphant, when fu Pal-estine, made a special examination of the ruined villages of archaic character in the hope of finding possible locations for the mighty cities of the Canaanites. About a thousand sites and vernal sire which soothe us in the vague meaning of the word "ancient" with perserving efforts and untiring energy, for the plaudits of not leap from end to end of the globe echo, but in their ever onward progress lech by inch and line by line they drive the hostile spheres back.

Flowers do not spring up full grown across-ed with the seeds of various kind buce, but thry rise and unfold for all dependent ones. to diatech as angel's sye." All those good Samaritans and Samaritanesses who so much to explain the laws and principles of nature, and the beautiful descriptions of the heavenly bodies would not now be numbered among the vast treasures which the world possesses, if persons of past ages bed not strivou to gain a knowledge of earth and the wonders of heaven. Onward is the mystic guide that dills the heart of the truly loving traveler with renewed aspiration while pursuing his course up the fahorhy hill of science; and when he or she shoot to despair in mysterious power and wonders, the sweet voice of encouragance from the swrilling lude of knowledge and carries him higher and higher into the sunshine until he arrives at the sublime summit and is lost in contemplation of the mighty expanse of the world below. Onward dwells wherever the spirit of science is found, whether in the hermit's cell, the cottage of the peasant or the palace of the monarch, and waves its fascinating fag higher, higher, higher. This mightest of a far glorious allies assists in summoning man to a legitimate use of all his powers and awakening the most dormant energies in the great mind of the philosopher that eagerly grasps the soul of the poet who earn above the "earth-clod throng" to pursue his starry spirit way and fills the page of life with light. This beacon light poured its cheering rays around St. Rev. Richard Allen while he toiled and suffered and struggled among the harp rocks, rugged mountains passes and horror defiles of scenery until he nobly won the honor of being the first negro Bishop of the world. The bright star of energy sheds its powerful rays around the path of the student while poring with unremitting zeal over the midnight oil he attest but ever-teaching companions, how hour thoughtfully with the pained intensity of the grandeur of thought that it comes from the ponderous tome lying around and asset him be gathering the brilliant gems and precious pearls that will forge the chain of attention-stone of a temple which the future shall gaze upon and admire. It is here the system of astronomy was perfect when God said, "Let there be light, and "the morning stars sang together, and the great sun, that had been banished black and long, brightened and burst into the magnificence of light; not have the revolutions of suns made any impression upon any mind, but a knowledge in the mechanism of that mighty array of revolving globes of living fire. The system of anatomy was perfect when God breathed into the nostrils of man the breath of life, and he became a living soul. The beauty of the world was embodied in the mind of God, and children in the days of light and the sweetness of music, and in those were added from age to age gift of intellect. The system of botany was perfect when God said "Let there be pencilled in Paradise," and successive ages have detected no fault in the system; but when the fall came forth all the tolls of great men have been without avail in reaching the end, and the limit of advancement is yet reached, or that the human mind must have been and hope so proceed no further, and that the goddess of Time has no more victories to win. Then, and then alone, will the world be thrown into the tomb, there to rot in decay, and if you expect to be divorced from the companion of trouble in eternity, let the truth and righteousness of God be your guide in life. What is good and what is the cause of evil in its questions I shall leave unanswered. Job speaks of trouble again in God's appointed station to man, and David's Queen prepared a rest for the people of God but say, there the wicked cease from troubling and there the weary are at rest.

PRESIDING ELDERSHIP.

BY REV. J. S. PERRIN.

MR. EDITOR.—You will please allow me a small space in your valuable journal to say a few thoughts upon this all-important subject, which seems to be agitating the mind of the whole connection in this country at present. We are sorry to note the fact that the Reconstruction Act has left us with the presiding elder system. [If Bro. Perrin has among the documents of the late RECORDER, then he is right. If he has not, then he is wrong.—ED] Although I have seen this question discussed time and again, yet I can find nothing in it to satisfy me. I do not see are at the head of this system as the Bible says it is, nor do I see in the writings of those who oppose it. Paul, in his first epistle to Timothy, speaks of a bishop as ruling under the blood-stained banner of the cross and that Christ is the author and finisher of our faith, and that we are not to turn unbelievers. Paul also says that a bishop must rule his house well, and also that he must not be a novice, lest being lifted up with pride he fall into the condemnation of the devil. Paul also says that a bishop must have a good report of them which are without, lest he fall into reproach and the snare of the devil. Paul also says that a bishop must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behavior, given to hospitality, apt to teach, not given to wine, no striker, not greedy of filthy lucre, but patient, not a brawler, not covetous, one that ruleth well his own house, having his children in subjection with all gravity. He also says that a bishop must not be given to much

DO NOT BE DISCOURAGED even if you have tried many remedies for your Kidney disease or Liver complaint without success it is no reason why you should think your disorder incurable. The most intractable cases readily yield to the potent virtues of Kidney-Wort. It is a purely vegetable compound which acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels at the same time and thus Cleanses the whole system. Don't wait, but get a package to-day and cure yourself.

"I preserve my equilibrium under all circumstances," she was heard to say, in a pause of the music, to the tow-headed youth who was her escort. "Do you?" he answered, softly. "Mother cans hers." Then the music resumed.

EXTREME TIRED FEELING.

A lady tells us "the first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good, her food does not distress her now nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before using it called Satsaparilla." A second bottle effected a cure. No other preparation contains the concentration of vitalizing and purifying, purifying and invigorating properties as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Did the editor accept your poem?" asked a friend of a local poet who was an author. "No. He complimented it very highly, however, as he handed it back to me." "Ah, ha! A sort of a back-handed compliment, eh!"

Many ladies admire gray hair,—on some other person. But few care to try it as it is if it on their own chance. Nor need they, since Ayer's Hair Vigor prevents the hair from turning gray, and restores gray hair to its original color. It cleanses the scalp, prevents the formation of dandruff, and wonderfully stimulates the growth of the hair.

"Mamma, does a suit of clothes cost papa a million dollars?" "No, my child! How do you ask?" "Because papa said that Jay Gould had two or three suits out West that cost him that much."

"Five years ago my life was a dread of all the diseases, Kidney Disease, since using Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator the English language would fail me in telling the flood of praise." —Cleaveland Grove, Coloma, Ind. For sale at druggists.

"Johnny," said the editor to his hopeful, "are you in the first class at school?" "Well," replied the youngster, who had studied the paternal chew; "I am registered as second class male matter."

It seems proper to assert that Samaritan Nervine cures dyspepsia. No cure to pay.

J. W. Foiles, of Bluff Springs, Ala., says: "Samaritan Nervine cured me of Ear."

"Did I know that Robinson Crusoe saw inhabitants on the island just as he landed? No, when did he see it?" "Why, Friday, what were you about and a little cove running inland."

Druggists in material districts say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is as much the standard remedy for female weaknesses as quinine is for the prevailing chills and fever.

"Is this the front of the Capitol?" "No what makes you think it is?" "Its rear. If ye wants ter see the front yer must go around dar behind de debbil sides."

No other preparation so concentrates and combines blood-purifying, vitalizing, enriching and tonic properties as does Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Quality should be considered when making comparisons.

"THE COLORED RACE WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE."

This is the title of a pamphlet written by Dr. C. K. Marshall, in reply to Dr. J. L. Tucker. These two able divines have both said what they have said for the colored race, one for and the other against. Dr. Marshall's argument that the colored race is opposite to Dr. Tucker's. Only 25 cts. Your mites must come in as before, full and plenty. Ladies, do your duty. I ask all the pastors' wives to call together the brethren and sisters of your husband's church and ask them to contribute, I but a "mite" to help our forlorn mission work. The ladies of the Parent Society gave Secretary Townsend $150 as he passed through Philadelphia en route to England. Sixty dollars to have the Iron Church insured for one year, and one hundred dollars to be used towards the support of our mission in Hayti. Before the conference the treasury was depleted, except fifty dollars. This is to ask you to make an extra effort to help our Mite Society to do its whole duty. Dr. Townsend is now in England and can do nothing until he returns in May, but our expenses go on. Brother Mossell's wife and child must be succored, must be fed, must be cared for. Will you not do your duty? Will you not make the

MANAGER.

NOTICE.—Now is the time for the members of the Conferences, and we will especially the new members, to post themselves as to the changes in the law and general work of the Church at the last three General Conferences. We have bound in one volume the Journals of 1872, 1876 and 1880. In this you have everything before you at a glance. Only one dollar, sent by mail, postage paid, cash with order.

A SERIES of especially voluable articles on educational subjects will begin in the June issue of the Century with a discussion by President Eliot, of Harvard, "What is a Liberal Education?" The July number of The Century will have an exhaustive paper by ex-President Woolsey, of Yale, on the much-mooted subject of "Honorary Degrees." Other articles will follow these on the study of Greek, on Co-education, and on "The Collegiate Status of Women." The last paper is by Mr. Arthur Gilman, of Cambridge, the manager of the Harvard Annex for women.

A NEW PAPER—the Pilot—has been started in Philadelphia by the Indefatigable and irrepressible W. H. Ferris. Williams, editor, and Samuel O. Williams, manager. It is announced in the prospectus that its objects will be "to forward each and every movement that will tend to improve the condition of society," and to "agitate all questions directly or indirectly affecting the downtrodden people of America." It is hoped the Pilot may succeed in steering clear of reefs and breakers on the sea of public life, and guide the sentiments of its followers in the proper path.

THE DISCUSSION on the Morrison bill make particularly timely a paper announced for the June Harper's, on "The New York Custom House," by the collector of the port of New York deals with more than two-thirds of all the importations of the country, the article is practically a comprehensive review of our customs-revenue system. The writer gives a quantity of interesting facts and tables as to the imports and shipping of the country, and follows the complicated processes of customs-entry through all the divisions of the Custom House. Many illustrations add to the interest of the article.

Personal.

—Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage has been pastor of the Brooklyn Tabernacle ten years.

—John Bright says that, next to Milton, his favorite reading is the poetry of Whittier.

—Samuels Murphy, the temperance worker, is about to attack the strongholds of Michigan.

—Miss Lizzie Kilgore has been admitted to practice law in the several courts of Delaware County, Pa.

—Mr. H. S. Smith's report at the opening of the Pittsburg conference is said to have been a masterpiece.

—By the death of Rev. Dr. Cox, Esq. the Western Theological Seminary loses its efficient and long-trusted treasurer. For forty years Dr. Cox managed the finances of this institution without a dollar of loss.

—Mr. John B. Tolman, a veteran printer of Lynn, Mass., has given the Young Men's Christian Association of that city an estate valued at $50 000, stipulating that the income shall be used in promoting the cause of temperance.

—Rev. Monoure D. Conway, a prominent divine of London, has resigned his pastorate, and is coming to America to reside in Washington. He will devote the remainder of his life to literary pursuits, believing that there is a wider field for labor in this direction than in the ministry.

—In Mr. Spurgeon's Sword and Trowel is the following article to prove: "In order to write poetry suitable for publication, it is necessary, firstly, either to understand the art of versification or to possess a singularly correct ear; secondly, the poet must have something to write about, something more than a general desire to do, or to be a star; and thirdly, when he feels the fire burning on, he should go and die in the colored man and so work off the attack."

—Francis Langston, son of the United States Minister to Hayti, who killed one colored man and wounded another in a street fight in Washington about two months ago, was surrendered on Monday, May 5, to the authorities by his father. Langston has been living with his brother in Louisville. He arrived in Washington and was met by his father, once, fined, and the congregation sang the hymn, "The thing my God doth hate," &c. The Ten Commandments were read responsively. Rev. W. B. Derrick leading, concluding with the Apostles' Creed.

Up to introducing Father Smith, Bishop Payne spoke in lengthened terms of his almost forgotten itinerant service. Thanking God for his continued presence and help to the Church, he prayed that it might be continued, enabling him still to run through a troop and leap over a wall.

Bishop Payne, the Senior, then introduced Bishop Wayman, who read the following address of welcome:

HONORED AND BELOVED BISHOPS OF THE GENERAL CONFERENCE OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH:

Rev. Fathers and Brethren—My collegues have assigned to me the duty of delivering to you the address of welcome. Sixty-eight years ago the sons of Maryland met the sons of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, in the city of "Brotherly Love." Then and there they laid the foundation of this grand superstructure, "The African Methodist Episcopal Church," planting the standard near the waters of the Atlantic, and then moved westward, until it reached the apex of the Alleghany mountains, then descending on the other side, passing along the western rivers and over the plains until she has reached the shores of the Pacific. Like a gallant ship up on the ocean, she has encountered a storm, sometimes having a lee, and then well skilled and tried captains, who have steered her clear of rocks and sand bars.

Forty-four years ago to day, the General Conference met in Union Street M. E. Church met in this city, and on this occasion the same was the case with this conference, representing two Bishops and thirty-two delegates, itinerant and local ministry and laity and laymen. It was a great day in the Monumental City, to which there were added the members of the Methodist family. On that day the Rev. venerable Daniel Alexander Garrison for the Presidency of the United States met here. The General Conference met all the A. M. E. Church so met on the same day. It was the Methodist Episcopal Church, the M. E. Church; and her oldest daughter, (the A. M. E. Church) and the Union M. E. Monumental City upon such an occasion.

The M. E. Church General Conference was presided over by Bishop Soule, Andrew and Hedding, and others. The A. M. E. Church General Conference was presided over by Bishop Morris Brown and Edward Waters. All the Bishops and delegates that composed the General Conference, which has now passed away. In 1844 the General Conference, at that time, met in the smoky city of Pittsburg.

At that General Conference, for the first time, a resolution was presented and passed, creating a course of studies to be pursued by all young men entering the ministry. At that General Conference, the form of ordination was blended to the hearts of many of the delegates, and it has continued to spread from East, West, North and South until this day.

After forty-four years, the General Conference comes back in the good old city of Maryland, and to the Monumental City, Baltimore, with nine Bishops, one Editor of her weekly papers, one General Manager of the Publication Department, one Financial Secretary and one Corresponding Secretary of the Missionary Society, and since then two hundred ministerial and lend while Zion sings." At the conclusion Rev. Alexander M. Green, of the Louisiana Conference, read 2 Cor. iv. Rev. Dr. Bishop, of Louisville. He arrived in Washington and was met by his father, once, and a police officer at the railroad depot, and was turned over to the authorities and committed to jail. His plea will be self-defence.

—Mr. B. C. O. Benjamin, the colored lawyer of Richmond, Va., has received information from Wigley & Hartman, barristers, of Deansway, West Indies, that $17,000 has been left to him from the estate of Hon. William Burke Rodrelle, of St. Kitts, West Indies. Mr. Benjamin's brother was the great genealogister of Endalls, and the last of the family of that name. Mr. Benjamin has appointed an attorney in New York to arrange matters for him. The bulk of the amount is in real estate.

Notes on Education.

Mr. Frederick Billings, of Woodstock, Vt., has given $1,000 toward an endowment fund for Williams College, at Wallis Wells, W. T.

Dr. Edmund Andrews, LL. D., of the Chicago Medical College, will deliver the annual address before the Medical Association at the June Commencement of the University of Michigan. Dr. Andrews was graduated from the literary department of the University in 1840, and from the medical school in 1852.

The Harvard Alumni, in Philadelphia, have organized a branch of the Chaclamagos Tower of Philadelphia, of which the Class of 1830, a near relative of Overseer of the University at the coming election on next Commencement Day. The Hon. Francis Norris M. E. also cordially recommends Mr. Tower as a suitable person for Overseer.

Many changes will be made in the elective course of Harvard University in the coming year. More Yorgiciaus than before are required in the several courses in English and the sciences during the evening of the annual Boylston prize speaking takes place. There will be sixteen competitors, and the prize is now giving a series of lectures, illustrated with magic lantern, on Cambridge University, England.

One of the most interesting and promising institutions in the South is the Shaw University for Colored People, to Raleigh, N. C. It owes its existence largely to the liberality of Mr. Shaw, of Massachusetts, Mr. Estey, of Vermont, and others, as well as to the self-denying labors of its president, the Rev. H. M. Tupper. At the close of each session the president reports the past he labored on, until now the State Legislature has recognized the value of the work, and has given the ground on which to erect a Medical Department. For forty years a graduate high work; the establishment of a Sunday School Union, and whether the present year will not be the most successful or limited.

All the Bishops of the church were in attendance.

FIRST DAY'S SESSION, SUNDAY, MAY 5.

The opening religious services were conducted by the senior Bishop, D. A. Payne. Hymn sung, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," &c. Rev. Wesley Smith, finishing T. M. D. Ward made the opening prayer. "From everlasting to everlasting, omnipotence, omnipresent, all-wise eternal God, the beginning of the work, and the ending of the same," &c.

Bishops were appointed as follows: Revs. W. J. Gaines, J. H. Armstrong, A. W. Lowe, Rev. John Turner moved for a vote of thanks be by episcopal districts. Rev. R. H. W. Leake offered an amendment that they act as conference, which was carried by a vote of 77 to 43. Rev. Dr. Derrick then moved that the members should select their seats as the conferences were called alphabetically.

The following gentlemen of the Baltimore Conference were introduced to the convention: Rev. W. F. Speake, G. W. Cooper, M. P. B. Rice, A. H. Ames, J. R. Clair Drew.

Rev. W. B. Derrick, of New York, presented a resolution that the board of missions shall consitute a tribunal before which the questioned rulings of bishops shall be jodged. The resolution was considered one of order.

Rev. W. B. Derrick offered a resolution that each conference shall decide for itself in regard to the system of preaching elders, and that any change at this time is inexpedient. The question of the presiding elder system is one of the great questions to be acted upon at this conference, and it is expected that much time will be occupied in its discussion.

Rev. A. M. Green, of Louisiana, offered a resolution that the remaining lives of the A. M. E. Church heartily commend the World's Industrial Exposition, to be opened next fall in New Orleans. He dwelt on the fact that in this arrangements there was no discrimination against the colored people, but that they were represented in every one of all departments. He advised that everything possible be done to forward the interests of the exposition. The resolution was accepted and referred to a committee to be appointed on the floor of country.

Rev. C. S. Jacobs, of Iowa, offered a complimentary resolution in regard to Bishop John M. Brown's address of Monday, with a request for a copy for publication. Rev. C. S. Smith, of Illinois, opposed the resolution because he said the sermon was opposed to Methodism and in favor of apostolic succession. He spoke warmly in the sermon, and his remarks met with much approval. Bishop Brown's address, he said, cannot be approved by those who have taken the vows of the A. M. E. Church. Continuing, he said: "I stand by my vow, my church, my God, and I pay no compliments to any." He then read the address of Bishop Brown in spite of the opposition of the house. Like a gallant ship up on the ocean, she has encountered a storm, sometimes having a lee, and then well skilled and tried captains, who have steered her clear of rocks and sand bars.

Forty-four years ago to day, the General Conference met in Union Street M. E. Church met in this city, and on this occasion the same was the case with this conference, representing two Bishops and thirty-two delegates, itinerant and local ministry and laity and laymen. It was a great day in the Monumental City, to which there were added the members of the Methodist family. On that day the Rev. venerable Daniel Alexander Garrison for the Presidency of the United States met here. The General Conference met all the A. M. E. Church so met on the same day. It was the Methodist Episcopal Church, the M. E. Church; and her oldest daughter, (the A. M. E. Church) and the Union M. E. Monumental City upon such an occasion.

The M. E. Church General Conference was presided over by Bishop Soule, Andrew and Hedding, and others. The A. M. E. Church General Conference was presided over by Bishop Morris Brown and Edward Waters. All the Bishops and delegates that composed the General Conference, which has now passed away. In 1844 the General Conference, at that time, met in the smoky city of Pittsburg.

At that General Conference, for the first time, a resolution was presented and passed, creating a course of studies to be pursued by all young men entering the ministry. At that General Conference, the form of ordination was blended to the hearts of many of the delegates, and it has continued to spread from East, West, North and South until this day.

After forty-four years, the General Conference comes back in the good old city of Maryland, and to the Monumental City, Baltimore, with nine Bishops, one Editor of her weekly papers, one General Manager of the Publication Department, one Financial Secretary and one Corresponding Secretary of the Missionary Society, and since then two hundred ministerial and to further the education of the colored people of the South. Dr. B. T. Tanner, of Philadelphia, and Dr. J. W. Bryant, of Mississippi, made eloquent speeches on the future advancement of the colored race in America. They wanted the world to know that they appreciated his philanthropic and Christian concern to put aside caste and prejudice and help them. Bishop Turner said: "I have had a kind of religious mad on me for twenty years. We were tossed out of the Southern States after the war and the Northern States were hardly any better. We were tossed out of the village over our heads, or even canoes. We were relocated about forty acres of land and a mule, but the truth is the government should have given us forty acres and forty mules. The government owes but built colleges for us. When the Czar of Russia freed 40,000,000 serfs he gave them forty acres of land and a house, but all we got was a full rights to it. There is a howl about the 'nigger' government in the South. I made the howl. I call it scientifically and measures of the whites of the South is blamed on the colored man. I don't care if Congress hears this. It is a sample to me and I shall say it right to it. It may do good." Bishop Ward said: "We are marching on; the bugle is blowing, and the word of command given, and we will putdown all who oppose." Bishop Dickerson said the smoke of smoke forever and forever." Bishop Campbell, by speaking of the Supreme Court decision, expressed disapprobation by saying that George Peabody had done more for the South than Congress. Bishop Dickerson made the last address. He said that the colored people were not asking for special favors, but did not spoke on account of the lateness of the hour.

—Rev. Dr. Cuyler is eloquent.

At this session the committee on Sunday schools reported that they would hold a Sabbath-school Convention, the National Sunday-School Union of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, in order to extend the work and range of the Sunday-school work. The report was referred back to the committee. The Connectional Sunday-school Union of the A. M. E. Church was organized August 11, 1882. The object of the Connectional Sunday-school Union, has traveled attending to its work, and has visited 1,176 Sunday-schools, giving one day to each, would take nine years. These are in the Baltimore, Philadelphia and Washington district, with 17,466 officers and teachers and 120,000 scholars.

—Rev. J. N. Fitzpatrick, of Alabama, offered a resolution that a committee be appointed to visit Philadelphia and investigate the condition of the Sunday-school work of the A. M. E. Church, and it was declared that no appointments should be made until examination had taken place.

The report of the Manager of the Publishing Department, Rev. Theo. Gould, was made and referred to the committee on publication. It was printed in pamphlet form, and was a detailed and comprehensive statement of the business of the department from March 29, 1880, to March 31, 1884. Mr. Gould said that the receipts from 1880 there were thousands of dollars of debts, and now there is a surplus. He made some of which judgments had been obtained and executions issued, and was giving an opportunity to find something to resist, there having been a sheriff's sale in the spring of 1883. The Christian Recorder, the weekly organ of the A. M. E. Church, was published twice during the quadrennial. An average of 6000 copies were sent out weekly. It was said it should have a circulation of 25,000, and it should have a circulation of 25,000, and it has failed to meet expenses by at least $500 per year. There is due on the Recorder account $5,471 21. Allen's Recorder has been published regularly since 1880, and has been a success. The Quarterly Review has been published regularly since 1880, to conflict with the Methodist Review, with nine subscribers. Mr. Gould said that each annual conference be permitted to publish the minutes of presiding elders.

The announcement was greeted with great applause.

Rev. W. H. Hunter, of New England, offered the report of the committee appointed by the M. E. Conference of 1880, to confer with the British M. E. Church, which was read by the chairman of the committee. The articles of agreement with the British M. E. Church, which was one representing the United States, and the other the Canada and the British Provinces. The territory covered by the B. M. E. church was too much for one agency; it was the A. M. E. Church, and presided over by Bishop D. A. Payne. The report was referred to the committee on the state of the Church.

Dr. W. B. Derrick offered a paper on the Sunday-school work, and also a paper providing for the sustenance of retired Bishops, giving them $2,000 a year instead of $1,800, the present allowance. Both papers were read, and these papers were referred to the committee on revisions

Rev. Dr. Derrick a sermon was delivered by the Rev. J. C. Embry, of San Antonio, Texas.

FOURTH DAY'S SESSION.

Bishop J. P. Shorter presided at the General Conference on Monday. The organization of Rev. G. W. Gaines, second assistant secretary, was accepted, and Rev. R. H. Harper, of Tennessee, was elected to take his place. The committee on credentials reported that F. T. Lee, of Virginia, and J. Sostlip, and Conference, and Rev. J. E. Edwards, of Central Texas Conference, were admitted to seats.

The Rev. Jas. H. A. Johnson read an appeal from Rev. W. R. Carson, of the Northeast Texas Conference, asking to have his character investigated. It had been inflicted upon him by a court held by Rev. T. W. Moore, presiding elder of that conference of that district. The charges against him were insubordination, and discussing politics. A committee appointed: The Rev. Messrs. C. E. Hervey, J. H. Jackson, D. A. Jackson, G. Mitchell's name was declined to serve on it. Calo was the accuser, and insisted the finding of a verdict of guilty and suspension in the "Buckeye State," Ohio; to our Allen University, in the capital of the "Palmetto State," South Carolina; to Paul Quinn College, in the "Lone Star," Texas; and last, but not least, the Jacksonville High School, in the land of flowers.

Bishops and delegates, we welcome you to the soil of good Maryland, and to the hospitalities of our humble homes, and to the good things of life, and as old Father Jacob Embry says: we welcome you to our church and pulpit and to our altars, and to the use the glorious gospel of the Son of God. May your healths be preserved and your lives protracted here in our city, and when you shall take your departure from here may you go in peace, and God speed. You shall carry our best wishes for your future success and your pathways be strewn with pleasures, and may life's sun set without a cloud. And now, we say again, welcome, welcome, Bishops and delegates, to the Monumental City, and indeed, we say to you, we will not forget to say welcome to the Bishops and delegates to the A. M. E. Church, the venerable David Smith, welcome home to the city where you were born. Like a prodigal son you have come to the city where you were converted and joined the church.

On motion of Rev. C. S. Smith, Prince Hall Grand Lodge of Masons was specially requested to the address of welcome.

Twelve o'clock having arrived, it was agreed to postpone hearing the Quadrennial Sermon until Tuesday morning, and on motions of Rev. J. B. Stansberry, moved that Rev. Dr. Hunter publish a reply on behalf of the delegates, which was done in an equally happy way.

Rev. Dr. Hunter was then introduced, and Rev. J. P. Coppin. Bishop Payne, in a few words, introduced Dr. Hunter, who spoke for about half an hour. He said: "I believe in sacrodotalism, I do not know what it means. When I look upon a vow against apostolic succession, he does not know what he is talking about. We are going too far from episcopacy. I belong to the A. M. E. Church, and I belong to it because I have chose, provided they do not go against the Bible."

Dr. Jas. H. A. Johnson, of Baltimore, said any person has a right to speak in addressed, but the conference had not the right in endorse every discourse. There was too much episcopacy; it was going towards Romanism. A priest is the Roman Church had denied up at the sermon. Carried. Doxology and benediction by Rev. Dr. Campbell.

SECOND DAY.

The General Conference resumed its session on Tuesday morning in Bethel A. M. E. church, Bishop A. W. Wayman presiding. Rev. Henry Strickland, of the Georgia Conference, conducted the devotional exercises. In calling the house to order Bishop Wayman suggested the propriety of leaving off titles. Bishop Payne, in the discussion which followed, said he had at first refused the title of LL. D., tendered him by Lincoln University, but was forced by his friends to ultimately accept it.

Bishops were appointed as follows: Revs. W. J. Gaines, J. H. Armstrong, A. W. Lowe. Rev. John Turner moved for a vote of thanks be by episcopal districts. Rev. R. H. W. Leake offered an amendment that they act as conference, which was carried by a vote of 77 to 43. Rev. Dr. Derrick then moved that the members should select their seats as the conferences were called alphabetically.

The following gentlemen of the Baltimore Conference were introduced to the convention: Rev. W. F. Speake, G. W. Cooper, M. P. B. Rice, A. H. Ames, J. R. Clair Drew.

WORD FROM LITCHFIELD, ILL.

BY MRS. SELINE J. CLARK.

MR. EDITOR:—Please allow me space in your paper for a few words from the West. Being only a private in the ranks in the church, promotion has rendered us somewhat conservative until now. As the General Quarters, for rest the wholesome instruction given each day. Rest to the great headquarters in the city of Baltimore, we claim the authority to say a few words. Much has already been said relative to what ought to be done by the sacred body; possibly the great sphere of thought has been penetrated to the lowest strata of society, sons of vast magnitude and ought to be carefully considered, and others merely for notoriety. The vital and grave questions are summed up in a nutshell by Ruby Cain, D.D., of the Ninth Episcopal District, in his article in THE RECORDER of May 1st, 1884. The good Bishop most undoubtedly has an apocalyptical view previous to penning the pearls of the Master's church-ical school will be stamped upon the banner of the A. M. E. Church throughout, no, no, no, we must look in that direction. We would the contours of the able article of Dr. Cain, which we publish in detail, be clipped and woven in a poem and chanted by the whole host of the Methodist Episcopal Conference next the mind, soul, heart and head of every aspirant in pregnant with the thought, and we would be glad to see the same consummate, and we would be glad to speak to its owner. The inquiry is, Who is the author? Is it a minister, a layman, a lay-woman, a local preacher, or a traveling preacher? Is it a bishop? Is it a presiding elder? Is it a pastor? Is it a steward? Is it a trustee? Is it a class leader? Is it a Sunday-school superintendent? Is it a Sunday-school worker? Is it a Sunday-school worker? Is it a Sunday-school worker

Hiram D Marfield, formerly of Silver Springs, R. I., has no doubt of the wonderful curative powers of Kidney-Wort. He was so afflicted with K dney Complaint that he could not stand on his feet from pain and weakness. As soon as he commenced using Kidney-Wort he experienced immediate relief and at once began to grow strong and was relieved of all pain and unpleasantness. He says, "I know I have been cured by Kidney-Wort."

HUMAN BLOOD.—Do the purity and vitality of the blood depend the health and health of the whole system. Disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause. A remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, like Hood's Sarsaparilla undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use. Sold by Druggists.

Talk about patience on a mosquito net. For a picture of calm content, look at a plumber waiting for his helper to go to his shop for tools.

Notwithstanding much has been said about the superiority of a blood-purifying medicine, it may be possible that the matter has never seriously claimed your attention. Think of it now! If, by the use of a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla you avoid the evils of scrofula, and transmit a healthy constitution to your offspring, thank us for the suggestion.

WORTHY
Of Confidence.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla is a medicine that, during nearly 40 years, in all parts of the world, has proved its efficacy as the best blood alterative known to medical science.

SARSAPARILLA (extracted from the root of the rough but genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla) is in fact, and by powers not inherent in the extracts of Yellow Dock and Stillingia, Mezereon, Burdock, Sarsaparilla, Iron, and other vaunted humbugs by your blood vitalized by derangements of the digestive and assimilative functions and is rendered impure or corrupted by the germs of disease, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy you can obtain.

THE Public Speaker, of the United States, who knows the composition of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, say that nothing else so good for the purification of the blood is within the range of pharmacy.

ONLY by the use of this remedy is it possible for a person who has corrupted blood to obtain sound health, and prevent transmission of the destructive taint to posterity.

THOROUGHLY edu-ates physicians in the composition of the various blood purifiers now in use, and they unanimously recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best, for the reason that it is reliable, safe, and certain in its effects.

RELIABLE in every case requiring a powerful blood purifier, because it is prepared from the purest forms of the drugs employed in it, by chemists of the highest skill, and by a process of manipulation peculiar to themselves. Its wonderful success in curing others should satisfy you that it will cure you.

BLOOD that is corrupted through disease, or that is made impure and loses its vitality through debility, can be purified and enriched by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

PURIFYING up the system results in the expulsion of disease, and health will be derived from the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, as thousands have testified.

MEDICINE falsely claimed, is obsolete in the estimation of the well informed, but the only preparation that has stood the test of time, and proved worthy of the world's confidence, is

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

I will be true. Mad stars forsake their courses,
And, like the reckless meteors, turn away
From paths appointed by Eternal Forces;
But as for me, I will not change or stray.
Like those calm worlds, whose sun directed
Sweep on their course, loyal unto love.

I will be true. The fickle tide divided Between two wooing shores, at length must know
Which one to seek; but I, with heart undecided,
Will be true to you, though I may not show
Which one I love. Though some may deem me false to me.

I will be true. Light barks may be belated
Or turned aside by every breeze at play,
While sturdy ships, well manned and richly freighted,
With firmer step, and surer, ofter safe in bay.
Like some firm rock, that, steadfast and unshaken
Stands undismayed, when ebbing billows flee,
So would my heart stand, faithful to me.

"THE UNSEARCHABLE RICHES OF CHRIST."

(EPHESIANS III, 8.)

Infinite sacrament, what can be Compared, my Saviour, unto thee?
To know thee is best to know
Desiring but to know thee more;
Our joy repaid, our every sorrow healed,
And sunny paths reveal but sunnier ways.

Infinite love, no tongue can tell
That measure in my heart to dwell,
What tightenth by truth Divine,
And makes each word of promise mine;
What riches could I crave with such a guest?
What could be better when I have the best?

Infinite friend, thy friendship sure
Hath been the same from everywhere
To all thy people, and to me
In all and evermore will be.
Changeless, and kind, as the Eternal Throne,
The tireless friendship that this world hath known.

Infinite God, my all in all,
Take me and fashion at thou will,
And keep me by thy power still;
Thy only thine in every state to be,
Dead to all I be, and living but to thee.
—J. C. Todd.

NOTICE.—Now is the time for the members of the General Conference, and especially the preachers, to post themselves as to the changes in the law and government of the Church at the last three General Conferences. We have bound in one volume the journals of 1872, 1876 and 1880. It is the first one ever published before you at a glance. Only one dollar, sent by mail, postage paid, cash with order.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

The Sunday School Union has been adopted, and by order of the General Conference Children's Day for this year will be held on the fifth Sunday in June.

MR. JAMES FREEMAN CLARKE has produced in the volume just published by H. Worthington a sketch of the struggle which ended in the abolition of slavery in the United States, which is interesting for the generation on which it grew up since those stormy scenes. It will thus supply a desideratum most felt in our Sunday schools. Mr. Clark dwells mostly on the events which he was personally familiar and the persons with whom he was best acquainted. The scenes are chiefly laid in Massachusetts and the characters are Garrison and men, yet he flits at the way in which men felt and thought in other sections. The story of the emancipation will be as lasting as that of any series of events in the records of mankind, and those chapters call fitting attention to the powerful agency of the most men and nations in that crisis. Time has elapsed since the great event, and both parties can now afford to retrieve that period of conscientious if he opposed to both contending interests. Mr. Clarke's work is an valuable contribution to the future history of those days.

WE ARE in receipt of a new Sunday school singing book by S. W. Straub, entitled "Living Anthems." The book shows a thorough knowledge of the wants of Sunday schools. The hymns seem to have been selected from the best sources, many excellent hymn writers being represented in the book. The words are pure, rich and full of power and gospel truth. The musical part is marked with beauty and simplicity and yet are full of deep feeling and vigor. The music will arouse life and enthusiasm in a school. An important feature in this book is that the tunes do not run too high for children's voices. The book is well bound and the type is larger and clearer than that generally used. It contains 192 pages and is printed on fine tinted paper. The price is 35 cents per copy, but the publisher (Mr. S. W. Straub, Chicago,) offers to send one sample copy for examination with a view to its adoption in a Sunday school, for the price of postage and, for 20 cents. We feel that this new book will please.

A RECENT letter from Washington to a leading daily paper states that ex-Senator Bruce, a colored man of Mississippi, goes at the head of the Mississippi delegation to the republican convention. The delegation is said to go for Arthur, with Logan as second choice. Mr. Bruce was called on recently by a number of colored politicians, and informed that it was considered best to present his name as the representative of his race to the convention for the nomination for Vice-President. Mr. Bruce is too modest a man to push to any of forts to his own behalf, but his friends are quite certain that he will not refuse the nomination for Vice-President if his white colleagues of the convention tender it to him with the proper grace. While he was a member of the Senate, Mr. Bruce was several times called to the chair, and he would therefore not be entirely new to the position.

THE General Conference of the M. E. Church, now being held in this city, decided to elect four new bishops. The successful candidates were Revs. W. X. Ninde, J. M. Weiden, W. F. F. Mallalieu and C. H. Fowler. There were others who were looked upon as likely to be elected, but who had done no well in other positions that it was thought best not to change them.

There are forty-two colored delegates in the conference, and they are said to make a fine appearance, and some of them are able and interesting speakers. Marshall W. Taylor, a colored delegate and one of the ablest speakers in the conference, in supporting a motion to send a bishop to Africa, declared that it was but poetic justice to compel at least one white man to live in Africa when his forefathers were compelled to come to America.

TWO NEW PAPERS have been started during the past week by colored men. The N. C. Republican, published at Weldon, N. C., by D. McD. Lindsey, and the Sunday Independent, published in Philadelphia, by the Independent Publishing Company. The first number of the Independent presents a fine appearance, and is neatly and tastefully arranged; but there are vast numbers of typographical errors, which we hope to see eliminated from succeeding issues, and believe it will be done, the worry and hurry of bringing out the first issue with inadequate help being, we believe, the cause of haste, and therefore careless, proof reading.

THE BALTIMORE AMERICAN published, in its issue of May 12th, a very interesting description of some of the prominent members of the General Conference, together with an interview with Bishop Turner. It will be found on the first page of this issue of the RECORDER. The American takes occasion to say editorially, "The portrait in question has in it men of high ability, whose standing is all the more creditable because they have risen under adverse circumstances, and by their own energy and perseverance forced themselves in positions of honor and influence."

MR. ORANGE JUDD, who for more than a quarter of a century was at the head of the American Agriculturist, has severed his connection with that paper and taken charge of the Prairie Farmer, published in Chicago, Ill. The experience he takes with him to his new field of labor is sufficient guarantee that the change will be one for the better. The Agriculturist is still published in New York under another management.

THE GENERAL CONFERENCE has now been in session for two weeks, during which time much has been done in the way of business. The RECORDER gives this week, as it did last, a full report of the proceedings.

The building will be 32x40, with cupola."

Notes on Education.

The present school law of the State of Pennsylvania has been in operation for thirty years.

President White, of Cornell University, recently said that neither the attention of the Faculty of Cornell University nor his own attention had been called that day during the entire college year to a single breach of discipline by the students—or by any offense of any sort for which any faculty in the land would deem it necessary even to reprimand a student."

Hobart College is generally congratulated on the reported acceptance by its presidency by Dr. F. D. Foster. The Rochester Democrat says of Dr. Foster: "His coming to Geneva will be a happy day for the college there located. He has energy and enthusiasm and executive ability of the highest order. He has many influential friends who believe in him and will speak well for educational work under his direction. He has many of the qualities of a successful teacher. He has the prestige of two names in the development of higher education in the State. He is in full sympathy with the theological side of the college of which he is to be the head.

"The American University—When shall it be?" Where shall it be? What shall it be?" is the title of an interesting address recently prepared by Professor John W. Burgess, Ph.D., of Columbia College. The American University, he says, will come into being when there shall exist in the Nation a demand for it which is sufficient in quantity. It will be at or near the centre of wealth and culture. It will be a the money which can be expected to prove most copiously. Some said it was a regular Fifth-ward school. The police filled every corner of the house. He said openly that the confectionery of the Nation was driving the whites of colored people of the South together, and that in a few years it would be thoroughly united. Adjourned until Monday morning at 9 o'clock. The centennial begins Sunday week.

SEVENTH DAY.

Bishop Turner presided on Tuesday, May 13th.

Rev. Dr. J. H. A. Johnson moved that if the Charleston delegation should present their grievances the conference would redress all they could in christian charity. The resolution was laid down. Rev. It was said that the resolution was intended to prevent the delegation to be subject to the General Conference. The report was made the special order of the day for Thursday.

A resolution that the conference visit Washington in a body and call on President Arthur on Friday, was adopted. A resolution was adopted, after which conference hours.

Rev. C. S. Smith offered a resolution condemning the use of tobacco upon the wearing of gowns, surplices and other badges of office by the bishops and ministers. There was applause at times and great confusion. The rules were suspended to consider the matter and the resolution adopted. Rev. Dr. Lyon moved to put every man on record on so important a subject, and the roll was called.

Rev. S. L. Mimms, of Mobile, Ala., would not vote because Bishop Brown was not present. A message was sent voting against the resolution said the bishop's action was unconstitutional. The act before the vote was taken amounted to ex post facto law.

Rev. W. B. Derrick said he was the head and front of episcopacy offending in this matter; that he were present he thought it was strange they should adopt resolutions upon him. He was going down with flags flying.

Bishop Turner said he would vote no ten thousand times if he was present, had anything to do with the matter, but knew it had not, and therefore he would not vote at all.

Rev. Smith took exception at what he called the contemptuous speech of Bishop Turner, and demanded, in the name of the A. M. E. Church of 400,000 members, that he should vote upon the matter then taken. Rev. Green M. Green stated that the misdemeanors of the Bishops were beyond all reason, and that the conference would not submit to their being dictated to by members on the floor. The bishops should be a perfect right to withhold his vote if he chose.

Bishop Turner said he had worked for the church as few men were able; that he would not be dictated to, and treat with Dr. Smith. [Slight applause.]

Dr. Smith subsequently made an explanation of his remarks, which Bishop Turner accepted as an apology.

The vote resulted 127 in favor of the resolution to 71 against it.

MONTH DAY.

Bishop Dickerson presided at this session of the conference.

Rev. Derrick called attention to the fact that the last M. E. Church General Conference passed a resolution the most effect of which is to put the A. M. E. Church beyond the pale of a person of representation from the M. E. Church. Revs. Derrick, Hubbard, Witherspoon, Hunter and Seymour were appointed a committee to consider the matter.

The Rev. R. H. Dixon presented the resolution providing for worn-out itinerant ministers and the widows and orphans of such ministers.

Mrs. F. E. W. Harper and Mrs. James Avery Thomas, of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, were presented to the conference and made addresses on advancing prohibitory laws.

Rev. C. S. Smith offered a resolution condemning the use of tobacco upon the wearing of gowns, surplices and other badges of office by the bishops and ministers. There was applause at times and great confusion. The rules were suspended to consider the matter and the resolution adopted. Rev. Missionary Items.

Pundita Ramabai, the Hindu lady whose public lectures in Bombay and elsewhere attracted so much attention from the Hindus of Western India, has become a convert to Christianity. She joins the Church of England mission.

Robert College, Constantinople, has 211 students this year, of whom 49 are in the preparatory department. Of the 162 in the college classes, 88 are Bulgarians, 26 are Armenians, 10 are Greeks, one is a Tonician, one a Slovenian, one is a Hebrew and one an English man.

Five societies having missions in Central Africa—Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian. The London and American societies have about 300 white laborers, the Wesleyan, 300, the Berlin mission 500, and the American Presbyterian, 25 men. The Methodists have members in the Canton Province is about 4,000.

Some weeks since reference was made to the case of two police captains at an outstation of the American Board in Western Africa, who had become Christians, and was lost his place in consequence. The matter was brought to the notice of the authorities of the town, and, perhaps as a result, one of the ex-captains has received a better position in another part of the town, which is, no doubt, more or less local hostility to Christianity. It is very much to the credit of the central government is decidedly favorable to the Christians. It is believed that the recent visit of Privy Councillor Ito to Germany, where he had several interviews with Prince Bismarck, and even with the Emperor William himself, on the subject of Christianity, has yet every found impression upon his mind. He is reported to have said that he had previously believed that religion was true for these men, merely a matter of state policy, but now he believed that the were sincere Christians.

THE GENERAL CONFERENCE.

REPORT OF PROCEEDINGS—OBJECTING TO THE BULING OF BISHOP BROWN—THE BLACK EDUCATIONAL BILL—A PROTEST—CLAIMS OF PRESIDING ELDERS—SUBJECTS FORBIDDEN—WORLDLY PHILLIPPICS—APOSTOLIC SUCCESSION DENOUNCED—CAMP MEETINGS DISCUSSED.

SIXTH DAY.

On the opening of the conference on Saturday, May 10th, Rev. Dr. T. H. Jackson was released from serving on the committee of the Philadelphia 400,000 members, that he should vote and examine into the affairs of the publishing department of the church. An effort was made to have the resolution appointing a committee reconsidered, but the motion failed.

Rev. Dr. J. M. Townsend, Corresponding Secretary of the Missionary Society, made his quadrennial report. There is scarcely a church in the connection that does not contribute something for missionary work. The total amount received from all sources for missions was $28,120 93; total special fund, $2,126.54; total receipts, $30,247 93; total in Hayti, $2,681.21; grand total, $30,929.41; total disbursements, $16,112 84.

Rev. P. A. Hubbard spoke of the disloyalty of the Southern residence of the bishops of the church. He said it was too common, and that he was sorry that he would take it by the throat and shake it out.

President B. F. Lee, of Wilberforce University, Xenia, Ohio, read the quadrennial report of the institution. The university has now a faculty of seven and has graduated sixty-three students. Sixteen Wilberforce graduates are members of the present General Conference, one of them—R. H. Cain—being a Bishop. It should not, Mr. Lee said, be an exclusively colored institution, but an institution managed by colored men. It should be made exceptionally strong and exclusively.

Rev. C. W. Porter, of Texas, read the report of the Normal and Industrial School at Huntsville, in that State. The school has a labor department.

Bishop Dickerson announced that four churches in Charleston, S. C., had rebelled and withdrew from the connection. It was said that the churches had withdrawn under the leadership of Rev. W. E. Johnson, who was suspended for a year a short time since by the South Carolina conference. Mr. Porter moved that a Bishop and as many elders as necessary be sent to Charleston to bring the churches back into the connection. Carried.

Rev. J. H. Welch offered a resolution denouncing it as a "satanic rebellion." At the special request of the conference he withdrew the resolution.

During a long debate in regard to ministerial transgressions there were much confusion and frequent calls to be heard on questions of privilege. Said Bishop Brown, in the chair, "If there are anything about your questions of privilege." Said Rev. Smith, "I will appeal." Said Bishop Brown, "I don't care who you appeal to." Bishop Brown quietly took his seat and let the conference rage for a while. The stal wart contentions were soon to be worn out, and after a while he rose to call the conference to order. There was a motion to adjourn, which was lost. It was said that the tidings of the chair produced the disorder. Said a prominent delegate privately, it would be a good movement, though revolutionary, to elect a chairman from the floor.

Rev. J. Pierce Thomson took exception to a remark made to him by the chair, and he said when he addressed the chair he chair must treat him with respect.

Rev. Jas. A. Handy said they had sights on the floor, and that the members would enforce their rights. A member said that in order to have a self-respect he would move to adjourn until Monday morning. Bishop Brown made an explanation which for a time quieted the house.

Rev. B. H. W. Leake, of North Carolina, in considering the Blair national education bill, said he had forgotten the committee on the Freedman's Bank, and wanted to see a part of the educational purposes sent to the treasurers of each State. He did not want the money sent to the States, as he was much applauded. Some said it was a regular Fifth-ward school. The police filled every corner of the house. He said openly that the confectionery of the Nation was driving the whites of colored people of the South together, and that in a few years it would be thoroughly united. Adjourned until Monday morning at 9 o'clock. The centennial begins Sunday week.

A SHAMEFUL VERDICT.

The acquittal of Wheeler for the murder of Matthews is one of those disgraceful verdicts which have come to be characteristic of the South. The killing of Matthews was shown to have been premeditated, deliberate, and for political effect. It was a cowardly, treacherous murder by a man who had pretended to be the friend of his victim. There was no provocation, not a pretense of self-defence, for there had been no quarrel between the men. The evidence showed that Matthews was condemned to death by a political cabal, and that the whole object of the meeting with those Irish assassinations which have provoked the indignation and horror of the civilized world. Matthews was doomed to death in cold blood for his supposed terrifying of the negro voters and keeping them from the polls. The unprejudiced foreign visitor that was governing England. But with Gladstone, the Liberal governing power, and the immunity extended to their agents, the ruffians of the Irish Land League, and the ruthlessness of public and social life which they are rresponsible for them over the country, there is no longer any reason to indorse them by verdicts of not guilty.

There are no doubt Southern men who disapprove of the spirit that finds expression in the murder of Cox, and cannot be regarded as representing the dominant power and the controlling influence of the State. The people at the head of the State government, who followed by the fatter. The people at the head of the State government, who followed by the fatter. The people at the head of the ruling elements at the South are in sympathy with the murderers and with the methods so frequently employed to prevent the colored vote from being polled in the elections. The North is, in the light of such events as the murder of Cox, in the position of being a Presidential campaign the Southern Democratic party, backed by a majority of the country, the desire to respect the rights of the colored people in the Eighth sympathy and habits, naturally oppress the Southern people, and the consequent disregard of the rights of the colored people. It is impossible to describe the torrent of indignation which the murder of Cox has called forth in the North. The people are aroused, and the thousands of colored people who have been driven from the South by the persecutions and outrages of which the murder of Cox is but a single example, are able to escape the conviction that no change for the better can be expected in Southern public opinion.—New York Tribune.

Literature.

Judge Tourgee will contribute a poem on Decoration Day to the issue of The Continent for that occasion. Thompson, Heisel Gray Cotes, Palmer Cox, Miss S. B. Herrick, Miss Lucy Larcom, Miss Alice and Brown are announced as among the contributors to the June St. Nicholas.

In the Easy Chair of the coming Harper's (for June), Mr. George William Curtis will discuss delightfully, as is his wont, of progress, intersticed with reminiscence. Mr. Howells will notice. His first article is devoted to saying what cannot be said too often, that, despite very visible discouragements, the prosperity of the body politic is such as to be definitely better than ages ago.

A unique contribution to the history of the war in Egypt in 1882 will appear in the June Century. It is the diary of a young Englishman who was attached to the staff of the Khedival staff (who himself contributes an introductory note), and who was in the employ of the British for the prosperity of the humandment of Alexandria. The diary of the first days of bombardment of Alexandria, the flight of the Europeans, with large numbers of the colored people of Baltimore paid $100 annually and $50 a year to the widows and orphans of deceased ministers. There was applause at times and great confusion. The rules were suspended to consider the matter and the resolution adopted. Rev. Dr. Lyon moved to put every man on record on so important a subject, and the roll was called.

THE M. E. CONFERENCE.

BRIEF SKETCHES OF THE FOUR NEW BISHOPS.

The General Conference of the M. E. Church, now being held in this city, on Thursday, May 15th, elected four new Bishops, of whom we give brief sketches. They four are Rev. John M. Weiden, Rev. Ninde, J. M. Weiden, W. F. F. Mallieu and C. H. Fowler.

Rev. John M. Weiden, D.D., LL.D., was born in Cortland, N. Y., in 1833, and graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1852. He went to Kansas and engaged in the work. He elected a member of the State Legislature and subsequently President of Public Instruction. He became a local preacher of the M. E. Church in 1860 and a member of the Church Conference in 1863. He was made succession Secretary of the Freedmen's Aid Society, Presiding Elder Cincinnati Conference, Assistant Book Agent and Book Agent at Cincinnati. He came within a few votes of being elected Bishop in 1880. Dr. Walden has been a prolific writer on temperance and education, and has devoted all the best energies of his life to the various office duties, to lecturing on these subjects, as well as rendering constant pulpit service. The position to which he has been an unitiring worker, is an able preacher as well as an able platform speaker. In person he is tall and well proportioned, with a frank, prepossessing manner, and is said to be very genial in social life.

Rev. William F. F. Mallalieu, D.D., was born in Sutton, Worcester county, Mass., in 1828, and graduated from Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn. He was admitted to the Conference in 1860, entered the New England Conference in 1864 and since that time has taken high rank as a preacher, orator and political leader, being Elder of the Boston district of the New York East Conference. Tall, handsome, dark hair, and well-proportioned frame, with sunny eyes and with a pleasant word for those around them. He has pleasant manners, genial temperament and has the confidence of his people, by whom he is esteemed.

Rev. Charles H. Fowler, D.D., LL.D., was born in Buford, Canada, in 1837. He attended successively Rock River Seminary, Genesee Wesleyan Seminary and Genesee College, from the last of that he would not be surprised to see the highest honors of his class. He began the study of law, but changed his mind and turned his attention to the ministry, graduating from the Garrett Biblical Institute in 1861. He joined the New York Conference of Northwestern University at Evanston, Illinois, which position he occupied, however, in 1872. 1876 he was elected editor of the Christian Advocate, and in 1880 Corresponding Secretary of the Mission Society. In person Dr. Fowler is large, widely built, and full in habit, with a pleasing eye and pleasant face. He has a very genial, social countenance. He is very genial, social, courteous and a great favorite among the ladies. He is very popular, and deservedly so, as he has served in the church.

MR. GLADSTONE.

Mr. Gladstone, at the age of seventy-three, Prime-minister of England, and an acknowledged statesman—no less eminent for weight of personal character and accomplished scholarship than for his extraordinary mastery of public affairs and his Parliamentary eloquence is a fine illustration of the English genius in his most characteristic form. There is a certain sturdiness in Mr. Gladstone's nature showing itself in every way, except his rapted sensitiveness to personal criticism, which is a singular contrast with the Oriental character of Lord Beaconsfield, so long his chief opponent. "It was the want of this quality quite as much as an alien genius which made the late minister so apparently un-English. No one, indeed, unlearned English ever more assiduously, or celebrated with more gusto the distinctive English life, than Lord Beaconsfield, and he identified himself with the Jacobite party—the party of warring gentlemen—as he seemed in every manner resolved, if occasion would accommodate him, to be an Englishman.

But his contrast between him and Mr. Gladstone was as apparent in every aspect as it is in the remarkable caricatures which have recently been published. Gladstone is sometimes the air of a prig. Darnell was at the head of the ministry, the feeling was unavoidable that it was governing England. But with Gladstone, in England governing herself. Much more than in any other minister the English conscience is felt to be at the helm. Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Parcival, the two most ordinary looking men connected with the ministry, there was the conventional English respectability and mediocrity of appearance, since it is the power of reclitude which is remarkable. He believes in honest politics, and in the parliamentary system, and in the democratic policy to the moral law." Mr. Gladstone is not ashamed to be called sentimental in his regard for the moral bonds which unite the two sections of England. Nothing could be more distasteful to the trained politician than the whole complication. Nothing could have been more unexpected than the indignation, the vagueness of the object to be attained by warlike operations, the difficulties and the impracticability of the country, the desire to respect the rights of the people, and the English sympathy and habits, naturally oppress the Southern people, and the consequent disregard of the rights of the colored people. It is impossible to describe the torrent of indignation which the murder of Cox has called forth in the North. The people are aroused, and the thousands of colored people who have been driven from the South by the persecutions and outrages of which the murder of Cox is but a single example, are able to escape the conviction that no change for the better can be expected in Southern public opinion.—New York Tribune.

Literature.

Judge Tourgee will contribute a poem on Decoration Day to the issue of The Continent for that occasion. Thompson, Heisel Gray Cotes, Palmer Cox, Miss S. B. Herrick, Miss Lucy Larcom, Miss Alice and Brown are announced as among the contributors to the June St. Nicholas.

In the Easy Chair of the coming Harper's (for June), Mr. George William Curtis will discuss delightfully, as is his wont, of progress, intersticed with reminiscence. Mr. Howells will notice. His first article is devoted to saying what cannot be said too often, that, despite very visible discouragements, the prosperity of the body politic is such as to be definitely better than ages ago.

A unique contribution to the history of the war in Egypt in 1882 will appear in the June Century. It is the diary of a young Englishman who was attached to the staff of the Khedival staff (who himself contributes an introductory note), and who was in the employ of the British for the prosperity of the humandment of Alexandria. The diary of the first days of bombardment of Alexandria, the flight of the Europeans, with large numbers of the colored people of Baltimore paid $100 annually and $50 a year to the widows and orphans of deceased ministers. There was applause at times and great confusion. The rules were suspended to consider the matter and the resolution adopted. Rev. Dr. Lyon moved to put every man on record on so important a subject, and the roll was called.

Rev. S. L. Mimms, of Mobile, Ala., would not vote because Bishop Brown was not present. A message was sent voting against the resolution said the bishop's action was unconstitutional. The act before the vote was taken amounted to ex post facto law.

Rev. W. B. Derrick said he was the head and front of episcopacy offending in this matter; that he were present he thought it was strange they should adopt resolutions upon him. He was going down with flags flying.

Bishop Turner said he would vote no ten thousand times if he was present, had anything to do with the matter, but knew it had not, and therefore he would not vote at all.

Rev. Smith took exception at what he called the contemptuous speech of Bishop Turner, and demanded, in the name of the A. M. E. Church of 400,000 members, that he should vote upon the matter then taken. Rev. Green M. Green stated that the misdemeanors of the Bishops were beyond all reason, and that the conference would not submit to their being dictated to by members on the floor is the title of a lecture delivered by John D. Lewis, Esq., of the Philadelphia Bar, before the Literary and Historical Association of Bethel A. M. E. Church, Philadelphia, Pa. Read what is said of it:

"CHURCH AND STATE,"

"To John D. Lewis, Esq., member of the Philadelphia Bar, we are indebted for a pamphlet copy of the lecture—'Church and State'—which he recently delivered before the Literary and Historical Association of Bethel Church. Lawyer Lewis is to be complimented for the industry shown to the preparation of this lecture."—CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

"J. D. Lewis, Esq., lectured on Tuesday evening, April — before the Bethel Literary and Historical Association, on Subject—' The Church and State.' The lecture was not only eloquent but mastered the theme in a manner which exhibited a thorough knowledge of the subject."—Philadelphia Mercury.

"Church and State" is the title of a suggestive and practical lecture, published in pamphlet form, delivered before the Bethel Literary, of the city of Philadelphia, by J. D. Lewis, Esq., of the Philadelphia bar. Its publication is placed at the very low sum of twenty cents. The suggestions contained in this pamphlet, as to the duty of the combined colored church, meet with our hearty commendation.—Washington People's Advocate.

JOHN D. LEWIS Esq.,

Dear Sir:—Your argument in the address entitled "Church and State," in behalf of concerted action by the churches of all creeds, to secure the political and social rights of the colored people, is logically and admirably put, agree with you that the voice of that race should not hold themselves as vassals of any political organization.

You are right in calling upon your brethren to assert their claims to equal privileges of education, of the choice of occupation and of social and political advancement. Wrath alone cannot avail, coo'd be made to rest as the truth should be, upon the basis of justice, but they really hold the balance of power; and then they can, if they choose to use that power peacefully, secure the full triumph of more than one mooted reform.

Yours truly, W. H. ALLEN.

We have the above book on sale at 631 Pine street. Price, 25 cents. All orders must be accompanied with cash.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

The Sunday School Union has been adopted, and by order of the General Conference Children's Day for this year will be held on the fifth Sunday in June.

BEFORE this issue of the RECORDER is received by his thousands of readers the General Conference will be in session of the past, and the members constituting that body will have gone to their several fields of labor to do valiant work for the Master, where ever they are representatives, and to think of what has been done by the legislative body. Whatever conclusions may have been arrived at, as a whole, will be correct—that what has been done will become historical in the Church, and in reverence. No doubt each individual member felt the weight of responsibility resting upon him while the Conference was in session, and was intent on doing only what would be to the general interests of the Church. And what a mass of work they performed, and in short time we have no adequate conception.

The question of moment brought before the General Conference was intelligently presented and logically, learnedly and forcibly discussed, and the demeanor of the delegates was on par with that of the members of any of the many similar bodies held and being held. Dignified in appearance, courteous in deportment and deliberate in debate, we feel that they have impressed the country at large with their manhood and Christianity, and have received a lasting credit to the Church and people they represent.

THE National Temperance Society will hold a National Temperance Camp Meeting at Ocean Grove, New Jersey, commencing July 23, and continuing five days. The following are expected to take part in the meeting: Rev. Dr. A. D. Vail, Gro. W. Bain, Esq., John B. Finch, Esq., Rev. J. C. Price, the eloquent colored temperance lecturer, and Rev. Wm. Sraris, Rev. Dr. T. L. Poolson, Rev. Dr. A. G. Lawson, Clinton B. Fisk, Rev. C. H. Mead, Rev. W. C. Steele, Rev. A. Purdy, Esq., and others. Singing by the Silver Lake Glee Club, under charge of Prof. Chambers. The meeting will be under the management of J. N. Stearns, Corresponding Secretary of the Society, and no pains will be spared to make it every way a success.

—"When Justice Harlan read his dissenting opinion in the Supreme Court of the United States on the famous Civil Rights case," says the Boston Traveller, "Colonel Ingersoll intimated that the Justice had pretty good Presidential timber in him. Then he went to work and tried to influence the colored brethren in the same direction. The colored men in the South think that Justice Harlan had done so much good on that one breath, it would be a shame to take him away. Instead of sending Colonel Ingersoll to the Chicago Convention, he ought to send a dozen gentlemen who will not be liable to vote for the Colonel in the meeting. Ever since that time the Colonel has seemed to sour on the Justice, and he is now playing the part of an abandoned politician. He is against the President, but he is especially bitter against Senator Edmunds. Speaking to a group of admirers the other day, he said: 'I couldn't get up my enthusiasm for Edmunds. Why, if he were nominated and I was called upon to cheer for him, I should expect to have my right arm frozen stiff over my head.'"

Church News.

Rev. W. W. Grimm, (Cedarville, Ohio,) writes: "On the 4th Sunday in April Bishop J. M. Brown, D.D., assisted by Revs. Lewis Hood and Wm. E. Norris, held the Quarterly Meeting at Chapel at Cedarville. A reflexion was followed the dedication. A revival has been going on ever since; sixteen souls have been added to the church and the work goes on finely. We are raising up my thirty-two labors in great peace all along the line. The Lord is truly with us."

Alice Brown, (Woodville, Miss.): "We write this article that the Bishop may know that we have not forgotten him and make such a wise selection for our spiritual good, and to observe with pleasure the work of God, and the success of the Church at the last three General Conference. We have boned in one volume the Journals of 1876, 1880 and 1884. In this we have everything before you at a glance. Only one dollar, sent by mail, postage paid, cash with order.

Notes on Education.

For some time past the Yale Medical School has been running behind financially.

Leland School of Industrial Art in Philadelphia continues its career of uniform success.

The Commencement exercises of the Garrett Biblical Theological Seminary of this city will take place on the twenty-ninth of the month.

It is stated that Judge Thomas M. Cooley has signified his intention of resigning his position as law professor at the University of Michigan.

The Rev. James S. Briggs, of Fulton, N. Y., has been elected Professor of Hebrew of Hellenistic Greek at the Auburn, (N. Y.) Theological Seminary.

The Milwaukee Normal Institute of Industrial Drawing, under the direction of Mr. Charles F. Zimmerman, will be in session August 4, and will continue four weeks.

One of the most interesting departments of the University of Michigan is its school of Political Science. It has a full and able corps of instructors, and embraces courses of study in political and constitutional history, the economic sciences, political ethics and the science of government, and social and sanitary science.

According to the Evening Wisconsin, of Milwaukee, the public school system of that city are complained of as having a tendency to make the pupils despise manual labor. "Very few boys," it says, "enter the mechanical trades when their school course is completed. Many of them, moved by the false idea that labor with the hands is not respectable, go into the already overcrowded professions. Others take up clerkships which lead to nothing better. But these classes can hope to receive for their services no more than no more than a meagre subsistence. Meantime the more lucrative and equally honorable places in the workshop, if it is complained, are being filled by foreigners. Unless the tendency be checked will the introduction of a system of industrial training in the schools is inevitable."

"The State University of Texas," says a correspondent of The Boston Traveller, "has had a most unfortunate beginning. It has a brilliant future before it. During the last two years, however, has selected men of large reputation and learning to fill responsible positions, and so soon as the institution is opened it will have a corps of instructors similar to those at Eastern Universities. The Agricultural and Mechanical University is well supplied with lecture halls, laboratories and a library. Its president and professors are obliged to occupy private boarding houses. The Legislature in session last spring gave a million acres of land to the institution, and efforts are made to sell the immense regions of Southwest Texas. These lands can be leased and should return a handsome income in time. The university has also donated a million acres of land, which will be sold at once, chiefly in the Panhandle district. The land can be sold on long time. The University possesses fund now amounts to $350,000 to 40 in bonds and 2,000,000 acres of land."

The American Church Institute for Colored Children, Greece, is in a flourishing condition. The object of the Institute is stated in the following words: "It is to furnish without charge for tuition, to colored children, the means of a liberal education, and the opportunity to study classical literature, art and antiquities in Athens, under the most favorable circumstances, and to aid original research in these subjects; and to cooperate with the Archæological Institute of America, as far as may be able, in conducting the explorations and excavations of classic sites." "Bachelor of arts of the co-operating colleges, and of such other as may hereafter be elected at one of these colleges as candidates for the degree of master of arts, shall be entitled to membership in the school on presenting to the committee a certificate from the faculty of the college of the college at which they have last studied, that they are duly competent to pursue an independent course of study at Athens under the rules of the director-general." All other persons desiring to become members of the school must make application to the committee."

Bishop J. P. Dashiell presided yesterday at the African Methodist Episcopal General Conference.

Rev. Dr. Lane delivered an interesting address on the "Reconstruction of Africa and the Future of Africa." He held that the great Congo river is the artery which the A. M. E. Church should enter and that the key to civilization through Africa. Rev. T. H. Jackson read a fraternal address from the C. M. E. Church General Conference in Cincinnati, May, 1880. A committee was appointed to wait upon him and escort him to the conference. Rev. It was recommended that the General Conference take immediate steps toward the reorganization of the Book Concern under the laws of the United States. BEFORE the issue of the RECORDER is received by its thousands of readers the General Conference will be a matter of the past, and the members constituting that body will have gone to their several fields of labor to do the work for the honored cause of which they are representatives, and to think of what has been done by the people. Whatever conclusions they may arrive at, one, at least, will be correct—that what has been done will become historical in the Church and to the one of the first orators of the North west, "combining a supreme command of language with a dignified presence and impassioned address."

Justice Harlan had done so much good on the bench, it would be a shame to have him sway, so instead of sending Colonel Ingersoll to the Chicago Convention, he sent him to the other side of Jordan. The gentlemen who will not be liable to vote for the Justice are legion, and it is since that time the Colonel has seemed to soar on the Justice, and to the end of the day his pen and his admirable politicals is against the President, but he is supported against Senator Edmunds in moods. Speaking to a group of admirers the other day, he said: 'I couldn't get up any enthusiasm for Edmunds. Why, if he were nominated and I was called upon to vote for him, I should expect to have my right arm frozen stiff over my head.'"

Church News.

Rev. W. W. Grimes, (Coatsville, Pa.) Rev. C. C. Noth of Lebanon, Pa. Bishop J. M. Brown, D.D., assisted by Revs. Lewis Hood and W. A. H. Norris, (Lancaster, Pa.) Chapel at Coatsville. A religious way followed the dedication and the revival has been going on ever since; sixteen souls have been added to the church and six more are to be-lively. I am closing up my third year's labors in great peace and all along the line. The Lord is truly with us."

Alice Brown, (Woodville, Miss.): "We write this article that the Bishop and pastor may see it, and be glad to; for making such a wise selection for our church. We have heard in one volume in the journals of 1872, 1876 and 1880. In this you have everything before you at a glance. Only one dollar, sent by mail, postage paid, cash with order.

J. MILLER.

Rev. T. Merritt, (Emporia, Kan.): "We are moving on nicely. The spiritual condition of our work is very good. We have just closed our revival meeting with the glorious result of fifty-one accessions and fifty accessions to the church, making a total of sixty-two souls during the conference year. The spirit of the Master on has attended our services, and the church has been greatly revived. Our membership one year ago, did not exceed fifty. We now have one hundred and forty-one on roll. We are making preparations for the dedication of our new church, in May. Its dimensions are 35 by 50 feet, with basement and auditorium. We will have as good a church as there is in the State. Our people are working nobly to get out of debt this year. Pray for our success."

Rev. J. M. Wilkes, (Lebanon, Ohio,): "I wish to send the good news abroad that down here in this little village, the garden spot of Warren County, this winter, the Great Shepherd has heard and answered prayer for years of people, and sent help from heaven. About two weeks ago we commenced to labor with them to the church, and notwithstanding when we came here many were prejudiced against us, they supposed that their church was doomed to decay, saying that they had seen their best days, because they had seen no work of revival in many years. All have changed their opinion by saying that the present stir exceeds all they have ever seen since the days of Father Jeremiah Thomas, now in heaven, we trust. Dr. Tolliver, of Dayton, having the oversight of us, we have had his assistance, which, of course, is invaluable, and still it lingers with signs of renewal."

Rev. A. H. Daniels, (Pushle, Col.): "I was grieved to learn from the secretary that at the conference held at Denver. I was doing very well and was very hopeful of planting the banner of the A. M. E. Church out there, but owing to the troubles at Pueblo, I was removed to this place. I was very sorry for the people and the thirteen dollars per week I was getting, but I want a good man to go there. I think whoever goes will have a pleasant. I found the church very much broken up out here when I arrived, and on the first Sabbath I preached, six came back and 42 joined that have been standing out 12 months, so I reckon a pleasant time the remainder of the year. If any one wishes to reach this note from New Mexico, will go, they will please write me at Pueblo Colorado, and I will give an account of my work, as the Bishop has left it with me to supply."

—Hons. J. H. Montgomery and G. H. White, both colored, have been renominated for the State Senate of North Carolina.

—Joseph Milmore, of Boston, has completed a bust of Wendell Phillips, which that city will present to George William Curtis as a mark of appreciation of his eulogy.

—Miss Ella Somerville, of Washington, D. C., a colored graduate from the State Normal School of Massachusetts, is to address the National Educational Association, at Madison, Wis., in July.

—Cush K. Davis, ex-Governor of Minnesota, who is expected to present Mr. Blaine's name at Chicago, is said to be one of the finest orators of the North west, "combining a supreme command of language with a dignified presence and impassioned address."

—Rev. Dr. Fowler, just elected a Methodist bishop, was a lively youngster, years ago. It is related that when he was studying for ministerial work at Garrett Biblical Institution, he painted jet black a pet calf belonging to President Jones of the Woman's College at Evanston, Ill.

—In the Government Museum at Washington, there is a coat with gilt trimmings, bearing the inscription: "Coat worn by General Santa Anna. This coat was captured by Captain Wheat, Commanding General Winfield Scott's body guard, during the Mexican war." The Mexican Minister pronounces the garment a fraud; first, because it is too small to have been worn by a man of Santa Anna's stature, and second, because from his intimacy he must have belonged, not to the commanding general of the Mexican forces, but to the lieutenant of the artillery. The garment was presented to the government by the heirs of Captain Wheat in 1856.

—When Justice Harlan read his dissenting opinion in the Supreme Court of the United States on the famous Civil Rights case," says the Boston Traveler," Colonel Ingersoll intimated that the Justice had pretty good Free-Methodist timber in him. When he went to work and tried to influence the odd seed brethren in the same direction, the colonel says he pretty thought it. Justice Harlan had done so much good on the bench, it would be a shame to have him sway, so instead of sending Colonel Ingersoll to the Chicago Convention, he sent him to the other side of Jordan. The gentlemen who will not be liable to vote for the Justice are legion, and it is since that time the Colonel has seemed to soar on the Justice, and to the end of the day his pen and his admirable politicals is against the President, but he is supported against Senator Edmunds in moods. Speaking to a group of admirers the other day, he said: 'I couldn't get up any enthusiasm for Edmunds. Why, if he were nominated and I was called upon to vote for him, I should expect to have my right arm frozen stiff over my head.'

THE GENERAL CONFERENCE.

THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE CONFERENCE — THE FRATERNAL GREETINGS — THE FRATERNAL SESSIONS NOT SO GRAT-IFYING AS OBTAINING WOULD HAVE BEEN — THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION — THE ORGANS, T. CHURCHES.

ELEVENTH DAY.

Bishop J. P. Campbell presided yesterday at the African Methodist Episcopal General Conference.

The session was delivered an interesting address on the "Reconstruction and Progress of Africa." He held that the great Congo river is the key to Africa, and that the Church should use as a means to circulate through Africa. Rev. T. H. Jackson read a fraternal letter from the A. M. E. Zion Conference in Cincinnati, May, 1880. A committee was appointed to wait upon the fraternal delegates and inform them of being in favor of not receiving the letter, because it was not addressed to the Bishops, but to other churches and only fraternal greetings to the A. M. E. Church. Rev. J. H. Hamilton, D.D., was then introduced to the conference. Rev. Dr. Douglass was introduced to the conference. Bishop Wayman remarked the audience that he was from the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Mr. Douglass thought the honor done him by the conference was not deserved, for his fidelity to the cause of liberty had never failed. He pledged himself that whatever position in the future he would be equally unchangeable in favor of the principles and principles which elevate the colored race. He took occasion to speak under the star-spangled banner, there should be but one liberty, one equality for all the people in the United States. He thought of all the powers in the land the press was the most powerful, greater than the press or the ballot.

Mr. Fortune thought the A. M. E. Church could assert itself, and show that it did greater good and had more force than any similar institution in the country.

Rev. Dr. Grenoer said fifty years ago there was in Baltimore a race of negroes who were intellectual giants. Reverdy Johnson, Grice, colored, was the first man to successfully engineer a colored religious convention. It was held in Philadelphia in 1837, there were five members, and Grice was the leader. Mr. Whittier was there, one occasion badly caught by Grice. Mr. Wirt, in reply to an inquiry from the latter, said that Grice had a legal opinion was $50. Grice paid the money, and then asked for the legal status of the negro as an American citizen? The great lawyer declined to give an opinion, saying the expression of his opinion would cost him his place as Attorney General. Grice replied and said: "The negro is not at all inferior to his master." He was a slave at one time when his intelligence was not esteemed felt. Before the emancipation of slaves in New York a petition was published by a negro, and it was as good as any ever written by the best lawyer in the land. During the next fifty years the civilization of this country will depend more on the white than the negro. It is an inferior religion whose test is color and not character. It was a great day when we relieved Jesus Christ and carried the cross, and the black man on the back relieves the world" [Long, continued applause.]

FOURTEENTH DAY.

Over 200 of the delegates to the A. M. E. General Conference, in session in Baltimore, went on Washington yesterday and called on President Arthur. Rev. B. W. Arnett introduced the visitors.

Addresses were made by several of the clergymen. Bishop Wayman, of Baltimore, expressed the hope that the President's administration in the future would be as satisfactory as it had been in the past.

Bishop Turner, of Georgia, thanked the President in the name of the colored race for his efforts in their behalf. The President, in reply, said: "I am very glad to meet so many representatives of the religious body of which you are members, and I thank you most heartily for your kind words and good wishes."

The delegates visited the Metropolitan A. M. E. Church (colored) and listened to Rev. Dr. Douglass. When he announced, between 200 and 300 colored persons strode in, after which they returned to Baltimore.

In the evening a regular business meeting was held at Bethel Church, Rev. John A. Grant, D.D., presiding.

Rev. W. B. Derrick offered the following resolution, which produced a great discussion:

Whereas, The great majority of our members have been born into this world men, were not born into this world men, and whereas the Bible says that God has made of one blood all nations that dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the bounds of their habitations in piety, in intelligence, in earnest devotion to the cause of God, be it resolved that all departments of work where they have been tested.

Resolved, Therefore, that they shall be eligible to any of the offices in the gift of the main members of our churches, providing it does not come in conflict with the law of the Bible in which they live.

It was evident that a majority of the conference were in favor of the resolution, though some attempted to throw obstacles in its way. It was referred to the committee on revision, after having been amended by Rev. J. H. Hamilton so that women could serve as stewards or trustees in the church.

Rev. W. H. Hunter offered a resolution, which was adopted, for the appointment of a committee of nine to act as anadversary day, to be held in the Church of Manly, School on Church Street, Boston, Mass.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

Bishop W. F. Dickerson presided yesterday at the African Methodist Episcopal General Conference. The publications, Rev. Dr. Lee, of Wilberforce University, Ohio; secretary of Sunday School Union, Rev. C. S. Smith, Bloomington, Illinois; Secretary of educational department, Rev. W. D. Johnson, Columbia, Ga.; editor of Quarterly Review, Rev. Dr. B. T. Tanner, of Philadelphia; Manager of branch publication office at Charleston, S. C., Rev. P. W. Jefferson of Charleston, S. C.

Dr. Tanner was elected by acclamation for the fifth time. He has served for fifteen years as editor of the Christian Recorder, and now starts the Quarterly Magazine. Each general officer got a vote of a year.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

Bishop A. W. Wayman presided yesterday at the African Methodist Episcopal General Conference. Rev. J. C. Embry, of Austin, Texas, editor of Southern Recorder, Rev. Dr. Lee, of Wilberforce University, Ohio; missionary secretary, Rev. D. A. Payne, of Richmond, Indiana; financial secretary, Rev. W. H. Hunter, of Boston, Mass.; Secretary of Sunday School Union, Rev. C. S. Smith, Bloomington, Illinois; Secretary of educational department, Rev. W. D. Johnson, Columbia, Ga.; editor of Quarterly Review, Rev. Dr. B. T. Tanner, of Philadelphia; Manager of branch publication office at Charleston, S. C., Rev. P. W. Jefferson of Charleston, S. C.

Dr. Tanner was elected by acclamation for the fifth time. He has served for fifteen years as editor of the Christian Recorder, and now starts the Quarterly Magazine. Each general officer got a vote of a year.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

Bishop Campbell said he differed from Bishop Payne. He thought he could be trusted to put the matter before the proclamation of union three years ago. He (Campbell) was opposed to Bishop Payne for fear I would cause his defeat. Bishop Campbell was elected one of the orders of the General Conference.

Bishop Wayman said the Bishops had met and decided to let the General Conference settle the matter, and I see no reason to suppose it will not be done.

Bishop Payne replied at length

CATARRH.

The remarkable results in disease so universal and with such a variety of Catarrh, before the Literary as of Hood's Sarsaparilla acting through the blood, is others every part of the human system. A medicine, like anything else, can be fairly judged only by its results. We must with pride to the glorious record Hood's Sarsaparilla has achieved upon the hearts of thousands of people it has cured of catarrh.

A certain poet in South Memphis wants any young lady who "jumps at conclusions" to consider him a conclusion.

EVERY WOMAN IN THE LAND owes it to herself and her family to take care of her health. When she finds her health failing, and debility and weakness undermines her strength, her surest and best remedy is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It builds up the general health, arouses the secretory system to perfect action, regulates the Kidneys and How-ells and enables these important organs to perform their natural functions in throwing off the accumulated impurities of the body.

Some people wonder why others do not make money. It is quite because they have not the cents to begin with.

The opinion of the general public in regard to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is confirmed by clergymen, lawyers, public speakers and actors. All say it is the best remedy within their knowledge for all affections of the vocal organs, throat and lungs.

Why don't you keep quiet if you are to old to talk so much; and a chap to a tenderfoot are like the blind leading the blind.

How can you remain a sufferer from dyspepsia, when worse cases than yours are being cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Try it.

A horrible but pheomenon paragraph suggests that the Boston crematory is only a new way of baking beans.

Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator cures all forms of Heart Disease, Nervousness and sleeplessness.

We have found in why so many of our friends are so fresh, it is because they do not earn their salt.

Boils, blotches, pimples, and all skin diseases are quickest cured by clearing the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Rev. Prado's Advocate.

John D. Lewis Esq.—

My Dear Sir:—Your argument on the address entitled "Church and State," in behalf of concerted action by the churches of all creeds, to secure the political and social rights of the colored race in America, is admirable, profound and well met that the voice of that race should not hold themselves as vassals of any political organization. You are right in calling upon your brethren to assert their claims to equal privileges of education, of the choice of occupation and of social and political advancement. I wish that your people could be made to realize the truth which you so forcibly state, that they really hold the balance of power; and that they can, if they choose to use that power for their benefit, secure the triumph of more than one needed reform.

We have the above book on sale at 631 Pine street. Price, 25 cents. All orders must be accompanied with cash.

Episcopal Rooms A. M. E. Church, March 31, 1884.

Dear Dr. Tanner,—Will you please state that it will be inconvenient for the church at Newport, R. I. to assume the conference at the time named—July 9—but that the conference thus will accumulate the charge of the time of meeting of all the conferences. The 2nd Conference will meet August 27; Philadelphia Conference, May 21; New York Conference, June 4th; New England Conference, June 18th. All the places will remain as published for the New Jersey Conference. All the brethren of the several conferences will do well to take notice of the above.

Yours affectionately,

J. M. Brown.

The American reprint of Mr. Egerton Hake's work, Chinese Gordon, is a valuable addition to the library table. The English edition in its expensive form has had a very large sale, and the present one just issued by R. Worthington, gives all the information of the original, and also brings down the narrative to the present. The daring adventures and the personal character of a Christian soldier are always attractive, and the work comes out at a moment when, abandoned and alone, he is left to his energy and tatcis. To have known the true story of a life of such heroic self-abnegation is, as Mr. Hake truly says, an education.—The Independent.

In every respect a striking one—now leading stunning pretties in Cities, now teaching in Ragged Schools and the vales of the Soudan, now alone and afar against revolt, always a devoted and his Divine Master, a sinless conqueror, a Christian in thought and in deed, it deals with a man who knows neither fear nor ambition, and who has the mysterious power of fascinating high and low-men. The incidents are romantic; the hero is original to our times. The edition issued by Worthington is the only authorized one. Price $1 50.

TIME IS MONEY.

Time and money will be saved by keeping K dney-Wort in the house. It is an invaluable remedy for all disorders of the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, and for all diseases arising from obstructions of these organs. It has cured many obstinate cases after local doctors had been paid to physicians without obtaining relief. It cures Constipation, Piles, Biliousness and all kindred disorders. Keep it by you.

A full-beard-d grandfather recently shaved for the first time in twenty years. At the dinner table all three were present—grandfather noticed it, and finally said: "Grandfather, whose head you got on?"

The secret of the large and constant sales of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound probably lies in the fact that whereas there are many "Bitters" and "Tonics" in the world that do more or less, the Vegetable Compound is so completely superior to all other preparations heretofore generally recommended for the weeds of women that it has practically no rivals.

A boy writes to a paper that his father has "bin upon an important enf ject and hib hard." From this it is inferred that the said gentleman had hib that boy for imitating Peck's bad boy.

Backache, stitches in the side, pleurisies and soreness of the bowels, are symptoms of a disordered state of the digestive and assimilative organs, which can be promptly and thoroughly corrected by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. As a dinner pills, and as aids to digestion, they have no equal. They are constipative.

"How in the world did they come to call you Matilda?" asked Mrs L. H of a North Memphis young lady. "I suppose it was because I happened to be a girl."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a highly concentrated extract of Sarsaparilla, and other blood purifying roots, combined with Iodide of Potassium and Iodine. No control over scrofulous diseases is equaled by any other medicine.

"Yes," signed old Mrs. Gumbo, "that accident was horrible. You read about it, it exaggerated me so that I couldn't decompose myself for several hours."

Horrid, yes, it is, that we must suffer from disease, but from Heart Disease, nervousness and sleeplessness, Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator will give immediate relief; thousands say so. $1. per bottle at druggists.

"And so Miss Q uicy of South Mem. phis is going to join the foreign mission field is she? Well she ought to join a keep still ish somewhere."

Hood's Sarsaparilla gives an appetite and imparts new life and energy to all the functions of the body. Try a bottle and realize it.

"What's the dif rence," asked a teacher of arithmetic, "between one cent and two cards?" A fence," said Tommy Beales.

It's hard to believe Miss Whitter was cured of such terrible sores by Hood's Sarsaparilla, but reliable people prove it.

"THE COLORED RACE WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE."

This is the title of a pamphlet written by Dr. C. K. Marshall, in reply to Dr. J. L. Tucker. These two able divines have long said what they think of the colored race, one for and the other against. Dr. Marshall's speech for the colored race is opposite to Dr. Tucker's. Only price 15 cents. On sale at 631 Pine street, Philadelphia Pa.

A Stiff-kneed Methodist—Mrs. Wilson's Stocking Purse—Such a way he has! when children are naughty he whips them, and when they are good he whips them, and when they are neither naughty nor good he whips them, and he whips the child, before the game, always all the while—and, moreover, he is the most whipped man that ever was known—only for illustration, I would not have you think he whips me. Wonder five cents a bottle.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

JOHN D. LEWIS Esq.,

My Dear Sir:—Your argument on the address entitled "Church and State," on behalf of the concerted action by the churches of all creeds, to secure the political and social rights of the colored race in America, is admirably put. I agree with you that the voters of that race should not hold themselves for sale at any political organization, but vote right in calling upon your brethren to assert their claims to equal privileges of education, of the civic rights and of social and political advancement. I wish that your people could be made to realize the truth which you so forcibly illustrate, that they are the architects of their own fortunes, and that they can, if they choose to use that power beneficently, secure the birthright of more than their present form. EPISCOPAL ROOMS A. M. E. CHURCH, March 21, 1884.

DEAR DR. TANNER,—Well, you state that because it will be inconvenient for the bishops to attend at Newport, R. I., to preside at the conference at the time appointed (June 25th), this is sufficient reason why it will necessitate the change of the time of meeting of all the conferences The bishops of the Connectional Council at 2 d. Philadelphia Conference, May 12th; 3 d, New York Conference, June 4th; New England Conference, June 11th. All the places will remain as published except the New Jersey Conference. As the brethren of the several conferences will think it their duty as early as possible TO ALL THE LEDIES OF THE MITE MIS SIONARY SOCIETY.

Your mites must come to us before, fall and plenty. Ladies, do your duty. Let not your pastors' wives or call together the brethren and sisters of your Methodist Episcopal Church and ask them to contribute, if but a "mite" to help our foreign mission work. The ladies of the Third Street society gave twenty Townsend $160 as he passed through Philadelphia on route to England. Sixty dollars in one year from a small society for one year, and one hundred dollars in two years towards the support of our mission in Hayti. By this contribution the treasury was depleted, except fifty cents, which we sent to make up the extra fifty so as to enable the Mite Society to do the whole sum. Dr. Townsend is now in England and can do nothing until he returns in the fall, but come he must ago on. Brother Mossell, wife and child must be secured; must be fed, and he cannot be. Will you not do your duty? All do their duty. Send your mites to Mrs. Bishop Campbell, No. 1923 N. 11th street, Philadelphia, Pa. Send by your husband or bring to the next conference, the price almost you collect and forward.

Yours affectionately,

J. M. BROWN.

DYSPEPSIA.

Sedentary habits, mental worry, nervous excitement, excess or improprieties in eating or drinking, and various other causes, induce Constipation followed by general derangement of the liver, kidneys, and stomach, in which the disorder of each organ increases the infirmity of the others. The immediate results are Loss of Appetite, Nausea, Foul Breath, Heartburn, Flatulence, Dizziness, Sick Headaches, failure of physical and mental vigor, distressing sense of weight and fullness in the stomach, and incessant Costiveness, all of which are known under one head as Dyspepsia.

In every instance where this disease does not originate from scrofulous taint in the blood, AYER'S PILLS may be confidently relied upon to effect a cure. Those remedies supersede in the curative influence all AYER'S PILLS alone will certainly yield to the PILLS are aided by the powerful blood-purifying properties of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

Dyspeptics should know that the timely treatment of their malady is sometimes the more difficult of cure it becomes.

Ayer's Pills

Never fail to relieve the bowels and promote their healthful and regular action, and thus cure Dyspepsia. Temporary inactivity of the digestive organs, by the artful setting into which the established stomach is exposed by "tinkering" with boilo stimulants, is inevitably followed by a reaction that leaves the organ weaker than before.

"I took soreness, induced by my ordinary habits of life, become chronic. AYER'S PILLS have done me more good than all the other medicines I ever took, and I am right."—HERMAN BARLOW, Beverly, Mass.

"I was induced to try AYER'S PILLS as a remedy for Dyspepsia, from which I had suffered for years. I have used three boxes of them, and feel entirely cured. I cheerfully recommend them to all the sufferers I can reach."—H. V. HAYES, Bridge, Chicago, Ill.

"They have entirely corrected the costive habit from which I formerly suffered."—REV. HENRY FRENCH, Farmington, Me.

"The cures effected by Ayer's Pills have been very numerous in this section. I have used them myself, and from my best."—W. L. SMITH, Ocean Grove, N. J.

"A sufferer from Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, and Neuralgia for the last fifteen years, AYER'S PILLS have benefited me more than any medicine I ever used."—MRS. ROSENA, Nashawa, Brown Co., Wisconsin.

"For Dyspepsia they are invaluable."—J. T. HAYES, Hayes, Texas.

THE CHICAGO NOMINEES

For its standard-bearers in the Republican National Convention present the names of James G. Blaine and John A. Logan. Both are in the prime of life, and need no introduction at our hands. We are free to confess that neither is our first choice; and yet they become so by reason of their nomination. Unconvincingly attached to the Republican party, we esteem it our privilege to vote its ticket; therefore do we intend, (D. V.) to vote for the Chicago nominees, as we believe that the general rank in the country will do. That the good of the nation requires that the Republican party should continue in power we have no more doubt than that the course of the world requires that the wisest and best men should everywhere govern—men most allied to the mind and will of God. What is the Republican party as compared with the Democratic. We accede to the proposition that neither is what it ought to be. But the question is not one of political perfection. On the contrary, the question is: which of the two is nearer the right—nearer both in the letter and in the spirit of the organization? That the palm must be given the Republican party, we do not believe a single unbiased mind in the country will deny. Nor could be if he would. Therefore do we say to the men of our readers and of our race, Go straight for Blaine and Logan. We are of the opinion that every vote will be needed, for it is our thought that it is by every one nearly certain as he might have been put in the field. But it is there; and the work of the hour is to make it a success. B. T. T.

A KIND WORD.

Acting still as editor of the RECORDER, we take the liberty of inserting the following kind word. It is to us that Professor Stewart that we shall look for help in the work of b logieg to the high the scholarship of the Church and the race with which we are identified; and this, too, whether he shall remain at home or go abroad:

HARRISON, VA., May 31, 1884.

REV. DR TANNER:—I congratulate you on the promotion with which the General Conference honored you. I wish you I shall become, at a very early day, a subscriber to the Quarterly. I hope that you will have the support of the talent and patronage of the Church and the race to such an extent as to enable you to make the Quarterly an immense power for good.

I am sure that to your part of the work you will bring elements of scholarship, purity of heart and a loyalty to the connection with which we both feel proud to be identified.

Please to remember me kindly to your family.

Yours truly,
T. MCCANTS STEWART.

GREATER STRESS.

Beyond all question, greater stress should be laid upon the interrogatives put to those who come to be received into the traveling connection. As at present, the answers are by far too superficial. There is no time for the bishop and conference to hear down upon them to emphasize them in a way we can imagine the fathers of Methodism in two days. What these questions are may be learned by reference to Part II. Chapter 11: Section 6.

Let us refer to a few of the most important of them. The first is, "Have you faith in Christ?" The faith here alluded to is, beyond all question, an experiential faith, and tantamount to:

Have you been born again? To be decently of emphasizing this question cannot be too greatly magnified. Next in portance to the past, it is a thousand fold more so in this day of milk-and-water religious experience. Therefore is the reception of those who are to be the religious teachers of the people, the answer given should be the clearest and most satisfactory.

Question second is, "Are you going on to perfection?" Like the first, this, too, should be emphasized. The burden of the question is that a religious teacher of the Methodist school must recognize the fact that it is his duty to daily grow in life and spirit more like the Master. He must no longer be low professed railing like the more of the Christ life he should show forth—that he is groaning to be made perfect in love.

"Do you love the ruins of the Society Of the bands? Do you keep them?" are other questions upon which greater stress is laid. Methodism is a spiritual power in the land, or it is nothing. Hence its strength in the past. Herein must be their strength in the future. If this, its how, ever shlesth in strength, all will be well. Hence it is that the religious teachers do not know the rules of the society and of the bands? Especially are they to see to it if do not keep them? But we invite the reader of that to turn to the portion of Discipline named above, and pursue the rest for himself.

IT WAS a most happy thought on the part of our distinguished townsman, Wm. Still, Esq., to compliment the colored members especially, of the Methodist Episcopal General Conference with a pleasant drive. We say these, especially, for it is not to be understood that is was to them alone; on the contrary, as our report of last week showed, invitations were sent out a few of its white members of the same assembly, selected from the ranks of those who have stood in the front rank of every good work they did. We were not to go as a mass. There is nothing like letting a man occupying a trying position know that he is appreciated; for appreciation quickens the heart and quickens the nerve as nothing else beside. "Hurrah, my good fellow," has been the cry of the hour to the leaders of the Methodist world.

Bishop Taylor, since the close of the General Conference, has been in Washington City packing up his books and moving them to Atlanta, Ga., to his large new house. He says it will take three months' work to get his library properly fixed up again. He left five hundred volumes in the Washington library. The use of the two rooms, which he thinks ought to serve as rent free to him in behalf of his sacred library. The Bishop leaves for Atlanta this week.

—Congressman O'Hara is a native of New York, a graduate of Harvard College, and a lawyer by profession. He went South in reconstruction times and has been peculiarly successful in politics. He has wife and family with him here, and lives in good style on 20th and streets, near M. E. Church. Mrs. O'Hara are both devout Catholics, and attend the colored church of that faith near their residence. O'Hara thinks a white man to educate his children.—[Washington Ex.

WE HAVE received the following note from Chillicothe, Ohio, dated June 5th:

"Bishop Turner—Please give notice in your editorial columns, so that it will be read by all, of the meeting of the Ohio Annual Conference Institute assembled in Gallipolis on the 25th and 26th of June, 1884. We desire every school in the bounds of the conference to send a delegate and some money to pay for printing programmes and minutes. Every pastor is desired to be present in Chillicothe on Wednesday as superior of all. All delegates are requested to notify by card at once, Rev. R. P. Clark, Gallipolis, Ohio, in order that moneys may be obtained.

THE Missionary Baptist, of Memphis, has the following appreciative word for our Church:

"The African Methodists are appearently in advance of all Episcopal bodies in true progressiveness. The few ecclesiastical flurries of Wesleis surviving, find themselves in unoccgenial company, and will be left behind in the onward march of humanity over moss-grown and effete traditions, to starve in the desert away in the cemetery of our brethren. So more it be.

TO THE Democratic Governor of Pennsylvania we doff the hat for his manly utterance on the question of caste. Of all men, he is to be credited with saving the Christian character of the party to which he belongs. Governor Pattison is the first chief executive who has had the courage to rebuke the death of caste by his children higher reward than he himself received from his party.

REV. J. D. BURRELL, Dubuque, Iowa, sends us the following:

"I have been called to show in the Presbyterian Church (white) Rev. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wade were awarded the second prize for the best dressed lady under a year old. Miss Cora Wade is only six months and seven days old. She was the only colored child present.

THE difference between Frederick Douglass and John M. Langston are certainly to be lamented. With our brother Douglass at one another's throats, the future is by no means as bright as could be wished.

WHAT FATHER TAYLOR, Methodist Bishop elect for Africa, has to say of his new field of labor may be seen in another column.

REV. DR. LEE, editor-elect, will soon be in the synod. The Church may be sure of solid editorial work.

We have built up a Sunday school; we also started a church building here; some of the lumber is on the ground. We have two classes and a society. The white people think there is room for only one church, and that is for the Dollar Mossy. I will do all in my power for it."

Rev. John H. D. Robinson, (Rolling Fork, Miss.): "This will show you that we are still alive. We have just closed our protracted meeting. Twenty-four have been added to the church. We are raising the conference of the people daily, so you see we are moving on our side, and a good presiding elder to look after us will help us. We have with us Rev. K. D. Brown. Rev. P. Johnson, (Terryville mission, Florida): "My church is alive. I was appointed the second time to this station by Bishop W. W. Wayman. I am in the field as a watchman upon the walls. Have had a glorious time on this station February 27th, 1884, I have received the doors of the Methodist Church and 26 joined the school and others are crying upon unto us and let us come in. We paid for a bell in six weeks and my church is out of debt. Every dollar paid down. Africa Methodism is alive spiritually, financially and educationally. My first quarter will convene the 12th day of June at Terryville, Florida."

Rev. W. We have added to the church fifteen or sixteen and five have been happily converted. The Sunday school, I am pleased to say, is increasing. Where she did not number 25 she now numbers 60 to 70, and we look for God she is moving on. The members of the church had become discouraged, but all are coming to be dissatisfied in mind. The district are moving ahead, the man, with presiding elder T. U. Dennam at the head."

AN ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

To the bishops, elders and brethren, ladies and gentlemen, I have been selected to perform an honorable and welcome, a more pleasant duty, that of addressing you upon a theme so grand and sublime, and interesting in its conception as that of our annual conference. I feel conscious that in the unstriling undertaking to attempt to say something to this grand and noble body, I shall scarcely attempt to do it simply extend a hearty and cordial welcome to you, our beloved and honored guests, who have come among us to-day, and as I do so a new realization of love and Christian feeling that binds Christian workers together springs up in our hearts and makes us feel that there is no grander work in all this vast field of labor than that which this Philadelphia Annual Conference is engaged in; the work of proclaiming and establishing the precious truths as they are laid down to us in God's own word, of sending missionaries to foreign lands, of giving of their moneys to advance the grand work of education among our people and all the other departments that are connected with it. Some of us who are present have ever met or seen each other before, and yet with what pleasure have we looked forward to your coming, how we have desired to have you come, and how many have desired to see it, but have died without the sight; and we who are here can only say with the poet, "Blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love;" glory and praise to Jesus given for his never-ending grace." You do not know how much it have done for us by your coming; we are proud to welcome bones one who went from this place to work in the vineyard of the Master; we are glad to be doing your service for the Master; and to our beloved Bishops and all our brethren who have come with them, we say, and we do bor, we welcome you; those who have come from the city of brotherly love, you, we welcome you to our little country town, to our hearts and our homes and to the hospitality of the Methodist Episcopal Church. We welcome you, we bid you welcome, we have been equal to say that late ever been held. For years and years we have desired that we should feel that we are permitted to meet here who, 68 years ago, were held as chattels, bought and sold as a common property body. I would say, who shall impede us or who shall molest us, or for what power shall we be destroyed? I answer, none; none; no matter, I say no matter how powerful the foe, shall ever be raised that will or can restrain our rights, privileges and liberty. Many a battle has been said I am with you to the end. In the days of our fathers we were likened unto the horse and praise doe to the grand, noble and intelligent body. You have been called by the Lord and by the people and ignorant minds of both men and women, but in these days of progress, I instead of failing as they desired we go on to prosperity and success, and to-day we are proud of our Bishops and elders and friends that were near and dear to us, but who have been called from labor to reward, their labors have not been in vain in the Lord, but the good works they began are successfully advancing in numbers, in doctrine and in power. Our ministers are at least unanimal equality before the law and in relation to the Department, and it was possible to give in such a short time, at the same time requesting him to allow all of the employes who had done most excellent service during the late administration. Whether they are retained in the employment of the Department or should they be dismissed for other fields of usefulness, I do hereby most heartily recommend them.

Wishing great success under the blessings of God to the incoming administration I remain

TO THE PHILADELPHIA ANNUAL CONFERENCE DELIVERED BY EMMA J. MIDDLETON, CHAMBERSBURG, JUNE 2, 1884.

To the bishops, elders and brethren, ladies and gentlemen, I have been selected to perform an honorable and welcome, a more pleasant duty, that of addressing you upon a theme so grand and sublime, and interesting in its conception as that of our annual conference. I feel conscious that in the unstriling undertaking to attempt to say something to this grand and noble body, I shall scarcely attempt to do it simply extend a hearty and cordial welcome to you, our beloved and honored guests, who have come among us to-day, and as I do so a new realization of love and Christian feeling that binds Christian workers together springs up in our hearts and makes us feel that there is no grander work in all this vast field of labor than that which this Philadelphia Annual Conference is engaged in; the work of proclaiming and establishing the precious truths as they are laid down to us in God's own word, of sending missionaries to foreign lands, of giving of their moneys to advance the grand work of education among our people and all the other departments that are connected with it. Some of us who are present have ever met or seen each other before, and yet with what pleasure have we looked forward to your coming, how we have desired to have you come, and how many have desired to see it, but have died without the sight; and we who are here can only say with the poet, "Blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love;" glory and praise to Jesus given for his never-ending grace." You do not know how much it have done for us by your coming; we are proud to welcome bones one who went from this place to work in the vineyard of the Master; we are glad to be doing your service for the Master; and to our beloved Bishops and all our brethren who have come with them, we say, and we do bor, we welcome you; those who have come from the city of brotherly love, you, we welcome you to our little country town, to our hearts and our homes and to the hospitality of the Methodist Episcopal Church. We welcome you, we bid you welcome, we have been equal to say that late ever been held. For years and years we have desired that we should feel that we are permitted to meet here who, 68 years ago, were held as chattels, bought and sold as a common property body. I would say, who shall impede us or who shall molest us, or for what power shall we be destroyed? I answer, none; none; no matter, I say no matter how powerful the foe, shall ever be raised that will or can restrain our rights, privileges and liberty. Many a battle has been said I am with you to the end. In the days of our fathers we were likened unto the horse and praise doe to the grand, noble and intelligent body. You have been called

A SPECIAL INVITATION.

We especially invite a trial by all those suffering from Kidney and Liver complaints who have failed to obtain relief from other remedies and from doctors. Kidney-Wort is a great remedy. It is our Work, has effected cures in many chronic cases. It acts at once on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleansing the system of all diseased humors and restoring a healthy condition of those important organs. Do not be discouraged but try it.

An Irish lover remarked: It's a very great pleasure to be alone, especially when your sweetheart is wid ye."

"Solid comfort" can be realized by those at rest from all forms of corofula. If they will take Hood's Sarsaparilla and be cured.

Some shiuse with a double luster when it is set in humility. As able and yet humble man is a jewel worth a kingdom.

The sure effect of Ayer's Sarsaparilla are thorough and permanent. If there is a lurking taint of scrofula in your system, Ayer's Sarsaparilla will dislodge it, and expel it from your system.

A New York paper says shoes have gone up five cents per pair. We say the reasons this means about fifty cents a pair retail.

A man suffering from debility and loss of appetite he took two bottles of Hop & Sarsaparilla, gained ten pounds, and got well.

In quantitive people are the fossils of conversation; they do not take in anything for their own use, but merely to pass it to another.

Never give up! You can find a remedy for Heart Disease, many people who had tried Dr. Greve's Heart Regulator say it is a sure cure.

A man has no more right to regard an civil slip of the tongue as a fair target for a rude thing to another than to knock him down.

A whisker dye must be convenient to use, easy to apply, impossible to rub off, elegant in appearance, and cheap in price Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers unites itself all these merits. Try it.

No, Alfred, we don't know why they call it the quarter day, unless it is because a quarter of a section does not it ought to be, without base interest bearing a note bonded of it.

Doctors say that people would be healthier if they ate more colleges. Undoubtedly they would—if would keep them from going ought nights.

"THE COLORED RACE WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE."

This is the title of a pamphlet written by Dr. C. K. Marshall, in reply to Dr. J. P. C. Bruce. These two able men have both said what they think of the colored race. One has given a deed day against. Dr. Marshall's speech for the colored race is opposite to Dr. Tucker's. Only 25 cts. for sale at 631 Pine street, Philadelphia Pa.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup, as an old nurse and female physician of long experience in her profession, has a child from it, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. We believe it to be the best remedy in the world in all cases of dysentery and diarrhœa in children, whether it arises

"TILL DEATH DO YOU PART."

Brown—Tanner—On the 8th inst., at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. C. W. Brown and Miss Minnie Tanner were united in holy wedlock by the Rev. W. H. Brown, friends outside of the State, and numerous from friends in the city, mounting to several hundred dollars' worth. Both the contracting parties are teachers of several years standing in the public schools of St. Louis. Among the presents is a beautiful clock presented by the bride's uncle, B. T. Tanner, D.D. Long life and happiness.

THE DUNKARDS.

These Christians have been in existence at Dayton, Ohio, several days. It is estimated that no fewer than one hundred and twenty thousand persons attended their sittings.

FIDELITY.

With the provisions made by the General Conference, just adjourned, there is no reason why the presiding quadrennium of Church work should not be eminently successful; and it surely will if duly lived by the watchword of all whom that body placed in authority. As to the Bishops we doubt not the fields of which they are given charge are theirs, taking it all in all, are as acceptable to them as if they themselves had selected them. It were to be expected that certain localities in the Church would not be preferred. No man of his own choice prefers a rugged journey to a smooth one; and yet it is the men who do the rugged must be undergone. Like his Master, the minister can save others, but often cannot save himself. We repeat, therefore, to our beloved brethren of the localities thought to be hard and trying, the Bishops whom the General Conference sent to take over the sight of them; especially do we commend Bishop Payne to those of Alabama, Bishop Wayman to those of Texas, and Bishop Shorter to those of South Carolina and Georgia. All these are venerable men; each having given a full third of a century to the work of the Church. To require them, in the twilight of their days, to plough the richest and heaviest soil the Church has is quite enough to assert in the given time, is it a cold and indifferent spirit. All these, however, we have no fear. We know the brethren of these fields will only be too glad to take these veterans of the cross by the hand, and say, "Welcome, thou sent of the Lord."

The Bishops, the General Officers, with the ample provision made for each, we have no doubt that the present quadrennium will witness a normal development of the work rendered by any in the past. A hopeful feature is that each of them brings a large measure of experience to the work given him. This is especially true of the Rev. Dr. Arnett, of the Treasury Department, J. M. Townsend, of the Missionary Department, C. S. Smith, of the Sunday School, W. D. Johnson, of the Educational, J. C. Embry, of the Publishing, and the Managing Editor of the new Church Review. Dr. Lee, editor of the Episcopal Review, and Dr. Jerson, of the Branch department at Charleston, have the least experience of any; but who doubts that Dr. McCants Lee's success in his new vocation for Brother Jefferson in his?

With great hope of the future, then, may the entire membership of the Church look forward. One thing, and one thing only, can produce failure; and that is, unfaithfulness to the high trust imposed. But of this we prefer not to think. Our eyes are not on the past, but on the future, as we are persuaded are the eyes of the whole Church. To a man we can hear it sing: Let the dead bury its dead. We push forward to now and greater victories. H. T. T.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

ITS PLATFORM AND ITS STANDARD BEARERS—THE PLUMED KNIGHT AND THE GALLANT SOLDIER.

The National Convention of the Republican party has accomplished some of its work. Its platform is one that all in the main will be pronounced strong. Its doctrine on bonn protection, interstate rights and interstate rights and commerce, as a strong as a strong party could make them.

The marked silence of the voice of the party concerning the iniquity of intemperance as a subject to be regretted very seriously. It evinces sheer cowardice, a non-aggressive and unprogressive spirit unworthy the party upon whose banner are inscribed so many virtues favorable to moral reform. The fear of the Republican party is lack of moral courage in this instance is an unfavorable omen. "Anything to beat," is the cry of those leaders who have compromised into a position of impotency.

If God has blessed this powerful party with so many and such signal victories as those which have attended it in the past two decades for nearly one quarter of a century, could this party perform a more noble act than, in some way in its platform, to manifest its faith in God, its obligations to Him for success and its determination to promote morality, at least to the extent of opposing itself freely against that accursed evil which "at last biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder?"

The party could not, for consistency's sake, make a special appeal in this case. With the ample provision made for each, we have no doubt that the present quadrennium will witness a normal development of the work rendered by any in the past. A hopeful feature is that each of them brings a large measure of experience to the work given him. This is especially true of the Rev. Dr. Arnett, of the Treasury Department, J. M. Townsend, of the Missionary Department, C. S. Smith, of the Sunday School, W. D. Johnson, of the Educational, J. C. Embry, of the Publishing, and the Managing Editor of the new Church Review. Dr. Lee, editor of the Episcopal Review, and Dr. Jerson, of the Branch department at Charleston, have the least experience of any; but who doubts that Dr. McCants Lee's success in his new vocation for Brother Jefferson in his?

With great hope of the future, then, may the entire membership of the Church look forward. One thing, and one thing only, can produce failure; and that is, unfaithfulness to the high trust imposed. But of this we prefer not to think. Our eyes are not on the past, but on the future, as we are persuaded are the eyes of the whole Church. To a man we can hear it sing: Let the dead bury its dead. We push forward to now and greater victories. H. T. T.

THE London Methodist Recorder, May 20th, in its report of the South African Conference, gives the following information in regard to education. We quote from the report presented by Rev. J. S. Spencer:

The report showed that there were 8 day schools, with 8 day school teachers. The total number of scholars was 14-977, being an increase of 271. The number in day schools of white children is 560, and of African or colored children, 14,422. At the Healdtown Training Institution there are 40 indoor and 15 outdoor students, 15 pupil-teachers, and 270 day scholars. The Healdtown Industrial Institution accommodation has been provided for 50 native lads. Buildings have been erected and furnished at a cost of £800, towards which the circuit has contributed £75.

The Lesseyton Native Training Institution has been in operation for nine months. There are five students who are preparing for the native ministry, and under instruction in theological and other subjects. The Lesseyton Girls' Native Training Institution has fourteen boarders and one day scholar. The girls are engaged in the best classes of native schools, and also in different branches of domestic and industrial work.

The Clackebury Native Training Institution has 25 apprentices, 5 pupil-teachers, and 3 scholars in the industrial departments of shoemaking and tailoring throughout the year. The value of about £1,330 has been done during the year, and a large book and stationery business carried on. The school in connection with this institution cost about £1,500 for buildings, and has cost the books and 55 apprentices attend school in the evening. Besides the school teachers above mentioned, special instruction and seven are now in charges in other schools. At the Government examination last September 3 candidates obtained certificates of competency and one a provisional certificate. The inspector reports that the institution is now in a position to send out a continuous supply of qualified native teachers.

At Buntingville, buildings have been erected at a cost of over £5,000, of which £1,584 has been expended. The Superintendent-General of Education had placed on the estimates grants sufficient to carry on the good work the institution; but when these estimates were submitted to the Legislature it refused to sanction them, and in consequence the institution has been closed. The report was unanimously received. Rev. James Morris, makes a special appeal in this case.

THE FOLLOWING, taken from the Louisville Evening Post, indicates the manner in which the speech of Rev. C. C. Smith was received by the International Sunday School Convention recently held in that city:

Rev. C. C. Smith, of Bloomington, Ill., then spoke in behalf of the colored people, and claimed a representation for them in the National Association. He promised that the schools under his charge would be represented next year as much as the same number of whites. He was applauded to the echo on the point, and while they touched many a weak point in the armor of love in the audience, they were received and listened to long and continued applause. At the conclusion of the address it was remarkable and touching scene followed. So great was the delegates affected by his speech that all surrounded Mr. Smith and shook hands with him while the music played.

We beg to say that we have received a full account of the proceedings of that Convention from a special. It will appear next week.

ALL will be glad to know that Brother Lee has been acquitted of the charge of murder; yet there are also reasons to fear for the correct steering of our great ship while so many of our young men are representatives of a revolver. The revolver is almost as destructive as many of the diseases. The murderer is only one out of the ill-tempered hair-trigger revolver, the sneaking revolver of the darkness, the loaded revolver in the side or hip pocket—all are doing their work. A bad once said in so authoritative tone to another who was pointing notice at him, "Don't point that thing at me." The reply was, "Don't point a stick at a stick." "I don't care, it might go off."

THE 20th anniversary of the "Stephen Smith Home for Aged and Infirm Colored People," on the afternoon of last Thursday, was a pleasant affair; particularly in view of the fact that the newly added wing of the structure was thrown open for inspection. After the usual literary and musical exercises, Mr. Treasurer had been rend, brief addresses were made by Bishop Stevens, of the P. E. Church, Rev. Mr. Ware, of the Baptist, and Rev. B. T. Tanner, D.D., editor. Following Bishop Stevens, Miss Mary Harper took the audience by storm in rendering Whittier's poem, "Benedicite." The improvement of this young lady in her chosen profession is simply marvellous. T.

AT PRESENT the Publishing Department has Rev. Dr. J. H. A. Johnson for acting Manager. Our readers doubtless saw in our last issue the communication from the late Manager, giving an account of the transfer made at the request of the Executive Committee of the new Board of Managers. Personally we have nothing to say in this connection only to announce the fact of Dr. Johnson's presence. T.

EDITOR LEE has not arrived, nor will he until after Wilberforce Commencement shall have been over. We doubt not our readers are anxiously looking forward to the day when, from his accession of power and influence, he will make himself more regularly heard and seen throughout the connection. The only word to them is, be patient. T.

THE many warm and cheering congratulations of our friends are very encouraging. Prominent among these are our old conferee of twenty years—R. A. Johnson and R. G. Mortimer, our fellow students, F. S. and A. D. Blunt, and our no less true friend and esteemed friend of years, T. McCants Stewart, of Liberia College, with many others.

WHATEVER may be thought of the methods of the Salvation Army in our country, they are highly appreciated in England, judging from the treatment they receive at the hands of the ministers of the Established Church. The latest announcement made is to the effect that three curates have joined the army as simple cadets.

WOULD we know how other sees us in General Conference, read the communication found on this page. We have only to ask, when will first class journals cease to allow their contributors the license of lying? Not one per cent of the men of that conference used the brogue which the Baltimorean ascribes to them.

MANAGER EMERY has not yet stepped from out the cloud which a sad providence permitted to rest upon him. But we have no fear that he will come out, the word is that he will arrive about the first of July. Like the new editor, his presence, too, will be hailed by all.

THE Pilot, edited and published by Messrs. H. Price Williams and O. S. Baxter, is the title of a daily spoken of by the press generally of the city. Experienced in their business, the management of the Pilot ought to succeed.

THE first number of the African Methodist Episcopal Church Review is now out. Send subscriptions to Rev. B. T. Tanner, Managing Editor, 631 Pine street.

E CLIP from the Leavenworth Times a touching Obituary notice of the relict of Manager-elect Embry.

Personal.

—Mr. James A. Shorter has been appointed postmaster at Perry, Miss. He is son of Bishop Shorter.

—Senator Beck is reported as making this frank confession, which is pitiful enough: "I have no soul, or at his soul: "I will vote for any man the Democrats may nominate. I have taken my position, and I can do it again. I voted for Greeley and I voted for Seymour, the most disagreeable dish of crow that was ever served up to the Democratic party. T.

—The editor of the Richmond Dispatch was asked the other day what the Virginia Legislature would do in case General Butler secured the Democratic nomination. "They would support him, of all," was Mr. James's response; "there is probably no one among them who thinks that the thirst is not so keen, now the war is over, for the blood of Yankees." He would not gladly vote, but you may rest assured he would listen to hear the last of Butler."

—The new Methodist Episcopal Bishops go to work promptly. Bishop Ninde presides over the Detroit and Michigan, and three Northern German conferences. Bishop Mallalieu presides over the two Wisconsin conferences, Bishop Fowler over the California and Oregon, and concludes by presiding over the Nebraska conference. Bishop Waldeo takes the southern conference section, and Bishop Andrews the Kansas and Bishop Warren goes to Rock River.

—Editor B. T. Tanner, of the Christian Recorder, has been appointed to edit the African Methodist Quarterly Magazine, and Prof. Leo. of Wilberforce, will take his place as editor in chief of the organ of the Church. Editor Tanner has the ability to make a remarkable success of the Review, and under him the periodical has made a good start. We are sorry to lose his weekly services, but know that we suffer of the Magazine will remove the University from the embarrassments which have for his people and church.—Exchange.

—There are to be only seven speakers at the Commencement of Harvard University this year. One of them is a colored man, who was a waiter at Memorial Hall in 1874, when he was connected by a member of the graduating class of that year to prepare for college. He entered in 1876, and has made his way through with honor. His graduating theme is "The Negro Race in America since Emancipation." The colored man yet labors under many disabilities; but to a very great degree the roads to honor and preferment are open to all who have the earnestness and pluck to avail themselves of them. —Exchange.

—Bishop Ryan, of St. Louis, appointed to go to Archbishop Corrigan, came to this country from Ireland in 1850, being then only twenty years of age. He has long been esteemed one of the most eloquent Roman Catholic preachers in America. He was born near Philadelphia Press, to the intense school of oratory. Forcible gestures, a strong and well modulated voice and a general by impassioned style of delivery, pertinent to the times characterize his discourses, connecting. Since he has been in St. Louis he has preached in the Cathedral on alternate Sundays. In addition to the building he invariably contained enormous congregations, and many of those who listened to his oratory there were always numbers belonging to other creeds.

Notes on Education.

The Commencement exercises of Williams College will occupy six days beginning on the 15th.

The Boston Truscript gives currency to a report that there is a great deal of drunkenness and vice at Brown University.

The Rev. W. J. Johnson, one of the graduates at Wilberforce University, has recently elected member of the school board in Chillicothe, O.

At the recent commencement the Cincinnati Law School graduated a large class, and in the number was Mr. J. W. Stago, of Greenfield, O., a former student of Wilberforce University. Mr. Stago is a member of the board of managers of the new Board of Managers. Personally we have nothing to say in this connection only to announce the fact of Dr. Johnson's presence. T.

The vacant presidency of Union College is exciting some attention. "The proper man for the position," says the Albany Argus, "is some one who does not wish it." He should be a man who is filled with any of the troubles that have been composed. He should, if possible, be a man who has been long and strong in the associations represented by the college, and who has grown old in it if looked for. He will be revered, if waited for. Time is the ald of wisdom in such a situation as now exists."

The A. M. E. Church, in the establishment of the Department of Education, by its late session of General Conference, has taken run of the greatest steps in its course. With Dr. W. D. Johnson at its head, we may count on success. The first general meeting of will be made in September, and ought to reach at least $50,000. The times more serious responsibility will rest from us than ever before. The wealthy denominational schools for colored youths are offering superior inducements to our young men to accept scholarships. The Slater Fund and other large gifts have enabled these schools to make these overtures. We rejoice that many are thus acquiring a liberal education; but if our own denomination would be as strong as others, we must educate, we must educate now, we must educate earnestly.

The New Orleans Times-Democrat is in favor of making Spanish an important study in the public schools. "Here at New Orleans," it says, "we have the best opportunities of establishing these schools. There are thousands of our own people Castilian by descent. Thousands of others who understand the language, and plenty of material for good teachers. Spanish is fully as important a tongue as French, and should be made a necessary study in every academy and school of higher branches. Especially should the University of Louisiana introduce into the knowledge of this tongue, which has been so traditionally the language of the Creole aristocracy, which is sonorous, sweet and beautiful, full, strong and graphic, which is spoken by over fifty million people, and which, commercially, is one of the most valuable languages that any one can know just now."

The Rev. Dr. Isaac M. Wise, the president, has just submitted to the Board of Governors the annual report of the Cincinnati College. "There is," perhaps," he says, "no school in this country which does so much for so little as these Hebrew Union College. Its students are educated in the ministry, and under instruction in theological and other subjects. The Lesseyton Girls' Native Training Institution four fourteen boarders and one day scholar. The girls are engaged in the best classes of native schools, and also in different branches of domestic and industrial work.

—There are to be only seven speakers at the Commencement of Harvard University this year. One of them is a colored man, who was a waiter at Memorial Hall in 1874, when he was connected by a member of the graduating class of that year to prepare for college. He entered in 1876, and has made his way through with honor. His graduating theme is "The Negro Race in America since Emancipation." The colored man yet labors under many disabilities; but to a very great degree the roads to honor and preferment are open to all who have the earnestness and pluck to avail themselves of them. —Exchange.

—Bishop Ryan, of St. Louis, appointed to go to Archbishop Corrigan, came to this country from Ireland in 1850, being then only twenty years of age. He has long been esteemed one of the most eloquent Roman Catholic preachers in America. He was born near Philadelphia Press, to the intense school of oratory. Forcible gestures, a strong and well modulated voice and a general by impassioned style of delivery, pertinent to the times characterize his discourses, connecting. Since he has been in St. Louis he has preached in the Cathedral on alternate Sundays. In addition to the building he invariably contained enormous congregations, and many of those who listened to his oratory there were always numbers belonging to other creeds.

Missionary Items.

A correspondent in Eucsia, who is in a position to know the facts, writes that in Egypt, the population of the principle of that country so eager to read and study the word of God, both in the Arabic and Coptic and in the vernacular as now. Permission has lately been given for the circulation of New Testaments and tracts in all the barracks of the Moscow military district.

The progress that the Moslems in Egypt is slowly but surely growing. Doors are opening on every hand, and the people are better prepared for the seed. More than five hundred Moslem pupils are found in the 14 day to 14 American Mission alone. A score and a half have already been received into confessed Christ. Thirteen of these were once sinvos, of whom six have already gone where they will wear more suripes and imprisonments, and one has died. Another immanuel has always them his glory.

In Egypt, last year, when the cholera was at its height, there were many deaths at Asyoot men at nights to gambling, and drinking and fighting and trouble; then, as their fears increased, they concluded to study the Bible. Finding in the Gospel every night they attended, they sent for the Protestant pastor, and he preached to delightfully many as a prayer meeting. Sometimes as many as 250 men were present, and there are there are 40 inquirers about the interest where these meetings are held every night and largely attended.

At the coronation of Ranavalona III. as Queen of Madagascar, the torment palace of the late Queen was set on fire, the Queen was set aside, and 500 boys and girls of the best families throughout the city were selected for the honor. Over the platform on which she stood were written the words: "Glory to God with us," on the awning, and a large Bible in the inside of the roof. Then 200,000 of her subjects had gathered round her, to whom she expressed her wish that the teaching in the schools and churches should go on vigorously, for "this is the best all along of everything, of wisdom," and "Righteousness exalteth a nation."

The late King of the Limbah country said when dying: "I lived in darkness and died in darkness. Of the future I have no knowledge until the white missionary came; but to-day I have hope, for he has told me of Jesus. I have believed; and that great sacrifice made by his son has saved me. I have been made for his sake. I am dying, my work is done, but I leave the missionary and the mission to you as my dying legacy, and you must keep them in remembrance of me." Hence the people regard them as a most sacred deposit with which they can never part. The youngest son of the late King has been soundly converted, and is now training at the high school at Sierra Leone in a missionary to his own people. The entire Limbah country is open before us, and wherever we will we may commence working for God; and as it is on the high road to the interior, it is one of the most splendid openings for missions on the west coast of Africa.

The Bible Society Record says: Among the contributions acknowledged on a subsequent page will be found mention of a gift of twelve dollars and eighty-seven cents, sent by native women in Hamadan, Persia, to their sisters and sister brethren and sisters in the far off land of Cores. These women have learned to love the story about Jesus Christ and his salvation, and feel under obligation to tell the news to others also; and passing by lands where rage of and hatred and fanaticism make their offering for the "hermit nation," whose doors are still closed against the Gospel of salvation. He claims that the churches in Ohio have been permitted to send will join his standard in a few days. Of the persons he has the Rev. Messrs. Harris, Middleton, Hills, Garrott, and Haynes, and also a number more will join them. The recorders have obtained possession of the permanent endowment, in the way of donations and legacies, and from the yearly tithing and the young ministry of the Church generally, there will appear in the Conference a class of candidates of sermons preached by the ablest homiletics.

B. T. TANNER, Editor and Publisher.

In undertaking this new work of the Church, we are sure we have determined, under God, to make it a success, and we appeal to every earnest which for sixteen years was awarded to us while with the Christian Recorder. We are not unmindful of the fact that our new work is on a higher plane than the old, and we shall strive to do so. We feel the more to call, and to call loudly, to help us in this work, for the Church and its cause of church; and even of our country at large. As editor of the Christian Recorder, we have labored to make it a great power in the world.

Mr. Embry will settle his children in school, and made a home for them by a housekeeper, under control of their grandmother, and then proceed to Philadelphia to the post assigned him by the General Conference.

THE MAHDI AND THE NUN.

When Mohammend Ahmed made his triumphant entry into El Obeid he called on the Christians to change their religion and become followers of the Mahdi. Of the fumes I have no knowledge until the white missionary came; but to-day I have hope, for he has told me of Jesus. I have believed; and that great sacrifice made by his son has saved me. I have been made for his sake. I am dying, my work is done, but I leave the missionary and the mission to you as my dying legacy, and you must keep them in remembrance of me." TROUBLE AMONG THE COLORED METHODISTS.

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 4.

The secession movement in the African Methodist Episcopal Church here is assuming large proportions. The Rev. Dr. Johnson, who is one of the secedents, stated to-day that over eight churches had joined the movement. It is said the seceders numbered about two-thirds of the members of the various African Methodist Episcopal congregations in this city. The seceding churches are Centre Street, Bethel, Hasel and Trinity in this city, St. Peter's on John's Island, Washington on Daniel's Island, and the Lincolnville Mission near here. She alleged that the church is run by a ring, and that the preachers, instead of being supported by the church, support the church. Dr. Irving, of the Presbyterian Board, says that a great deal was spent in Hamaden for the preaching of the New Testament to persons related to the Nestorian Church, but lately were, and asking that two ladies might go there to teach them. He says that he thinks the most necessary for their temporal and spiritual welfare, not only, but their Jewish sisters, who were in intense darkness.

During the last year they have travelled 400,000 miles in India, Burmah, and Africa. I have carefully watched men, and I find the title of a book spoken of by the press generally of the city. Experienced in their business, the management of the Pilot ought to succeed.

THE first number of the African Methodist Episcopal Church Review is now out. Send subscriptions to Rev. B. T. Tanner, Managing Editor, 631 Pine street.

The Boston Truscript gives currency to a report that there is a great deal of drunkenness and vice at Brown University.

The Rev. W. J. Johnson, one of the graduates at Wilberforce University, has recently elected member of the school board in Chillicothe, O.

At the recent commencement the Cincinnati Law School graduated a large class, and in the number was Mr. J. W. Stago, of Greenfield, O., a former student of Wilberforce University. Mr. Stago is a member of the board of managers of the new Board of Managers. Personally we have nothing to say in this connection only to announce the fact of Dr. Johnson's presence. T.

EDITOR LEE has not arrived, nor will he until after Wilberforce Commencement shall have been over. We doubt not our readers are anxiously looking forward to the day when, from his accession of power and influence, he will make himself more regularly heard and seen throughout the connection. The only word to them is, be patient. T.

THE many warm and cheering congratulations of our friends are very encouraging. Prominent among these are our old conferee of twenty years—R. A. Johnson and R. G. Mortimer, our fellow students, F. S. and A. D. Blunt, and our no less true friend and esteemed friend of years, T. McCants Stewart, of Liberia College, with many others.

WHATEVER may be thought of the methods of the Salvation Army in our country, they are highly appreciated in England, judging from the treatment they receive at the hands of the ministers of the Established Church. The latest announcement made is to the effect that three curates have joined the army as simple cadets.

WOULD we know how other sees us in General Conference, read the communication found on this page. We have only to ask, when will first class journals cease to allow their contributors the license of lying? Not one per cent of the men of that conference used the brogue which the Baltimorean ascribes to them.

MANAGER EMERY has not yet stepped from out the cloud which a sad providence permitted to rest upon him. But we have no fear that he will come out, the word is that he will arrive about the first of July. Like the new editor, his presence, too, will be hailed by all.

"TILL DEATH DO YOU PART."

BROWN—TANNER.—In St. Louis, Mo., on the 29th ult., at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. C. W. Brown and Miss Mamie Tanner were united by holy wedlock by the Rev. M. W. Beckham, pastor of Allen Chapel. The friends outside of the State, and numerous from friends in the city, amounting to several hundred dollars' worth. Both the contracting parties are teachers of several years standing in the public schools of this city. Among the presents is a beautiful clock, presented by the bride's uncle, R. T. Tanner, D.D. Long life and happiness.

THE DUNKARDS.

These Christians have been in session at Dayton, Ohio, several days. It is estimated that there are about three and twenty thousand persons attended their sittings.

This people style themselves the German Baptists. Some of their peculiarities are: baptism by threefold immersion, face foremost, feet-washing, greeting one another with a holy kiss, anointing the sick with oil, close communion, re-baptizing even those who come from other immersing churches, not allowing any of their number to go upon common charity and having the gospel without salary.

THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The cause of making Hon. John R. Lynch temporary chairman is better known by politicians, but the quiet manner in which this able statesman presided over the great body representing the party that has effected the greatest achievements in American history is evident to all. As has been said by the London Standard, the struggle in Chicago is not so much for a nomination for men. It is probable that any one of the now prominent names before the convention would administer the law with good effect and fidelity to the chief office of our government, already made glorious by illustrious names. We wonder if the next Preacher, the P. M. General, the unobtrusive Secretary of War and the noble plumed knight will step as well to-night as we shall do on a Missouri and Pacific railway train. God guide the men holding in their hands so much of the destiny of our land.

THE AFRICAN M. E. REVIEW.

The Managing Editor of the above publication has the pleasure of presenting the first number to the Church. It has been the fond dream of years to behold what it has now in our hands.

By reason of delay all the articles in this first number savor somewhat of age, for they were all written five or six months ago. One or more of them, we are assured, would have a different ring were this not the case. We therefore present this first number with the idea that the following ones will be even better, in that they will have the odor of green fields about them.

The first article in this number is "Thoughts about the Past, Present and Future of the African M. E. Church."

It is from the pen of the senior, Bishop D. A. Payne, D.D. Article II: "A Scriptural View or Sintemeout Concerning Paradise that was Lost, Regained;" it is contributed by J. P. Campbell, D. D. Bishop Wm. F. Dickerson, D.D. contributes article III: "An Inside View of the Great Methodist Ecumenical Conference of 1881." Hon. B. K. Bruce gives article IV: "The Register's Office so far" Then follow articles from Prof. W. S. Scarborough, L.L. D., Rev. J. H. Durant, of Bridgetown, Barbadoes, W. I., Rev. W. S. Thomas, of Brooklyn, Prof. D. A. Straker, Allen University, and Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D. The Editor contributes an article on Acts xvii: 26. The number concludes, in addition to proposed Departments, with a characteristic letter from Bishop H. M. Turner, D.D. The annual subscription to the Review is $1.50, postage paid. Single copies may be ordered at 40 cts. Address all communications to the Managing Editor, B. T. Tanner, P. O. Box 906, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

ITS PLATFORM AND ITS STANDARD BEARERS—THE PLUMED KNIGHT AND THE GALLANT SOLDIER.

The National Convention of the Republican party has assembled some of good work. Its platform is one which in the main will be pronounced strong. Its doctrine on home protection, interstate rights and interstate rights are, perhaps, as strong as a strong party could make them.

The marked silence of the voice of the people of party concerning the iniquity of intemperance is a subject to be regretted very seriously. It evinces either cowardice, a non-aggressive and non-progressive spirit unworthy the party upon whose banner are inscribed so many victories favorable to moral reform. The fact is the Republican party's lack of moral courage in this instance is an unfortunate omen. "Anything to beat," is the cry of those who are over-confidence in their cause.

If God has blessed this powerful party with so many and such signal victories, it has done so that it might subserve their political battles for nearly one quarter of a century, could this party perform a more noble act than, to some degree in its platform, to announce its faith in God, its obligations to film for success and its determination to promote morality, as well as to resolve itself firmly against that accursed evil which "at last biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder?"

As in relation to the General Officers, with the ample provision made for each, we have no doubt that the present quadrennium will witness a moral development unprecedented by any in the past. A hopeful feature is that each of them brings a large measure of experience to the work given him. This is especially true of B. W. Arnett, of the Treasury Department, J. M. Townsend, of the Missionary Department, C. S. Smith, of the Sunday School, W. D. Johnson, of the Educational, J. C. Embry, of the Publishing, and the Managing Editor of the new Church Review. Dr. Lee, editor of the RECORDER, and Brother Jefferson, of the Branch department at Charleston, have been tried and found worthy. The whole audience joined in long and continued applause. At the conclusion of his speech, a remarkable and touching scene followed. So greatly were the delegates effected by his speech that all surrounded Mr. Smith and shook hands with him while the audience applauded.

We beg to say that we have received a full account of the proceedings of that Convention from a special. It will appear next week.

We hope to show how others saw or in General Conference, and also Connecting Council on third page. We have only to ask, when will first class Journals cease to allow their contributors the license of lying? Not one per cent of the men of that conference used the brogue which this Hailmerean ascribes to them.

Notes on Education

The Commencement exercises of Wilberforce University occupy six days beginning on the June 16.

The Boston Transcript gives currency to a report that there is a great wave of drunkenness and vice at Brown University.

The Rev. W. J. Johnson, one of the graduates of Wilberforce University, was recently elected member of the school board in Columbus, O.

At its recent commencement the Cincinnati Law School graduated a large class. In the class was Mr. Alexander Sisgo, of Grassfield, O., a former student of Wilberforce University. Mr. Sisgo has made a manly struggle to reach the goal, and is to be congratulated on his success.

The vacant presidency of Union College is exciting much interest. The Albany Argus "is some one who does not wish to see the college closed with any of the troubles that have been composed. It should be, if possible, be a man strong in himself not strong in the associations represented by him. Such a man can be found if looked for. He will be revealed, if waited for. Time is the aid of wisdom in such a situation as now exists."

The A. M. E. Church, in the establishment of the Department of Education, at his late session of General Conference, has taken one of the greatest steps in its course. With Dr. W. D. Johnson at its head, we may count on success. The new department, we feel sure, will be made in September, and ought to reach at least $20,000. The more seriously demand strong efforts from us than ever before. The weakest, most sacred deposit with which they can ever part. The youngest son of the late King has been soundly converted, and is now training at the high school at Sierra Leone as a missionary to his own people. The entire Liberian country is open before us, and wherever we will we may commence working for God; and as it is on the high road to must advocate now, we must advocate earnestly.

The New Orleans Times-Democrat is in favor of making Spanish an important study in the public schools. "Here at New Orleans," it says, "we have the best opportunities of establishing these schools. There are thousands of our own people Castilian by birth, thousands of others who understand the language, and plenty of material for teachers. Spanish is fast becoming so important a tongue as French, and should be made a necessary study in every school which includes the higher branches. Especially should we have it introduced as a means to introduce the knowledge of this tongue, which is justly described as the richest in the language of angels;" which is sonorous, sweet and beautiful, full, strong and flexible, which is spoken by over fifty million people, and which, commercially, is the one of the most valuable. We suggest that any one can know just now."

The Rev. Dr. Isaac M. Wise, the president, has just submitted to the Board of Governors of the Cincinnati school of Hebrew Union College. "There is perhaps," he says, "no school in which so much is done in so much so short a time as your Hebrew Union College. The system, the method, punctuality, conscientiousness and thoroughness of instruction of the faculty, teachers and students, the Board of Governors and the Faculty, all of whom are directors, make the best classes of our religious spirit of benevolence and the earnest will to help the needy and to save understand to do. Another cause is therefor is the scholarship. The first is the students receive simultaneously in the high school and University, and the coupon of the value of about $1,250 has been done during the year, and $1,250 more will be the minimum. One is carried on. The school in connection with this institution cost about $1,500. The scholarships on the books and 25 apprentices attend school in the day time. The Republican have received special instruction and seven are now in charge of other schools. At the Government's examination last September 7 candidates obtained certificates of graduation, and many a provisional certificate. The inspector reports that the Hebrew Union is now in a position to send out a continuous supply of qualified native teachers.

At Fisk University, buildings have been erected at a cost of over $5,000, of which $4,248 had been collected or promised. The Superintendent-General of Education and Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will maintain and work the institution; but when these estimates were submitted to the Board it refused to sanction them, and in consequence the institution has been called upon the superintendent, the Rev. James Morris, to make a special appeal in this case.

EDITOR LEE has not arrived, nor will he until after Wilberforce Commencement shall have been over. We doubt not our readers are anxiously looking forward to the day when, from his new seat of power and influence, he will make himself more regularly heard and felt throughout the connection. Our only word to them is, be patient.

THE many warm and cheering congratulations of our friends are very encouraging. Prominent among these are our old conferees of twenty years—R. A. Johnson and R. G. Mortimer, our fellow students, F. S. and A. D. Delaney, and the venerable Bishop Dennis. From these it will be little or no discussion to the Church. Editor Lee will be the expounder of the principles of the Church, and the whole audience joined in long and continued applause. At the conclusion of his speech, a remarkable and touching scene followed. So greatly were the delegates effected by his speech that all surrounded Mr. Smith and shook hands with him while the audience applauded.

We beg to say that we have received a full account of the proceedings of that Convention from a special. It will appear next week.

WOUND we know how others saw us in General Conference, read on third page. We have only to ask, when will first class Journals cease to allow their contributors the license of lying? Not one per cent of the men of that conference used the brogue which this Hailmerean ascribes to them.

THE Pilot, edited and published by Messrs. H. Price Williams and S. D. Williams, of this city, is highly spoken of by the press generally of the city. Experienced in their business, the management of the Pilot ought to succeed.

Missionary Items.

A correspondent in Russia, who is in a position to know the facts, writes to a friend in this country as follows: "The people of that country so eager to read and study the word of God, have to be inspired form and in the religious tract, which is specially true of the Bible, given for the circulation of New Testaments and tracts in all the barracks of Moscow and other cities.

The work among the Moslems in Egypt is slowly but surely growing. The building has been opened on every ground is fast being prepared for the work. More than five hundred children and pupils are found in the schools of the American Mission alone. The force is driven to her bed. Thursday, 23d, the religious awakening is great, and many are professing faith in Christ. Thirteen of these were slaves, or have been. One is already gone where they will have no more pain. The disease improves, and where the Prince Immanuel has shown them his glory.

In Egypt, last year, when the cholera was at its worst, some wealthy merchants at Asyout met at night to gamble and drink. Suddenly the cry was heard: "Run, there is a fire!" They hurried to the scene of the fire, thinking some portions they could not understand, they said: "Run, there is a fire!" they could not understand, they said: "Run, there is a fire!" they could not understand, they said: "Run, there is a fire!"

THEIR NAME IS LEGION.

Legions of people have had their lives made miserable by Piles. This painful difficulty is often induced and always aggravated by Constipation. Kidney-Wort is the great remedy for all affections of this kind. It acts as a gentle cathartic, promotes a healthy action of the bowels, and soothes and heals the inflamed surfaces. It has cured hundreds of cases where all other remedies and applications have failed. Sold by all druggists.

It makes an editor mad to have word come up through the tube from the counting room that a lady is waiting to see him, and after tramping down six flights of stairs finds her to be only his wife after a ten dollar bill.

The meed of merit for promoting personal esthetics is due to J. C. Ayer & Co., whose incomparable Hair Vigor is a universal beautifier of the hair. Harmless, effective, agreeable, it has taken rank among the indispensable articles of the toilet. To scanty locks it gives luxuriance; and withered hair it clothes with the hue of youth.

It is said that the wives of all American humorists are lovable. We believe it. All writers have a way of taking home anything that they deem especially funny and reading it to their wives first. Poor things; no wonder they suffer.

The medical profession are slow (and rightly so) to endorse every new medicine that is advertised and sold; but honest merit convinces the fair minded after a reasonable time. Physicians in good standing often prescribe Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the cure of female weaknesses.

Washington men must be very stingy. At the grand receptions there very many of the ladies wear dresses which show very plainly that the makers did not have material enough to finish them at the top.

For constitutional or scrofulous catarrh, and for consumption indeed by the scrofulous taint, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the true remedy. It has cured numberless cases. It will stop the nauseous catarrhal discharges and remove the sickening odor of the breath, which are indications of scrofulous origin.

"Can you steer the mainmast down the forecastle stair?" ask a sea captain of a new hand. "Yes, sir, I can if you will stand below and coil it up." Captain didn't catechise that man any more.

Many medicines now on the market owe what virtue they possess to the presence of powerful and poisonous drugs. HUNT'S [Kidney and Liver] REMEDY is purely vegetable and will not injure the feeblest and most delicate person.

A Philadelphia man compels his daughter to eat onions every night for supper, and thus assures himself that he can shut the house at 10 o'clock without locking in a strange young man.

Don't let any one convince you that those pains around your heart are not heart disease, they are, do not delay but procure Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator. 30 years have proved its value.

An old seer predicted that an awful calamity was about to overtake an Indiana town, and the next day a man with a family of thirteen boys and four dogs moved in among them.

A good name at home is a tower of strength abroad. Ten times as much Hood's Sarsaparilla used in Lowell as of any other.

New York friends of Carl Schurz are raising a fund $100,000 for him.

Compare the dose and quantity of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and you have conclusive proof of its superior strength and cheapness. Try it.

"THE COLORED RACE WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE."

This is the title of a pamphlet written by Dr. C. K. Marshall, in reply to Dr. J. L. Tucker. These two able divines have both said what they think of the colored race, one for and the other against. Dr. Marshall's speech for the colored race is opposite to Dr. Tucker's. Only 25 cts. On sale at 631 Pine street, Philadelphia Pa.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

"CHURCH AND STATE,"

is the title of a lecture delivered by John D. Lewis, Esq., of the Philadelphia Bar, before the Literary and Historical Association of Bethel A. M. E. Church, Philadelphia, Pa. Read what is said of it:

"To John D. Lewis, Esq., member of the Philadelphia Bar, we are indebted for a pamphlet copy of the lecture—"Church and State,"—which he recently delivered before the Literary and Historical Association of Bethel Church. Lawyer Lewis is to be complimented for the industry shown in the preparation of this lecture."—CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

"J. D. Lewis, Esq., lectured on Tuesday evening, April — before the Bethel Literary and Historical Association. Subject—"The Church and State." The lecturer was not only eloquent but mastered his theme in a manner which exhibited a thorough knowledge of the classics."—Philadelphia Mercury.

"Church and State" is the title of a suggestive and practical lecture, published in pamphlet form, delivered before the Bethel Literary, of the city of Philadelphia, by J. D. Lewis, Esq., of the Philadelphia bar. Its price is placed at the very low sum of twenty-five cents. The suggestions contained in this pamphlet, as to the duty of the combined colored church, meet with our hearty commendation.—Washington People's Advocate.

JOHN D. LEWIS ESQ.,

My Dear Sir:—Your argument in the address entitled "Church and State," in behalf of concerted action by the churches of all creeds, to secure the political and social rights of the colored race in America, is admirably put. I agree with you that the voters of that race should not hold themselves as vassals of any political organization. You are right in calling upon your brethren to assert their claims to equal privileges of education, of the choice of occupation and of social and political advancement. I wish that your people could be made to realize the truth which you so forcibly illustrate, that they really hold the balance of power; and that they can, if they choose to use that power beneficently, secure the triumph of more than one needed reform.

W. N. ASHMAN.

EPISCOPAL ROOMS A. M. E. CHURCH }
March 21, 1884. }

DEAR DR. TANNER.—Will you state that because it will be inconvenient for the church at Newport, R. I., to entertain the conference at the time named—July 16th, this is to announce that it will necessitate the change of the time of meeting of all the conferences The New Jersey Conference will meet April 2nd; Philadelphia Conference, May 28th; New York Conference, June 4th; New England Conference, June 11th. All the places will remain as published except the New Jersey Conference. All the brethren of the several conferences will do their duty as per Discipline.

TO ALL THE LADIES OF THE MITE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Your mites must come in as before, full and plenty, Ladies, do your duty. I ask all the pastors' wives to call together the brethren and sisters of your husband's church and ask them to contribute, if but a "mite" to help our foreign mission work. The ladies of the Parent Society gave Secretary Townsend $160 as he passed through Philadelphia en route to England. Sixty dollars to have the Iron Church insured for one year, and one hundred dollars to be used towards the support of our mission in Hayti. By this contribution the treasury was depleted, except fifty dollars. This is to ask you to make an extra effort so as to enable the Mite Society to do its whole duty. Dr. Townsend is now in England and can do nothing until he returns in May, but our expenses go on. Brother Mossell, wife and child must be succored, must be fed, must be cared for. Will you not do your duty? All do their duty. Send your mites to Treasurer, Mrs. Bishop Campbell, No. 1923 N. 11th street, Philadelphia, Pa. Send by your husband or bring to the annual conference, the precise amount you collect and forward.

Yours affectionately,

J. M. BROWN.

C. T. Carroll, M. D., Cobden, Union Co., Ill. writes, Feb. 16th, 1881. I have been a practicing physician for twenty-nine years, and have had Asthma for twenty years. I had tried everything I could hear of, and made every possible effect to cure myself, but I must confess with poor success. Last July or August I sent for your remedies, and I must say they have proved an untold blessing. I have been as free from Asthma this winter as if I had never had it. I have not lost an hours sleep or a day's work while years before as I have suffered worse than death every fall and winter. When I began your remedies, I was like a drowning man catching at a straw. The New & Revised Edition

By WILLIAM STILL,

With a Life of the Author.

A large, handsomely printed, highly illustrated, and beautifully bound book, which explains the mysteries of THE UNDERGROUND RAILROAD and preserves the only records, made at the time, of the escapes of slaves and their heroic struggles to obtain freedom.

These records were faithfully taken from the lips of fugitives. Their making and preservation would have cost the life of the author had he been detected. They are therefore history which would have been lost but for the risk he took. And what wonderful, stirring, thrilling history, too! How it rounds out and completes the history of our country! How momentous it is to the colored race! It is their exodus from Egypt, their grand march through the wilderness, their entrance into Canaan. All would know it. All will know it.

This new Edition contains much matter not in the old, among which is a carefully prepared life of the Author, written and published at the request of many friends, and inserted in his book with the hope that it may encourage his brethren everywhere to do what man must do in order to succeed. The life also contains many pleasant allusions to the great anti-slavery leaders, such as Sumner, Wilson, Greeley, &c., and the abolition of their hand writing. In it are found, too, many bits of history which have never before seen the light, as, for instance, the escape of old John Brown's officers, and the way they got passage on the Underground Railroad to places of safety.

Any person wanting it (who may not be accessible to an agent) can send $4.50 in Money Order or Draft, and have it sent by mail, postage paid.

A commanding volume of 650 pages and 70 illustrations. A work which sells readily.

Agents wanted, with whom liberal terms will be made. There is money in it for energetic canvassers, male and female. Price, $4.50.

THEIR NAME IS LEGION.

Legions of people have had their lives made miserable by Piles. This painful difficulty is often induced and always aggravated by Constipation. Kidney-Wort is the great remedy for all affections of this kind. It acts as a gentle cathartic, promotes a healthy action of the bowels, and soothes and heals the inflamed surfaces. It has cured hundreds of cases where all other remedies and applications have failed. Sold by all druggists.

It makes an editor mad to have word come up through the tube from the printing room that a lady is waiting to see him, and after trampling down six flights of stairs finds her to be only his wife after a ten dollar bill.

The head of meritorious promoting personal esthetics is due to J. C. Ayer & Co., whose incomparable Hair Vigor is a universal beautifier of the hair. Harmless, effective, agreeable, it has taken rank among the indispensable articles of the toilet. To scanty locks it gives increase, to withered hair its clothes with the hue of youth.

It is said that the wives of all American bunnorists are lovable. We believe it. All writers have a way of saying something that they green especially funny and reading it to their wives first. Poor things; no wonder they suffer.

The medical profession are slow indeed to endorse every new medicine that is advertised and sold; but however most convince the fair minded of its merit in a reasonable time. Physicians in good standing often prescribe Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Both are sold by druggists.

Washington men must be very stingy. At the grand receptions there are many of the ladies wear dresses which show very plainly that the makers did not have material enough to finish them at the top.

For constitutional or scrofulous catarrh, and for consumption induced by scrofulous taint, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is the true remedy. It has cured numberless cases. It will stop the nauseous catarrhal discharges and remove the disgusting odor of the breath, which are the climax of scrofulous origin.

"Can you steer the salesman down the forecastle stair?" ask a sea captain of a new hand. "Yes, sir, I can do that as well as another," he said in reply. "Captain didn't catechise that man any more.

Many medicines now on the market owe what virtues they possess to the presence of alcohol and such worthless drugs. Hunt's [Kidney and Liver] Remedy is purely vegetable and will relieve the feeblest and most delicate person.

A Philadelphia man compels his daughter to eat an onion with her after supper, and thus assures himself that he can shut the house up to retire with the cat locked up to a strange young man.

Don't let any one convince you that these pains around your heels are not heart disease, because they are, do not dope, but procure Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator. 30 years have proved its value.

An old seer predicted that an awful calamity was about to overtake an Indiana town, and the next day a man with a family of thirteen boys and four dogs moved in among them.

A good name at home is a tower of strength abroad. Ever time a friend of Hood's Sarsaparilla need it Lowell us of any other.

New York friends of Carl Schurz are making a fund to build him a $100 000 for him.

Compare the dose and quantity of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and you have conclusive proof of its superior strength and cheapness. Try it.

"THE COLORED RACE WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE."

This is the title of a pamphlet written by Dr. C. K. Marshall, in reply to Dr. J. L. Tucker, which is a terse, able document, both find what they think of the colored race, one for and the other against. Dr. Marshall's speech for the colored race is opposite to Dr. Tucker's. Price 25 cts. Can be had at 631 Pine street, Philadelphia Pa.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are suffering from pain, cutting teeth. It is entirely safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste. It relieves the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It corrects acidity of the stomach, relieves the bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is the best known remedy for children's complaints, and we believe it the best remedy for any disease. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

"CHURCH AND STATE."

The title of a lecture delivered by John D. Lewis, Esq., of the Philadelphia Bar, before the Literary and Historical Association of Bethel A. M. E. Church, Philadelphia, Pa. Read what said of it:

"To John D. Lewis, Esq., member of the Philadelphia Bar, we are indebted for a pamphlet copy of the lecture, "Church and State,"—which he recently delivered before the Literary and Historical Association of Bethel Church. Lawyer Lewis is to be complimented for the industry shown in the preparation of this lecture."—CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

"J. D. Lewis, Esq., lectured on Tuesday evening, April — before the Bethel Literary and Historical Association. Subject—"The Church and State." The lecturer was not only eloquent but mastered his theme in a manner which exhibited a thorough knowledge of the classics."—Philadelphia Mercury.

"Church and State" is the title of a suggestive and practical lecture, published in pamphlet form, delivered before the Bethel Literary of the city of Philadelphia, by J. D. Lewis, Esq., of the Philadelphia bar. It is a work well placed at the very low sum of twenty-five cents. The suggestions contained in this pamphlet, as to the duty of the combined colored church, meet with our hearty commendation.—Washington People's Advocate.

JOHN D. LEWIS ESQ.,

My Dear Sir:—Your argument in the lecture on "Church and State," in behalf of concerted action by the churches of my people to secure their political and social rights of the colored race in America, is admirable. I agree with you that the voters of that race should not bold themselves as vassals to any political organization. You are right in calling upon your brethren to assert their claims to equal privileges of education, of the choice of occupation and of social advantages of every kind. I wish that your people could be made to realize the truth which you so forcibly illustrate, that they really hold the balance of power; and that they can, if they choose to vote independently, secure the triumph of more than one needed reform.

Yours truly,

J. M. GREGORY.

EPISCOPAL ROOMS A. M. E. CHURCH, March 21, 1884.

DEAR DR. TANNER.—Will you state that because it will be necessary for the church at Newport, R. I., to celebrate the conference at the time appointed, July 16th, 1884, is to announce that it will necessitate the change of the time of holding all the conferences. The New Jersey Conference will meet April 2d; Philadelphia Conference, May 28th; New York Conference, June 4th; New England Conference, June 11th, and the bishops will remain as published except the New Jersey Conference. All the brethren of the several conferences will do their duty as per Discipline.

My health is very poor at present, but I hope to be able to attend to the whole duty. Dr. Townsend is now in Europe and he will be home in May, but our pleasure go on. Brother Mossell, wife and child are improving, must be fed, must be cared for. Will you not do your duty? All do their duty. Send your mites to Treasurer, Mrs. Bishop Campbell, No. 1923 N. 11th street, Philadelphia, Pa. Send by your husband or bring to the annual conference, the precise amount you collect and forward.

Yours affectionately,

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Is it necessary to call the attention of all our Sunday schools to the fact that the day of the year devoted to them comes on the 5th Sunday in June? You think it is; and yet we remember Peter and say: "Yea, I think it meet as long as I am in the tabernacle, to stir you up by putting you in remembrance." The fact, then, to the importance of which we stir you up, is that Children's Day has been universally observed by the last Sunday of the present month. There are many reasons why this day should be universally observed by the "Children of the Church." One is the importance of the day to the children. Conceive, if you can, of anything more important to the spiritual than bringing them together and to the number of a full hundred thousand on the same day and have them go through the same exercises and drink in the same spirit!

And the second is the importance of the day, not to the children, but to the Church itself. The nobility of the heart it gives them at viewing the rising thousands of their Israel, Children's Day is important to the Church in that it comes to its help. Beyond all question the Church has many burdens to bear, and it is right and proper that the children should early be made aware of them; at least those portions of the burdens which relate to carrying on their own work. But the children of the Church can be made do more than this, as they ought to do. Properly collected and properly handled, they can be made to accomplish wonders for Christ and wonders for African Methodism.

Lastly, the importance of making this Children's Day generally successful, is to be seen in the fact that the General Conference has just adjourned, the Secretary, Rev. C. S. Smith, and all the people are full of love for the work, let them be disappointed. On the contrary, let the Sunday schools everywhere show forth the strength that is in them.

WILLIAM PAUL QUINN COLLEGE —TRIP ACROSS THE PLAINS

Our trip to Waco was one of much and high pleasure. To cross the verdant and fiorel plains of Missouri, Kansas, Indian Territory and Texas, in June is recreative and profitable. The Missouri Pacific Railroad does not force its colored patrons into separate coaches. Thirteen hundred miles with but two changes, eight hundred without change, is a good arrangement for traveling. To travel twenty hundred miles immediately from General Conference, deliver three or four addresses, study the status and powers of a college, examine many of its classes, etc., all within seven days, is talk work. This we did, and returned to dear old Wilberforce to dish into the cares and responsibilities of commencement week.

William Paul Quinn College is a college of great possibilities. With proper management it may be made easily and early a very powerful school. The faculty is composed of Bishop R. H. Lide, D.D., President, I. M. Burgan, B. D., Principal, Miss E. A. Gaines, principal Normal Department, and Miss Lizzie Adams, lady principal and matron. The last three constitute the active teaching faculty. They are doing a highly commendable work. They govern with grace and firmness and teach with clearness and power. Their classes passed examinations with credit to themselves and their teachers. In one of the history examinations, (written) the question was asked, "What is history?" Student replied on his paper, "A vexation to my soul." The pupils are as promising as an equal number of native promising Americans. Their examination papers were almost perfect in penmanship and orthography and very good respecting the respective subjects considered. The beautiful State of Texas could supply William Paul Quinn with five hundred students as early as fifty if really prepared and provided for. The Lone Star State has many thousands of children suffering and longing for education. The educational department of the Connection will have a great, a glorious work to do. By its efforts William Paul Quinn ought to receive at least an average of $10,000 per annum. How this would cheer the workers and accelerate the work. If we as a church delay long, our chances will grow, our opportunities of success cannot always be what they now are.

Prof. Brooks is managing Tillotson Institute in Austin, Texas, with success. There are two or three other schools for colored persons in the State, but they are altogether too weak to meet the State's demands.

In a short time we shall publish the sermon preached by Rev. W. H. Roberts at the William Paul Quinn College Sabbath evening, and also the many facts relative to Texas. Being pressed with the duties of the season at Wilberforce University, we must refrain at present.

T.

A WORD TO COLORED DEMOCRATS.

Despite the fact that a colored Democrat is somewhat of a rara avis, yet are they sufficiently numerous to receive some attention. That there should be men of this class both in the North and in the South, is in no sense surprising. In the North no little color prejudice exists even among republicans; in the South so little we-are-your-best-friend doctrine may be heard. The result is one and the same—colored men become made. The word we wish to say to those of our brethren who have either been driven or coaxed to the verge of leaving the Republican party, whether in the North and coaxed in the South—Is: DO NOT FAIL TO DISTINGUISH BETWEEN PRINCIPLES AND PARTIES. Democracy is a shocking necessary, if we as a people would not become a cipher in the politics of our section and our country. We want distinguished between the party and the men who compose it; for potency is of a party and not of individuals. Individually there may be but few Democrats who stand above a mere republican. Indeed, the democrat is often the better man—that is, he is the more ready of the two to give work, and there is no phase of our career more important to us than this very question of work. But, as we have said, it is not in men but to parties that allegiance is owed. This being the case, the second word we would say to our colored democratic brethren is: Count not the two victories. First, compare their history; second, compare their rule when in authority; third, compare their probable future.

The history of the two parties is so well known that it is scarcely necessary for us to say a word. Even democrats themselves do not deny that it is had ose se it relates to the colored people; and when a man pleads guilty, prosecution is at an end.

But we come to the second: Compare their rule when in authority. It is to be said that while the Democrats plead guilty as to the past, they strenuously insist that as it relates to us, they are all right now—at least this is what their friends say to us when they are seeking our votes than they say it for themselves. But let us test the assertion by whomsoever made, by the facts in the case, and see if there is not a reason for the religion where the Democrats hold sway. The Democratic party rule the South, the Republican party the Government. Now, to this end detail it is only necessary to take a glance at the two sections, and it will be seen which of the two is to be taken as the more friendly toward us.

Only a word is necessary as to the third: Compare their future. The Democratic party has been bad in the past, it is bad now. The probabilities are it will be bad in the future—at least it will take another generation to purge it.

In conclusion, we say, we are anxious that those of our people who may feel inclined to vote the Democratic ticket shall consider and decide upon that the Democratic Conference has just adjourned, the Secretary, Rev. C. S. Smith, and all the people are full of love for the work, let them be disappointed. On the contrary, let the Sunday schools everywhere show forth the strength that is in them.

WILLIAM PAUL QUINN COLLEGE —TRIP ACROSS THE PLAINS

Our trip to Waco was one of much and high pleasure. To cross the verdant and fiorel plains of Missouri, Kansas, Indian Territory and Texas, in June is recreative and profitable. The Missouri Pacific Railroad does not force its colored patrons into separate coaches. Thirteen hundred miles with but two changes, eight hundred without change, is a good arrangement for traveling. To travel twenty hundred miles immediately from General Conference, deliver three or four addresses, study the status and powers of a college, examine many of its classes, etc., all within seven days, is talk work. This we did, and returned to dear old Wilberforce to dish into the cares and responsibilities of commencement week.

William Paul Quinn College is a college of great possibilities. With proper management it may be made easily and early a very powerful school. The faculty is composed of Bishop R. H. Lide, D.D., President, I. M. Burgan, B. D., Principal, Miss E. A. Gaines, principal Normal Department, and Miss Lizzie Adams, lady principal and matron. The last three constitute the active teaching faculty. They are doing a highly commendable work. They govern with grace and firmness and teach with clearness and power. Their classes passed examinations with credit to themselves and their teachers. In one of the history examinations, (written) the question was asked, "What is history?" Student replied on his paper, "A vexation to my soul." The pupils are as promising as an equal number of native promising Americans. Their examination papers were almost perfect in penmanship and orthography and very good respecting the respective subjects considered. The beautiful State of Texas could supply William Paul Quinn with five hundred students as early as fifty if really prepared and provided for. The Lone Star State has many thousands of children suffering and longing for education. The educational department of the Connection will have a great, a glorious work to do. By its efforts William Paul Quinn ought to receive at least an average of $10,000 per annum. How this would cheer the workers and accelerate the work. If we as a church delay long, our chances will grow, our opportunities of success cannot always be what they now are.

Prof. Brooks is managing Tillotson Institute in Austin, Texas, with success. There are two or three other schools for colored persons in the State, but they are altogether too weak to meet the State's demands.

In a short time we shall publish the sermon preached by Rev. W. H. Roberts at the William Paul Quinn College Sabbath evening, and also the many facts relative to Texas. Being pressed with the duties of the season at Wilberforce University, we must refrain at present.

T.

A WORD TO COLORED DEMOCRATS.

Despite the fact that a colored Democrat is somewhat of a rara avis, yet are they sufficiently numerous to receive some attention. That there should be men of this class both in the North and in the South, is in no sense surprising. In the North no little color prejudice exists even among republicans; in the South so little we-are-your-best-friend doctrine may be heard. The result is one and the same—colored men become made. The word we wish to say to those of our brethren who have either been driven or coaxed to the verge of leaving the Republican party, whether in the North and coaxed in the South—Is: DO NOT FAIL TO DISTINGUISH BETWEEN PRINCIPLES AND PARTIES. Democracy is a shocking necessary, if we as a people would not become a cipher in the politics of our section and our country. We want distinguished between the party and the men who compose it; for potency is of a party and not of individuals. Individually there may be but few Democrats who stand above a mere republican. Indeed, the democrat is often the better man—that is, he is the more ready of the two to give work, and there is no phase of our career more important to us than this very question of work. But, as we have said, it is not in men but to parties that allegiance is owed. This being the case, the second word we would say to our colored democratic brethren is: Count not the two victories. First, compare their history; second, compare their rule when in authority; third, compare their probable future.

The history of the two parties is so well known that it is scarcely necessary for us to say a word. Even democrats themselves do not deny that it is bad ose se it relates to the colored people; and when a man pleads guilty, prosecution is at an end.

But we come to the second: Compare their rule when in authority. It is to be said that while the Democrats plead guilty as to the past, they strenuously insist that as it relates to us, they are all right now—at least this is what their friends say to us when they are seeking our votes than they say it for themselves. But let us test the assertion by whomsoever made, by the facts in the case, and see if there is not a reason for the religion where the Democrats hold sway. The Democratic party rule the South, the Republican party the Government. Now, to this end detail it is only necessary to take a glance at the two sections, and it will be seen which of the two is to be taken as the more friendly toward us.

Only a word is necessary as to the third: Compare their future. The Democratic party has been bad in the past, it is bad now. The probabilities are it will be bad in the future—at least it will take another generation to purge it.

FROM one of our exchanges we clip the following:

The conduct of Bishop Andrews when visiting a Methodist mission in India is worthy of notice. Caste is in that land still all but omnipotent. The Bishop noticed that at a service "the native brethren occupied back seats waiting until their teachers and superiors returned from the altar." The Bishop would not be a party to the creation of a fresh caste, and called them forward, boldly saying: "In Christ Jesus there is neither Jew nor Greek, Barbarian, Scythian, bond or free." Christianity derives much of its vitality from such fearless utterances and from the constant conduct of such men as Bishop Andrews.

By all means let Bishop Andrews be assigned to work in the South, the cradle of our country. A few doses of the kind referred to above would work well.

The People's Encyclopœdia, of which Dr. Pay le editor, assisted largely by the most prominent men of Europe and America, and of which Mr. F. A. Davis, 1217 Filbert street, Philadelphia, is General Manager for this section of the country, is invaluable; especially so in view of the fact that all the topics treated are brought down to date. We have examined it and commend to the work, after having used it for quite a year. There is scarcely any fact likely to be needed by those who fill either the bible or the newspaper, but may be found in this volume. We say to our brethren of the ministry: If you would consult your own interests, buy Dr. De Pay le's Encyclopœdia, F. A. Davis, General Manager, Phila. T.

PRESIDING Eldership in the Philadelphia Conference is already entrenched in the affections of the people. The meeting of the Southern District, held in Wilmington last week, was exceedingly pleasant, ministers and laymen vieing with each other in seeing to it that Presiding Elder Bishop's every wish was met. The meeting of the Northern District was held at Lancaster. Of its doings we have not heard. We have no doubt that the Presiding Elder Potts will find himself as pleasantly surrounded as did Brother Sloby. T.

President B. T. Lee, of Wilberforce, succeeds Rev. B. T. Tanner as editor of the Christian Recorder. The latter, who has edited the Recorder for sixteen years, takes charge of the Book Publishing office at Charlestown, S. C., and edits the new Quarterly Magazine. Our excellent coadjutor, the Cleveland Gazette, does not often go astray. But this time it wanders sadly. B. P. Lee, if you please; while Rev. Paul Jefferson is about it, he can edit a church publication office at Charleston, S. C." T.

Notes on Education.

The Commencement exercises of Hayden College will take place on July 9. The college has recovered from the shock of Dr. De Koven's death and under the wise and able leadership of the president, the Rev. Dr. Albert Zabriskie Gray, it is entering upon a long career of usefulness.

The trustees of Leicester Academy, at Leicester, Mass., are arranging for the centennial celebration of the institution on September 4th, 1884. This is one of the oldest academies in New England, and many of its pupils have become distinguished in every walk of life. Former pupils who may desire to be present are requested to send their names and addresses to Mr. Charles A. Denny, Leicester, Mass.

The Tuskegee Normal School, in Tuskegee, Ala., which was established in 1881 for the education of colored people, has entered upon a successful career under the guidance of Professor B. T. Washington. Industrial training is a prominent feature of the school. Carpentering, brickmaking, carpentry, printing and harnessing are taught there for the girls. To these blacksmithing, tinsmithing, shoemaking, painting and broom-making will be added. The institution has been aided by the Legislature of Alabama, the State Board, and donations from friends North and South. It holds best acres of land, on which are erected a building. Fall in 1879, at a cost of $5,000. During the present summer an effort will be made to erect a 50 by 80 foot log which will be known as Alabama Hall. It will cost about $10,000, of which $6,000 has already been raised.

The Baltimore Sun in reviewing the last year's work of the Schools of Art and Design at the Maryland Institute, calls attention to the need of such schools, and the eagerness with which the people avail themselves of them. "The seven hundred and forty-one pupils," it says, "in the day and night schools of the Maryland Institute show how far up in the hill these schools are filling a need, and how pressing that need is. But what is the limitation of the doing for the good of what it could do if its practical usefulness were understood? The number of what President Gilman designated as 'hundred' were extended. The material supplied has been given to our Institute schools has been so much greater than the need, and the greater they should have accomplished so much with such comparatively little resources. In looking at the drawings on the walls no one could fail of noticing the evidently thorough system of instruction which had led the students by successive steps to the best achievements in drawing and designing up to the higher stages of fine art and coloring. The teachers have been embarrassed for want of many things that are absolutely essential to the proper conduct of such schools."

According to the last school census, 16,307 children of school age in San Francisco did not attend any school last year. The Evening Call, of San Francisco, declares that the question now before the Department of Education in California is whether they will have primary schools shall continue to exist. "Either the primary schools," it says, "or the advanced schools must suffer, unless there is an increase in the school fund. Not only have new school houses to be built, but more teachers must be employed. The high schools are already too crowded. Doubtless if the teachers' salaries were adjusted on the basis of the work done, some economy might be made in the present expenditure. Thousands of dollars are paid out each year on the grade of the certificate. Teachers who come up, and with substantially the same results, yet one draws more salary than the other on the strength of holding a higher grade certificate. If the Board would set itself resolutely to the work of adjusting salaries according to the work done, there would be a good deal saved, and increase the school fund so as to meet the real needs of all school districts. The second schools would without doubt be continued in their present efficiency if the matter were left to the payers. The School Department is about the last in which a too rigid economy should be enforced."

THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOL CONVENTION.

A LARGE GATHERING—AN INTERESTING GATHERING.

BY OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.

The fourth triennial session of the International Sunday School Convention took place in Louisville, Ky., commencing Wednesday, May 14th, 1884, and continuing to the 13th. Every State in the Union was represented, and to favor an arch-episcopacy for his country, Rev. H. Clay Trumbull, of all cere monial paraphernalia that belongs to this theory. The question of confirmation, which has been mooted in the late Baltimore Conference, and is known to have at least a few strong advocates. These things tend to induce the inquiry whether the tend of the African Methodist Episcopal Church is not quietly it may be slowly but surely, toward the Episcopacy. At least the Rev. He formed Episcopal Church. It may be that there is a hierarchy of third order in ordersm running through its organic constitution by reason of its original connection with Methodism. Bishop Turner is a man of strong convictions and strong courage. He will write his views in the Magazine of his Church in the future, and we shall read them with his accustomed ability. He is likely to be hotly contested, New York, for instance. We say to the colored voters of the Empire State: Before you vote for a Democratic ticket, satisfy yourselves as to its history, its present rule in the South, and its probable future. T.

REFERRING to the action of the Methodist Episcopal General Conference, the New Orleans Colored Methodist (M. E. Church, South) says:

Doubtless that sounds well up North, but they do not, and will not, practice it in the South. All their conferences, churches and schools, south of the Ohio river, are divided on the color-line, so that they have two conferences and two churches covering the same territory, and often as unfraternal as they are with other churches. They resent the equality of the race, and talk it in their papers, but when it comes to practice, whether line of procedure suits their policy best. Brethren, take a position and stick to it. Practice the morality of the races or quit preaching it. Consistency is a jewel only when it is consistent.

We have italized the sentence to which we object. It has never been customary for the ministers of the Church to stop preaching truths that neither they nor their hearers practiced. On the contrary they kept hammering away. The fact is the virtue preached most always be higher than the virtue practiced, else where the need of preaching?

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

BY "TURNER."

The convention opened at 10 A. M. Rev. E. T. Green conducted the devotional exercises. Rev. H. Simmons conducted the singing. Rev. Wilson Williams was presided at the organ. Rev. D. A. Wilkerson was elected temporary chairman and T. Mitchell Secretar".

After the committee on credentials was read, the following persons were examined for the permanent organization: Rev. H. Simmons, Rev. W. Williams, Rev. J. Davis, Rev. E. P. Moore, Rev. S. McDowell, and Mrs. Bell Fields, Miss Presidents. Miss M. A. Fields, Secretary; Mr. J. W. Hardee, Assistant Secretary; Mrs. William Lee, Treasurer. Most of the delegates were present at the morning session.

The report of the District Superintendent was read and adopted. The report of the Board of Education was read and adopted. The report of the Sunday school report showed that he had not visited as many schools. The progress of each of the delegates were very entertaining. The report of the Sparkling Fountain Sunday school was very pleasing, and his plea for the convention, though couched in a few words, was full of pathos. The convention seemed to rise as with one voice and say we will go, and so it was decreed. The report from the first church at the capitol was sent back to the committee. The Rev. Dr. Lee and adjourning was decided upon. The next session address was Rev. Dr. Lee, of Wilmington, Del. The address was very fine and the diction of the same. The Rev. Dr. spoke of the city of Decatur as being noted for its mental and moral excellence. In the evening Rev. Dr. welcomed the delegates to their home and said that it would be all right and for while here working for the Lord. The address was responded to by the Rev. Dr. Lee, Rev. D. A. Moore and S. McDowell. Rev. Moore, said, "This is the first time I have had the pleasure of meeting with the Sunday schools of the Connection, and I do, of the hospitality of its citizens, I could make a better response to the address of welcome to which we have come here to work in the interest of the Sunday school cause. I believe in the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, because I believe in Christ in my prayer."

Rev. Wilson Lowell said: "I am glad to be present and rejoice that we are making progressing; we have made much since we met last and let us continue to labor that our influence may be felt wherever man is found. Let us take fresh courage and go forward, and when we leave here let us leave to meet in heaven, if not before."

Rev. J. C. Crawder, Esq., a temperance worker, was introduced and made a few remarks. He said: "I am glad to be present, some of the best temperance workers in the city. Come out and be with us in the good work.

THE FUTURE OF THE NEGRO.

It would require the hand of a statesman and the vision of a prophet to lead us to tell with certainty what will be the ultimate result of the social and political life of the allied races. The problem of these qualifications has been a constant source of trouble and confusion here long relegated to the rear. That such talent and culture exist, is to be doubted. Every effort should be made to do service in the work of further uplifting of the race, the men of the present General Conference (1884) believe. The Editor, therefore, takes pleasure in presenting to the press and prospective scholars among us. His aim has been to sell, and subscribe now. His sake them to give it their influence. We commend to their notice and best thoughts.

The first number, the material for which is now on hand, will appear in a few weeks. The editor takes occasion to say that in the future he will not accept a paper from his own pen, on "The Episcopacy of To-day," pertinent to the debates which have taken place during the present session.

In the magazine, for the present, will be issued quarterly, and will contain articles on Theology, Science, Philosophy, Sociology, Biography, etc. The price will be $1.50 per annum. To increase the value of it to its readers, it will be an unsectarian publication. The highest interest pervades the Church generally, there will appear in each number an able sermon preached by the ablest homiletician of the Church.

Rev. J. C. Price, Editor and Publisher.

In undertaking this new work of the Church, we feel that God directed, determined, under God, to make it a success, we solicit the same co-operation which was awarded to us while editing the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We are not asking favors, but that in our new work is on a higher plane than the one we have left. Brethren, help us to do more to call, and to call loudly, for help at the hands of the scholarly men of the Church, and at least to our country at large. As declared in the press on, our colored people must be recognized, not by ourselves only, but by the world. To this end we toil and to this end it will devote its energies.

Send for a sample, and for the support of all.

FROM FORT WORTH, TEXAS.

MR. EDITOR:—Please allow space for a few words from Fort Worth Section. Our Conference will meet in the city the second Sunday in December. I could not raise at corporal guard in the summer time, as it pays to be out on roll nearly one hundred scholars. We have a nice church edifice, but in the night of the 10th with the coronation of the queen, which was a great success. We have purchased a fine banner for the school and are preparing to buy an organ. We have a very thriving Sunday school with eight officers and teachers, and a temperance Journal by the third quarter, and also the Child's Recorder. We are getting ready for the publishing work the 1st of July. Texas needs is good men for the work. Texas work has been greatly damaged by bad men, but the Lord is good to us out here.

BAD TREATMENT SOUTH.

BY A.N. RIDGES.

MR. EDITOR: I thought I would give the public a few facts about the way poor colored people are treated in the South. Not long ago myself and my worthy presiding elder, Rev. A. H. Newton, went to Bear Creek Camp Brief, in this State, to take a short ride, but we were not allowed before the conductor ordered us to the front coach, a rough, dirty-looking old car, where all the smoke of the engine, and all the smoking car, but I call it the negro car, for I have never seen a white man in it. long ago a brakeman in Texas was mortified because he made room for some colored people in the first class car. Colored men, after paying full fare, are shut in the dog to the smoking car, and not only men but some of our most refined women. Then we have a gentleman above to know that we would not be driven like brutes. We have no one to look after our white friends cannot even stand our appearance? Are we outcasts or babboons, or are we in the age of satan? No, I say the devil as a white man, and some of our white friends more represent their master, the devil.

A poor colored woman was thrown from a train and left alone in the woods for darkness about and got to Memphis as best she could. What shall we do? Shall we be driven like brutes and not demand our rights? No, never. I am in the South, but I say let us be men and demand our rights. Let us allow our wives and daughters to be insulted by white men. Let us come up and stand together and show that we love our wives and children as well as the white race do. The dest

ASTRICTO MORTEM.—Mr. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are teething with the first symptom of pain or disorder. If prompt attention is given, and the proper remedy used, the little sufferer will be relieved at once. MANAGER.

THE NEW PRESIDENT OF WILBERFORCE.

Professor S. T. Mitchell, A. M., Presbyterian minister and President-elect of Wilberforce University, is about 36 years old. He was educated in the mere primary grades in the Cleveland schools. He entered the sub-academic department of Wilberforce University in 1864, the same year in which ex-President Lee entered. He graduated from the Classical Department in 1872, with the late Mary E. Yeiser, Mrs. Julia A. Knight, Mrs. Mary E. Lee and Mr. A. D. Delany, valedictorian of his class. In the fall of 1872 he was made principal of the colored school in Springfield, Ohio. This position he held with success and honor till after his election to the much more honorable position of President of Wilberforce University. Mr. Mitchell was converted at Wilberforce in 1866. His life has been irreproachable. He has acquired property to the value of $7,000. In 1876 he was married to Miss Malvina Fairfax, formerly a student of Wilberforce University; one of the realists in the trio, Ethel Lee, Charles Semmes and "Baby."

President Mitchell is keen, scholarly and attentive to business. He has proven a highly successful instructor. The University never stood upon more favorable ground than to-day. No young man has shown himself more deeply interested in Wilberforce than he during the past ten years. The members of the late General Conference will remember the earnestness, application and devotion with which he pushed his educational bill, establishing a department of education in the Church. But for his tact and assiduity, we should not have even a paper for the Church to flounder through another quadrennium, paying no organized attention to the great subject of education.

We commend Wilberforce University to all persons seeking an education. The Faculty elect is as follows: President, S. T. Mitchell, A. M.; Vice-President, J. P. Shorter, A. M.; Prof. W. S. Scarborough, LL.D.; Rev. T. G. Steward, D. D., and Mrs. A. J. Steward. Mrs. Steward has not signified his acceptance. We sincerely hope he will do so. There remain two vacancies to be filled. Having been associated with the University twenty years, we feel a deep interest in its welfare. We shall say more on this subject at another time.

NOTHING gives us more pleasure than to note the broad liberality of our esteemed townsman, Levi Cromwell, who daily dines the little ones attending the Sabbath-school, at No. 28 St. Mary street. Such exhibitions of charity on the part of our well-to-do men is the rare, speak volumes. When will imitate Mr. Cromwell in other directions?

Personal.

—Mrs. Sarah Mabery, a colored lady, was ejected from a car on the East Tennessee road because she refused to ride on riding in a first-class car because she had a first-class ticket, sued for damages, and on Saturday was awarded $5,000.

—The many friends of Miss Cora Smith, daughter of Peter H. Clark, of Cincinnati, will be pleased to learn that in graduating from the Massachusetts University school of Medicine, in Boston, she obtained the highest average per cent.—and was awarded the highest prize, forty dollars in gold. Miss Clark was the only colored member of a class of thirty-four, and had to contend with graduates from Eastern colleges. Every man who captured the second prize is a graduate of Howard College. We keep looking along. All these evidences of ability on the part of our people tell in the race for full equality.—[Exchange.

—The General Conference of the A. M. E. Church closed its session in Baltimore week before last, and among its acts it ordered the publication of a Quarterly Magazine, with Dr. B. T. Tanner as editor. This Christian gentleman and scholar will be missed from the editorial chair of the General Conference, but the General Conference having sought to promote him, has given Prof. B. F. Lee, D.D., the editor's chair so long and gracefully filled by Dr. Tanner. The readers of the Recorder are acquainted with the gifted pen of Prof. Lee, and we hope he and it will not many fill the measure of expectation, and, as chosen agents, prove a wisdom of the General Conference. May the cause of education and religion prosper mightily in their hands. —Va. Star.

Church News.

Rev. W. H. Yeocum, (Camden, N. J.): "The basement walls of the new Macedonia A. M. E. Church are finished, and the work goes on gratifully. Our contractor says if you know of any one that has from $500 to $600, to "lay" on good security, please let me know at your earliest convenience."

Rev. H. Johnson, (Concord, Fla.): "I have just closed a glorious revival which resulted in 21 converts. Spirits ran high and we all live by it. My Sunday school is waking up and we are having a good time. My congregation is coming to the front, and I will soon be out of debt. We owe $1,450, which will be paid in a month."

Rev. David Levis, (Greenburg, Pa.): "Greenburg has been a long time without a church and has labored under some disadvantages, and now by the help of God and the assistance of my Christian and the trustees and pastor, we have been able to build a little church which was dedicated on the 18th day of May, by the Rev. J. M. Mortis, Philadelphia, and the church is called Bethel, the house of God."

Notes on Education.

The Kindergarten of Boston have been prosperous during the past year.

Northield Seminary, an institution of Christian training founded by D. L. Moody, sent out its first class of young women to-day. The institution is said to be in a flourishing condition, and is so crowded with pupils that new buildings will have to be erected.

President Thomas Bicknell, of the National Education Association, has issued a call from Madison, Wis., where the meeting of the association will take place next month. He says that all the preliminary arrangements are nearly complete. The meeting will be held in one of the largest and most important meetings of the kind ever held in the country, more than 300 teachers will attend from New England alone.

Joaquin Miller is anxious to get his name enrolled on the list of studies in the public schools. This is what he says about it: "I attended court the other day," he says, "in a civil case, and the young lawyer who conducted the suit of the present by his ignorance of the simplest principles of the case. In the audacity of a young lawyer leaning back and asking the witness to go on with his story. 'Go down to the back-plane?' It cost him his case. Of course the fellow was a fool, and went to probably Jefferson City, Missouri. But you can clearly see how much better it would be if he could have studied grammar. I, indeed, to know about all mechanics, if that knowledge could be connected as it should be in school exercise during his school days."

The Kindergarten is felt throughout the country generally in the recent changes in the curriculum of Harvard University. Beginning with next year, the study of the Greek language and literature will be no longer required studies for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. This change is the outcome of a series of conferences with the general policy of Harvard for the last twenty years. The question was first raised before the Board of Overseers by Professor Child, chairman of the committee on elective studies. This policy has gradually commended itself to the college authorities by its results, that they are now entirely willing to make a further advance in the same direction. It will be interesting to see how far this policy will meet the needs of modern life, and whether the study of Latin and Greek will be pursued when they are placed on the list of electives.

A correspondent of the Christian Union writes a good word to say about the so-called Greek Letter Societies of American Colleges. "A feature of college life," he says, "which I have watched with considerable interest during the past seven years is found chiefly as seen at Amherst, is the development of four of them have buildings of their own; two or three more, building which I expect to see built in time, completing a very pretty club house on a commanding site on a hill, looking down across the meadows toward Old Hadley and the Connecticut River. Neither of Amherst is to guide, not repress; it has pursued this policy toward the several societies [fraternities] as some thing may be said of Williams College); and under this guidance they have grown to be valuable and serviceable elements to the college life. These club-houses are furnished with reading rooms and parlors; it will not be long before the libraries; and there they have under their roof sleeping accommodations for most of their members. Here homes and society building are gradually taking the place of fraternities, where dirt and noise abound, and where the miscellaneous herding of young men tended to coarseness and to barbarism and certainly not to study. I never saw more earnest university myself; but my observation of their practical effect on the undergraduate, as well as a number of instances in Amherst during the past six years, has made me a convert to their value, as organized and operated there."

ALLEN UNIVERSITY.

BY REV. C. PIERCE NELSON.

MR. EDITOR:—You will please allow space in your inestimable journal for the following, believing, as we do, that the people of great Israel do down here in the old Palmetto State—South Carolina.

In accordance with the charter, the Trustees of Allen University met in annual session in the old city of Columbia, in the University building, on Tuesday, June 10th, 1884, in the absence of the President, the Rt. Rev. D. A. Payne, D.D., LL.D., Rev. J. C. Embry, D.D., Rev. W. H. Thomas, David Walker, D.D., Wm. M. Thomas, David Pickett, Hiram Young, Silas Henry Jefferson, Norman R. Sterrett, Richard E. Wall, C. Pierce Nelson, Hon. P. A. Straker, LL. B., Hon. J. W. Morris, A. B., LL. B.

The business transacted by the Board was first receiving the reports of the Secretary and Treasurer, and in addition to the same. Total receipts for the year commencing October 8th, 1883 to June 10th, 1884, $4055.42, which was used in paying off teachers and the indebtedness on the property. The election of officers resulted as follows: For President, Rt. Rev. D. A. Payne, D.D., LL.D.; Rev. C. Pierce Nelson; Treasurer, Rev. Hiram Young; President of the Faculty, Rev. J. C. Waters; Secretary of the Faculty, Prof. J. W. Morris; Dean of the Law Department, Hon. P. A. Straker. The important business having been finished, the Board adjourned sine die.

Commencement Day of Allen University was ushered in by Bethel A. M. E. Church, corner Sumter and Taylor streets, Columbia, S. C., on Thursday, June 12, at 11 a. m. The students, Faculty and Trustees met in the chapel on Sumter street between Laurel and Lumber streets, and from thence marched down to the church, in order, the Faculty, second, the Trustees, third, the students. The order of worship was then duly conducted by Prof. J. W. Morris. Upon the platform were Hi. Rev. D. A. Payne, the well gone and grandfather; Wm. M. Thomas, Hiram Young, S. H. Jefferson, Rev. W. H. Thomas, David Pickett, N. R. Sterrett, Profs. J. W. Morris, D. Augustus Straker, Revs. Wm. Finley, Wm. Clark, Hon. M. C. Johnson, J. J. Durham and Mr. Rideout. Rev. Wm. Clark, presiding elder of the Columbia district, was then introduced to us at a glance that he was the right man in the right place. To-night Light as professor, wrong is not being President of Allen University, whose name would have the unanimous vote of the trustees for the presidency of our institution of learning at Columbia on the 24th of July, 1884.

President Payne had made his arrival and departure before our arrival, but all along his pathway we could gather the fragrance of goodness which fragrance and are being esteemed by all who had the good fortune to meet him. We were much disappointed at not meeting with him, but we were glad to learn that he was in advance of our most liberal expectations. The recitations, essays, orations, declamations, music, etc., were evidences of much expenditure of time and patient labor in their preparation and delivery, reflecting great credit upon Professor Burgan, Miss Gaines and their assistants.

On Monday evening, the Payne Literary Society, which was founded with the institution, gave every one an intellectual treat in a brilliant exhibition. Many of the parents, guardians and friends of the students were present. The programme was good, so good, in fact, that I can say now that he has fallen asleep in Christ.

Rev. Matthew Simpson was born in Cadiz, O., June 20, 1811. If he had been living he would no longer be young, been seventy-three years of age. In his native town he received an academic education, and afterward attended Madison College, Pennsylvania (now merged into Allegheny College), at which the presidency that at the age of eighteen years he was a tutor there. Subsequently he studied medicine, and, taking his degree, began to practice in 1833. But his heart was not in it, and he was licensed to preach, and received on trial in the Pittsburg Conference in 1837. In 1839 he was made President and Professor of Natural Science in Asbury University, and in 1840 was elected President of the Indiana Asbury University. In 1844 he was made Editor of the Western Christian Advocate, and in 1852 was elected Bishop. In all these offices, and as Senior Bishop, he achieved distinguished and solid success. As a Bishop, while some of his colleagues equaled him in all points except eloquence, and one or two in one quality or another may have surpassed him, take him all in all, he has had no peer within the memory of men now living among the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

In 1867 he went abroad under two important commissions: Delegate to the Wesleyan Conference and to the Evangelical Alliance at Berlin. On this occasion he extended his travels through Turkey, Egypt, Greece and Russia. In 1870 he was again a delegate to the Wesleyan Conference. In 1872 and 1876 he was delegate to the Ecumenical Conference from the United States. In 1874 he was a delegate to the Conference at Lausanne again. His visit to the Ecumenical Conference is fresh in the memories of the Church.

His introductory discourse on the occasion, judged by the intellectual standard, was one of the best productions of his life, and its delivery was pleasing and effective. Its plan, however, did not afford scope for the peculiar powers of the orator. In various sermons and addresses throughout England, Bishop Simpson rose to full power. His quiet and repose, his pathos and tenderness, his graphic and telling description of those who had heard Wesley in the pulpit, his power to impress the character of immortality upon class and prayer-meetings. The Sabbath school should be established. Our glorious work is one of grace. A Bible class for adults, and a Bible class for children, under the most competent person, should be organized in each church. No pastor should be satisfied without a revival of religion in his church.

The pastors and the Church must not be satisfied without an institution of learning. A matters not how humble the beginning, such a school should be established. Our glorious work is one of grace. A little class for adults, and a little

SOLID COMFORT.

Every day we likes to take solid comfort and it may be enjoyed by everyone who keeps Kidney-Wort in the house and takes a few doses at the first symptoms of an attack of Malaria, Rheumatism, Biliousness, Jaundice or any affection of the Liver, Kidneys or Bowels. It is a purely vegetable compound of roots, leaves and barries known to have special value in kidney troubles. Added to these are tonics acting directly on the Liver and Bowels. It removes the cause of disease and fortifies the system against new attack.

A merry exchange illustrates the consistency of woman by the two facts that she will placidly open a can of salmon with her husband's razor and yet fly into a sort of wild, weird, poetic fenzy when she sees her husband endeavoring to remove a sewn from a shirtie with her best embroidery scissors.

No injurious effects can follow the use of Ayer's Ague Cure in the treatment of malarial diseases. It may, besides a specific, seed unfailing antidote for miasmatic poison, clear from the system whatever impurities the Sapsel has engendered, by which the poisonous humors, purify the system, and leave it a healthy and reinvigorated condition.

"Doctor," said the greasiful patient seizing the physician's hand, "I shall never forget that to you I owe my life. "You exaggerate," said the doctor modestly, "you only owe me your last visits; that is the point which I hope you will not fail to remember."

HUNT'S Kidney and Liver REMEDY is no "hit or miss" compound or old woman's mixture. It is prepared by a scientific pharmacist, with a full knowledge of the powers and virtues of each ingredient in the class of diseases which it cures. It is purely vegetable and can not harm the youngest child or the most feeble invalid.

A camel will work for seven or eight days without drinking. In this he differs from some men, who will drink for seven or eight days without working.

In no other medicinal preparation have the results of the most intelligent study and scientific inquiry been so steadily and generously utilized as in Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It leads the lists as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases.

Smith—"What fiery red hair that girl has. Looks as if she were ablaze. Do you know her?" Jones—"No; the girl she is on old flame of mine.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was first prepared in liquid form only, but now it can be had in pill forms by mail to points where no druggists can readily be reached, and to-day Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound in lozenges and pills finds its way even to the foreign climes of Europe and Asia.

"The city must put its foot down on such corruption," shrieks an excited editor. But it can't, you know. Corporations have no soles.

"It's a great comfort to be left alone," said an Irish lover, "especially when your sweetheart is said so."

Why use a gritty, muddy, disagreeable article, when Hood's Sarsaparilla or pure Sarsaparilla, so delightful, can be obtained? 100 doses $1.00.

"My! but you're a strapping fellow" the dull razor remarked to the barber, as it was being sharpened.

"Will you name the bones of the skull?" "I've got them all in my head, Professor, but can't give them."

"Church and State" is the title of a suggestive and practical lecture, published in pamphlet form, delivered before the Bethel Literary, of the city of Philadelphia, by J. D. Lewis, Esq., of the Philadelphia bar. Its price is placed at the very low sum of twenty-five cents. The suggestions contained in this pamphlet, as to the duty of the combined colored church, meet with our hearty commendation—Washington Bee.

JOHN D. LEWIS ESQ.,

MY DEAR SIR:—Your argument on the address entitled "Church and State," in behalf of concerted action by the churches of all creeds, to secure the political and civil rights of the colored race in America, is admirably put. I agree with you that the voters of this race should not hold themselves as vassals of any political organization. They have a right to call upon your brethren to assert their claims to equal privileges of election, of the choice of occupation and of social and political advancement. I wish that such people as you made the truth the truth which you so forcibly illustrate, that every truth and the balance of power, and that they can, if they choose to use that power, inscribe upon the triumph of more than one needed reform.

W. N. ASHMAN.

SOLID COMFORT.

Every one likes to take solid comfort and it may be enjoyed by everyone who keeps Kidney-Wort in the house and takes a few doses at the first symptoms of an attack of Malaria, Rheumatism, Biliousness, Jaundice or any affection of the Liver, Kidneys or Bowels. It is a purely vegetable compound of roots, leaves and berries known to have special value in kidney troubles. Aided to these are remedies acting directly on the Liver and Bowels. It removes the cause of disease and fortifies the system against new attacks.

A merry exchange illustrates the cousinliness of women by the two facts that she will pleadily open a can of salmon with her husband's razor and yet fly into a sort of wild, weird, poetic frenzy when she sees her husband endeavoring to remove a wrinkle in his wife with her best embroidery scissors.

No injurious effects can follow the use of Ayer's Agne Cure in the treatment of malarial diseases. It contains, besides a specific; and unfailing antidote for miasmatic poison, other remedial agents which have direct and peculiar influence upon the blood, the source of all humors, purify the system, and leave it in a healthy and reinvigorated condition.

"Doctor," said the greenfruit patient entering the physician's band, "I shall often forget that to you all the days of life. "You exaggerate," said the doctor mildly, "you only see me on official visits; that is the point which I hope you will not fail to remember."

HUNT'S Kidney and Liver Remedy is no "tic or mise" compound or old woman's nostrum. It is prepared by a scientific pharmacist, with a full knowledge of the powers and virtues of each ingredient in the line of diseases it cures. It is purely vegetable and can not hurt the youngest child or the most feeble invalid.

A camel will work for seven or eight days without drinking. In this he differs from some men. He will not work seven or eight days without working.

In no other medicinal preparation have the results of the most intelligent study and scientific inquiry been so steadily and perseveringly utilized as in Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It leads the lists as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases.

Smith—"What dirty red hair that girl has. Looks as if she were ablaze." Jones—"Yes; and [illegible]—No, yes, she is an old flame of mine."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was first prepared in liquid form only; but now it can be had in pill form by mail to points where no druggists in New Jersey Conference will meet April 2d. Philadelphia Conference, May 28th. New York Conference, June 4th. New England Conference, June 11th. All the places will remain as published in the New Jersey Conference. All the brethren of the several conferences will do their duty as per Discipline.

TO ALL THE LADIES OF THE MITE MISSIONARY SOCIETIES.

Your mites must come in as before, full and plenty. Ladies, do your duty. Let all the preachers' wives be on hand, together the brethren and sisters of your husband's church and see them to contribute, if but a "mite" to help our foreign mission work. The little sum of seventy-five cents will save Secretary Townsend $150 as he passed through Philadelphia on his way to England. Also fifty dollars to have the Iron Church insured for one year, and one hundred dollars more to be used towards the support of our mission in Hayti. In this connection we must not forget the claims of our mission in Hayti. In this country the treasury was depleted, except fifty dollars. This is to ask you to make an extra effort so as to enable the Mite Society to do its whole duty. Dr. Townsend is now in England and can do no better until he returns in May, but our expenses go on. Brother Mossell, wife and child must be sustained, must be fed, must be cared for. Will you not do your part? All do their duty. Send your mites to Treasurer, Mrs. Bishop Campbell, No. 1923 N. 11th street, Philadelphia, Pa. Send by your husband or bring to the annual conference, the precise amount you collect and forward.

"CHURCH AND STATE,"

is the title of a lecture delivered by John D. Lewis, Esq., of the Philadelphia Bar, before the Literary and Historical Association of Bethel A. M. E. Church, Philadelphia, Pa. Read what is said of it:

"To John D. Lewis, Esq., member of the Philadelphia Bar, we are indebted for a pamphlet copy of the lecture—"Church and State,"—which he recently delivered before the Literary and Historical Association of Bethel Church. Lawyer Lewis is to be complimented for the industry shown in the preparation of this lecture."—CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

"J. D. Lewis, Esq., lectured on Tuesday evening, April — before the Bethel Literary and Historical Association. Subject—"The Church and State." The lecturer was not only eloquent but manifested his learning in a manner which exhibited a thorough knowledge of the classics."—Philadelphia Mercury.

"Church and State" is the title of a suggestive and practical lecture, published in pamphlet form, delivered before the Bethel Literary, of the city of Philadelphia, by J. D. Lewis, Esq., of the Philadelphia bar. Its price is placed at the very low sum of twenty-five cents. The suggestions contained in this pamphlet, as to the duty of the combined colored church, meet with our hearty commendation.—Washington People's Advocate.

JOHN D. LEWIS ESQ.,

My Dear Sir:—Your argument in the address entitled "Church and State," in behalf of concerted action by the churches of all creeds, to secure the political and social rights of the colored race in America, is admirably put. I agree with you that the voters of this race should not hold themselves as vassels of any political organization. You are right in your views upon your brethren to assert their claims to equal privileges of education, of the choice of occupation and of social and political advancement. I wish that your people could be made to see the ground on which you so forcibly illustrate, that concerted action by the colored people and that they can, if they choose to use it, will secure them success and the triumph of more than one needed reform.

VITAL QUESTIONS!!!!

Ask the most eminent physicians

Of any school, What is the best thing to the world for quieting and allaying all irritation of the nerves, and curing all forms of nervous complaints, giving natural, childlike refreshing sleep always?

And they will tell you unhesitatingly Nature form of Hop-s!!!

CHAPTER I.

Ask any or all of the most eminent physicians:

"What is the best and only remedy that can be relied on to cure all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs; such as Bright's disease, diabetes, retention and inability to retain urine, and all the diseases and ailments peculiar to Women?"

"And they will tell you explicitly and emphatically "Buchu!!!"

Ask the same physicians

"What is the most reliable and surest cure for all liver diseases or dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, biliousness, malaria, fever, ague, &c.," and they will tell you: "Mandrake! or Dandelion!!!"

The New & Revised Edition
OF THE
By WILLIAM STILL.
With a Life of the Author.

A large, handsomely printed, highly illustrated, and beautifully bound book, which explains the thrilling incidents connected with the Underground Railroad, and preserves its only records, made at the time, by the Author, who was Chairman of the Philadelphia Vigilant Committee.
The book is therefore faithfully taken from the original records, and is the only authentic account that would save over the life of the author had he been captured. It is a book that will be read with interest for the next half century, and will be a standard authority for the historian of the future. It is a book that every one should have, and that every one will want to read. It is a book that will be found in every household of intelligence and refinement.
Every family should have a copy. It is a book that will be read with interest by the children and grandchildren of those who were engaged in the Underground Railroad business, and by the children of those who were opposed to it.
It is a book that will be read with interest by the children of those who were engaged in the Underground Railroad business, and by the children of those who were opposed to it.
The First Edition consisted of 1,000 copies, and was published in 1872. It was at once purchased by the abolitionists and their friends, and deserted in its book shops. Many of the purchasers have since died, and their libraries have been scattered. Hence the demand for a new edition. Many persons have written to the publishers, since the announcement of the new edition, that they have lost their copy of the first edition, and desire to purchase another copy. Others have written that they have lent their copy to some friend, and cannot get it back. In both cases the friend has moved away, and cannot be found. Now, therefore, is the time to secure the new edition. Others have written that they have lent their copy to some friend, and cannot get it back. In both cases the friend has moved away, and cannot be found. The new edition will be printed from entirely new stereotype plates, and will be issued in the most elegant style of binding. Agents are making from $50 to $100 per week selling the book. Agents wanted in every county in the United States. Send for circulars containing full description of the book, and terms to agents. Address all orders to

THE ART OF BOOK KEEPING.

How hard, when those who do not wish
To trust, their best excuses fetch,
Or search for some remote pretence
Their debts to pay,
Particularly when they have
The money down, to pay the grocer,
Who call and take away their tea and sugar,
But never leave their books.
Are seared by sages,—John Call Sub
With Kinsey Cash,
Who call and take away their favorite teas,
But never call to pay the grocer,
Their bills complete their set at home
By making their exit.

I of my "Spence" quite bereft,
Last winter saw me shaken;
Of my "Political Economy"
Not could I save my "Reason;"
And my "Self-Culture" reached its last,
Like Hamlet, bankrupt of good,
And as the title was applied
To me, of course I say "Knows."

FORMAL ENTRANCE UPON DUTY.

Though we have sent some editorial matter to the RECORDER, every word since our election, perhaps with one exception, we entered the office in person July 1st. We announce to the church men and friends of the several lines of church departments our desire to receive regularly, weekly contributions from themselves, pastors, presiding elders, boards and others, relative to all movements, hopes, plans, talks, etc., respecting this branch of our organized work. Friends will see that we may make the paper always interesting to its patrons. It is our intention to set apart a section for missionary news, one for Sabbath School items, one for the cause of education, one for church finances in which the Secretary and others may present items on this branch of the ministry, one for Conference matters, one for Sabbath School lessons, one for Bible truth, with all other leading and minor points. WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE it will be time enough to doubt the reliability of Kidney-Wort. Doctors all agree that it is a most valuable medicine in all disorders of the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels, and frequently prescribe it. Dr. F. G. Ballou of Monticon says: "The past year I have used it more than ever, and with the best results. It is the most successful remedy I have ever used." Such a recommendation speaks for itself. Almost every person has some form of scrofulous poison latent in his veins. When this develops in scrofulous sores, ulcers, or eruptions, or takes the form of rheumatism, or organic disease, the suffering that ensues is a terrible beyond description. Hence the gratitude of those who discover a means to speedily do, that Ayer's Sarsaparilla will thoroughly eradicate the evil from the system.

"Can you tell me, sir," asked a young lady at a book-store, "in what order 'Tennyson' can be looked?" "No, lady," replied the gentlemanly shop-assistant, "but, don't you mean 'Browning'? I guess; it was in order to make money."

To most children the bare suggestion of a dose of medicine is nauseating. Why not, then, when physic is necessary, give it in the form of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Pills? They combine every essential and valuable principle of a cathartic medicine, and being sugar-coated are easily taken.

"Never look at your boy when he is speaking," writes a father. "Look at him when he is explaining how he happened to be in school and not playing ball at the same time."

ARTHUR'S HOME MAGAZINE.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is recommended to mothers in an article in the current issue of this excellent magazine, entitled "Baby's Nights." It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little church awakes as bright as a button in the morning. We have used it in our own children and in those of friends with perfect safety; relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Lawyer Lewis is to be complimented for the industry shown in the preparation of the lecture."—CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

"J. D. Lewis, Esq., lectured on Tuesday evening, April 1st, before the Bethel Literary and Historical Association. Subject—"The Church and State." The lecturer was not only interesting but mastered his theme in a manner which elicited a thorough knowledge of the classics."—Philadelphia Mercury.

"Church and State" is the title of a suggestive and practical lecture, published in pamphlet form, delivered before the Bethel Literary, of the city of Philadelphia, by J. D. Lewis, Esq., of the Philadelphia bar. The lecture, displayed at the very low sum of twenty-five cents, is suggestive contained in this pamphlet, as to the duty of the combined Bethel church, must with our hearty commendation.—Washington People's Advocate.

JOHN D. LEWIS ESQ.,

My dear sir:—Your argument in the address entitled "Church and State," before the Literary Association of the churches of all creeds, to secure the political and social rights of the colored race in America, is admirable. I agree with you that the voters of that race should make themselves the arbitrators of any political organization. You are right in calling upon your brethren to assert their claims to equal prerogatives of education, of the choice of occupation, and of social and political advancement. I wish that your people could be made to realize the position which you so forcibly illustrate, that they really hold the balance of power; and that they, if they choose, can secure that power beneficently, secure the triumph of more than one measure of reform. W. N. ASHMAN.

We have the above book on sale at 631 Pine street. Price, 25 cents. All orders must be accompanied with cash. MANAGER.

"LITTLE HINGES."

Mighty doors on little hinges
Oft creak sad and smoothless swing,
So it is from moral trifles
Often great events will spring.

Little thoughtless words and actions
Hold a power as mean as great;
They are but the tiny sentinel
Which the hosts of action wait.

Of some little word we utter
With unheeding, careless lips;
Oh, perform some deed for action
That as earth from memory slips.

That as with from memory slips,
From the strong but secret power
Hidden in that action lies.

If that word were one of kindness,
If we did a generous deed,
Ah, so know from Christian success
Will the world be freed.

Just when some poor heart was sinking
'Neath a load of grief not sure,
Maybe that kind word or action
Heavenly whispers seemed to bear.

If that word were cruelly spoken,
If that deed were mean and bad,
Surely their results could only
Serve to make the angels sad.

Oh, by life's most trifling actions,
By the little hinges' swing
Let us form our destiny
By each soft word gently spoken—
By each deed we mark can do?

ENDOWMENT DAY.

BY S. T. MITCHELL, A. M., PRESIDENT WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY.

MR. EDITOR:—Some three months have passed since I wrote you upon Endowment Day, and the results achieved therein. Since then the General Conference has come, left its impress and departed. Other events, too, of less importance in the world's educational work in general and in Wilberforce University in particular. It took three days of the General Conference to hear the reports, and additional mention upon the fourth and fifth days to reach the result. No other subject has ever called forth more equal attention bestowed upon it.

After this the legislation consequent thereupon, we return to our readers with Endowment Day again as a prepared lecture. By a glorious fact, produced a bright future for the cause. The history of the race full of promise and hope—not that the disease is to be various phases and these contribute our mite toward our complete and sufficient accumulation. The prayer of the memorialists—a concurrent petition from all the conferences—was heard, and there was answered almost literally. The bright anticipations of the year of our anniversary. We asked the first Sabbath in September. It was agreed that it was the specially wise day for the pastors' support, and in deference to the pastors' interests, as it would secure nearly co-operation, the date was changed. Instead of the first Sabbath in September, falling the year upon the first Sabbath in October, the following Sabbath, the 28th, the anniversary of the immortal Proclamation of Emancipation. Pitiful coincidence! On one we celebrate corporeal redemption; on the other, in a measure, spiritual and also physical, mental and moral disenthrallment of the race. The former is now before. Talk! TALK!! TALK!!! Talk of Endowment Day. What is to be done? Have been answered by Key Bitters, proof of which can be found in every neighborhood in the known world.

FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR EDUCATION.

We are credibly informed that the committee appointed by the General Conference to provide for the celebration of Methodism's centennial, in September next, are arranging to have a medal struck, to be given to every one who will pay into the heads of a person to be designated at the proper time, a specific sum of money to be sacred to the cause of education at our connectional institutions of learning. We think the plan good and practicable. It is a good sign "makes the medal present on its face the representation of Bishop Richard Allen, first Bishop and founder of the A. M. E. Church, and on the reverse, the face of John Wesley, the founder, humanly considered, of Methodism. Then, the accumulated interest will very rapidly in the past twenty years. there are but few things more sadly needed by our Church than collective funds; some human fire and strong divine ite. The Hshrews again and again speak of the God of their fathers, and of the events through which they had passed on home. The scene at Morris Brown church had come, the rock whence they were hewa, Abraham their father. We should not be afraid to have a due, warm appreciation of our connection, and the deeds of the men whom God made sufficiently great to give us this goodly heritage, leading us on to the possession of a country. It is grand because it unites us in action with the great body of Methodists. The Methodist Episcopal Church has done a great work in the days of Wesley and Simpson, and how Simpson's face will make the medal go now he has passed on home. He is the master of many hearts living. Who will not give money to wear an illustration of the sweet, child-like, placid, yet manly face of Bishop Simpson. The Methodist Episcopal, South, has on its medal the faces of Wesley and Pierce. It will take the wearer back to interesting history. It will be a Methodist Medal. Methodism will wear the medal presenting Wesley and Allen, leading him back to the two severest struggles through which Methodism has come—its foundation and the beginning of African Methodism.

Bishop Dickerson, chairman of the committee, thinks we may realize at least sixty thousand dollars for collections. This will be grand if realized. It ought to be realized. Do you all say it must be?

BISHOP H. M. TURNER IN CHARLESTON, S. C.

A letter just received from Bishop Turner authorizes us to assure the Church that the difficulty in Morris Brown Church is settled. The Church has returned to its place in the ranks. At the request of Bishop Shorter, Bishop Turner went to South Carolina to settle the trouble. He has accomplished the mission and restored harmony thus far. He deserves high considerations. There has probably here no other living man with the history of our Church in which it has been threatened with so grave a complexity as that in the South Carolina conference. He is a host in himself. Haynes and W. E. Johnston, two prominent ministers of the conference, had been suspended, but not acknowledging the suspension as just, and being determined not to endure it peaceably, they appealed to the people of a given society and perform its church-rights. Such difficulties promptly and misfortunes bravely; enjoy life's cheers and endure its scowls; to be thankful for developments of a severely trying situation and mysterious. "For whether we be sober it is for our cause." "Let us watch and be sober." "A Bishop must be sober." "That the aged men be sober." "Teach young women to be sober." "Exhort young men to be sober-minded." "Wives must be sober." This leaves small chance for any part of the race without sobriety.

"YOU'LL HAVE TO BREAK THE ICE YOURSELF."

A few years ago a young colored minister, with fine mental graduate of Howard University three years earlier, was stationed in an Ohio city whose ministers invited him to join their association. On a given day he came in his turn to present a paper. Being a men of considerable diffidence he hoped when the day came to be excused by the senior brother appointed to an exercise. But this brother being absent, the young man was called upon. He said, "I had hoped brother Blank would be here to break the ice." "No," said Dr.—, the chairman, "you'll have to break the ice for yourself." The first few steps in were probably cold, but soon an adjustment was made and the difficult man did his work comfortably. It is the same thing throughout life; you've got to break the ice for yourself. Don't imagine that everybody else can break all better and easier than you; when you can break it so thoroughly that you will have no breaking to do.

The race that seems able to brave the coldest ice and thrive while breaking, has seen the day when it dreaded the ice. Its individuals all pass through this experience, being more or less fearful before the breaking.

It is true the black boy of to-day has a much thicker ice to break than his contemporary his brother, yet, if it is broken at all, he must break for it himself. He must develop correctly where more than half of those in means do not treat him well, do not show him half a chance, but they require him to break the ice. Nine-tenths of man do not show him common civility, but he must break the ice. It is a severe breaking, too. At first the black boy knows no distinction of soul by facial colorings. He has to be punished, he wonders why. Soon he learns that there is ice for him to break. So it is in riper years; you wish to rent a house in a town; you wish to convince you visit social recognition; you demand political, scholastic, even religious rights; you have the ice to break in every case.

Little by little the ice is being broken. Allen, Douglass, Ward, Payne, Langston, Revels, Bruce, Lynch and others, have made a beginning in the work of the surface. Let us continue to strike. does not involve morality, if there is no compromise of right, then God is glorified and Bishop Turner may be accredited with a wisdom and an executive ability that will shine as clearly in a character of high church diplomacy, Christian diplomats are as rare as are political. Few men could have gone to Charleston, after having heard so much concerning the case, a sufficient magnetism, prudence and controlling power to have reached the results already mentioned. God help all the brethren to love one another as dear children; to love, not in word, but in deed and in truth, and may we all be one. The Charleston News and Courier of the 30th ult. says:

"Bishop Henry M. Turner, D.D., LL. D., the famous colored pulpit orator, arrived in Charleston on Saturday night and preached three times yesterday. In the morning he occupied the pulpit of the Rev. Mr. Whilden, at Emanuel Church, where he was met by an immense congregation. The Bishop came here in the place of Bishop Shorter to settle the Morris Brown difficulty. He is robed with authority which all the power of the Episcopacy, and has come to settle the matter in a way satisfactory to the cause of education at our connectional institutions of learning. We think the peaceful and prudent course will be the sign "makes the medal present on its face the representation of Bishop Richard Allen, first Bishop and founder of the A. M. E. Rev. P. Johnson (Lewyille Circuit, Florida):—"In this work is in a prosperous condition. Our first quarterly conference was held on June 12, and closed in a grand time. Our presiding elder, J. H. Robinson, of the Gainesville district, presided with his usual dignity. His text on Sabbath was 21st Psalm, 7, 8, "O God, my heart is fixed." His sermon was full of much power. Assurable distinction. Commencement Day at Cambridge, will make his home in Washington this winter, where he will be engaged in teaching.

—Hon. B. K. Bruce, Register of the Treasury, has been appointed Deputy Commissioner General of the World's Exposition to be held at New Orleans. He will have charge of the department of the colored race.

—About sixty colored men left Springfield Saturday on the midnight train for Sonora, Pennsylvania, going there to work on a railroad being built through that place. Two weeks ago there were fifty-six others who went from Springfield to the same place.

—General Logan is the first man in the Republican party who has ever had a President with a wife to share his honors. Washington married Mrs. Martha Curtis, 1760; Johnson, in 1861; Colfax, in 1868; Wheeler, in 1876, and Arthur, 1880, were widowers.

—Bishop R. H. Cain has just returned from Lewis, Del., where he dedicated a beautiful little church last Sabbath. He reports very favorably of Delaware. The Bishop says he cannot believe that land on which he dwells. His field is always in a prosperous state. Rev. Wm. H. Heath is pastor at Lewis. The collections on Sabbath were over $150, besides subscriptions.

—Bishop W. F. Dickerson spent over a week in Philadelphia. It was our pleasure to hear a very able and well celebrated preiste last Sabbath eight in Union Bethel Church, and his text and illustration of the kingdom of Christ and inspiration of soul, was all that heart could wish. Youthful, and at the same time old, the Bishop bears the message of Christ in a manner that wins to the Master. This text was: "For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink." The Bishop left on the 6th for Ohio, and will preach there to some trouble in the church.

—Prof. R. T. Greener has recently made an extended tour through the Southern States. His opinions on the progress of the race, as reported to the press, are worthy of great respect. Few men are better qualified to form correct judgment. He finds more pride of race, more independence, more self-reliance as an essential step towards the establishment of manhood, more desire to secure business and financing this for education. He expresses high appreciation of the work of the missionary societies. He found in the negro not only in the cotton-field and tobacco factory, but acting as carpenter, wheelwright, blacksmith, brakeman and on other vocations. The returns very greatly encouraged as to the future of his race. It is a burning disgrace that this cultured gentleman was four times ordered out of first-class cars, and it is to the credit that in each case he refused to go.—Tribune.

Literature.

Joel Benton will contribute to the August St. Nicholas a poem entitled "The Curious Dream" for which Miss Celia Thaxter has prepared an illustration.

Mr. Franklin H. North, author of the recent article in the Century, on "Sailors' Song Harbor," has written for the August St. Nicholas an account of the Central Park sheep and their shepherd, with a number of illustrations by J. A. Hooks.

The Illustrated Record is a new illustrated monthly published by the Rev. W. A. Logue, Manchester, N. H. Its first number is a good one. The second number contains illustrations of Susanna Wesley, the mother of the founders of Methodism and a father of missions. We place the Record on our exchange list.

"Little Arthur's History of England," by Lady Callcott, New York: Nos. 18 Astor Place, is a volume of 270 pages, arranged for children. It is a neat edition, well calculated to educate children, rendering them more than ordinary service in the course of life with a firmer step and more practical hand. The book does not stop to tell the story of the many wars, but as it always the progress of the people. It was by author writing for the child mind, and is therefore free from the dryness so often in such books; placed there that the child may acquire a taste which will be disturbed with a rebuke to his careless habits in talking. We have examined a number of history that we have more heartily endorse. It is arranged in such a manner that the teacher, as well as the pupil, will find pleasure in the investigation, disclosed the working of a mind of great discernment. Vigor. The Bishop was a wonderful man, and had decided that the strife must end. It was a war of the strong, and so it was. Bishop Turner versus the negro people. The negro people were beaten. The result was a striking and splendid example of how the moral force of one man will overcome the evil forces of a host, will fill needs an explanation, is when we read the history of these facts, perfectly intelligible.

The National Colored Free Association yesterday concluded its annual session in Richmond, Virginia. Before adjourning it declared in favor of the colonization scheme, and a committee was appointed to confer with the President and Congress on the subject, and pledging the efforts of the Association to the furtherance of the plan. The session was a stormy one, and the Association was divided in opinion as to the feasibility of the scheme. Frederick Douglass opposed it, and Bishop Turner opened the services with singing and prayer, and took his seat. Douglass then addressed the meeting, and said the efforts of the Association to colonize the negro people in Africa was a failure, and that the Association was not in favor of it. He was followed by Bishop Turner, who said he was born in Antigua and came to this country 24 years ago and was a slave. He was educated in Georgia and was a Methodist preacher. He was in Boston in 1867. Prior to becoming a preacher he served three years in the service of the Massachusetts colored regiments. His foster of declination is now in New York.

The Hon. C. C. Andrews, U. S. Commissioner, New York City:

Dear Sir—Your kind letter came to hand informing me of your and the committee's action in electing me to the office of Minister to Liberia, as Consul Elector at Large. I would have replied to your letter prior to now had it not been in connection with our Annual Conference at Baltimore, which was in session, and has been for the last five days, I have been prevented from doing so. I have been so engaged myself and the committee for the high honor conferred, that I could not find time to my church and brethren to be the representative in general to assist in arranging the affairs for the centennial celebration of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and I find it will be impossible to fill the high office. I must, therefore, respectfully decline. Wishing the grand old party success, I am yours, very respectfully,

Mr. Derrick said that his letter gave the actual reasons for his declination. "I shall vote and work for the ticket, and should do the same no matter who the candidates were. I have recommended as my successor Dr. Johnson, a noted colored physician, and I hope he will be selected."

At the National Committee rooms this morning Mr. Derrick's letter declining the office of Minister to Liberia was taken up for Mr. Washington. The following was sent: "Your letter should be taken to fill the vacancy until the meeting of the State Central Committee, which meets on the 10th inst., at the New York Tribune.

We are informed that the Rev. Derrick has since withdrawn his resignation.—Ed.]

BISHOP TURNER BRINGS HIS PEACEFUL LIFE REMARKABLE MISSION TO A SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION—HAYNE AND JOHNSTON PASTOR AND PEOPLE WASHINGTON PROVIDED FOR—OTHER CHANGES IN THE DISTRICT.

The crowd in Morris Brown Church last night was as large as the church could hold. Long before the hour for services to begin every seat was filled and the aisles were packed with people. The row on Monday night had led many to believe that a serious and bloody riot was imminent. The two factions were present, however, and were in a worse humor, if possible, than ever. They seemed determined that the Bishop should not have the peace that had decided that the strife must end. It was a war of the strong, and so it was. Bishop Turner versus the negro people. The negro people were beaten. The result was a striking and splendid example of how the moral force of one man will overcome the evil forces of a host, will fill needs an explanation, is when we read the history of these facts, perfectly intelligible.

The committee which have been assigned in revising the Old Testament have completed the book of Genesis and published, and that the whole will soon be ready. The following are the principal changes made: The "miracle" which never existed outside the Bible, they will at last be blotted and the "wild ox" substituted in its place. The "Book of Jasher" will be changed to the "Book of the Upright." Sabbath-day Sabbaths will no longer be used or troubled by the doubtful ethics of the Israelites in "borrowing" jewels from their Egyptian neighbors, and running away with it. The revised translation will also show that the Israelites did not borrow. Joseph's many-colored "coat" will be a "tunic." The calculations of the Bible as to the age of the world, and the time since the flood, will be changed to suit the facts of science. Jonah will be allowed to remain at Morris Brown. Bishop Turner, whose visit has proved a success, will preside at Morris Brown Church Friday night, and at Morris Brown next Sunday evening.

MOSES IN THE SOUDAN.

The Soudan is none other than the land of Cush, and the Ethiopians mentioned in the Vulgate render Ethiopia. When Moses arrived at Memphis, Egypt was invaded by an Ethiopian army, which successfully laid siege to Memphis, and Moses, to save his own people the Egyptians prayed to the other end of the valley. In the valley they received was, that they should offer the leadership of their army to Moses, which he accepted several times, and finally consented. The great difficulty of the campaign was in transporting the army, for the Ethiopian camp, in accordance with their being infested with snakes of a most poisonous kind. By this ingenious expedient the roads were speedily cleared. Moses then led siege to the capital, Saba. The obstinate resistance offered by the Ethiopians prolonged the siege for some time, but eventually the city was delivered up by Tharbis, the daughter of the Ethiopian King, who had married Moses. Moses then laid siege to Saba. The story of Moses and Tharbis.—American Hebrew.

AN EARNEST REQUEST

To the pastors and Superintendents of The Sunday schools of the A. M. E. Church.

DEAR BRETHREN:—In order that we may have a Children's Day collection at the next General Conference, I ask you to send your contributions immediately. Many schools have already done so, and the result is very encouraging. This is the first year of our existence as an independent and General Conference and we want to have a good start. Every Sunday school is entitled to one vote in the next General Conference, and we hope that this will be done without a single exception. Let every Sunday school fall into line and help to make Our Father's Church a success. Please send in a collection and send it at once. Don't delay. Send your collection now. We will send, free, enough copies of the new Sunday School Hymn Book for all the officers and teachers of your school.

Fraternally,

Notes on Education.

R. B. Munger, Esq., of Geneva, Ohio, has donated $5,000 to the New Orleans University. This goes into the new building.

The reports of the closing exercises of the schools in the South show that a good year's work has been done. Many glowing revivals are reported, in which hundreds of young men and women have been converted.

The centennial appeal for $500,000, ordered by the General Conference, is meeting with a hearty response in the whole Church. That amount is needed by the society in addition to regular collections, to build buildings, endow professorships and establish scholarships.

The last M.E. General Conference said: "We fully indorse the administration of the Secretaries of the Board of Education." It also directed that "in regard to the duties of the society, the preacher in charge shall state to the Church Conference what the society is among both white and colored people."

Wilberforce College has done itself honor by overstepping sectarian lines and conferring the degree D.D. upon Rev. J. Simpson, one of the leaders of the American Baptist. Church colleges are not very liberal. Conference is worthily bestowed upon Brother Simpson. May he live many years to labor.—Contraband.

—Out of a population of 25,000,000, England needs 24,000 students in the universities. Scotland, with a population of 4,000,000 has 6,500 university students. Ireland, with a population of 18,000,000 has 22,300 in her universities. Germany, with 45,000,000 has 20,000 university students. France, with a population of 4,110,000, sends 4,000 students to their eighteen colleges and universities.

The institutions of learning of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the South will be represented at the Cotton Exposition display to be made at the great World's Industrial Cotton Centennial Exposition in New Orleans, December 1, next. Bishop H. C. Woodcock, of Nashville, has been appointed to receive and arrange the contributions from our schools.

La Teche Seminary, Louisiane, of which Dr. Godman has for several years been principal, has been changed to Gabert Seminary. Mr. Wm. L. Gilbert, of West Virginia, has given $5,000 to erect a dormitory building, which Dr. C. Woodcock has returned over $5,000 worth of land and buildings. Other friends have added $2,000 so that in a short time there will be boarding and school accommodations for one hundred students.

"AUTED LIKE A CHARM."

This is what Mrs. Mayer, of Baronne street, New Orleans, says of Brown's Iron Bitters. A "charm" works quickly, surely, promptly, thoroughly and with delightful effect. This is just the way this wonderful family medicine works on invalids who have been suffering the woes of liver complaint, dyspepsia and impoverished blood. Those who know its worth say it is a complete cure for dyspepsy, weakness, malaria, neuralgia, &c.

COMPLEX RELATIONSHIP — John Jones is James Jones' uncle. And Aria is Alice Aria's aunt. John marries Alice and James marries Ann; so 4th in law James becomes his uncle's uncle and John his nephew's nephew while Ann is her sister's sister and Alice her aunt's aunt. John's son is James' cousin and grand nephew. James' son is John's cousin and grand nephew. The three boys bear the double relationship to each other of second cousin and nephew: what is the relationship of their sons?

OPTICIAN OLDERS.

The office held by the Kidneys is one of importance. They act as natures sieve-way to carry off the excrementitious from the system and with them the impurities in the blood that are taken into the stomach and those that are formed in the blood. Any clogging or inaction of these organs is felt by the whole portaol. Kidney-Wort is Nature's efficient assistant in keeping the kidneys in good working order, strengthening them when weak and restoring them when inactive. If you would get well and keep well, try Kidney-Wort.

Operator (to old man who is taking his first peep through a microscope): "Now you see, sir, the legs of the fly appear as large as those of a horse." Old man: "I see, I see, sir, very large." Small boy (who had removed the fly aside): "What a lie; they aint so fly, there."

The old custom requiring salesowmen in dry goods stores to stand all day long without coal or relief is being superseded by more humane rules in many of the largest establishments. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is fully praised by those who have not yet been freed from the old necessity of standing and is a genuine blessing in every such case, as well as to the tired and overwrought who must be on her feet all day.

School Examiner (to candidate for teacher's certificate): "Into what does the Mississippi empty?" Boy (hesitatingly): "Into the Hudson Bay, sir."

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer never fails to restore gray hair to its youthful color, lustre and vitality. Dr. A. J. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, endorses it, and all who give it a fair trial unite in grateful testimony to its many virtues.

Farmer: "They say they're going to have a cremation society in our city." Neighbor: "Guess they'll go to making the cows themselves alive after they've got the buttercup and the oilmangerson; now there's a-goin' this cremeration. What next?"

One reason why diseases of the bladder and kidneys are so fatal is that they are frequently have an pronounced symtoms. HUNT'S [Kidney and Liver] REMEDY is peculiarly adapted to the cure of these complaints, and goes at once to the seat of the trouble giving relief at once.

Your creditor's relationship to you differs materially from yours to him. Should he be a kind one, you should be calm. Though he is discourteous to you, you cannot afford to be; less than contrel toward him. Don't make the excuse that you pay him interest; you have his principal.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the most effective blood purifier ever devised. It is recommended by the best physicians.

Professor (to class in surgery): "The right leg of the patient, as you see, is shorter than the left, in consequence of which he will limp. What would you do in a case of this kind?" Bright Student: "Limp, too."

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having thoroughly tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper W. A. NOYES, 149 Power Block, Rochester, N. Y.

EPPS'S HOMŒOPATHIC COCOA.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, is the prescription of one of the best female physicians and nurses in the United States. It relieves natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold by grocers. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., New York.

"CHURCH AND STATE,"

"To John D. Lewis, Esq., member of the Philadelphia Bar, we are indebted for a most masterly effort in the lecture—"Church and State,"—which he recently delivered before the Literary and Historical Association of Bethel Church, Philadelphia. Read what they say:

"D. D. LEWIS, Esq., lectured on Tuesday evening, April — before the Bethel Literary and Historical Association. His subject—'The Church and State.' The lecturer was not only eloquent but logical, and in a manner which exhibited a thorough knowledge of the question."—Philadelphia Mercury.

"Church and State" is the title of a suggestive and practical lecture, published in pamphlet form, delivered before the Bethel Literary, of the city of Philadelphia, by J. D. Lewis, Esq., of the same Philadelphia Bar. The price is placed at the very low sum of twenty-five cents. The suggestions contained in this pamphlet, to the duty of the combined colored citizens, should be carefully considered.—Washington Peoples Advocate.

JOHN D. LEWIS ESQ.,

My Dear Sir:—Your argument in the address entitled "Church and State," in behalf of concerted action by the churches of the race, to secure the political and social rights of the colored people in America, is admirable. I most agree with you that the voters of the race should not hold themselves as vassals to any political organization. You are right in calling upon your brethren in every church to assert the privileges of education, of the choice of conditions, and of social and political advancement. I wish that your people could be made to realize the truth which you so forcibly illustrate, that they really hold the balance of power; and that they can, if they choose to use that power beneficently, secure the triumph of more than one needed reform.

"AUTO LIKE A CHARM."

This is what Mrs. Meyer, of Spencer street, New Orleans, says of Dowie's Iron Bitters. A "charm" is very quick, very simple, thoroughly sure, with delightful effect. That is just the way the wonderful family medicine works on invalids who have been suffering the woes of liver complaint, dyspepsia and impoverished blood. Those who know its worth say it is a complete cure for dyspepsia, weakness, malaria, neuralgia, etc.

CONSTANT RELATIONSHIP — John Jones is James Jones' uncle. Ann Arie is Alice Arie's aunt. John marries Allice and James marries Ann; so the in law James becomes his uncle's uncle and John his nephew's nephew, while Ann is her uncle's sister and Alice her aunt's aunt. John's son is James' cousin and grand nephew. James' daughter is John's cousin and grand nephew. The two boys bear the double relationship to each other of second cousin and nephew: what is the relationship of their sons?

OFFICEHOLDERS.

The office held by the Kidneys is one of importance. They act as nature's drain-way to carry off the waste matter from the system and with them the impurities both in the blood that are taken into the stomach and those that are formed in the blood. Any clogging or obstruction of these organs is therefore important. Kidney-Wort is Nature's efficient assistant in keeping the kidneys up to good working order, strengthening and invigorating them so completely that you would get well and keep well, try Kidney-Wort.

Operator (to old man who is taking his first peep through a microscope)—"Now you see, sir, the legs of the fly appear large as posts, and it has a beard on its chin." "I see, sir; yes, sir; yes, very large." Small boy (who had removed his hat)—"What a lie; they've got on fly there."

The old custom requiring saleswomen to stand all day long without rest or relief is being superseded by more humane rules in many of the best stores in most houses. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is highly praised by those who have not yet been freed from the old custom, and is a genuine blessing wherever it is used.

Mr. Wm. Wood, of Bridgeport, Conn., writes: Louisiana Conference, Rev. John Allen Chreswell, Presiding Elder; Rev. W. Williams; Texas, Rev. J. Harvey Smith; Central Texas, Rev. A. Grant; Rev. Alex Stewart, Rev. J. H. Alexander; West Texas, Rev. J. Harvey Smith; Texas Mission, Rev. Edmund Brown; North Arkansas, Rev. Edmund Brown; South Arkansas, Rev. Edmund Brown; Indian Mission, Rev. J. H. Alexander.

It is hoped that all the above named delegates will meet at the times and places appointed, as the very great and sectional interests at stake. $40,000.00 is required to meet our missionary work. Friends will please send in cash and subscriptions at once. From 10 cents to $10,000 will be duly acknowledged.

FROM THE CORPORAL.

From the Marine Barracks, Pensacola, Florida, Corporal Ben. Berger writes of the benefits of Brown's Iron Bitters in that malarious region. He says: "I have used several bottles and must say I am greatly benefited by using it. Several of my comrades use Brown's Iron Bitters, and you may rest assured that all think it is the greatest thing on earth." This kind of testimony comes from all quarters concerning Brown's Iron Bitters—the best tonic.

All the Ku Klux, the White Leaguers the White Sons, the shot gunners, the old, tried Democracy, the Hayes, Beecher, Schurtz, Everett and Curtis with some Independent colored men are now burnishing for Cleveland and Purity. Purity!!

HARD TO BELIEVE.

It is hard to believe that a man was cured of a Kidney disease after he body was swollen as big as a barrel and he had been given up as incurable and lay at death's door. Yet such a cure was accomplished by Kidney-Wort, as the person of M. M. Davenport of Ionia, Mich., who says: "After thirteen of the best doctors in Detroit had given me up, I, Nora cured by Kidney-Wort. I want every one to know what a boom it is."

"Cleanliness is next to godliness, you know," said a moralizer who was anxious to make a lasting impression upon a Sunday School boy who was untidy. "I don't see it that way, I should think you'd have passed through a little soap and water on the way."

TIRED LANGUID DULL

Exactly expresses the condition of thousands of people at this season. The depressive effects of warm weather, and the weak condition of the body, can only be corrected by the use of a reliable tonic and blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Why suffer longer when a remedy is so close at hand? Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now. It will give you untold wealth in health, strength, and energy.

"Too many widows, too many widows," said a minister after the horse had been passed for collection. "More among the married women than among the widowed women, and more among the men than among the women, and the richest men in this assembly seem to be the most disconsolate widows. I cannot understand where you find so many of these ancient coins—the widow's mite."

Not a particle of calomel or any other deleterious substance enters into the composition of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. On the contrary, they are pure, of special service to those who have used calomel and other mineral poisons as medicines, and feel their injurious effects. In such cases Ayer's Pills are invaluable.

TRUTH.—On a watchlight evening many years ago, a good old minister was preaching the watch-night sermon; text, "Before the cock crow thou shalt deny me." As he dwelt on the weakness of man, repeating, "Yes, yes, yes, my brethren, thou shalt deny me thrice, and that before the cock crow," lo! just then a rooster that the old man had in his old style long great pocket, put his head out and gave a prodigious crow at midnight. Great excitement prevailed.

"I have been dreadfully troubled with disease of the Kidneys and liver during the past six months. Hunt's (Kidney and Liver) Remedy has made me a new man." Isaac W. Fairbrother Providence, R. I.

A RETURN TO MOTHER.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used in the nursery during teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and by giving rest and health to mother and child, the whole world sings for joy. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

JOHN D. LEWIS ESQ.,

My Dear Sir:—Your argument in the address entitled "Church and State" in behalf of concerted action by the churches of all creeds, to secure the political and social rights of the colored race in America, is admirably, put. I am glad to see that the voices of that race should not hold themselves as vassals of any political organization. You are right in calling upon your brethren to assert their claims to equal privileges of education, of the choice of occupation and of social and political advancement. I wish that your pamphlet could be made to realize the truth which you so forcibly illustrate, that they really hold the balance of power; and that they can, if they choose to use that power steadfastly, secure the triumph of more than one needed reform. NOTES OF THE MANAGER.

To the brethren and all who are concerned. Please note the following:

1st. Money Orders and all remittances should be made hereafter payable to J. C. Embry.

2nd. Postal Notes are the simplest and cheapest method of sending small sums under $5.00. Do not send stamps unless they are cancelled. Even if any other means can be used. Postal Notes are as safe almost, if not wholly. Stamps put together and are lost.

3d. All orders, except those for subscriptions, must be paid in Cash. Reasons for doing this will be given in our circular now preparing.

4th. Our offer of settlement at 60 per cent. is only for 30 days. No bills for bills for our own stock.

5th. Blank forms will be furnished to Book Stewards and all who act as agents on which to send orders for stock, and also their monthly returns.

6th. We shall cease dealing in Sunday school supplies at once. The Bishops and quarterly conferences, because it is a pecuniary loss.

7th. The Most of the orders for 3d quarter's lessons had been received before I came, July 5d, and the money expended. The publisher refused to supply more except for cash. I have sent nearly $50 cash for orders to fill these lessons and about $15 remain to be sent. We will be filled as fast as possible; and then we will take no more orders until we can furnish our own stock.

8th. We dislike C. O. D. because it is too expensive. So soon as our plans are all out, we shall ask brethren to kindly make out bill and forward cash with order. It saves time, clerk hire and money.

Now, brethren, we all stand by our own cause. Get subscribers for the Recorder, $1.50; Globe of 10, $12.50; Globe of 25, $30.

9th. We cannot send on credit little orders for 50c. or 75c. or for two dollars. We have no idea of the cost of entering all these little items in the Ledger and then carrying them through the Ledger. Clerk hire eats us up. Such petty business is a positive loss to the Connection, and hence to you, if you belong to the Church. Yours most obediently,

CHARLESTON NEWS OF AFRICAN METHODISM.

In the Methodist Magazine of January 1820, may be found a letter from Charleston, subscribed, "I am your fatly yours, Jas. O. Andrew." It is a letter in which every African Methodist of the country has an interest and for the reason that in it is found the first event of the revolt of the colored Methodists of that city in 1817 and their union with the then lately organized "African Methodist Episcopal Church." The opening sentence of the letter is "In the year 1817 a serious division took place in the colored society of this city, which has been more disastrous in its influence on the religious prosperity of the above population, than any event which has occurred in the history of Southern Methodism." This was the opinion of James Osgood Andrew, after elected one of the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church and who, in the great rent of 1844, as might be expected, cast his fortunes with the slaveholding South. With such an opinion and by such a man, there is no need to wonder that an early opposition was sought to crush out the Christian revolt. Nor had they long to wait, for in less than two years after this article was written, the insurrection in Virginia, of Nat Turner, into whom, by the way, the next number of the Church Review will contain a stirring poem from the pen of T. T. Fortune, the insurrection, we say, gave the much hoped for opportunity and the newly fledged A. M. E. congregation was driven apart much after the manner of the early Christian organization of the past

More, of course, could be said in regard to this letter, but we will close hastily written sentences with the remark that had Bishop Anderson lived to the present, we are strongly of the opinion that his utterance would not be the same.

RELIGIOUS POLITICS.

Just at this time there is a considerable interest in the Christianity of Christians and the politicalism of politicians. The politician is to control politics, the Christian, religion. This is an unnecessary distinction. The increased indifference paid by politics to religion is alarming, while the conservatism with which the church holds as almost absolute silence concerning politics is criminal. The church and state are distinct as to organism, but the essential association of church organization is common throughout the realm of nature, upon it the principle of organisms depends. To conclude from the above that the functions and activity of the two are entirely distinct that they never meet—that one and the same man may not be both Christian and politician—would be a serious blunder in argument. The fact that men feel sufficiently independent to construct national platforms and preside at the helm of aggregate with no more than a merely incidental reference to religion is evidence that the religious element is too generally neglected. The effort to divorce the world by breaking down slavery by one party, intemperance by another and injustice of any class, will never succeed.

In the ward politics, in the State politics and in the national politics we need religion; in the municipal politics we need religion; in the state and national legislature we need religion; in the mayor's office, in the gubernatorial and presidential chairs we need religion. It is humiliating that we have to announce no religion of our functionaries. Politics is sufficiently prevalent in religion, now give us as much religion in politics.

OUR COMING PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Now that the Prohibitionists have held their convention, announced their politico-moral principles, and nominated their candidates for the Presidency for the office of Chief Magistrate, we suppose the curtain falls, as to the action of conventions, for this year. So now we have to discuss, from among the candidates thus presented, the man and the principles of our choice.

The following is the vote, General Benjamin F. Butler, of Massachusetts, representing the working men, or labor party, so called, secondly, for orders for stock, and also their monthly returns.

6th. We shall cease dealing in Sunday school supplies at once. The Bishops and quarterly conferences, because it is a pecuniary loss.

BISHOP J. P. CAMPBELL, D. D., OUR MOST VENERABLE RESIDENT PRESIDING OFFICER, left last week for Xenia, Ohio, to preside over the Ohio Conference. The lawyers tell us about "the jury of the vicinage," which means that the judgment of one's neighbors constitutes one's measure of worth and honor. Measured by this standard, our resident Bishop of the city stands on the highest ground. He is certainly respected and esteemed by all. Our whole Church is indebted to him for an act of generosity last week just before leaving. We will say more. But few of our ministers, or even Bishops and officers, know how it is that we succeed in issuing this paper every week. Many are in arrears on score of dollars and will not pay. Well, suppose the paper supposes a month or two—how would you feel if you had about 17 Bishop Campbell may not always be at hand. Of nearly six thousand copies issued weekly—over six this present week—there must be a large number who do not contribute one cent for years to its support.

"WHEN THE OLD FOLKS are absent the children take the place" is an old and most familiar saying; and thus with us. In the absence of our brother editor, we have to take the call for "copy," we run up into the editorial room, pick up the first pen we see and "dire away," minus Editor Lee's ink for the West we have received the African Methodist for July. Rev. Dr. Johnson has been successful in securing editorial chair by Rev. Benjamin H. Collier. The paper is neat, spicy and full. The new editor hows to the public with friendly scelfassurance that he is fitted all, and declares the columns of the paper closed to all controversy. Good, provided always it does not mean blindness to the distinction between right and wrong.

PHILADELPHIA is a staid and grand old city. As a city she has no counterpart in the United States. Compared with New York; Boston, Baltimore and St. Louis are triplets; San Francisco, New Orleans and Cincinnati have many points in common with the preceding three; but our Philadelphia stands alone. In many ways she is the Locomotive Capital. She is not as our National capital is the Paris.

THE DEMOCRATIC Social Board of Richmond, Va., turns the colored principals out to make room for white ones, avowedly for that reason and no other.

THE WEST INDIAN AUROAD defines its position clearly. It is American, Republican and West Indian; especially manly and brave.

NOTES.

Last week we sent out a number of bills to the delinquent superintendents of our Sunday schools. In the management of the Child's Recorder our object is not to get our liberality almost inheard of, like fallen greatly behind with the Recorder. Some schools have not paid one cent in one or two years. Many owe from five to thirty dollars, while we pay interest on notes to the printer. Will pastors now please look to it? We shall be very up at once? We have just got out the Annual Report of Sunday schools. In it you will see notice that August and September reports are due. We failed to receive report before the 24th of August will be dropped from the roll for September, we dropped over three hundred schools on the present issue. Those who are dropped from the roll will not be transferred to the Union roll, and will have to pay up to date that they may be restored. O, brethren, the business people here will not do our work nor furnish us paper or materials for nothing.

We issued a little more than six thousand copies of the paper last week. We printed 6,000 and the extras as did the writers, but we were almost ashamed to do so on account of the miserably poor paper, by some misfortune sent to the press. Five hundred were read, and we failed to scatter broadcast gratis, to catch the eye and influence the feelings of many who ought to be subscribers. Next week we shall begin the most trying, important and important, work, namely, cutting off delinquent subscribers. More than 1700 persons each week receive the paper and owe up for about one cent of cost to them. In doing this we shall at some places drop the wrong name, as the roll is very imperfect. But our pen is angry. It is simply a business measure of absolute necessity. We only mean to save the interests of all paying subscribers by giving a better paper and in better style. Bills will be sent to all debtors, and 30 days—during the whole of August—will be given to pay up. After that we shall mercilessly cut all who are behind. No amount of quarreling will change us in the least degree. The paper must be brought to a self-sustaining basis, and this cannot be done by wasting a thousand weekly by sending to those who will not pay. E.

ECZEMA!

Eczema is one of the vilest and most troublesome of all blood diseases. It manifests itself usually in the blood which are sometimes very difficult to cure. Mrs. Mary Ann Lewis, 75 years Mr. J. D. Rodeier, of Greendale, Va., suffered terribly from this disease. From the symptoms I diagnosed and prescribed as in the many medicines till I used Brown's Iron Bitters, which entirely cured her. To me this medicine of which I have obtained almost entire satisfaction in curing this and to every one in my neighborhood for any disorder of the blood and as a general tonic."

MERITED PRAISE.

The universal praise bestowed upon Kidney-Wort as an invaluable remedy for all disorders of Kidneys, Liver and Bowels is well merited. It virtues are universally known and its cures are reported in all sides. Even chronic cases have succumbed to it after they to be given up by the doctors and a thorough treatment will never fail to cure. Sold by all druggists. See adv't.

Last year's fashions are out of date, but last year's friends are still our own. This is why Mrs. Pinham's Vegetable Compound never loses favor; every lady who knows its worth (and who does not?) knows that the kind face of Mrs. Pinham is that of an honored friend.

Railroads are aristocratic. They teach a man to know his own station and to stop there. They are a well-meaning society. Their object is to get rich, too, being laid together by many ties.

"The best is the cheapest." This is an old adage and the essence of wisdom. The best medicine, and the only cure for diseases of the liver, kidneys and bladder is the old and reliable Hunt's [Kidney and Liver] REMEDY. Druggists endorse it. Highest and prescribe it in their practice.

The motto of a great many Congressmen should be, "He serves his country best who gives us the biggest appropriations for his district.

The most deadly foe to all malarial disease is Ayer's Ague Cure, a combination of vegetable ingredients only, of which the most valuable is used in no other known preparation. This remedy is an absolute and certain specific for Fevers and Ague, and all other medicines fail. A cure is warranted.

In the whole universe, there are no agents to work out the misery of the soul of life its own full penalties. Not the fire, the darkness, the flood or the tempest.

The curative power of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is too well known to require the specious aid of any exaggerated or delicious certificate. Diseases of its marvelous cures are to-day living in every city and hamlet of the land. Write for names if you want home evidence.

"Church and State" is the title of a suggestive and practical lecture, published in pamphlet form, delivered before the Bethel Literary of the city of Philadelphia, by J. D. Lewis, Esq., of Philadelphia, Pa. It is neatly printed and placed at the very low sum of twenty cents. The suggestions contained in this pamphlet, as to the duty of the combined colored church, must win hearty commendation.—Washington People's Advocate.

JOHN D. LEWIS ESQ.,

Of Dear Sir:—In view of argument in the address entitled "Church and State," in behalf of concerted action by the churches of all denominations in the political and social rights of the colored race in America, I am pleased to say I agree with you that the voters of that race should not bold themselves as tools of any political organization. You are right in calling upon your brethren to assert their political rights and privileges of education, of the choice of occupation and of social, political advancement. I wish that your people could be made to realize the truth which you so forcibly illustrate, that they really hold the balance of power; and that they can, if they choose, cast that power beneficently, secure the triumph of more than one measure for the good of all.

Yours truly, H. M. ASHMAN.

THE REUNION.

The B. W. H. and A. M. E. Churches will soon be reunited. The child that has been away nearly thirty years, a part of the time dallying in front of the old homestead, will return; though there is no parable of the prodigal daughter, and if there were our daughter has not been a prodigal, but was legitimately allowed to depart and set up housekeeping, indeed furnished by her mother with a guardian, might we not give her a hated title if she is not much more prevalent for churches to divide than to unite we think every such case should be considered as a harbinger of better days. Doubtless there are grave points to be looked at. The B. M. E. Church is to lose its separate record, a record made up largely upon the foundation laid by the A. M. E. Church, but it is only to resume its place wholly and severally in the membership of the A. M. E. Church. The A. M. E. Church is to assume the responsibilities resulting from a largely increased membership, ten thousand additional members and one additional Bishop; but at the same time it gains free access to where it feels at home, and with its opportunities is worth all it costs us. Early in September we may expect to receive the declarables from Bishop Quinn that will go to the Bishops that the union is consummated.

We suggest that there be a general reunion of our own people that a general reunited consecration at some time in the next winter. It would serve to fix the action of the church upon the minds of the whole class as nothing else could do. It would constitute a grand occasion for raising money for church extension, which, if applied to raising the indebtedness from churches throughout the new connection, and building new churches, would so fix the occasion on the public mind as to secure its transmission to generations.

CAMP-MEETINGS.

For many years the propriety and impropriety, the rightness and wrongness of camp-meetings have been extensively discussed. In the days of Wesley and Whitefield camp-meetings formed as fruitful themes for controversy as they did a means of grace for conversions. Whitfield was the great open air preacher, what would he be called to-day a wonderful camp-meeting preacher. Methodism owes very much of its peculiar success to the camp-meetings. So long as these meetings were held in the interest of the spiritual rather than the financial, or the financial-spiritual, there was little, very little objection offered against them, but against the avenues which they seemed to open for those who were indifferent to the Sabbath laws. The incapacity of church auditoriums, the freedom of the assembly to the poor and those who by physical affliction were unable to sit in the pews of churches, served as excuses for such gatherings. The establishment was loud in condemning open air meetings, on the ground of their irregularity. The Baptist Church has been strongly opposed to camp-meetings for many years, though, like the Methodists, they own much of the strength of their beginnings, and the character of their dogmatics, to open air meetings. Of course all the older sects necessarily held these free meetings. One of the early means for developing the religious life of the American slave was the camp-meeting, and where the freedmen and the fugitives held their meetings, they became fruitful centres for the bounds of slavery, kidnappers, to drag their victims back to their horrible pit. Many were the fierce and struggles between the negro and his betrayer or kidnapper on the camp-ground.

Like all other elements of our civilization, worship has changed in its own exertions. The relation between according the money essential to the perpetuity of societies, and the perpetuity of the religious life, has doubtless varied greatly in the centuries since Paul instructed the Corinths to be prepared to give on the first day of the week. Has the first centuries the religious life itself was the great advertisement for a mammoth meeting the pagan, while the great object of the meeting was the spread of the gospel; no other. After a while men learned to substitute gain for godliness. The means of gain being always different from that of godliness, the support became also different. The many, many thousands converted at camp-meetings had been the ground of praise; later it was the number sanctified. Finally, as largely as any other consideration, was that of money. "What was the success of your camp-meeting?" formerly answered with reference to conversions and sanctifications, came, in time, to be asked and answered with no special hearing upon the amount of money cleared. Churches found the camp-meeting a good place to collect money for church extension, missionary money, payment of pastors, educating young ministers and supporting scheming men, willing to perform any other labor rather than physical labor—perfectly handy men. The subject is now discussed from the two stand-points mentioned above—the religious side and the financial. One class often men overlook the irregularities with reference to the keeping of the Sabbath day holy, paying especial attention to the number of good sermons and songs they bear; the number of conversions and sanctifications. The other side looks at the desecration of the Sabbath and overlooks the spiritual results. Many even declare that there is no good accomplished; others think that there is some good, but that the good is overbalanced by the evil.

Now, is it not clear that there must be both large good and large evil in our modern camp-meetings? And is it not obvious that the secret to be discovered is the proper law by which these meetings should be conducted?

The mere matter of the meetings being in the grove does not compel men to desecrate the Lord's day. It is easy to enter into any arrangement to violate the sacred law. It is a shame, a burning shame, for the ministry and membership to sell out the blessed Sabbath for the purpose of making money. Go to the grove to worship and get all the money you can by collecting it as you would in the church, but do not desecrate the Sabbath any sooner in the grove than you would in the church.

THEOLOGY.

> What think ye of Christ is the test.
> To try both stir state and our scheme,
> Unless we think rightly of him."

Of all the great topics before us, in what grave approaches stands the one of the being and nature of God? It is patent that "a man is known by the company he keeps," but how much better it is he known by the God he worships! "And they that worship them are like them."

Every man may be supposed to possess an idea of God—to have an ideal divinity. His ideal has a great influence wholly and severally in the membership of the A. M. E. Church. That men think about God determines very largely what they think about human relationship. Theological education is of increased importance to us than to any other denomination is as good as another; it is possible that there is some truth in all of them—in Unitarianism, but not with reference to all. But this is not the question. Every denomination exists with a given set of dogmatics. If Christ is not to be the Bishop of the union is consummated.

We suggest that there be a general reunion of our own people that a general reunited consecration at some time in the next winter. It would serve to fix the action of the church upon the minds of the whole class as nothing else could do. It would constitute a grand occasion for raising money for church extension, which, if applied to raising the indebtedness from churches throughout the new connection, and building new churches, would so fix the occasion on the public mind as to secure its transmission to generations.

NECESSITY FOR A CIVIL RIGHTS LAW.

The Rev. C. Fee, of the M. E. Church Conference, has issued a call for a meeting of Rev. J. G. Fee, founder of Berea College, informed us a few days ago of another of those shameful and unreasonable exhibitions of American prejudice against the negro. On the 25th or 26th of July he was passing down the Ohio river on one of the regular line steamboats. Among the passengers was the Rev. Mr. Clinton, of the True Wesleyan, pastor in Ripley, Ohio. The boat was near Cincinnati when dinner was announced. The Rev. Mr. Clinton, a colored gentleman, sat down at the table. He was informed by one of the officers that he must get up from the table; that table was not for his people. He steadily continued to eat. They abused him and threatened him, calling him a nigger and using such language as the Rev. Fee would not repeat. Now, we are personally acquainted with Elder Clinton and know him as one of the most noble of men; a good preacher, well educated, speaking in a clear and beautiful English an almost faultless English. Is it not fearful, the dullness of the mind to observe the signs of the times? Is it not fearful the power which this wretched abuse in America forces? And do they believe the negro will endure it forever? Do they expect to succeed by such contemptible means? Do they think to hold the negro in degradation by means of it? How long will they be thus blinded? We should be glad to know if the good Dr. Hayhood would classify Elder Clinton, who continued at the table till through, with the impudent Bishop Coxe and the infidel? See Chicago Advocate of May 1 and 8.

THE TAWAWA SCIENTIFIC LITERARY AND THEOLOGICAL ASSEMBLY.

The sessions of the T. S. L. & T. Association opened regularly Tuesday evening, July 22d, with a strong and logical address by T. H. Jackson, D.D., subject, "The Future of the Negro." No words that we could say in this brief space would do justice to the learned address. Hoping that the Doctor will give the public the benefit of this paper through the A. M. E. Review, we shall make no attempt at description.

The Assembly was attended by the local members and several from a distance. Messrs. E. A. Clark, F. S. Delaney, Professors Shorter and Scarborough, Mrs. Professor Scarborough, Mrs. President Mitchell and Mrs. Professor Shorter; Bishop Shorter, President Mitchell and Dr. Arcott, and many others spending their vacation at the University, were regular attendants. From a distance were the President, Bishop J. P. Campbell; the Rev. M. E. Bryant, of Alabama; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bailey, of Xenia; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jackson, of Cincinnati; Mrs. Dr. Townsend, Mrs. Dr. Jacobs Williams, and Miss. Cox, of Richmond; Mr. J. N. Dodson, of Harrysburg, and Miss Carrie Jenkins, of Xenia; Professor J. M. Mackey, of Louisville, Miss Carrie E. Ferguson, of Lebanon; Professor C. M. Crosby, jr, of Allen University, and others.

We were so very busy packing our monthly possessions preparatory to leaving East, that we did not enter very largely into the exercises. We shall be pleased to furnish a further account of the sessions as soon as we can secure the facts. We look upon the Tawawa Assembly as one of the promising institutions of the Church.

D. LOTHROP & Co. have nearly ready a new edition of the "American Inquisitions a la Ice Zone," by Prof. J. E. Nourse, U.S.N., which contains details of the rescue of the survivers of the Greely Arctic Colony by the Relief Squadron. It is an account of the extraordinary labors and important researches by which the brave band endured more than a full field of ice that valuable contributions to science.

TEMPERANCE MEETINGS are to be held hereafter in "Old Bethel Church" every Thursday evening. Everybody is invited to attend. The meetings will be in charge of Dr. Steward's Relief Squadron, who is supported by the Christian and temperance people of the community.

—Col. W. A. Pledger has been appointed Special Land Agent for Alabama.

—Prof. I. M. Burgan, B.D., has been elected President of William Paul Union College.

—Bishop A. W. Wayman is at home for the present time. He has made an extensive Episcopal tour.

—Prof. C. M. Crosby attended the Tawawa Assembly and will spend several days among his Western friends.

—General Cassius M. Clay has returned to the Republican party to "sound the slogan, Blain and Logan."

—All friends of Mrs. Julia A. Knight, widow of the Rev. H. A. Knight, will be sad to know that she is in very poor health.

—Candidates for the Presidency: Blaine, Butler, Cleveland and St. John; representing, respectively, the Republican, Greenbackers, Democrats and Prohibitionists.

—Elder W. H. Brown, pastor at Elizabethtown, Pittsburgh, holds camp meetings, but tells the people that he will be present when he comes to the grove to worship because they preferred to do so, and not to make money, since the pastor's salary is paid up and the church is entirely out of debt.

—Elder M. E. Bryant, of Alabama, is assisting the pastor, Rev. Mr. Bailey, in a meeting that he learned to read by excessive praying. Brother Bryant is a great favorite in the partition between the hall in which he resuscitated after taking white children to the school, and learned to read bearing their recitations.

—Bishop John Jacobs Lafferson, of the North Ohio Conference, stationed at Urbana, has met with the very sad misfortune of losing his beautiful home, nearly burned while attempting to tie a gasoline stove, leaking from last year's use. It is little doubt that the case of the youngest has proven fatal.

—The Rev. Lafayette merits much credit for the painstaking with the drill of fifteen small boys and girls required to make the exercises of a interesting an entertainment to the Tawawa Assembly. These were little musical gems in her number, who will thrill many souls with joy in their future years.

—Mr. M. H. Vaughn, B.S., Principal of the Wyandotte school, is spending a few days in the city of Brotherly Love, and while strike many readers as somewhat strange, that he should leave the open, free and beautiful West for the South. We have heard that it is probable that there will be a movement on foot to make it there that look to future happiness.

—The Rev. Silas French, of the Ohio Conference, may be justly styled the church builder. He has had but four appointments in his itinerant life, at one he remodeled and at three he built. Elder French is also one of the best financial arrangers, but does not have seen, if he would omit selling his grounds for speculations and confine himself to the extraordinary labors and important researches by which the brave band endured more than a full field of ice that valuable contributions to science.

Missionary Items.

Rev. Charles Melone, writing from Liverpool, La., says: The Vanebal Mission is in a prosperous condition. The whole circuit is thoroughly in search of its duty and straining every nerve to discharge it in every instance. Where I was appointed to this mission by Bishop Wayman, I was much hopeless and for I was nearly discouraged, but for the calling in Christ to preach the gospel I have been tempted to give up the field. I came on an ox-wagon from the railroad through the plea. I was on the appointment through a rain-storm, and when I put in my appearance at the church Sabbath night I found a large congregation, with but two lights. To-day, by trusting in the Lord and having faith in God, we have chandeliers on both of my works as they have in the city. We have called one of the churches and am preparing to remodel the other. Last year the Lord added to me 73 converts, and since the conference last March, 34 have been added to the church upwards of 20 without the aid of a series of meetings. There are among 200 coming to the anxious seat, asking the prayers of the church; and we ask every embassador to send up a prayer to Christ in their behalf. We have also built a parsonage since the last of the subjects; the Hog, E. R. Bruce, Beginning of the year. We have also a section as one of the Sunday school is not included in the arrangement, but will report at the end. Our grand rally under this arrangement will come off in October, and we are hoping for grand results.

So far the financial efforts I utide to relate only to the payment of the principal debts of churches upon their property; and I think our history shows that, judged by the success attained, our plans have in the main been sensibly wise and practical. We dare give it out to the world that we not only know how to manage, but brier, we know how to pay church debts.

In the management of our current expenses we are not quite so happy, and it is to this phase of our money raising that attention is most needed. In the further discussion of this subject I shall point out some of the methods of raising money which do not come under the head of Grand Rally, and suggest some improvements. The Grand Rally methods are unsatisfactory, and for these reasons roles need be laid down. A live preacher will seek to make the best of this situation in each case. But the current expenses are with us all the time, and must also be provided for with system and certainly. Hence, current expenses should be, and ally afterward would be the normal order.

THE A. M. E. MINISTER AND POLITICS.

BY A PASTOR.

Mid the political storm, when everybody seems to take a certain interest in politics, lawyers and doctors, and even the most pious sages of other denominations, and in addition to all this the sad cry of the political sapiens for office—for offices at our disposal—more and more encouraged to believe that we shall raise the A. M. E. Methodist preacher partisipation therein? Is it right to say that he shall not say who shall be elected his choice? Is it right for him to be required to hold himself aloof from the simple grounds that he is a minister? Without preaching the very least, are of doubtful propriety. The Discipline says that after a church has settled conscience it leads to the used for nothing else than religious exercises. Would not the use exerted to this law tend to greatly promote the temporal as well as spiritual interests of the church? Is it not so?

A NOTABLE EVENT.

The reception given by the Banneker Literary Club, in honor of Miss Consuelo Bannister, the graduate and first head of her class at the Medical school of the Boston University; of Mr. R. H. Boyd, the publisher, and of Mr. Bruce, ex at Harvard College, and of Mr. Butler, ex-U. S. Minister to Hayti, was made with credit from the Law School of Boston University, but also passed a successful examination before the committee of the Suffolk bar, will undoubtedly be a red letter day in the history of the club, and of highest association among the colored people of Boston. The occasion of the reception was in every way worthy of the literary and moral life and purpose of the "Bannikers" and the guests of the evening. Mrs. Ruffin presided with dignity and grace. Miss Lucy responded to the toast, "Women in the Professions," and simply admirable. A most strong intellect she has nulled the charms of personal presence and one of general over each department of the Sunday school is not included in the arrangement, but will report at the end. THE TROUBLE SAFELY OVER.

Stomach trouble is serious business while it lasts; but what a blessed relief to have it depart! Mrs. P. G. Wells, of 19 Asylum Street, Hartford, Conn., writes that she tried Brown's Iron Bitters for stomach trouble, and that she experienced such relief that the trouble is now entirely over. She recommends this great iron medicine to all who are afflicted. It cures liver and kidney complaints.

"Church and State" is the title of a suggestive and practical lecture, published in pamphlet form, delivered before the Bethel Literary, of the city of Philadelphia, by J. D. Lewis, Esq., of the Philadelphia bar. Its price is placed at the very low sum of twenty-five cents. The reader will find much in this pamphlet, as to the duty of the combined colored church, meet with our hearty commendation.—Washington Penile's Advocate.

JOHN D. LEWIS ESQ.,

My Dear Sir:—"Church and State," in behalf of concerted action by the churches of all creeds, and on the political and social rights of the colored race in America, is received, and I agree with you that the voters of that race should not hold themselves as vassals of any political organization. You are right in calling upon your brethren to assert their rights and privileges of education, of the choice of occupation and of every means of advancement. I wish that your people could be made to realize the truth which you so forcibly present, then they really hold the balance of power, and that they can, if they will, make that power beneficently, secure the triumph of more than one wished reform.

The New & Revised Edition

OF THE

By WILLIAM STILL,

With a Life of the Author.

A large, handsomely printed, highly illustrated, and beautifully bound book, which explains the mysteries of THE UNDERGROUND RAILROAD. Just published, and for sale by the author, at all the escapes of slave and their brutish struggles for liberty.

This book is a perfect mine of information from the flight of fugitives. Their making and preservation would fill a volume of the richest and most interesting stories. They are a history with wonderful facts, that will be read with thrilling interest, and to the present generation, and to the coming generations, will be a source of information that will not be equalled. It is likely among them Kerrs, distinguished from all others, and the most remarkable of the kind that ever came under the observation of the author, written and published at the request of Henry Clay Bowen, of Brooklyn, who knew the hope that it may encourage the colored people to write their own history. It will be found to be the most interesting book ever published, and one to the grass anti-slavery talents, such as Gerrit Smith, Thaddeus Stevens, Lucretia Mott, their hand waiting. In it are found, too, many of the noble deeds of the Quakers, and the part they took in the struggle for the liberty of the bondmen. Many of these noble men and women are still living, and they get passages on the Underground Railroad in place of any other.

Any person wishing it (who may not be acquainted with an agent) can send $1.50 to author of Broad and Arch, and have it sent by mail, postage paid. Or, if they prefer, can send $1.50 to the Publishing House, and have it sent by mail, postage paid. Or, if they prefer, can send $1.50 to the Publishing House, and have it sent by mail, postage paid. Or, if they prefer, can send $1.50 to the Publishing House, and have it sent by mail, postage paid.

DOLLAR MONEY.

There is no element in our church history more humiliating than the creation of the system of finance known as "The Dollar Money." It covers many classes of church activity and operation; the support of ministers, bishops, elders, aged ministers, church extension, publishing and Sunday school work, in part, general effects. Bishops, etc.

Prompt payment of collected funds into the hands of the Secretary insures success. There is no other season of the year we be finds himself so much harnessed as that of June, July and August; not on account of the general depression in business in these months any more than the dearth of conference sessions. In this very season, too, he does his printing of Budget, &c., all requiring money. Every bound volume collects a few dollars during the summer can aid the work by making prompt remittances to the Secretary, B. W. Arnett, Wilberforce, Ohio.

OUR CONNECTIONAL SCHOOLS.

This is the season in which all school authorities are looking after their interests respecting the coming year. Especially is this true of colleges. Those institutions managed by denominations in the interest of educating colored persons are busily circulating advertisements among our people everywhere. Not advertisements only, but live agents. The students of some are employed to spend a part of their vacation in behalf of their schools. This is right; it is an evidence of an earnest determination to succeed.

Now, William Paul Quinn, in the great school, Allen in the Sunny South and Wilberforce in the rich and healthful fields of Ohio, should be rendered so important, so attractive and so useful to our people as any institution in their sections. The agents of a certain Presbyterian college go to members of the African Methodist Church annually, and annually receive aid from them. Why should not people who want just as well be educated at Wilberforce, are educated at other schools. Are we as selfish as other denominations are? Wilberforce has some points of superior attraction. In respect to location compare it with those colleges situated in the cities. To the rich and to the absence of vicious attractions, security of good health and religious influences, it is surpassed by few, if any.

Allen University, for the South Atlantic States, offers excellent facilities—an able Faculty, a healthy location and a city as easy of access as any other, better can our young people of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia do than attend this school? The people of the lone Star State, those in the Indian Territory, Arkansas, etc., ought to make William Paul Quinn what it ought to be. There should be now no fewer than two thousand pupils in these three institutions. St. James, Jacksonville, the Alabama school and others should come in for a good share of patronage also. Now is the time; make no active stirring of the people, not simply with reference to education but to our schools. What are you doing, friends, with reference to preparing your children for next year's work? Some other institutions than those of your own Church may offer some advantages, but there are always greater advantages in patronizing your own when possible. When impossible, we have nothing to say.

NEGRO CRIMINALS.

Every reader's heart aches because of the prevalence of crime announced by the journals daily. Every reflecting mind wishing to see his race succeed deplores the frequent headings, "A brutal negro," "A black wretch lynched," &c., connected with attempts at outrage on women, robbing, murdering, &c. The question arises, are these crimes more confined among the colored men than among others? The enemies, or at least the indifferent and prejudiced, say the negro is becoming demoralized in his free state and argue from this statement that he had better remained a slave. Now, there are no least three things which should be considered. First, that nearly all men who mark for devilishness mark black; especially is this true in the South. Hence many of the black fiends may be blacked fiends, not negroes. Secondly, the assaults are made in a very short time and under intense excitement. It is very unlikely that the assailant can be correct in more than one case in ten in the formation of a proper idea as to the features of her assailant. Thirdly, it is very frequently manifested that white men do not distinguish one black man from another, often stating that we all look so much alike they cannot tell us apart. I may add, fourthly, it is well known that under the horrible pressure of the lynch court, thousands have been so confused that they have condemned themselves by making false confessions under the declaration of the mob; that it would go easier with them if they owned up. Every man knows that the plea of guilty is falsely made in our civil courts under instructions from attorneys; how much more likely under the influence of a mob of demons.

That there are easy terrible crimes committed by members of our race variety is too true, but where is no doubt that fair dealing would show the ratio not against the negro. Poverty goes for le nasking civilians. We do not speak of its being a condition of immorality, but of the fact that courts are swayed and juries packed. The colored people are generally poor. They go to the work house and penitentiary to satisfy prejudice often, and through the black midnight court they go to the gallows and before the revolvers of maddened, misguided men.

"MIXED SCHOOLS."

We learn that there is considerable dissatisfaction in New York on this subject. The colored public school on Forty-second street has been closed—some of the teachers were transferred to a small school in another part of the city, and the other teachers were discharged. The pupils are taken to Public School No. 81, which is under the charge of Principal Reason, has been principal in the public school department of New York nearly twenty-five years. He is considered one of the most efficient men in that city. A change in the system, by abolishing the colored schools, would result not at once, as stated Professor Reason, Mrs. Garnet and the leading members of that city, with all of whom have spend the greater part of their lives in that profession. This is to us one objection against establishing colored schools. So few avenues of progress are open to us that we almost regret the closing of the colored public schools in New York.

We clip the above from a San Francisco Elevator editorial. There can be no doubt of the necessity of caution in respect to dismissing thousands of teachers suddenly from the school-rooms of this country because they are not white, because there will be money saved thereby, because it is said to be the surest way to break down race prejudice, etc. All of these are important subjects for the consideration of every free man, but let us not forget that there may be a few others to which these are subordinate, and that there may be circumstances of the correctness of at least one of the propositions mentioned above, and probably more. For instance, it is questionable whether, if the colored people were thrown into the mixed school operation at once, with white teachers and white power of wealth, place, prestige and custom, it would be a surer guarantee of obliterating race prejudice than would the appearance of the thousands of colored teachers in the streets of the cities in search of the land, exciting confidence, and in the presence of the thousands of white educators challenging respect. To the vast we must be equitable. Mixed schools being best for the North must be best for the South. Already thousands of the poor children are taught in the South by ex-rebels, who are making their living by teaching the negro only because they have no power to rule over the negro. And what teaching! It is nonsense to talk of one who has no respect, little sympathy and less love for pupils, to be successful teachers.

There can be no question of the propriety of having children attend schools that do not regard their complexion. But when we know that mixed schools means the exclusion of colored teachers, we must demand common schools rather than mixed; common from head to foot. Until we can have it so, the final say in his address to the B. M. E. General Conference. We notice the following lines concerning a meeting held in Chatham to elect a delegate to the General Conference. "There was one very remarkable feature about the meeting and that was this: not a single male member who was known to be opposed to the reunion of the B. M. E. and A. M. E. Churches could get a majority of the votes of the meeting to nominate him, hence another method was resorted to to nominate, in order to get the names of brothers Perry and Thompson before the house." After balloting, N. Murray, Esq., was declared elected.

Embry, not the editor? Will contributors please address no communications for the RECORDER to the Manager, but to the Editor? Will all writers please not send commendations and business with the Concern on the same paper.

AT A CAMP-MEETING in Charleston, Ohio, Sabbath, July 27th, a white collection was being taken to lift the indebtedness from the A. M. E. Church, $10 was announced by Hon. Asa Bushnell, ex-Governor, and quickly followed by $10 for J. W. Keifer." These gentlemen stand opposed to each other for nomination to Congress in the 8th district. We know nothing directly of Mr. Bushnell, but should like well to see J. Warren Keifer returned, despite the Boynton attorney.

MRS. LEE and B. F. Lee, Jr., came from the West with us, arriving here July 29th. They have joined our two little girls, who have been in Gouldtown several weeks with their grandmother. In our absence the services of Manager Embry, Editor Tanner and President Bishop's eighteen to the Philadelphia sigh.

—Writing to the editor of the "Church Review," Wm. Wells Brown, of Boston, says: "The Review is the best of the kind ever given to our people, and cannot but be successful as a publication. I have read every article with pleasure and hesitate not to say that it ought to be in the home of every family in the land, and especially every colored family."

—Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Hunter will preach a special sermon to the George A. Custer Post G. A. R. next Sunday at 7 P. M. Dr. Hunter has received his commission from President Lincoln, and was the first negro as a chaplain, and he his gallantry in filling places made vacant by the dead and wounded, was known as the "fighting chaplain." Good and bear him—Richmond Plaindealer.

—Dr. Tanner left for the West 5th inst. He will stop at Pittsburgh, then to Cleveland, Detroit and Chatham, taking in the Indiana Conference at Detroit, and the B. M. E. General Conference in Chatham. The Doctor will naturally represent the RECORDER, and most surely the Review. By the way, the Review has our congratulations on the warm and wide recognition already gained by the Review.

—DAYTON, Ohio, is making an effort to mix schools. Let the colored citizens demand a real mix; no sham. Mixed principals, straight white line of leaders is not a properly mixed school.

THE BULLETIN'S "Squibs and Items" column is as newsy on matters pertaining to the colored people as any other of the newspaper columns in the country.

IT IS MORE than likely Dr. Porter's notice of Sunday school convention came in during our absence, as we see nothing of it.

Notes on Education.

The experience of Cornell University in regard to co-education is summed up as follows in a circular issued by the college: Young women bear the strain of mental work quite as well as young men, and there is no more sickness among them; moreover, a large percentage of them complete the course and graduate, and the average of scholarship among them is higher than that among young men. The fact does not necessarily imply mental superiority, it results, doubtless, from the greater regularity with which they apply themselves to their tasks.

The people of Ireland have, during the last forty years, made great progress in regard to education. The per cent. of illiteracies decreased from fifty-three in 1841 to forty-seven in 1851, to thirty-nine in 1861, to thirty-three in 1871 and to twenty-five in 1881, while the per cent. of those between fifteen and twenty years of age, who were unable to read or write, decreased from 37.3 in 1861 to 17.5 in 1871, and to 12.4 in 1881. Very rapid and satisfactory progress has, therefore, been made. The masses of the people manifest great interest in educational matters.

WANTED: ten men whom the editor could name, and who are members or attendants of the A. M. E. Church; to see how ably they bear the providential test which, at this time, is applied to Dunbar here in a bank callapse, a railroad failure, or other calamities, by the loss of a month's or more rent, a dozen cords of wood, a horse, a cow, or the failure of a season amounting to $1000; then to see how they stand best and most liberal in additional building at Wilberforce. Can you not discern the signs of the times in wealthy African Methodists? Will you not consecrate $10,000 to the cause of education now, when it will do the greatest good?

It is stated that the faculty of Berlin University has instituted an Academic Union for Christian archeology, the design of which is to promote the study, and especially, of the monumental theology of the early Christian era, with reference to the practical application of this science to the needs of the present day. Besides, There is without doubt a wide field of study in this line which has not, as yet, been properly explored; and while there may not be a very large proportion of students who will take to it zealously, there can hardly fail to be enough to bring out many important facts, and by their investigations to interest many others, and add much to the general stock of information on a subject of increasing importance.

Literature.

Charles Reade has found his first biographer in his friend and fellow novelist, Robert Buchanan, who will contribute a sketch of him to the September Harper's. The portrait accompanying the article is engraved from the painting bequeathed by Mr. Reade to his American publishers.

"The Prohibition Songster" and "The Selected Temperance Songster," published by the National Temperance Society and Publishing House, are well arranged with reference to the most important and useful work to which they are devoted. In the "Songster" we find an excellent poem entitled, "Nothing and Something," by Mrs. Lucy Townswoman, Mrs. F. E. W. Harper, that in itself is worth the cost of the book.

The death of George Fuller, at the height of his artistic success, removed from American art a man to whom many looked as promising to be one of its own country the same fresh and inspiring influence that Turner gave to England. The September Harper's will print an interesting study of his life and work by his friend Stansberry and are now worshiping in a hall. It is a great mistake which the trustees made, and the people also; these church wars only digress all who engage in them and leave a blur over afterwards. We admire their fine moderation and seek not to raise the money necessary to pay the debt and regain the property, which they have worked so earnestly to build up as an ornament to them and an honor to the people.

New Haven is a lovely city and there are many refined and educated colored people who should be proud that they live amid the shadows of Yale, from which, together, and in touch with others in showing the enlightening influence of refinement and culture the destiny of the nation. We indulge the hope that Brother Long will succeed in uniting the discordant elements and give peace and prosperity to the church.

Rev. Brother Yocoum, pastor, is engaged in a great work, building a fine church edifice on the best street in the church of the fathers stood. It is to be of brick, 75 feet long, the finest church in Jersey—two story, with a basement 50 feet high, cellar 8 feet deep, basement high, cellar 8 feet deep, basement high, cellar 8 feet deep, basement

PHILADELPHIA, AUGUST 21, 1884.

THE KARTHQUAKE.

About 2 o'clock P. M., Sunday, 10th inst., as we sat at table with family and the Rev. E. W. Winston Taylor, the house was set in a short series of motions indescribable, seeming to us now to have been somewhat like the effect of wave motions. There was nothing unpleasant in it. It was a gentle earthquake. Had the crust of the earth been as weak in the days of Noah as the pages were very and results would have followed. The shock seems to have affected Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York. A gentleman in Philadelphia, who was for some time resident of Hayti, said he knew it was an earthquake, but in a mild form. Elder A. M. Dickerson, of the New Jersey Conference, said he had experienced similar shocks in California. An editor of a daily reading a story at his desk took down. A woman being up stairs started to come down, but remembering the injunction of our saviour respecting the day of judgment, "Let him that is upon the house-top not come down," she returned to the upper story. Her family of son, wife and three children, in West Philadelphia, abandoned their home and went out upon the common to avoid the contagion that might take place. Yet there was no appreciable diminishing of sinfulness. The desecration of the Sabbath, the filthy utterances of all blasphemy, all the vices of the age continued "as in the days of Noe." It may be well to note a few facts relative to earthquakes.

These phenomena are so rare on the eastern slope and central basins of our country, that generations pass over and off the stage of life without thinking of earthquakes. Yet almost any part of the earth's surface is liable to be shook. Indeed, slight quakes are of very frequent occurrence, so gentle that they are unobserved, save by the most sensitive signal apparatus.

In 1811 there was a remarkable instance of earthquake in the State of Missouri, in the Mississippi Valley, called the earthquake of Madrid, continuing its actions at close intervals for several months. Homboldt says it is one of the few cases on record of long continued subterranean grumbling. "For three hundred days from the mouth of the Ohio river, the ground rose and sank in great undulations. Fissures opened in the surface, some of them more than a half mile long, out of them came mud and water rising as high as the tree tops. These movements were at some times vertical and at others horizontal. The horizontal were the most damaging. The most severe earthquake that has been recorded in the Eastern and Middle States is that of Nov. 18th, 1755. This shock is supposed to have been a wave of concentre whence the great disturbance at Lisbon had emanated Nov. 1, or from a centre situated by the great volcanic shock the continent from Ireland to the Mediterranean. This earthquake began in Massachusetts with a roar like thunder, followed by a motion, followed by a shock with a swell like that of a large rolling sea, causing men in the open field to lay hold of something lest they should be thrown down. A second and third shock were followed by the most violent one, jerking and wrenching the earth's surface horizontally like a mighty giant. For a month slight shocks were observed. Buildings were damaged in Boston and vicinity, chimneys were thrown down, &c.; cold springs were dried up and new springs formed. Nine hours after the principal shock there were from the direction of the origin of the shock, reached St. Martin's, West Indies.

The greatest shock in these States in the present century occurred Oct. 19th, 1870, probably having its origin in the volcanic regions near Quebec. This shock extended to St. Johns, thence to Chicago and southward to New York. In 1852 one of the southern missions in California was destroyed by earthquake. In 1872 the most severe earthquake that had been felt there for many years occurred in California. The wells of fine building in San Francisco were cracked. In 1871 an earthquake destroyed Looo Pine and other settlements in Nevada. The aqueduct that supplies the city of Mexico with water was destroyed by an earthquake in 1858. It did great damage throughout the country. In some places said to have been the most severe ever witnessed. Port Royal, the capital of Jamaica, was sunk beneath the sea in less than three minutes, by an earthquake in 1692. The fissures in the earth opened and closed so rapidly that in some cases the lower parts of the bodies of persons were shut in by three unrelenting mouths while the upper parts were in the air. Three successive shocks within 50 seconds destroyed Caracas, Venezuela, in 1812. Calleo was destroyed by a shock in 1586; a sea wave 90 feet high rolled upon the land. It was destroyed again in 1746. In Chili the earthquake of 1822 caused an area of 100,000 square miles of land to rise from 7 to 8 feet and remain so. Mendoza was overturned in 1861 and 1200 lives lost.

The science relative to earthquakes is called seismology. The science has taken shape under the investigations and calculations of Mallet, Prevost, Hesemont, Dana and others. These great men, like scientists in every other sphere, differ. They consider physical changes resultant upon earthquakes. One of the practical and profitable effects of their studies will be for constructing buildings earthquake proof. Of course, these are proof against some earthquakes only. Such a building is erected in Japan, and South America.

THE REV. RAM CHANDRA BOSE, of Hindu minister in the M. E. Church and of the Indian Conference, gives us, through the New York Independent of the 14th inst., a strong paper on "The Caste Question in India." We met the Bose in the General Conference of 1880 in Cincinnati, talked with him and heard his spirited address on the occasion of the ecumenical love-feast. In that address he dropped a few caustic sentences relative to British dominance in India. It made hasty flashes of thought cross each mind in our midst as to how the words affected the good Dr. William Arthur and Rev. William McDonald, of England, and the Rev. Dr. Buckley, and or the grand old Dr. Mullen, of Ireland all of whom were in the vast assembly. Imagination intimated that the English representatives, Christian in essence, as they were, regretted the interposition. Since it was something outside of their control, and probably their sympathies with Brother Bose were very strong, for the religion of Jesus has that excellent quality that vaunteth not itself, but humbles itself and is kind. Imagination suggested that Ireland's representative sympathized secondingly deeply with the noble Hindu. But in our heart remembering them that were bound as being bound with them. The Rev. Bose's paper in the Independent refers to the modern caste in native land as being far more degrading than the early serfdom, and sets the solace race before the world again just as it was before the Christ was born in the flesh. Look out upon the world as it is and stick to your clothes, but hack o it there is a staining liquid that will discolor your character, weaken your power and destroy your usefulness. Your beauty, intercept your success, enervate your manhood, mistify your intellect, and make you look like a driveling, limpey imbecille, and interrupt your proper communion with men and God. Look out for paint! The vanishing lie is politics that thrust upon your confidence and support a man to rule you whose life is out of sympathy with genuine progress and the use of words must not be set against what we require in the man. The man who "can win" is often only the palsied man. His success is the success of a party that is given to the city last week. His church has given him summer vacation. Have you ever heard of a man who's summer vacation is becoming common among our leaders of the South? And what a blessing it is. A winter vacation to go to the South would doubtless be appreciated by the pastors North.

Notes on Education.

Prince M. Hojroks girls are sonmaring in the Adirondacks.

The Rev. Schuldis, of Philadelphia, is Protector of the American college in Rome.

If the efforts of Dr. Johnson to raise a large sum of money on Endowment Day fail, we hardly think he can be blamed. Fifty thousand dollars—not a cent less—should be given.

The Educational Committee of the First District, in its session at Wilberforce, authorized the District Secretary to organize special literary societies to assist in erecting a ladies' hall at Wilberforce. A committee of five was appointed to draft rules and by-laws for future action of the committee.

The President of the Board of Trustees of Allen University in Columbia, S. C., has appointed H. H. Newell, LL.B.—one of the recent graduates of the Law School of Allen University, and who was, after a rigid examination before the Supreme Court of the State of South Carolina, duly admitted to practice at the State—an instructor in law and secretary of the Law Faculty. Mr. Newell is an accomplished young man and won great praise for his able and successful commencement exercises of the Law School, "Equality and Equity."

ENDOWMENT DAY.

As a philanthropist I am interested in the education of every child on the globe. As a citizen of the United States, patriotism becomes my interest in the education of the children of the United States. As a member of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, African fetishism becomes my interest in the educational work under its auspices.

As the District Secretary of the First Educational District, duty and practical common demand that my district be set be manifested in the educational work of the district. My time is not available to divide my time and strength in assisting the friends of education in Asia, in Africa or in Europe, because I have no time to spare for the friends of the Second, Third or Fourth Districts. I may occasionally whisper a word or two forth the ears of a "Macedonian Concentration! Concentration! Rapid fire! Rapid fire!" Early on the morning of April 12th, 1861, the cannons thundered upon Fort Sumter. The North arranged to be fed. A mighty contest followed. The chains fell from the limbs of four millions. The humblest man of yesterday are to-day the citizens of a mighty Republic. This extensive and wonderful change demands wonderful activity in the developing process of the people. The child of the Republic must have head, heart and hand fully developed; this is the work of the hour. But hark! This is the thunder of a new cannon. It comes from Africa. It is the toesin for another mighty struggle—no blood to be shed, no limbs to be amputated. It is a conquest over ignorance and education, between declaiming ranting and Christian Christendom. Listen! Do you hear the thundering voice of the new cannon? It is the Endowment Day! Rally for the Endowment Day! Pastors of the First Educational District to arms! Rally! A mighty battle is to be fought, a glorious victory is to won. Sabbath school superintendents, for a month march! March to victory. Children, lift up your hearts; march to the music. List all pastors, teachers, members, children—rally on the third Sabbath in September. Make Endowment Day a day that shall ever be remembered by our children.

J. G. M.
Sec'y First Educational District.

ENDOWMENT DAY.

Dear Brethren of the Texas Conference:—As your representative on the Board of Education for the Tenth Episcopal District, I ask your immediate attention. Many bands make light work; consecrated hearts, hands of stones, and little strokes fell great oaks. In our way there are black clouds of ignorance to be removed, great stones of superstition to be demolished and monstrous oaks of vice and immorality to be cut down and burned. It is a great undertaking, but it has been done, yet there is much more to be done. The people are ready for intelligence, Christianity and righteousness. To this end the General Conference in Baltimore established the Department of Education. Its organization and plans for operation are perfected; but plans amount to nothing until carried out.

We, in common with forty other annual conferences, are called upon to carry out these plans. We have the grandest effort for educational purposes that has ever been made by the M. E. Church.

Remember the time for this effort. Endowment Day, September 21st, 1884.

Brethren, let us do our work promptly. The Committee on Colonies framed the skeleton and we must clothe it with skin and flesh. Let us will more that it may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.

Then let me say to the presiding elders, pastors and friends of the Texas Conference, that the Board of Education is ready, begin at once to prepare the minds of your people for the Endowment Day collection.

Brethren, we can raise our proportion of the $40,000, each one of us will do our duty in the light of God.

I am yours for the cause,

J. E. EDWARDS,
Galveston, Texas.

THE EDUCATION DAY COLLECTION.

ON THE THIRD SUNDAY IN SEPTEMBER, 1884, BEING THE 21ST DAY OF THE MONTH.

Please do not wait for others; but act yourself. We have heard of a pastor who every one were expecting to address with somebody else, but when the time arrived there was nothing to do. We therefore beg that every Bishop, presiding elder, pastor, officer, member, friend and child will give on that day for education as God has prospered them.

The law requires that "notice of this collection shall be given in all the papers and from all our pulpits, at least one month prior to the time appointed."

2 That "the collections shall be taken on in every church for Education on every service that day, both in the church and Sabbath school."

3. That the amount raised shall be "not less than 10 cents per member, to be secretly set apart for Education."

4 That 25 cents out of every dollar raised shall be immediately sent to Rev. Wm. D. Johnson, Secretary of Education, Xenia, Ohio, for the Wilberforce University, and the remaining 75 cents out of each dollar to be for home work, and must be sent to the District Secretaries as follows: First District, Rev. J. G. Mitchell, D.D., Wilberforce, Ohio; Second District, Rev. J. J. Gaines, D.D., Atlanta, Ga.; Third District, Rev. Bedford Green, Nashville, Tenn.; Fourth District,——. Pastors will state in the letter when they send 25 per cent to the Secretary of Education, the exact amount sent to the District Secretary.

PROGRAMME FOR THE DAY.

Ministers will please deliver sermons from that text—"Give or other sensible texts: Dan. 12:4, "Many shall run to and fro and knowledge shall be increased." Isa. 21:9 "The earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea." Psa. 68: 31, "Princes shall come out of Egypt, Ethiopia shall soon stretch out her hands onto God."

FOR SABBATH SCHOOLS.

Superintendents will please have delivered addresses on the day by some fellowing or other appropriate subjects: 1. "Progress of the Colored Race since the War."

2. "The Rise and Progress of the African M. E. Church."

3. "The Importance of the Sabbath School."

We recommend the use of the hymns composed and arranged by our sainted Bishop, ministers and members with others.

We sincerely ask the immediate prayers and co-operation of every friend of education in this united effort. Amen.

The Secretary of Education and District Secretaries will return receipts for all moneys received. Ministers will therefore please withhold their pastoral receipts to the annual conference. Send on donations for the Board of Education, and for no Education, circulars, &c.

Yours in Christ,
WM D JOHNSON
Sec'y of Education.

THE LAW ON EDUCATION.

How shall we promote the education of interests of our church?

1. Answer:

We do hereby establish and organize the Board of Education.

The management of this Department shall be placed in the hands of a General Board of Education and a Secretary of Education, who shall be elected by the General Conference.

The Board of Education shall consist of the Bishops and Secretary of Education, all Bishops, nominated by the Bishops and confirmed by the General Conference, not less than one third of whom shall be laymen, and whose tenure of office shall be four years.

There are machines which give only temporary relief and thus leave the sufferer worse off than before, especially in cases of dyspepsia. Remember that this is not the way with Brown's Iron Bitters. See what Mr. J. M. Gaines, of Gaines, N. Church, South.

Another "blue grotto,"—or, rather, series of three large grottoes—sightseers metres in length, has been discovered on the Dalmatian island of Hosni, ying to the Southwest of Lissa. The cave is described by its discoverer, Baron Ramsonesst, Austrian secretary of legation, as surpassing the famous Blue Grotto.

Almost "all the ills that flesh is heir to" spring from, or are intensified by, impurities in the blood, the result of hereditary taint or of a wrong course of living. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA thoroughly purifies the blood, gives tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and imparts new life to the nervous system. The only positive remedy for all diseases of the blood, or for which these claims can be truthfully made, and the only one that does "cure, beyond question, or doubt, the worst forms of blood disease, however obstinate or complicated in character, or whatever other remedies have failed."

Poetry.

SORROW NOT.

DEDICATED TO THE MEMORY OF REV. R. G. MERRY, PASTOR OF THE FIRST COLORED BAPTIST CHURCH, NASHVILLE.

BY REV. S. TRUM.

Grief and sorrow now surround us,
As the dear one passes by,
For the cord of love that bound us,
Death breaks, now to die.

We have lost a loving brother
Who to us was always true,
He has kept up with the leader,
Now, alas! what shall we do?

We shall miss him when he's buried
Neath the cold and watery grave,
For the one we loved is carried
Where the dark and dismal wave.

He, a husband and a father,
Loved us as he loved his life;
In his sight there was no other
Fill the place of child and wife.

'Mid the scenes of deepest troubles
He did by his God abide;
Were to him appeared but bubbles
Floating on the rolling tide.

Many heard the thrilling story
Preached by him in years gone by,
Now they've met to sing in glory
Where their souls shall all be dry.

Members dear, he's crossed the river,
And has left you on your way;
Now with Christ, the Lamb and Savior,
He enjoys an endless day.

Now along the path he's trod, brother,
To await the Master's call,
Where the weary ones shall rest,
God has called them one and all.

Ministers, the cord that bound us
Death has severed, but not we,
Grief and sorrow now surround us,
As we mourn for thee.

May we fasten on our sandals
For the march we soon must take,
May the gospel armor we have on
Be kept bright for Jesus' sake.

Then Adieu! departed brother,
We no more shall see thy face,
Yet we hope to meet each other
By the Lord's redeeming grace.

NOTES AND JOTTINGS IN MY BOUNDS.

BY J. P. CAMPBELL, D.D., LL.D., BISHOP OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

I closed my last communication with an account of my visitations in Ohio before going over into Hoosier State. This I did with the hope of writing an other communication soon, giving you an account of my visit in the State of Indiana. But being hindered I have failed to carry into effect my good intention until now.

I went from Wilberforce to Richmond, Indiana, where I found a class that most pleasant and agreeable Rehabilitated and made a hearty fraternally paradise of our very good and worthy Secretary of Home and Foreign Missions, Rev. J. M. Townsend. Here I was so kindly received as it is possible for mortal to be. It was Saturday, the 23rd. Here the death of Bishop Maddox was announced. The telegram was received by my host, Rev. Townsend, on Tuesday, June 24th, 1884. Here I found the same strange to a body of people that I had found elsewhere. The same kindness, the same attachment, veneration, &c., were taken up, made interesting and instructive, illustrated and impressed upon the mind by encouraging and live issues discussed every evening during my stay, which was from Saturday to Monday evening. Comments upon the principles of the deceased Bishop, who elucidated and systematized the cruder impressions these debates had made upon my mind.

Cordiality and friendly rivalry characterized the whole proceedings of the session, and ready deference was paid to the presiding Bishop, which in a greater degree could have been shown in any body of teachers anywhere.

The reports of the certificates occupied the last three days, conducted in a manner creditable to the conference, and resulting in the passing of 22 on the first grade to the Elderhood; 18 second and 13 third grade.

On the evening of the 12th inst. the students gave a concert at the Rev. Dr. Paul's M. E. Church by special consent of the pastor, which began at 8 P. M., Mr. Albert Johnson presiding. It is to offer favorable comment upon the whole normal work, and to present a token of their estimate of the Rev. Dr. Paul's worth, by rendering a selected choir of about fourteen young ladies and gentlemen, to sing and render the exercises lively. Prayer by Rev. W. H. Davis, the M. E. pastor in charge; an address by H. W. Christian, succeeded by an address by Rev. Dr. Richmond, who spoke for the principal's Mr. Frank J. Webb, who spoke for the teachers; remarks by R. A. Scull, of Columbus, and Miss L. V. Norman, of Columbus, who spoke appropriately. Music was rendered by the choir, and made the dissatisfied pairs a short time ago, she found thousands of such couples standing, at the entrance having been held back by the laws of the Roman Church, and held by still law, for years. The anxiety to be released from marriage responsibilities is on rapid increase. The power of money and the foolish sympathy of many jurors, advocates and judges, all conspire to render easy and short what ought to be done with great care and circumspection. The rapidity of movement in general characterizing our times, the careless and loose manner of "solemnizing" the marriage ceremony, together with the distribution of books and papers exhibiting the light and heartless ways of the fashionable and aristocratic, as well as in matters of conjugal contracts and the readiness of lawyers to undertake the case, are among the causes of all obligations. One of the greatest causes of laxness and insubordination in the church is, the failure to keep the people thoroughly instructed in respect to their vows, the principles upon which they were made, the necessity of their observation, the meaning of the terms, the name and the requisites of Christian life. A member of the Church who attends society meetings, political meetings, social meetings, military meetings and promiscuous meetings, but declares that he has never time to attend class meetings, needs instruction, to say the least. Those who absent themselves from public worship to visit families, parks and other pleasure resorts, is misunderstand or disregard their obligations. It costs attention as well as money to develop church work and especially the Christian life within.

Loyalty with reference to our own institutions—missionary, Sabbath school, educational, etc.—is quite as essential as that of mere church attendance. It is one of the saddest and most deleterious facts to our church progress that men will in many instances destroy their own work by treating it with indifference or antagonism. For instance, if a man fail to sustain himself well in society, and it happens that he has been educated at one of our institutions, say William Paul Quinn, and he resides in Chicago, is the minister loyal who, on hearing a good word said with reference to William Paul Quinn, says, "O, there's a case of William Paul Quinn up in Chicago"? Or the one who will at any time speak contemptuously of our missionary work? Does either of these sustain their loyalty? Is not a bit of that work denominational and is not each member bound to do all in his power to support the denominational work? Loyalty should hold so respectable a place in the mind of every member that no gratification of merely personal feelings should be allowed to prevent a full consecration of one's entire service to the church. Some one has said, "Grumblers never work and workers never grumble." Just now we certainly need to work. The probability is that our Church is in as good condition for work as it has ever been.

NOW THAT Greely is found, is an investigation to follow, and a committee of congressmen at the search of rescue? This arctic search may some day reward the government amply, but it requires an immense outlay with no show of remuneration. The loss of life and treasure in efforts to explore a passage, a likely to pay back within a few generations, but it looks as if a waste of money and life, both as to land and water, would not yield returns soon. The instalments made through scientific societies extend are not to be over looked, however. There seem to be two complaints against the gallant commander. First, unnecessarily taking the life of one of his men; second, eating the bodies of his dead. He acknowledges ordering one of his men also for petty pilfering, for stealing a loaf in the act, though executed informally; but denies all knowledge or suspicion of his dead being eaten by his starving men.

While shooting a man for stealing seems too severe a punishment from our standpoint, so one can tell how severe stealing was to Greely's men in their circumstances. Thousands have been unceremoniously shot and killed in the country for less, and the murderers have gone scot free. As to man-eating, the country has a plenty of it, in another form, it is true, but is not the life of many extra pie-emeal by the injustice and unfairness of others? Even helpless babes and widowed women are devoured. Save the investigating money to help rescue the helpless.

THE WORKING CHURCH, like the working man, is the healthy church. One of the frequent arguments made in the secular press in favor of divorce is so much money. The objection is doubtless a serious one. We have reduced our connectional forces to a very fair organism; every part is supposed to be so connected with all the others as to act fully and freely in harmony and unity. Our field is efficient and our collaborer diversified, and the burden rests entirely upon us. We have not yet assumed that regular and solid form re-

Notes on Education.

President Mitchell reports the outlook for this year highly encouraging.

The Rev. Dr. Gaines is pushing Morris Brown College in Atlanta right along. Let everyone aid him.

President Burgess, of William Paul Quinn, is increasing his accommodations in the expectation of a large attendance this year.

President Mitchell, of Wilberforce, has moved into the college building. Mrs. Mitchell has been appointed matron by the Executive Board of the University.

Now is the time for students to prepare to return to the schools. Remember Wilberforce, William Paul Quinn and Allen. A pleasant and successful year is expected at all these schools. Old students, prepare to return, each taking an additional student with you.

Missionary Items.

Secretary Townsend gives the Church the Missionary Annual, an exceedingly neat, comprehensive and well arranged pamphlet of 24 pages, containing from the Secretary himself and of the W. M. S., together with constitution, by-laws, &c., of the P. H. and F. M. Society. The report shows the total amount raised by all the conferences to be $11,786.65. The Secretary hopes to raise $10,000 for the General Conference. Mrs. Secretary Townsend presents to the General Conference the admitted to be equal to the best presented to that body in all respects, and states the facts of our missionary standing in unmistakable clearness, the history of the work, and the reasons for its success and yet the causes of so great success. Her report is replete with information, enriching and successful experiences, and will be read with great interest. Let each adopt the above as his faith, and what a change there would be in the condition of things. Let the Secretary succeed fully to attack a pound and unbelieving people with ordinary leading by Missionary columns? "Whoever breaks his bone with the intellect of action, in order to reach and subdue his religion, must be a man great in measure," said Bacon at the A. M. E. Church, Baltimore, in spirit, and capable of inspiring ardor in his associates."

Literature.

Will Carleton will contribute a long poem, "The Hern of the Tower," in the September Ladies' Home Journal.

Frank R. Stockton will contribute a quaint and fanciful story, entitled "The Queen's Museum," to the September St. Nicholas. It will be appropriately illustrated.

A paper descriptive of a cooking school for young girls in New York City, conducted by Charlotte Barnard for the September St. Nicholas, will be written in the form of a story and is fully illustrated from designs by Mrs. Jessie Curtis Shepherd.

Few people are aware of the important work now under way in Northern Minnesota, to guard against the dangers of high water and the inconvenience of low-water in the Mississippi River. A number of lakes in that region are being connected into a reservoir system, which is in collect and feed water as it may be required. A full account of this great engineering work is promised, with illustrative diagrams, in the September Harper's.

Professor Langley, of Allegheny Observatory, will contribute to the September Century an article describing the spots on the sun, with twenty-five illustrations, many of them from drawings by the author. This will be the first paper in a series, entitled "The New Astronomy," of several untechnical articles, fully illustrated, summarizing in popular and graphic language the most interesting of recent discoveries in the heavens.

Messrs. A. D. F. Randolph & Co. announce for publication in September the Pentateuch, reprinted from the edition of 1530, with full Catholicon, Concordance, Glossary and Prolegomena by Rev. Dr. Mombert, a collation with the Hebrew text, and Rashi's Commentary. The volume will be illustrated with photo-engravings of the different texts, and of the only known autograph letter of William Tyndale.

An anecdote of Whittier, not previously illustrated by Joseph Pennell, will appear in the September Century. It records the hurrying of a journey from Coventry to Chester, treating of Izaak Walton's country, with its quaint, old-fashioned inns, especially Wigwam, where the coach still changes its horses and the bicycle races at Derby, etc., etc. As Mr. Pennell is an expert and constant bicycle rider, the text and the pictures will have a special interest in the line of the Bicycle Literature.

Charles G. Leland will contribute a curious paper to the September Century, entitled "Legends of the Rosary." It will be illustrated by drawings on birch bark, by a Quadroon artist of New Orleans, a number of which were in stealing the lacrosse of the Algonquin Indians, which he regards as superior in the subtle charm of the myth to the Scandinavian or Teutonic myths of Teuton and the Celt. As in Uncle Remus's stories, there is a "tar-baby" and a "tar-rabbit," and he is the most cunning of animals.

The strong articles in the North American Review for September, three in particular merit the serious consideration of the people, and studies in the tendencies of our government. The leading article by Hon. Thomas B. Reed, of Maine, who insists that the only way to save the Republic from popular government is to educate the intellect, not universal suffrage, nor the development of material resources, is what the country is to be saved from ruin, and the only way to become a truly great and prosperous nation. The next most promising side of the question of New England. The policy of "The Exile of the Children" is advocated by John H. Durst, who presents a striking picture of the evils of the present system against Mongolian immigration. Four distinguished writers, on different occasions, namely, David A. Wells, Thomas G. Shearman, J. B. Sargent, and Prof. Jeremiah W. Jenks, discuss the subject of every conceivable point of view, the effects of the Tariff Bill, and all announced that in the Review for October will exhibit the "Benefits of the Tariff System." The other articles in the September number are "The Future of the Industrial Spirit," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Inspiration and Infallibility," by the Rev. Dr. J. H. Ryland; "The Need of Business Success in non-organization. Easter Sunday has been made Missionary Day, and the Secretary expects to receive $1,000 on that day, annually.

"The Time of the End," by Bishop Campbell, refers to the vast extent of missionary operations that are now accomplished, and the requirements of the prophecy "till the sod shall come." Bishop Campbell only treat per month from each member should be made a household motto, till the Church under God became trained in the habit and order of giving.

The report of the Women's Mite Society shows total receipts for the year ending November 1, 1895, $6,727.

We believe that for the hope we ourselves cherish for the future of the undebted, under God, to those Missionaries of the Cross who gave their lives to our heathen forefathers, and consequently that our true religion now existent in the world is the direct effect of Foreign Missions. 2. We believe that the Missionary spirit is suppressed in the great commission, makes it our duty, by the authority of that command, to preach the Gospel to the now existing heathen nations, both civilized and uncivilized. We believe that in so far as we fall, through our indifference, to make it simple Christianity to all men, we are guilty of denying our Lord. 4. We believe no great as the intellectual. His grand intellect would have made him an exceptionally great man, but add to this his moral greatness and you have an exceptionally great God.

THE DEATH of Hon. R. B. Elliott, Aug. 10th, deprived us of one of the most extraordinary minds of the times. Had R. B. Elliott been himself a little more firmly on the true basis of success, Christian piety, he would have made a world-wide reputation. As it is, he did leaving a memory surpassed by that of very few of his race or times.

Personal.

—President S. T. Mitchell is attending the Conference in the interest of Morris Brown College.

—Rev. G. W. Bryant, Freckfort, Ky., celebrated his thirty-fourth birthday on the 19th inst.

—The Rev. J. T. Diggs, Morristown, N. J., has recently received indications of the interest of his people in him by a donation.

—Rev. J. H. Vaughn, of the Wrangelotte school, was married Wednesday evening, Aug. 12th, to Miss Alice M. Hamilton, at the A. M. E. church, Hadnut, Ga.

—Dr. Wheeler, late editor of the M. E. Review, is said to be at the point of death. It will be remembered that Dr. Wheeler was the only successor in the editorial chair of the Review last May.

—D. P. Hamilton, Esq., of Wilmington, N. C., one of the most highly respectable members of the A. M. E. Church, died in our office a few days ago. "You must remember that I have been in the A. M. E. Church ever since I had that $500 member."

—Ex-Manager Gould calls in frequently. He's succeeding well in Harrisburg. Call on the office a few days and you will find him.

—Rev. Dr. Mitchell, when asked at a recent session of the Ohio Conference, what he considered fundamentally, remarked that always before asking a man for money, he asked him if he believed in religion. In view of the writer, Dr. Mitchell's explanation is worthy our imitation. When people's hearts are "touched" it will not be difficult to induce them to give liberally into the treasury of the Lord. This truth is abundantly illustrated both in the Old and New Testaments. On the day of Pentecost the people were pricked in the heart, and when Saint Peter's plain Gospel sermon, they not only asked, what shall we do? but they "gladly" did it. "Gladly" implies prayer and parted with them to all as every one had need. Every preacher of experience knows well that his spiritual power is measured by the degree in which he is closely connected. The one follows the other as certainly and as logically as a sequence follows a premise, or a conclusion the premises. And that this should be so in the Church does not lie with the nature of things, and it is also, of course, in accordance with the plain and clear teaching of the Scriptures. God never meant that in order to carry forward his work his people should make a compromise with the devil. It is the height of folly; it is a species of treason, unpatriotic to say that we cannot get on in our church work without a resort to political methods. Let us go to the God's sanctuary, and Sunday pic-nics, festivals and camp-meetings, and plain preaching of the law and gospel, in connection with the action of the Holy Spirit—this unequivocally, is the remedy for all our woes. Given a baptism of the Holy Ghost, with the intelligent action, in order to reach and subdue to religion, must be a man great in measure," said Bacon at the A. M. E. Church, Baltimore, in spirit, and capable of inspiring ardor in his associates."

We judge from the testimony of some others who have examined it that it is worthy of the same opinions expressed, and hope for success.

Actual observation leads us to believe that there has been nothing deep and lasting in the failure of the negro Methodism has made on the negro. Methodism has failed to hold its own, but with the Methodists themselves. Take the case of Rev. The progress who have joined the Church have been invariably merely for numbers.

At conference, and in the columns of the Methodist newspapers, imposing figures are given, showing the increase that has been made. Those who have studied the matter closely know that many of the negro know that those do not at all represent the true state of affairs. The sermons were discussed by the pastor in the evening, and he delivered a very able discourse. The music, under the leadership of the pastor, Rev. A. Watson, LL. Much praise is due to the pastor, Rev. Watson, for his able management of the schools, Sunday schools and churches on this circuit. I am well pleased with my visit to Woodstock. Rev. Watson has built one of the finest churches in the Methodist Episcopal, Bro. George Conference. He informs me that he has already secured the new mission points on his work. There are three churches on this circuit and two mission points. The people here are much pleased with their new presiding elder, Rev. BISHOP JOHN M. BROWN.

AN INTERESTING TALK WITH THE COLORED BISHOP ABOUT THE AFRICAN M. E. CHURCH—HIS APPOINTMENT HERE AND ELSEWHERE—AN IRON CONTRACT FOR HAYTI—THE BISHOP'S VISIT TO MILWAUKEE.

Bishop John M. Brown, of the African Methodist Church, arrived in the city at noon Saturday, and will preach this evening at the A. M. E. Church at the corner of Fourth and Cedar Streets. The bishop presides over seven conferences, including the States of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Nevada, California and the Indian Territories of Dakota and Wyoming. There are about 225 churches under his charge. To a Sentinel reporter in the afternoon at the Hotel Kaiserhof the bishop said:

"In connection with Bishop Barbope seven or four years. I have lately come from the Third Episcopal District—Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, New York and New England Conferences. My present work is to be assigned to me last May, and I have just finished the Conference at Cincinnati, at St. Paul last Sabbath, and another at Minneapolis on Monday. Few people know that I am a native of Milwaukee. I was born in the old Methodist Church in the United States. I am the Secretary of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and also bishops, and between 2,000 and 3,000 pastors. I am also the editor of Home, located in Philadelphia, where we publish all of our Church books and Sunday-school literature. We also have also several periodicals published in Nashville, Tenn., and Atlanta, Ga., Xenia, in Green County, O., and another at Columbia, S. C., a college at Columbia, S. C., and a high school in that State. We have a Sabbath-school in Washington, D. Poetry.

THE ITINERANT'S FIRST TOUR.

BY L. J. C.

He is off with a satchel, a doctor, a cane,
A few miscellanies are all that remain.
Behind; no bestarts, sliding household aides,
Mamma, sisters, cousins and friends not a few.

"An itinerant preacher! To-day I begin
A life that's to save poor sinners from sin;
By some and by hundreds I'll capture God's foes.
And thus he is musing as onward he goes.

"A warrior, 'tis true, but the battle I fight
Will not be decided by carnal might;
The Lord is our strength and He will sustain
His soldiers; the Warfare will not be in vain.

Of course I'll be great, sedate, Rabbi, tha'll call
I'll have admiration and worship from all.
My friends will be many, opposers but few,
For I shall convince them by facts old and new.

When, weary of labor, my house I shall
Where comforts swalk me and things all
The modern improvements that now are Just make a house splendid within and without.

My life's not years ago, is well, let me see,
A small income might do since there's no one but me.
As I shall have many comrades to call
I prefer to receive in a large shy hall."

The day was resplendent with sunshine, the
Was soft and fragrant with sweetness most along.

Your miles, five, six, seven, and then down a
Around by a meadow and up by a mill,
A path through a thicket that led to a cot,
Where for a night's lodging he must now stop.

The house had a humble appearance without and Within, bedgear and thicket, and branch round about;
The only attraction the traveler saw
Was an old-fashioned well in front of the door.

He hats at the threshold and ventures a
A little bit timid, for 'twas now ten o'clock.
Dogs in the house and big mastiffs out of
door,
In such a fix the preacher? I expect him here."

"I am he; but how did you know me, my
I only have come a few hours to spend
You see, 'tis now late when I got out of Just down by the meadow, not far from the mill.

I thought of the village where I'm to reside,
And labored to reach it before eventide;
But sudden a storm of rain, thunder and wind
To seek a night's lodging, my sister, that's me."

"But this is your home, my brother," quoth
she;
"I've boarded the preacher since seventy-
So take off your hat, and make yourself room."

Down tumbled his visions of greatness and
But angel-faced duty stood close by his side,
And ministered unto him, as she looked on his face,
For she knew that her sons had no choice of place.

WHAT IS MASONRY? ITS NATURE, ORIGIN AND MISSION.

AN ORATION DELIVERED IN INSTITUTE HALL AT THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR LAYMAN'S DAY UNDER THE AUSPICIES OF CYRENE COMMANDERY, NO. 3, K. T., NATCHEZ, MISS., AUGUST 20TH, 1884.

BY SIR KNIGHT C. O. H. THOMAS, SENIOR COMMANDER.

Sir Knights, Companions, Craftsmen and Fellow Citizens:—I shall take the liberty of calling your attention to one of the most ancient and honorable institution of our task, feel disappointed. To the time allotted me I shall endeavor to enter the lists upon the details of Masonry—its symbolic, capitular and cryptic sections. But if time will not allow, I will be content to give a brief outline of the whole, and I would be folly to attempt it, for a speaker is restrained from following during the discussion of these principles which underlie the whole superstructure. The world needs more truth—practical truth, and less fanciful truth, which is the product of the imagination. If truth should at any time be intentionally misconstrued, that should be practically deduced, and when such a deduction is made, society has to do with the author which the deduction

That little child has realized that it is lost. It cannot tell how it knows, but appreciate this. It started from its parents' door with no evil intention. It cannot tell how it started, or what induced it to wander upon this journey. It can remember seeing pretty flowers, attractive show-cases, handsome men and women playing with other little folks along the streets, and fleetly becoming O so tired. Then there were no pretty flowers, playing children did not attract the little eyes, pretty men and well-dressed beautiful horses, show-cases, all were shorn of attractiveness. The child has discovered its situation: it is lost. It has "come to itself," and -eow, like the prodigal son, there is but one thought, to return to its father; but, alas! to be lost is to not know the way to turn. The memory of home is dear. The play-room, with its toys, the attractive dining-room, the handsome parlor and the comfortable bed-room; the cheerful words, the pleasant faces and the tender love—all are remembered. All these also have been lost to it from the dear little mind. It has but one want, to get home. Many persons pass by hurriedly and heedlessly, till now with a heart touched by experiences and observances, comes near and asks, "Where do you live?" Through the sobs of the little heart-broken one comes the reply, "Oo —— street." "I'll go with you to——street; take my hand." Her just a moment the little stranger hesitates, to gaze up into the face of the good Samaritan, then nestling up close to her, takes the offered hand and is led home. We witnessed a case of this kind a few days ago, and it seemed a perfect picture of the careless strays in the church, in the state, in society. Reader, have you come to yourself? You cannot find the way back through all that checkered course. You can recall many of the feelings, the courses, the reasoning by which you permitted yourself to do wrong, but you cannot undo them. You have hardened the heart, you may have surcharged the intellect with the flattering, whizzing, sticating, dancing thoughts of romance, or weakened your reasoning powers by intemperate practices, but do you realize that you are far from the true and proper place for man? Of course, you have no more about the distance you are from that point than the lost child knows of the way home, nor do you know how to start. You say I will go home, but how? Jesus says plainly and rationally enough, "I am the way." "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." "I will guide you." "Where I am there shall ye be also." "In my Father's house there are many mansions." The only Son of man came to seek that which was lost."

WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY has been owned by and under the control of the A. M. E. Church for twenty-one years. They called to their aid the power with great satisfaction to the Revs. W. H. Hunter, D.D., sed J. T. Jenifer, D.D., both of whom have accomplished noble work in the A. M. E. Maxwell, Esq., Clerk of City of Xenia, O., and Miss H. Q. Brown, elocutionist, Wilberforce, Ohio, and the Revs. R. H. Mayo and S. G. Dorce will return to their native island, Hayti, in the fall, to preach the gospel there. There are many others just as active as these; in mention those that our readers may get a glimpse of the work our Church is doing at Wilberforce Universality.

DURING presidential campaigns it is a custom of politicians to use every device, honorable or dishonorable, a few exceptions, to embarrass opposing candidates and parties. It is becoming popular for the Democratic party to point out the miscegenation of the Republ and white members of the race— crying "Horror! horror! This is the result of Republican rule!" A few weeks ago a man and wife who had been married seven years, residing in Baltimore, each believing the other of the white variety. Were divorced on application of the woman, who had discovered that her husband, whom she had loved seven years, was identified by conscientious with persons of color. She was the only grounds of divorce—that the man was a negro. But was he a negro? Who gave him those features, that color and hair which allowed no question as to his race identity, every one taking him for a white man? Is he labeled "black man" because he has dark relatives? Then maintain that he is a negro, and that dark relatives white because they have a white relative. Another question: Who was denied by this man, he or his wife? He was white; he went for a man. The most lucrasitent law against blacks cannot be applied in his case. He who is white is not black. He who is black is not white. Apply this rule generally and a terrible revolution will take place in society.

Another case: A young man in Salem, N. J., married a German girl. It was not known by the officiating minister, if we remember correctly, that the groom had antecedents connecting several generations back with the black variety. Such, however, was the case. The newly-married called him a hasenbeer and the comfortable bed-room; the cheerful words, the pleasant faces and the tender love—all are remembered. All these also have been lost to it from the dear little mind. It has but one want, to get home. Many persons pass by hurriedly and heedlessly, till now with a heart touched by experiances and observances, comes near and asks, "Where do you live?" A PEEP BEHIND THE VEIL.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION OF THE GRAND UNITED ORDER OF GALILEAN FISHERMEN—OLD VETERANS MEETING OF HISTORIC INTEREST—HOW OVER FIERCELY CONTESTED DAYLIGHT—DOINGS OF THE CONVENTION—SCENES AND INCIDENTS OF THE CONVENTION.

BY REV. O. W. NICHOLSON, D. D.

MR. EDITOR:—There are striking instances of the verification of immortal sentiments. Such are those two lines of Gray: "Full many a flower is born to blush unseen." Without the least pleased to make the analogy, whether it be with respect to individuals or communities, with some exceptions, there richest gifts and benefits that humanity ever received were made possible through the agencies of the modest and unassuming. Humility is a virtue.

Rev. J. W. Dungee, of "Underground Railroad" fame, pastor of St. John Baptist Church, and myself, left Manchester as delegates of King Solomon Lodge, No 19, Grand United Order of Galilean Fishermen, recently organized in this town by the consecration of the above-named order in its 28th annual session at Washington, D. C., last August. We found things not altogether as we expected, an organization of the most unprecedented character. The spirit of benevolence was there.

I have been among many to look with a degree of unkind suspicion upon associations purporting to be secret in their workings. Time, however, with its varied changes, has brushed from my mind this cobweb of prejudice, and for the first time in my life in the above named town I had the pleasure of visiting the veil of fraternity and taking a quiet peep into the honest faces of 304 delegates.

Our trip up the great Shenandoah Valley was delightful, many stops were made famous by the life and death struggles between the North and the South, was attended with many moments of sad reflection. From Harper's Ferry to Front Royal and all along the line there seemed to come a faint sigh of regret for the terrible scenes of the mured amid the tales of carnage and around the hoary rocks of the Blue Ridge mate land.

At Manassas we met an excursion train of representatives from Massachusetts, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and West Virginia, among whom was Thos. I. Hall, R. W. N. G. R., of Baltimore, colored, and a number of Philadelphia Conference graduates of some of the institutions of learning. Reminiscences of the ministers of the A. M. E. Church were made, and the question was asked, "Why?" Can two-thirds of the ministers of this Church read intelligently from a newspaper? Do you know how much of the ministers could obtain an average of 75 in a common school examination in reading?

I ask these questions in good faith, believing that from you I shall receive an impartial answer. I hold that unless the ministry can be found to possess the affirmative, but would be pleased to have it done if possible in the interest and truth.

M. D. CORNISH.

[First, I am too slightly acquainted with the conditions to know, but have no doubt that they are equal to those of other conferences. So far as I know there have been found them as intelligent and faithful as the laity. I am unable to answer No. 2 with certainty, but feel sure a negative would not miss the truth. To No. 3, unqualifiedly, no. To No. 4 I could not say; to speak in numbers or ratios on such subjects is very unsafe and unsatisfactory.—EDITOR.]

MR. EDITOR:—Sunday morning, August 3rd, forty-one persons got excursion tickets at Enterprise for Barnwell, and returned the following day. The excursion was late. There stood the forty-one passengers waiting to take seats when the train bowled along like a streak, not stopping one moment for passengers. Disappointed, all colored, had to foot it fifteen miles to Enterprise. On the following day I met a white officer of a Justice of the Peace, filing an affidavit against the railroad company. Our case was tried and judgment for $150 awarded to each one. The following week, if all of our colored people will stand together as a race, an intelligent verdict will be at the head of the helm before long.

The National Baptist gives the following statistics, comparing the colored Baptist denomination, Rev. Cheek's denominations in this country: Episcopalians, less than 20,000; Congregationalists, 27,000; Presbyterians, 2,000; Colored Methodist Episcopal, 75,000; Zion (sic), 400,000; African Methodist Episcopal, 20,000; Methodist Episcopal, 24,000; total, 200,000. Colored Baptists, over 500,000, with 12 training schools, and 2,500 pupils in them.

The figures signed by the National must have been secured by rummaging among old books in some remote garret or book store. If we could reverse the course of time about two decades, some of the brethren would be found counting heads and reporting 4,000,000 colored Baptists. The very foolish notion that church statistics are made for the sake of boasting as well as the number of members, is a thing of the past. Statistics are now used to show what is not already correct, with reference to any given denomination. We should be grateful for the Episcopalian, Presbyterian and Congregational exchanges, by way of comparison, for correct statistics as to the colored people in this country, to each, all or any of the foregoing churches.

As to the Methodists of all descriptions, they are not to be found statistically, and the authorities are adverse to the correctness of the statement of the Baptist.

The Methodist Episcopal Church has 200,000; the African Methodist Episcopal Church, 301,094; the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, 300,000; the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, 155,000; equal to 1,056,094 members, which is 256,044 more or less than the Baptists in the United States, among the colored people.

This does not include the ministry. The Methodist ministry is large in proportion to the Church members, against the ministry of twelve Baptist Theological Schools, we are able to show twenty training schools in the Methodist Episcopal Church, with 1,500 students especially stated; besides the Methodist Episcopal Church has one model home, model schools and professorships and Bishop Haven's model Episcopal Church has two, the Zion one, and the colored Methodist Episcopal Church one; total twenty-seven training schools. The Presbyterians have one, Episcopalians one; total this, the Congregationalists nine; total this, than twenty thousand members which the National figures out for them, than it claims for its own 800,000 colored members. It is to be hoped, and we have no doubt, that proportionate increase in intellect is not as the difference in colored facilities between the twenty thousand colored Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Congregationalists and the 800,000 Baptists. Taking the National's statement as to the colored members in the first three denominations named, for the want of others which are modern, and our own for the Methodist, we have colored Christians not Baptists, 1,056,044; Baptists, 800,000; difference in favor of the not Baptists, 256,044. The not Baptists have an aggregate of forty schools; the Baptists have eleven. Difference in favor of the not Baptists, twenty-nine.

In the Methodist Episcopal schools alone are found eighty-eight teachers, and one hundred and eighty-eight students. In the Methodist Episcopal Church, over the colored Baptist denomination, there is collegiate students, 1,000.

The National must revise its figures. The Methodists are ahead, as well as in all good works.

TAWAWA THIS TIME—AN INTERESTING LETTER.

WILBERFORCE, O., August 4.—Returning from Madison, I spent two days at Xenia, finally in Louisville, and then came, as intimated in my last letter, to Wilberforce University to be present at the meeting of the Tawawa Literary and Scientific Club, which opened on the 29th, and closed on the 29th of July. The meeting was not as largely attended as I had hoped it would be, yet we had quite a pleasant and profitable time. We had the genial Bishop Campbell, the president of the Tawawa Assembly, Dr. H. T. Kealing, secretary and manager, Prof. A. D. Delany, secretary, and others from different parts of the country, including myself, who took part in the exercises were Revs. Geo. Hall, Wm. Hayden, Wm. Hawkins, A. Clark, J. N. O. Dodson, J. P. Shorter, S. T. Mitchell, Thomas H. Jones, Miss Scarborough and Mrs. A. Mitchell, Mrs. S. C. Scarborough, Mrs. A. Clark, Mrs. Sarah Cheeks, Mrs. J. P. Maxwell, Rt. Rev. J. A. Shorter, Mrs. O. B. Smith, Mrs. Bishop A. W. Bryant and your correspondent. Dr. T. H. Jackson gave a very interesting lecture on "Causes of the Decadence of the Negro." Rev. J. P. Maxwell discussed the "Qualifications of the Sunday School Teacher." Rev. M. E. Hyland gave an able address on the great importance of the study of history, and the best method of teaching it. Rev. Bryant in a very able paper possess an extensive education with men and things. He is a splendid type of the educated Southern Afro-American, but being more interested in the moral than the intellectual, place him with reference to race characteristics. He has had large experience in the management of men, and is in the opinion that the white reconstruction of the governments of the South since of the war was radically wrong; that the South should have been left to work out her own problem of the freedman and the ignorant whites had been educated; that the ballot should be given to the intelligent whites and blacks, and that ignorant whites were incapable of exercising the rights of voters, and that it was not surprising that the more intelligent white men of the South rose up in rebellion against the dark ignorant governance and organized Kuklux Klans, &c., to put down the ignorant rule of the black governments as existed in many of the Southern States. His position does not unless something be done soon to rid the Southern States of its burden of ignorance, that public education would go to ruin and drag the rest of the country down with it. Dr. Bryant created favorable impression.

WHEN THE WOMEN OF THE HOUSE are low-spirited and cross, the real trouble is often liver indigestion and nervous disorder. Don't scold, but give them the remedy—a bottle of Parker's Tonic.

The oldest and largest tree in the world, is the Sequoia, in a chestnut near the foot of Mount Etna. It is hollow and large enough to admit two carriages driving abreast through it. The circumference of the main trunk is 204 feet. The Grizzly Giant, monarch of the Mariposa Grove, measures 92 feet.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., New York.

A MEAN OLD GENERAL BOUTED.

Old "General Debility" has been put to flight in Arkansas, with happy results. From Brinkley, from Webb City, and from Walnut Ridge, Messrs. T. H. Anderson, E. M. Taylor and P. S. Pinchback respectively, write that they were all afflicted with general debility, and received solid benefit from Brown's Iron Bitters. This is pleasant to know, not only for Arkansas people, but for all sections of the country where General Debility has counted victims by the thousand. For sale everywhere.

An improvement has been effected in wooden block flooring. The common manner of laying the block flooring often results in disappointment, because the blocks soon become loose. The improvement consists in the blocks being fastened to a cement flooring, firmly fastening them, and the cement obviates both dampness and dry rot.

Is inseparably connected with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and is true of no other medicine. It is an unsurpassable sarsaparilla, and a tonic of extraordinary efficiency, while thousands testify to its superior blood-purifying and strengthening qualities when all other Sarsaparillas combined fail. Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 does and will last a month, while others of inferior merit last not over a week. Hence, for economy, buy Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It is a-shard Western town the clergyman does most of his parochial visiting by telephone. He hopes that he will get his parishioners educated up to the use of the telephone for decision questions by next winter, and will thus prevent the destruction of his boots—solid furniture and the depletion of his pocket-book. PHILADELPHIA, SEPTEMBER 11, 1884.

THE FOUNDATIONS ARE SURE

In remegling the musty papers and books of the fathers of African Methodism, we are struck with the correctness of the work as quickly as with its extent. The old magazine is as readable as the new. Of course, not in so chaste a modern English, yet in no correct, compared with its contemporary literature, as are our papers of to-day compared with current literature. Notwithstanding we find many instances of a lack of ability or disposition to record the church's doings, we also find very many evidences of a vigorous and well organized the records pure. It is found that Richard Allen and his coadjutors and immediate successors counseled much with lawyers, submitting ideas preliminary to legal transactions to them before applying them in the interests of the Church. Social work, they were careful to distribute work to the care of especial persons, each having his particular part to perform. Thus they laid the secure foundations strong, and not a few high encomiums have been passed by able lawyers upon the legally correct and wise plan of organization. The most recent of these was by Prof. B. T. Greener, at our late General Conference. We know that our religious foundation is the rock upon the seal, "The Lord knows them that are his, and let every one that oometh the name of Christ depart from iniquity."

YOU ARE CALLED to the ministry, young brother; you are a member of the A. M. E. Church; you attend Wilberforce University if possible. You are inclined to the legal profession, say brother; you are a member of the A. M. E. Church; you should study at Allen University, if possible. Young gentlemen and young ladies, you are preparing to teach, and you are preparing to become the heads of houses, the teachers in Sabbath school, the moulders of social life; you are the children of members of the A. M. E. Church, and should study at William Penn Quinn, Allen or Wilberforce if possible. Reasons: Christian influences have had upon the negro is to compare without any dill ulty to reach a decision. The one has educated narrowly; the other has made constant efforts to educate liberally. The one has exercised its influence in making Catholics; the other in making Christians. The one has introduced an ignorant people to the hierarchy; the other to the Christ. The one has created a moral life-feeling of responsibility to the church and God; the other made life constantly feeling its obligation to God as well.

UNDER NOTES ON EDUCATION our readers will see a clipping from the South Carolina Advocate to the effect that the people of South Carolina are greatly excited about the propriety of educating the negro; the Yankees go ahead and educate him whether or no. Yes, Brother South Carolina Advocate, it must be admitted that the negro is educated, and to a certain extent, morally and otherwise. Few men are doing better service in the campaign. He shows that all the talk about quiet elections in the South, everything being quiet since the negro vote has been suppressed by intimidation, etc., is but another way the Southern Democrats have of telling the negro, "Rise, if you dare; your votes will count nothing if cast, we rule here; it is a white man's country." Colored Murrell is President of the Colored Association Press Association.

Notes on Education.

The salary of assistant teachers has been raised to $40 per month in Lexington.

The Baptist Theological Seminary has elected to the Professorship of Homiletics the Rev. Dr. Sago, of Hartford, Conn.

The total school population of the country is 15,000,000; of these 10,000,000 were enrolled as students, with an average attendance of 6,000,000.

The semi-centenary of the Theological Seminary, Newton, N. J., will be celebrated October 22, 29, and the chief occasion stops will be taken to increase the endowment.

The Colored High School of Washington, D. C., after July, 1885, will increase the salary of the principal to $2,500, and will also establish four departments—language, modern languages, mathematics and business—with instructors at $1,500 each.—The Standard.

While we down here are perplexing ourselves as to whether or not it will do to educate the negro, the Yankees are going ahead and educating him all the same. For example, the Northern Methodists propose, as a part of their centennial offering, $500,000 for "Education in the South" to be used under the auspices and direction of their "President's Aid Association.—South Carolina Christian Advocate.

The Indian school at Carlisle, Pa., has received an addition of seventy-seven young Pueblo Indians. There are now 400 of these pupils in the school. We have reason to hope that we are entering upon a new era in Indian history. By sending these children and training them to labor, the delusion that has so long misled the people of the Indian's God's Indian cannot be educated as other peoples, is being dispelled. Their industry and trustworthiness after they leave these training-schools is proof of this. Take the savarge, and it is believed that the government will soon find that it has long been mistaken as to the best method of training the Indian, and that its interest is no longer subserved by the destructive weapons in subduing them.—The Christian Instructor.

PRELIMINARY PROCLAMATION TO ALL FRIENDS OF FREEDOM AND EDUCATION

GREETING:

"Educational Endowment Day," to elevate the character, as it has been recommended by the late action of the Church, to give a new impetus to work already so auspiciously begun in our Church, in exalting the standard of Christian education; to make the amount necessary to relieve the financial embarrassment of those of our institutions which are suffering more than lack of such sufficient aid, as all similar institutions are compelled to do, and to enable us to bring this department of our Church work into such a condition as to meet to the ultimate success demands, were some of the objects sought to be attained by our late General Conference, in creating the Bureau of Education, by inaugurating an Educational Day for the benefit of the entire Church.

In furtherance of these grand objects it is required that collections be taken through the entire day of September 21st, in all churches and Sabbath schools of the A. M. E. connection. Bishop Hinton is earnestly requested that all churches and Sabbath schools unite in celebrating the inauguration of this event on Monday, September 22nd; the anniversary of the great Proclamation of Freedom by the immortal Abraham Lincoln.

The happy blending of our heart's deep gratitude for the emancipation already accomplished, with our earnest efforts for emancipation for moral, mental and physical slavery, more terrible than those bonds from which we so recently been released, must commend this celebration to the favorable consideration of every intelligent friend of our race. Give us your dollars, half dollars, quarters and dimes.

To the Rev. Johnson Reed, presiding elder of the Louisiana district, we confess, and others in the pastoral work who have written us concerning the time set for State Sabbath School Convention, I take this method publicly stating what I have written to them privately: that the 21st and 22nd of September having been chosen for our late annual conference as the time for holding the Sabbath School Convention, then need not be a change in that respect. All that is necessary is to make collections in all our churches and Sabbath schools on the 21st, and as the convention will be in session on the 22nd, it should rather augment the interests of the occasion than otherwise. I reiterate the desire expressed to you in answer to your communication on this subject, that all our ministers and superintendents throughout Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and the Indian Territory, make every possible exertion to raise the minimum sum stipulated for each member as the Educational Endowment Collection. God, angels and all good men approve a laudable ambition to excel in any good work. Let us then go forward in the discharge of this duty, and trusting in God, we shall fully realize our highest expectation.

Yours in Christ,
REV. A. M. GREEN.

ON TO THIRD SUNDAY IN SEPTEMBER, 1884, BEING THE 21ST DAY OF THE MONTH.

Please do not wait for others; but act yourself. We have heard of a pastor who swore every one went expecting to dine with somebody else, but when the time arrived there was nothing to eat. We therefore beg that every Bishop, presiding elder, officer, member, friend and child will give on that day for education as he has prospered them.

2. The law requires that "notice of this collection shall be given in all our papers and from all our pulpits, at least one month prior to the time appointed."

3. That "the collections shall be taken in every church for Education, at every service that day, both in the church and Sabbath school."

3. That the amount raised shall be "not less than 10 cents per member, to be sacredly set apart for education."

4. That 25 cents out of every dollar raised shall be immediately sent to the Rev. Wm. D. Johnson, Secretary of Education, Box 265, Athens, Ga., for Wilberforce University, and the remaining 75 cents out of each dollar, in reference within the district shall elect one of their number to be a member of the District Educational Board.

This Board shall have general supervision of the Educational work in the district, shall regulate and authorize the collection of funds, appoint District Secretaries of Education, and designate and arrange for their compensation, and shall disburse the funds appropriated to the educational work of the district, under general rules and quadrennial reports to the Secretary of Education. It shall determine the time of meeting and at such time as may seable it to forward its reports to the Secretary of Education, at two-weeks prior to the meeting of the General Board. Any vacancies in the local or district boards shall be filled by appointment of the Bishop of the Conference in his district, such vacancy to be reported at the next session of the Board.

A local auxiliary Board shall be formed, to act together with Trustees and Stewards, a sketch of Casper Schwonkfeld, a contemporary of Luther, and many such interesting readers. A chapter concerning the Phrenological Journal make the September number remarkably attractive.

"Wheat Fields of the Columbia," by Ernest Ingersoll, illustrations drawn by Harley Morse, Pentil, Tinkey, Wellington, Hoskin and Irwin, renders the Harper's for October highly interesting and profitable. The engravings representing natural scenery, indoor drawing, social pleasantries and rural peculiarities are strikingly instructive.

Prof. Langley's interesting paper on "Spots on the Sun," in the September Century, will be followed by another on "Recent Investigations." In this latter number of that magazine. The Battle of Fredericksburg, and author of "Battle and Sheil" The illustrations and his reproductions, now engraved for the first time, of the well-known sketches by Edwin Forbes, the pictorial war correspondent.

The Rev. J. Height Bess, Conference Secretary, has our thanks for copy of minutes of eleventh session, New Jersey Conference, Rt. Rev. J. M. Brown, D.D., Presiding Bishop, Rev. Israel Derricks Secretary, Rev. J. M. Brown, Assistant Secretary. The conference reports 2,533 members, 510 probationers, 46 local preachers and exhorters, 3 school houses, 44 Sunday schools, 373 teachers, 304 officers, 2,235 pupils, 1,101 conversions in the Sunday schools, 9,739 volumes in the library; the money raised $21,756.71.

Mr. W. D. Howells will contribute to the Century, during the coming year, a series of descriptions of some of the life, society, customs, etc., of the cities of northern Italy, beginning with several papers on Venice, to be illustrated profusely. My Mark Twain will also contribute to The Century's wonderful work, after the stubbings of Whittier, Haden, and others, are already well known, and it is announced that Mr. Howells's series will be illustrated with reproductions of etchings by Joseph Pennell, the young artist who has the author through Italy during the preparation of the articles.

Alexander Winchell contributes to the North American "Our Remote Ancestors," a highly scientific paper well repaying its readers, though it may serve to lower the self-estimation of the modern Caucasian in many. Mr. Winchell says, "Clearly there does not exist in Europe a single race of splendidly pure ethnic character, nor do national boundaries coincide with the limits of each ethnic strain as remain undiscoverable. The element of a German nationality or of a Celtic nationality is not less a blend, less as that of an Austrian, a British or an Italian." The mixture is a conglomerate, not an alloy."

The Missionary Review gives the following statistics of Religious Denominations, 1883: Number of communicants, Roman Catholic, 6,000,000; Greek Church, 29,540; Church Missionary Society, 250,670; English Baptist Missionary Society, 2,000; General Baptist Missionary Society, 1,175; London Missionary Society, 4,000; Wesleyan Methodist, 106,765, including probationers; Primitive Methodist, 16,000; United New Connection, 1,337, including probationers; United Methodist Free Church, 14,000, including probationers; Bible Christians, 4,064; English Presbyterians, 1,000; Irish Presbyterians, 10,000; Reformed Church of Scotland, 4,400; Irish Presbyterians, 10,000; Irish Established Church, 1,100; Basle Missionary Society, 7,366, with several societies not giving numbers.

Mr. Winchell says, "Clearly there does not exist in Europe a single race of splendidly pure ethnic character, nor do national boundaries coincide with the limits of each ethnic strain as remain undiscoverable. The element of a German nationality or of a Celtic nationality is not less a blend, less as that of an Austrian, a British or an Italian." The mixture is a conglomerate, not an alloy."

The Missionary Review gives the following statistics of Religious Denominations, 1883: Number of communicants, Roman Catholic, 6,000,000; Greek Church, 29,540; Church Missionary Society, 250,670; English Baptist Missionary Society, 2,000; General Baptist Missionary Society, 1,175; London Missionary Society, 4,000; Wesleyan Methodist, 106,765, including probationers; Primitive Methodist, 16,000; United New Connection, 1,337, including probationers; United Methodist Free Church, 14,000, including probationers; Bible Christians, 4,064; English Presbyterians, 1,000; Irish Presbyterians, 10,000; Reformed Church of Scotland, 4,400; Irish Presbyterians, 10,000; Irish Established Church, 1,100; Basle Missionary Society, 7,366, with several societies not giving numbers.

A Thorough Purgative
Is sometimes a necessity for cure. Then the cathartic effect must be tonic-assisted, to be permanent. Ayer's Pills tend to prevent a recurrence of costiveness, and by their tonic action the digestive and stomach must be stimulated and strengthened.

Accomplish this restorative work better than any other medicine. They are searching and thorough, yet mild in their purgative action. They do not gripe the intestines, but by their tonic effect on the nerves, as is the effect of other cathartics. Without irritating or debilitating any digestive, hepatic and bowel, of the highest importance.

Absolutely Cure
All disease proceeding from disorder of the digestive and sanitatory organs. The proper use of books Ayer's Pills to correct the first indications of costiveness, and thus prevent the more serious neglect of that condition would inevitably follow. All derangements in the action of the bowels—looseness as well as costiveness—are speedily corrected by Ayer's Pills, and by their use alone. THE RECORD DISTRICT OF THE KENTUCKY CONFERENCE.

BY REV. A. ZELNOR.

MR. EDITOR:—The second district of the Kentucky Conference, and the last we had visited, was Mayfield. We left Hopkinsville on the morning of the 20th, and reached Mayfield in time for the evening service. Rev. J. C. Garrison, the Presiding Elder of the district, was present, and preached the sermon. The Presiding Elder and I remained with the pastor, Rev. J. C. Little, Rev. Young, of Fulton, and Rev. Mr. Hall, of Graves county, who had come to Mayfield to attend the Conference. Brother Garrison preached a good sermon, and was followed by brother Young, who also preached a good sermon. Both sermons were highly appreciated by the congregation. Brother Little is a young man, but he is a preacher of ability. He is a good sermonizer, and is growing in the confidence of the people. He is a young man of promise, and will make a good preacher if he will continue to study and improve himself. He has the material in him for a good preacher, and I hope he will not neglect the cultivation of his mind. He has the energy and the will to work, and with the blessing of God he will succeed. He is a young man of good habits, and is a favorite with the people. He is a native of Mayfield, and has many friends who will rejoice to see him succeed. He has the encouragement of the presiding elder and myself, and I hope he will not disappoint us. Brother Hall

A FASTING GIRL.

In Cincinnati a sixteen-year old girl recently died after a fast of fifty-two days. She had been attacked by something like paralysis which rendered it impossible for her to take nourishment. The human system cannot thrive without good food and ability to digest it. Weak and impoverished blood is rectified by Brown's Iron Bitters—better than any other tonic in the world. MR. J. E. Frosberg, Pomeroy, Iowa, says: "I used Brown's Iron Bitters for dyspepsia and poor appetite; completely cured me." It will cure you.

A Georgia man compels his daughter to eat onions for supper every night, and at 10 o'clock the household is sleeping peacefully.

INSURANCE.

Insurance is a good thing whether applied to life or property. No less a blessing is anything that insures good health. Kidney-Wort does that. It assures great remedy. It is a mild but efficient cathartic, and acting at the same time on the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels, it relieves all these organs and enables them to perform their duties perfectly. It has wonderful power. See ad.

It is calculated that recently 350,000 Mormon dollars have been sent from Salt Lake City, Utah, to Mexico, to California, then transmitted to China.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

The people, as a whole, seldom make mistakes, and the unanimous voice of praise which comes from those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, for all ills the blame of the proprietors of this great medicine. Indeed these very claims are a tribute to the good sense of people say Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for them.

A Paris lady recently gave a ball to her female friends and asked each to bring a living animal. All except three brought kittens.

Atlee E. Curtis of Brunswick, Me., writes, that Lindsey Blair cured very much with kidney disease. Using several bottles of Hunt's Remedy (Lindsey Blair's prescription) Miss C. pronounces it a real blessing to woman for all kidney diseases.

Bicycle riders may be glad to know that there is a remedy for stiff joints and soreness to enable them to come heads up when tossed over their wheels.

Try Ayer's Pill and be cured. Misery in a mild way is the result of a torpid liver, and body and mind caused by habitual constipation. A few doses of Ayer's Cathartic Pills in mild dose will restore the torpid viscera to healthy action.

It now appears that Brigham Young, the Mormon, once offered to make Fatty Patti the head of his wives. The little songstress sensibly declined.

"Blood-food" is the suggestive name often given to Ayer's Sarsaparilla, because of its blood-building qualities.

Lord Rosebrowood, as Antiquarian editor, and the other editors of the million collar house in Melbourne, is said to be richer than Mr. William H. Vanderbilt.

HOW TO HAVE A CLEAR SKIN.

When the skin is yellow with bile, or thick and muddy from careless living, a few doses of one bottle of Ayer's Pills will make it look fresh and clear again.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to take; sooths the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

PHILADELPHIA, SEPTEMBER 25, 1884

THE REUNION.

The union between the A. M. E. and B. M. E. Churches has been effected and the A. M. E. Church has now entered on it's vast mission field. The accessions are 2,000 members, one Bishop, one school, one monthly paper and four annual conferences. As we said a week ago, the act does not give to the Church any immediate financial help. It is the result, however, of doing what is right and will not consistently avoid doing. We do not enter upon the work of Christianity counting how much money the enterprise will bring in. It was not so. It is true we should not assume responsibilities that are beyond our capabilities, for we do not have the capabilities of Christian forces? They are not measured by numbers, nor by human capabilities in any other sense than the unfathomable sense of Divine forces. One thing is sure in this connection, that the increase of our members by such vast additions—the Church of Canada, all the British and Danish West Indies, require the exercise of our strongest thoughts, purest harmony, most concentrated and unlimited devotion. A lack of harmony on the part of two or more classes on this side or on that side may render what God would make a blessing to both a curse and failure. Church of Christ live close to Christ and do the duty lying nearest. Surely our lack of gaining Turf from Catholicism and Africa from heathenism would sound like the vaguest nothing were we to show ourselves unable to go into the possession of the nearer fields already white, already more than half manned, already, indeed, partly harvested. Our earnestness is tested, my brethren; our trust is tried. Let us be found abiding in Him whose every effort is successful and who will not suffer us to be moved, but make us ahide forever. It is the opportunity of our Church. The B. M. E. Church brings with it house much more than it took away. Let us receive its strength and give it out strongly.

THE OHIO ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

This body began its session Sept. 10th, and adjourned on the 15th. Bishop Campbell was constantly received. Having met this conference several times previously, and even sat as its chairman during nearly the entire session in Bishop Shorter's absence, he was on his way home from Europe, the Bishop and members were somewhat acquainted. Bishop Shorter was with us not until the last day. It is a pleasure to see this courtesy extended by the retiring Bishops to their successors. It is almost universally extended. Between Bishop Campbell and Shorter seam to understand each other so well that their union is effective on such occasions. The retiring Bishop is competent to hand the work over to his successor—appointments, men, charges, &c., with information which in the case of the brethren have gained with less than a year's association with his new work. The established men and the presiding elder system will give the entering Bishop a new means of information. Touching this subject—the presiding eldership—the Ohio Conference acted decidedly upon the most of our conferences that have taken action on it. This conference divides the territory in from seven to nine each presiding elder is also pastor of a church. The conference has 31 appointments and 29 members, probationers and supplies.

Dr. John G. Mitchell has been chairman of the committee on admission three years during which time about fifteen young men have presented themselves at the door; they have knocked, but only one has gained admission. The Doctor's collegiate—Wilberforce—has man and J. E. Russell—stand by the chairman. They are determined that the young man who is admitted to preach shall have the elements of an English education.

The Dollar Money amounted to between $700 and $800. Every person on education did not show up with the record of this conference, yet ther were fair. On temperance, the Sunday school and other topics, the conference maintained its wonted high character. Dr. B. T. Tanner visited our sessions, preached an excellent discourse and obtained a number of subscribers to the Review. Presiding Elder W. P. Root, of the Florida District, was present and addressed the conference. Rev. Mitchell, of Wilberforce University, was present and addressed the conference. He is a pastor sum d acquaintance and confidence. The form remains as we found it—broken hearted, dejected, hopeless—though the adamantine chill of the dark desolation in the cold country of "Before I'd be a slave," had to that time made remarks. Since then it closely as the conference to Wilberforce University, exemption being between 200 and 300 cash, and obtain in addition a first class scholarship. Many of the officers of the University where all are Good night, the entire session being characterized by the presence of the Holy Spirit. Rev. Mr. Gaines, of Wilberforce, was also present and addressed the conference. Rev. Mr. Gaines is a man of God and a man of power. He is a man of God and a man of power. He is a man of God and a man of power. He CAUGHT BY AN OCTOPUS.

A diver who was trying to find pearls off the Alaska coast, found none; but found himself, all of a sudden, in the grasp of an ugly octopus with arms twenty-feet long. Such an experience is rare; but there are thousands of people who are caught by dyspepsia, which is quite as bad. An octopus hates of lot-o. So does dyspepsia. Brown's Iron Bitters settles dyspepsia, and makes it loose its cruel grip. Mrs. dehmith and her daughter, of 116 Conway street, Baltimore, were both once caught of dispepsiaply the use of Brown's Iron Bitters.

A methodist minister tried to start a church in Centre Town, but from lack of support had to give up the project. This was the occasion of his farewell sermon: "As the last day the Lord will say to Saint Peter, 'Where is your flock?' and Saint Peter will answer, 'Here, Lord;' He will say to Calvin, 'And where are you sheep?' and Calvin will reply, 'Here Lord;' and so all of the shepherds can point to their sheep when he asks me, 'Where are your sheep?' how will you feel when I am compelled to reply, 'Lord, I haven't any; mine were all hogs.'"

House Cleaning. The best thing ever produced for this and all purposes of the kind is James Pyle's Pearline. It makes the housekeeper do less work and more satisfactory in less than half the usual time without the aid of soap, or anything else, great, injurious to the hands. Kleiber and Laundry is attracting wide-spread admiration. Sold by grocers everywhere, but beware of vile imitations with names that sound like Pearline.

She had just returned from Vassar, and papa was standing her finances. "I hope, my dear," said the old man, "that you haven't acquired any of the vulgar slang phrases which so many of the Vassar young ladies are said to use." "You bet I haven't, papa," she said brightly; "when any body catches me talking slang he is especially invited to sling me in the eye as hard as he can. I'm sure my daughter's new husband will be mighty glad to hear that I have broken her of the habit."

An old Indiana railroad man recently remarked that ninety-five per cent. of the accidents which occur on railroads are coupling cars are through their own recklessness or want of attention. In his large experience he said he had never known a half dozen cases where men had been injured in coupling cars if they had been duly careful.—N. Y. Post.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Endowment Day in Springfield, Ohio, was one of interest. The pastor, Rev. T. H. Acker, had made ample arrangements. President S. T. Mitchell, of Wilberforce University, and the editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER were present. The latter preached in the morning and the former addressed the Sunday school in the afternoon. At night the pastor preached in behalf of education to a very large and appreciative audience, his closing sermon for the conference year.

Springfield is one of the most beautiful, thrifty and progressive cities in the State. Here are located the headquarters of several of the most extensive manufacturing establishments in Ohio. The Whitely Manufacturing Company, makers of the celebrated reaping and mowing machines is worse over all the civilized world; P. P. Mast & Co. manufacture threshers and other machines for the whole world. Both of these are largely in elder presses, and in the interests of the world's salvation. Mr. James Nelson, a very prominent and extensive manufacturer of the Whiteley plow, and Mr. W. H. Dixon, of the A. M. E. Church, does an extensive business in sash, blinds, carriage building, patent gates, etc.; James Buford, Esq., a colored man, is a large builder and contractor.

The colored people of Springfield have four houses of worship. The Baptists are erecting an elegant building on Factory street. Church & Lee, pastor. This ship is a commodious and neat chapel on Center street, and the A. M. E. denomination in a cosy church on Center street, and a beautiful church on North street. This building at the time of its completion was the most beautiful in the city, but the Methodists will claim the place now, though there is no doubt that the North street church will hold its place.

The editors are under the principleship of Mr. M. H. Vaughn, a graduate of Wilberforce University, and a good class of teachers.

The North street church raised fifty-two dollars and sixty-nine cents for the education of Methodist children on Children's Day. Rev. Jackson has closed a successful year in this church. The people regret his acceptance of the chair of theology at Wilberforce University. Dr. J. G. Mitchell is a prominent member of the Central Committee, Clerk Co., Ohio, "We can secure scarcely any other man so sure to fill our wigwam with white people as Dr. Arnett. We must have him." It is so with Greener, Douglass, Langston, Bruce, Lynch, Bledsoe, and many others. It is not strange that this capability goes for so little towards relieving our race from the thraldom of prejudice!

ENDOWMENT DAY and Children's Day show results that indicate a united position on the two questions in the future will be the amount of faithful following of Christ. With God all things are possible.

There are evidences, however, of an inexcusable indifference at some points. The minister who says "the people don't seem to appreciate me" ought to know that he is taxing general credibility severely. There are few willing to believe that there is a congregation in the connection that would not give anything. Let all ministers having such congregations make it known by showing hands.

MR. BLAINE'S letter addressed to Mr. Phelps is clear, open and manly. Every fair-minded man must be satisfied that the unrighteousness of our candidate in all his efforts to tell the country who he is and what are his intentions, should commend him to all good citizens as a proper person to lead a free people.

Compare this with the statements now making the answer to charges made against the prominent candidates on the democratic ticket, and you will find the same contrast in Blaine's favor that you will find in comparing the two men and their two parties on every possible ground.

OUR LAST official act as President of Wilberforce University, whose performance had been deferred for want of parchments, was executed Sept. 20th—signing the certificate of twelve men who had had the doctorate degree conferred during our administration, but had not received their diplomas. One of these is a man of the colored race, and a minister in the M. E. Church, but at the same time a lover of MAN and a worshipper of God, the Rev. Sylvester Weeks, of Miamisburg, Ohio.

THE NORTH Ohio Conference opened September 24th, Bishop Campbell presiding and Rev. Dr. Mitchell, secretary. This is a progressive conference. It has closed its third year and thus far claims to have excelled its mother in all reports excepting the Ohio river floods.

WE NOTICE several errors in our articles of two weeks ago, grammatical, typographical, &c. We were more than five hundred miles away from the proof reading, and had to be satisfied with our interpreter at the office.

THE SITUATION of General Gordon is becoming encouraging. General Wolseley has telegraphed to send no more troops. The seige of Kartoum is said to have been raised.

ENGLAND has a motherly (?) eye on China; Russia an essential eye upon France.

THE centennial medal will soon be completed. Every home will have one.

THE Centennial Record is nearing completion. Dr. Arnett, editor.

He has been elected for the fourth year teacher, and now principal of the high school, Evansville, Ind.

Notes on Education.

The total number of graduates from all the departments of Columbia College since its foundation now amounts to 8,500.

Williams College opened on September 4th with a small Freshman class. The number, fifty-seven, does not compare well with the eighty-six of last year, or even the seventy-two of the year before.

In Howard University, Washington, D. C., there are five colored Lutheran theological students. Two are from North Carolina, two from South Carolina, and one from St. Thomas Island, West Indies.

The late Senator Anthony bequeathed $25,000 to Brown University and the Rhode Island Hospital; also an additional $3,000 to Brown University, the income to be used in prizes for excellence in scholarship; also $3,000 to the Institute at Coventry, $500 for the Anthony Institute for the purchase of books. He also leaves to Brown his collection of American poetry.

Register Bruce, in speaking of the section of the exhibition to be allotted to the colored people, says: "I am surprised to find how rich our race is already in matters that would be interesting and valuable. Of course, the object is to make a display that will show as far as possible the progress that the colored race has made in the twenty years since it has been free, and I think we shall surprise a good many people on this account. The quantity of material which to select is quite gratifying. Of course the fact that we have good schools and good educational facilities is generally understood, but probably the result is not recognized by the majority of people in this country.

Some very interesting facts are brought to notice about education in the South for 1883, by the recently issued report of the Bureau of Education. We gladly use a resume made ready to our hand in a recent number of the Methodist Review and Quarterly: In the South, with a white school population of 4,000,000 and a colored school population of nearly 2,000,000, there were more than 6,000,000 children and nearly 900,000 colored children attending the schools. The percentage of attendance of the former ranges from 36 to 73 per cent. for white children, and from 17 to 58 per cent. for colored children, therefore, is at the head of the column for white children and well forward as regards colored children. Last year 73 per cent. of the white children in the State attended, and 56 per cent. of the colored children were in attendance during the same year. The report of the State Superintendent of Education for 1883-'83 shows that in the year there were 2,000 more colored children attending the public schools than in the previous year, and from 80,575 to 96,938, while the number of white children increased from 59,287 to 74,157; more than 50 per cent. States Commissioner of Education finds no cause for discouragement, as there is a remarkable gain in public school attendance in the South, as well as in the amount of funds expended on public schools.

Literature.

West Side Remembers, by Oren Munsinger, published by Crowell & Co., New York, is a well bound book of 250 pages, bearing the title, a very happy style and adapted to children and young folks. It is a charming little book for homes.

The Budget for 1884 comes to our table in neat form, containing 263 pages of interesting statistics pertaining to our Church and the country at large. Biographical sketches, obituaries of the leading men of the General Offices of the A. M. E. Church, Bishops' addresses, historical data of the colored Methodist Church in particular, and the universal Methodism in general, together with other valuable information make the Budget one of the best books that yet is edited by Rev. B. W. Arnett, D.D., Financial Secretary. The book is worth fifty cents and should be had. We only regret that the Secretary does not make it a matter of profit to himself that it might bring a large revenue into the Treasury, and at the same time do much good among our people.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION BY COLORED FREEMASONS.

The 100th anniversary of the granting of a warrant by the Grand Lodge of England constituting a Lodge of Colored Freemasons in this country, was celebrated in this city on Wednesday and Wednesday of this week. The warrant under which the colored Masons in the United States claim to be now working was numbered 479, and was given on the 29th day of September, A. D., 5784, A. D., 1784," by Rowland Holt, Deputy Grand Master, acting under the command of "Thomas Howard, Earl of Effingham, Lord Howard, Scrope, Howard and Molbray, Baron Howard, Acting Grand Master under the Authority of his Royal Highness, Henry Frederick, Duke of Cumberland, &c., &c., &c., Grand Master of the Most Ancient and Honorable Society of Free and Accepted Masons." The persons to whom the warrant was granted were Prince Hall, Boston Smith and Thomas Sanderson, and the Lodge was to be opened in Boston under the title of "African Lodge."

Elaborate preparations were made for the Centennial, delegations from and delegates from the Grand Lodges of New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, Michigan, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Louisiana, Ohio and other jurisdictions were present. The Cyrene Commandery, No. 16, of Cincinnati, headed by its Eminent Commander of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, and Damascus Commandery, of Louisville, Ky., said to be the only colored commandery among colored Masons," was also here. The Grand Master, Alexander Blanche K. Bruce, of Mississippi, and Col. Lewis, of Louisiana, were among the prominent persons present.

The events of Monday, the first day of the celebration, were the laying of the once to "Symbolic Masonry," and in the morning there was a parade of the "blue lodges" and the representatives of the various Masonic jurisdictions. The line was formed at 9 o'clock on Broad street, west side, right resting on South street, and moved up Broad to Girard avenue, to Fourth, to Pine, to Broad, to Industrial Hall and dismissed. It is stated that there were about 25 lodges in the city and 2000 members. At noon there was an address in Industrial Hall by M. W. Grand Master G. W. Clark, of Ohio. In the evening there was a public reception at Horticultural Hall, presided over by "Lodge Commander of the Mission" to the Grand Lodge, Grand Chapter and Grand Commandery of Pennsylvania and the Subordinate Officers.

On Tuesday, the 30th, there was a parade of the Royal Arch Masons. The line formed at 9 P. M., on Broad and Southstreets, and marched up to Spruce, to Fourth, to Pine, to Broad, to Chestnut, and dismissed. In the evening, at Horticultural Hall, a banquet was tendered, on which occasion Most Worshipful Master Carter A. Stewart, of the District of Columbia, acted as Master of Ceremonies.

The most important features of the celebration, however, occurred on Wednesday. At 10 o'clock in the morning the Knights Templar marched to the line forming at Broad and Girard avenue, and moved over the following route: Down Broad, to Chestnut, to Fifth, to Pine, to Broad, to Keystone Park. At the latter place the commanderies went through a competitive drill, when the following prizes were offered: First, $100; second, silk Templar banner; third, Eminent Commander's sword. It is thought fully 2000 Knights participated in the demonstration.

The officers of the Commission which had the affair in charge were: Augustus Fearce, Chairman; Dr. John Hall, Vice President; Alex. B. Ireland and Joshua D. Kelly, Secretaries. The Grand Officers of the colored Masonic bodies in Pennsylvania are: Grand Master, William H. Miller; Grand High Priest, John Dixon; Grand Commander, James T. Robinson; and M. P. S. G. C., Morris Wheeler.

THE REVIEW: HOME AND ABROAD.

Absent from our office for five or six weeks, we found upon our return quite a number of letters, some of which were entirely too good to keep, at least temporarily, and therefore conclude to give excerpts from them, to the end that all may see how the Review is received and how it is appreciated.

From Rev. Wilbur P. Thirkield, D.D., Dean of Theology of Clark University, Atlanta, Ga.:

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 28, 1884.

REV. B. T. TANNER, D.D.:

Dear Doctor—Allow me to extend you my congratulations on the appearance of the first number of your new Review. It gives large promise of a useful future. A comparison between this number and the first issue of the Review will show a very marked improvement in the make-up of the old magazine that Bishop Payne left you. The Review rather drags behind the progress of the times in the Providence of God, that this is the age of the printing press, and from which, I am to do this work. From all those considerations I cannot be deaf to the appeal you make for a copy for this year mailed me. Yours sincerely,

WILBUR P. THIRKIELD.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 26, 1884.

MY DEAR BROTHER TANNER:

Thanks for your kind words. I did contemplate sending you the next issue for June 8th or 12th a congratulatory notice of your election to the editorship of the Review, but I am deeply concerned and follow your courses with much earnest solicitude.

I fear it will not be possible for me to contribute anything for the next number of the Review, as I am now on the eve of moving to New Orleans; but I assure you that I shall be pleased out for work I shall take pleasure in doing.

I wish you great success and am sure any possible failure will not be for want of ample brains on your part to master the requirements.

Respectfully yours,
MARSHALL W. TAYLOR.

From the editor of The Hub, A. H. Grimke, Esq.:

BOSTON, Aug. 15, 1884.

DEAR BROTHER TANNER:

Your very kind note and the A. M. E. Church Review came duly to hand. I intend at an early day to say in The Hub that high appreciation of the Review I have and will cheerfully do all I can to make it a success. We send to you cordially, I am assure you, and wish you all the success which you so richly deserve. Let me know whether I shall endeavor to do my part at some length or leave the matter to others. Yours in so worthy an enterprise.

Very cordially,
A. H. GRIMKE.

From an admirer in England, T. M. Peer, Esq.:

HASTINGS, July 29, 1884.

REV. B. T. TANNER, D.D.:

Dear Sir—You cannot imagine how glad I was on receiving your letter to imagine how glad I was on receiving your letter to imagine how glad I was on receiving your letter to

PEOPLE WHO DO NOT EAT BREAD.

The Gartenlaube has an article on those civilized nations a large proportion of whose peasantry eat little or no bread. Baked loaves of bread are unknown in many parts of South Australia and of Italy, said throughout the agricultural districts of Roumania. In the villages of the Ghaverlermark, not very many miles from Vienna, bread is never seen, the staple food of the people being oat cake, a kind of pancake made from ground beech-nuts, which is taken at breakfast with fresh or curdled milk, at dinner with broth or fried lard, and with milk again for supper. In the north of Italy the peasantry live chiefly on polenta, a porridge made of boiled maize. The polenta, however, is not allowed to granulate, like Scotch porridge, or the Austrian stara, but is boiled into a solid pudding, which is cut up and portioned out with a string. It is eaten cold as often as it is hot, and is in every sense the Italian peasant's bread. The modern Roumanians are held by many scholars to be descended from a Roman colony, in other words in the direct line of Latin blood; and curiously enough, a variation of the polenta, called mamaliga, is the national dish of Roumania. The mamaliga is like the polenta, and, like it is made of maize meal, but it is unlike the other in one important respect—as the grains are not allowed to settle into a solid mass, but are kept distinct after the fashion of oatmeal porridge.—Southern Christian Advocate.

CONTEMPTIBLE AND VALUABLE ARTICLE.

The publisher of the Modoc County Record writes from Hostsville, Ark., as to the value of Hunter's Iron Bitters to his wife. Mr. Daugherty says, "My wife has been using Hunter's Bitters for some months; the effect is her case is remarkable." Hunter's Bitters have many counterfeits and imitations, it was difficult to get the genuine article. That difficulty has been overcome. Druggists and tors have been exposed and put in flight. There is no where, Brown's Iron Bitters can be had of all the respectable druggists at a dollar a bottle.

REGULARS

One of the strongest proofs of the value of Kidney-Wort as a remedy for all diseases of the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, is the fact that it is now prescribed by "regular" physicians. Phillip C. Baird, M. D. of Monkton, Vt., says: "Take it all in all, it is the most successful remedy I have ever used."

PHILADELPHIA, OCTOBER 9, 1884.

Has the work been well done? Did the party of the second part, viz., the B. M. E. General Conference, act with the consent of the people? Then why these resolutions? If Bishop Disney and his General Conference understood their people and represented them, as they, the people, had indicated their feelings on the subject, then ought the people in all reason submit; but if matters were forced upon the people, over them, then the union is no union, for there will still be a B. M. E. Church despite the union. But are those who engage in the opposing movement acting in the best interest of their people, themselves included? Are they representing the people's wishes? Is it more Christian to be united or to be disunited? We clip the following from the detroit Plaindealer:

The B. M. E. Church people in Chatham have refused to accept the A. M. E. Church as their head and will be known as the B. M. E. Church. They have refused to admit Bishop Disney and the late Rev. Dr. Brooks, their new pastor, to this church, and a chancery suit is now in progress to settle the dispute.

NORTH OHIO CONFERENCE.

This conference, only three years old, is composed of thirty as able men as could be collected promiscuously in any connection. The younger members are progressive and promising and the elders are already well developed. The Revs. W. D. Mitchell, P. Toliver, W. H. Coleman, J. W. Gazaway, M. M. Smith, J. Henderson, G. R. Blount, with the earliest accession to our conference—the Ohio—Revs. J. H. Bell and J. G. Mitchell, D.D., are all fine workers. Revs. J. P. Underwood and T. H. Jackson, D.D., always watchful of the tenets of African Methodism, and unsparingly antagonistic on other topics, do more of the public expository work of the conference than any other two men; but there are many members whose presence on the committees is powerful. The Revs. R. H. Lee, D. W. Butler, J. M. Rose, N. M. Mitchell, J. M. Griffin, J. W. Lewis, P. Alston, John Dickerson, W. T. Maxwell, J. W. Wilks and W. T. Artis are men of whom the Church may be proud.

The reports show a falling off from last year. The year ending with this session has been hard on Ohio. The Ohio Conference has been affected by the floods and the North Ohio by the drought. The Dollar Money has fallen there nearly $200. The missionary reports were fair. The educational interest was good. The presence of President Mitchell inspired the brethren with a determination to do all in their power. They gave in cash and subscriptions very nearly $250. The Mite Missionary Society was not forgotten. They are publishing house received the very best treatment; about one hundred dollars worth of business was done for the year. $25 for the A. M. E. Church Review. Secretary Townsend came in just before adjournment. Inquiring of a young man at the depot how the conference was going on, he was informed that it had already gone on. The Secretary informed us that in the future he will be had time. Rev. O. P. Ross of the Kentucky Conference, together with Revs. G. H. Graham, the old man eloquent, D. A. Johnson and W. J. Johnson, of the Ohio Conference, were kindly entertained by the conference. Rev. A. Smith, a student of white theology, is another of the Indiana Conference, was also present. The two White brothers, D. F. Cailman, J. D. Singleton, D.D., Lewis and James Mc-Comery, are young brethren trying to recommend themselves useful.

The annual sermon was preached by Rev. W. H. Coleman, and the missionary sermon by Rev. J. M. Griffin. Both were instructive and satisfactory in all respects. Bishop Campbell delivered a closing pulpit sermon Sunday morning. Text, "Run speak to that young man." The Sunday services were held in the Spears House. Calls for ministers of this conference, the seat of Harrison county, is a beautiful town of about 5000 inhabitants. It is an interesting place to all Methodists, indeed all Christians, as the place of nativity of the late Bishop Simpson. Our people have a nice little chapel, two stories. Under the auspicates of the Rev. Daniel W. Butler, the A. M. E. Church has taken a high standing in Cadiz. The church is entirely free from debt.

About two weeks before the session of conference the editor of the Republican received his services as the pastor in efforts to collect between $200 and $300, to clear the society of debt. They accomplished their object above and beyond services, as the editor and they must do, a church unencumbered to which to sit. The white citizens showed themselves exceedingly courteous in respect to the conference, as the Ohio citizens usually do; opening nearly every Protestant pulpit to our ministers. Let us hope that God's blessings may be upon our labors.

Cadiz is the home of two of our promising ministers, Revs. A. Smith and W. J. Johnson. The city is lofty; it is fair to infer that its citizens are lofty, and so we find them. The Rev. W. H. Lucas, a local deacon, has been principal of the colored school several years, has passed quite an ordeal to make the high school. The town seems to have an exalted notion respecting good food for an city ever evinced more solicitude for the palate. The conference also received a real liberal financial support. Bishop Shorter being present, advised, as he has often and wisely done before, that all ministers should collect a good sum of money for contingent expenses of their annual conference sessions before leaving their charges.

We did not succeed so well in securing subscriptions among the citizens here as at Wilmington; yet we think the number of subscriptions will increase very sure. We shall depend on our friends and the pastor, Rev. W. T. Maxwell, to make it 25 at least. Probably, Little Kialjah Mason will secure one. The eldest organized A. M. E. Church in Ohio is at Steubenville, in the North Ohio Conference. The Rev. W. H. Coleman, a vigorous worker and successful pastor, has been returned to the appointment for the third year. He intends to erect a beautiful memorial church, commemorative of the advancement of the A. M. E. Church between Steubenville and Pittsburg. People are inquiring about the price of coal and woolen coats. It is the season for the farmer to save what the golden summer has given him and to set his winter grain for the far off future harvest. It is the season for him to arrange for the winter's use of his animals comfortably. It is the season for all to consider well what manner of men we are, and to protect ourselves from the cold winter by proper raiment and food, and repairing our houses to save doctor's bills and avoid funerals in the spring. Let us not spend our money for that which is no waste of money for tobacco. It will require our greatest vigilance to make our houses consumption-proof. Let preventive be cheaper and easier than the cure. Cellars should be stored with provisions, and coal bins and wood houses be well filled. Thoughtfulness respecting these matters will yield rich harvests in the dreary days of January and February.

We are obliged to offer an apology for failure to review books and magazines, owing to absence from the office. We have only peeped into Wide Awake, the Methodist Quarterly, the A. M. E. Church Review, the Century, the North American, &c. Though tardy, we shall give them a consideration in our next. We are many good things in them. We have no assistant in the office, therefore must ask our friends to give us time to turn the thousands of pages in script and type. Many contributors will be disappointed in not seeing their articles in this issue. Some have written corrections of mistakes occurring in their manuscript, asking them to be inserted. We found the articles published and the corrections sealed in envelopes as they came to the office. It is out our intention to be absent often. We believe in attening to business. We hold ourselves, not others, responsible for all editorial blunders, even though we are 500 miles away, and though some one else, intentionally serving us, commits the mistake. The man paid is the man responsible.

The artist, Mr. Henry O. Tanner, son of Rev. B. T. Tanner, is a professional of no mean powers. Many of his works meet with the highest commendation of skilled critics. He has just completed "At Home," an oil painting representing the noble lion in his lair; the lioness in the back ground. There are points of excellence in the work that can be seen by the most common critic. The expression of the lion in his native ease, wild, powerful and yet easy, give one a conception of the king of the forest too often unawakened by the artists in representing the lion. Mr. Tanner will probably repeat the enjoyment if the distinction merited by and accorded to his works in the past of exhibiting this in the Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia. It is but a question of time when this young, manly, Christian talent will take high rank in his profession.

The notice in previous issue calling the Committee on Revision of Discipline to meet October 2nd at 10 o'clock A. M. was misread Octo. 10th, by the printer, in her manuscript from Cadis, Ohio, as follows: "Change Bishop Campbell's notice from October 10th to 20th." Finding no notice for the 2nd good compositors were warranted in their inference that we wished Bishop Campbell's conference to meet on the 20th instead of the 2nd, and supposed we gave 10th instead of 8th by mistake. We regret this subtle blunder, all resting on our shoulders. We meant the 2nd. We have counteracted the evil so far as lay in our power by addressing notice of correction to every member of the Quarterly Conference. Had we been in the office instead of the field the matter would have been attended to correctly.

The beautiful A. M. E. Centennial Medal is out, bearing on its face the likeness of Bishop Allen, first bishop ordained in America, and on the reverse, Bishop Payne, senior bi ia the A. M. E. Church. The medal was ordered by the General Conference held in the Church and the St. John of the Christian Church in modern time, to be given to the publishers a volume on the "Christian Ministry." The medal is also given to every one giving to the centennial offering for the cause of Christian education, one dollar or more. It is a neat medal arranged to wear attached to the watch chain. We are not authorized to say when or where to send, but we presume that we shall be ill to due time. We only wish to warn every one to lay aside his one dollar. The movement is made to give to our education interest at least $20,000. Don't grow weary in well doing, for it is only by well doing that we can put to silence the maligners of our race.

It was a goodly sight to see the people of Old Bethel assembled to respond to the call of the bishop, after having listened to an interesting discourse from the Rev. Mr. Myers, a native Hayties, a graduate of Lincoln, and now returning as the representative of our Church "to spand and be spent" in the work of uplifting his countrymen. It is scarcely more time than we occupy in writing this, they placed on the table $251 God for the Old Mother.

We promise our readers a considerable review of the Quarterly number of the A. M. E. Church Review next week. We simply beva to say now, it already shows the undertaking the most gigantic scholastic and literary connection, a rich and racy reading can be found in the October number as in the average of our best current magazines. Professors Kealing, D.D., Jenifer and, to fact, all of them, have spoken grandly.

The great star concert at the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, 23rd inst., will be one of the most sensational, interesting and grand of the season in this city. The array of talent is Mrs. Nellie Brown Mitchell, Mr. Charles W. Waiell and others equal to these. Mrs. Mitchell is to be assisted by Marshall Wilder, the Germania Orchestra under a management that has always been successful in such concerts.

—The Rev. Dr. J. H. A. Johnson was in Philadelphia last week on the call of Bishop Campbell for meeting of committee on Centennial Volume, in connection therewith. Southern institutions are not able to hold their students for successive years, as do Northern colleges, the difference being greater than can be attributed to the difference of social conditions. There are, however, many hopeful signs in Southern educational work. There is an awakening of interest in public schools and in preparatory training. Young men who aspire to professorships are seeking a more thorough training. There is also a growing conviction that colleges must be endowed.

Religion is living all the truths we possess.

Mr. Julian S. Arnold, son of Edwin Arnold, is now in this country, superintending the publication of Tea Around the World, edited by his father, and composed of selections from the works of their illustrious father. The very great popularity attained by Sir James Caird's "India, The Land and the People," has induced Messrs. Notes on Education.

Phillips Andover Academy now contains 261 pupils.

A woman's college is to be affiliated with the Mcgill University in Montreal. Hon. D. A. Smith having given $50,000 for an endowment.

How we should like to receive a postal card contribution from each of our colleges once a week, giving salient points of the week's history. We would like to hear this from the smallest of our schools, and tell the same to our thousands of readers.

William Paul Quinn College wants to increase her Faculty this fall. A large number of her students remain all summer. An unusually good attendance is anticipated. We have heard of the returns from Endowment Day. May her district do its part. The Rev. Dr. Jenifer has been there and is sanguine.

The Superintendent of the Philadelphia schools states that the Girls' High Philadelphia children are growing up unschooled. There are he says, thousands of children between the ages of six and sixteen who would not attend school even if the schools had abundant seating capacity for every child in Philadelphia. More than half the children now in the schools are less than twelve years of age. Beyond that age they go to work.

Wilberforce University never looked more hopeful than now. Her Faculty is all that could be asked, especially an increase in number. Her new President has his appointments well in hand grandly as those of our older-college presidents. The students are generally well advanced and willing to work. Endowment Day is going to lift the indebtedness and pay for the new, elegant, and General Conference and many thanks to the people. Free.

The fall term of Allen University opened Oct. 1st. We trust all of the students of the past year will be enfinished and many new ones have enjoined the school, and that the school is prospering. There is much talk and great are the benefits of prompt entering as the session opens. It is never a good start off. Allen should receive a good attention from the friends. The gift on wedding of the venerable author of "Pilgrim's Progress" to his wife, on Aug. 16. Among other gifts he received from Bunyan's publisher, Nathan Ponder, the first copy of the beautifully illustrated edition of "America," containing twenty-seven portraits of the most venerable author, which have never before been presented to the public. Upon the great occasions when they were presented to the venerable author, the scene was bound in white satin, elegantly stamped in gold, lined with silk in red and white and exquisitely finished as to every detail.

Wide Awake, the coming year, will be among in the element of romantic adventure demanded by the healthy American boy. Captain Mayne Reid's book, who is announced to finish the leading serial for the Atlantic Monthly, will appear in the Wide Awake serial. It is entitled "Down the River." It is a powerful story of life among the young Tennessee Mountaineers. Miss Elizabeth Stuart Brooks, "In Leslie's Times," and its sequel, "The Governor's Daughter," is also to be in the Wide Awake. The early history of New York City, in the Knickerbocker period, by Rev. Kuckerbocker boy, along with Battery bears, who are his Colonial guns. There is a "Cross of Four Stories," (the last by Mrs. Jessie Benton Fremont), each and all of stirring adventure, "How the Boolems went down the Crater," written by Joe Jacobs, and "A Buffalo Hunt," by Lieutenant Wood, and "A Dahabeah Party," by Julian Arnold, and many other true records of adventure.

Announcements for the coming year of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle are as follows: "Introduction to Psychology," by Dr. Hyde; "Comparative Religion," by Rev. Canon Lidden; "Some Modern Religious Movements," by Rev. W. R. Alger; "Outlines of Political Economy," by Prof. Bascom; "Personality Conducted;" "Talks for Young Folks," by H. H.; "Work and Play for Young Folks," by Charles O. Leland; papers on "Growing an Occupation," based on personal interviews with prominent representatives of various trades and professions; more short stories by Miss Alcott; a series called "Among the Law-makers," and embodying the recollections of a page in the United States Senate; papers on "The Progress of Invention;" a story of Detroit, by the late Rev. William M. Baker—and a great many other good things besides. The first number of the new volume (November) will have a colored frontispiece, from a design by A. M. Turner, printed in fifteen colors. The December number will have for a frontispiece a reproduction, in color, of the picture, "Alice in Wonderland," by the same artist, which attracted so much attention at the last Academy exhibition.

The North American Review for October is notable as well for the importance of the topics treated as for the eminence of its writers. The opening article, "Moral Character in Politics," is by President J. B. Seelye, whose expression of the ethical principles involved in the popular election of candidates for public office will undoubtedly command the attention of every thoughtful reader. The article on the "Tariff System," a sequel to the article in the September number on the "Evils of the Tariff System," is a symposium consisting of three articles, written respectively by John Roach, Peter M. Thompson, and Nelson Dingley, Jr., all of Maine. They are the views of men of American industries with great ingenuity of reasoning and abundant knowledge of statistics. In addition to these most timely discussions of high political importance, the Review has a characteristic article by Rev. Dr. Augustus Jessop, entitled "Is Town Life Doomed?" and a "The Philosophy of Conversion," by O. B. Frothingham; "The Origin of Species," by Dr. Asa Gray; "Shall the Jury System be Abolished?" by Judge Robert Y. Hayne; "Mr. Tennyson's Maud;" by Richard Herne Shepherd; and "The Recent Movement of Mind in Germany," by Lieutenant C. Sleeman.

The October Harper's contains as a frontispiece a charming picture by Mr. Abby of "Judith Shakespeare," the heroine of Miss Woolson's story. Mr. Abbey's pictures of this story of Miss Woolson's are its crest, and will have more of the distinguishing features of the pencils of Dielman and Gibson, illustrating E. P. Roe's "Nature's Serial Story," and Du Maurier's "Trilby." Besides Mr. Abbey illustrate the instalment of Mr. Howell's clever story, "The Mouse Trap." Holleed," which appear in that number. Horace E. Scudder writes a tribute to Copenhagen, "The Home of Hans Christian Anderson," and Mr. Frederick Boyle has a sketch of Tommy Atkins," who is quite as much a character as Jack Tar, made by himself and edited by a Southern lady. The Editor's Study is unusually rich in miscellaneous papers, on "Municipal Finance," by Abram S. Hewitt, Mayor Grace, of New York, will attract much attention; also papers on "Art and Society" of stories, poems and departments.

THE BOSTON MONDAY LETTER.

BY REV. J. T. JENIFER, D.D.

With the exception of the cold wave which visited Boston Friday, 14th, we are yet enjoying delightful Fall weather. Bishop Haven has returned from their summer vacations. The city has been quiet the usual time for the putting on its Athenian aspect. Everything indicates a healthy feeling in the direction of the various schools, lecture halls, and entertainments, and encourage in of education, &c., &c. The absent clergymen have all returned and are refreshing their congregations with the vigorous thoughts on various subjects which they have been cogitating during their summer vacation.

The Exposition under the anspices of "The New England Mechanics and Manufacturers," and the "Boston Mechanics Charitable Mechanics' Association," is in full blast, and is a success. They attract thousands to our city.

Last Sabbath we had the extreme pleasure of hearing the Rev. Dr. Boyce from St. Domingo, who worshipped with Rev. Wm. E. Matthews.

Wm. E. Matthews, Esq., of Washington, D. C., is in the city. He is a member of the Legislature of Maryland. We must have a literature, and no man can be found more able to write, compare and write while duying over the country. Such work requires quietude and retirement. Rev. Dr. Jenifer, the next year of the organization of American Methodism, and especially of African Methodism, and the organization of African Methodism, and the organization of the A. M. E. Church, the said individual church presented the right to the Rev. Dr. Jenifer, the next year of the organization of African Methodism, and especially

It would be proper to allude to the bolonist as a rising man.

Lots of people cannot stand prosperity, but the most of us cannot understand it, having but very little acquaintance with it.

The remains of a boarding house ought to be able to sail the ocean without getting seasick. They are accustomed to living on board.

Many men own their own houses, and yet are not the bosses of them. This is usually the case where the property owner is married.

Because when a couple are engaged it is called a season of courtship doesn't signify that the world means that there is considerable fire and brimstone about it.

There are so many failures nowadays that young men cannot be too cautious. Better get an insight into a girl's appetite before resolving to purpose to her.

An old bachelor who refused to get married gives as his reason that he has no suitable number. That is very easily remedied. His mother-in-law can come and live with them, and he soon knows that three is a lucky number.

"WATCHMAN, what of the night?" Does the morning come? If so, what are to be the developments of the day? If the half that either side of the political warriors say of the opposing candidates be true, what will be the condition of the people concerning their chief magistrate in the next four years? The candidates of the weaker parties have very little said against them. It is because they are likely better men than those standing at the respective heads of each of the two chief parties? It is not because they are not dreaded? May we not in all fairness infer that if Butler, St. John, Pomeroy and Lockwood were found on the candidates, the records would be turned wrong side out and considerable of the unsavory discovered? Please note age is virtuous; temporary gain rather than for stable, moral character. Not half the fault is found of Butler, not one thousandth, that would be if he were leading the democratic or republican party; probably not half what there would be if each of these parties did not have Butler would do the opposite party some harm.

A bank defaulter who has robbed depositors of from $50,000 to $100,000, is said by a Western paper to be, besides this crime, guilty of violating the sanctity of home and the marriage relation, to a terrible extent, and yet this same paper pronounces him a "good business man." A man having supported two or three wives at home with the proceeds of his patrons is called "a good business man;" i. e., he is well acquainted with business forms, ways and transactions. But such conformity serves to increase the idea that all a young man needs to know is the way of his profession. How false such teaching. A good business man must be, first of all, a good man. We are educating men for the various lines of history, meawkered streams of melody, unexercised flights of imagination, unrecorded deeds of philanthrophy, unnoticed deeds of kindness and moral grandeur for our own minds to find and our own hands to write. This, not because we are black men and women, but because we are spirits, clothed with power and glorified with responsibility; because we are we. Every other variety has done its own work with more or less accuracy and equity, but no one has done ours. We know of no opportunity surpassing that offered by our Church Magazine to the colored man of confessors and churches to investigate our individual and racial standing, our absolute and relative place and powers, our peculiar and general rights and responsibilities. We observe the latitude of the magazine is indiscriminated by the lines of denominationalism, and is gaining a large patronage from a people who have long waited in all the centres of modern civilization for just such a medium for the interchange of thought and discussion of problems.

We have sent to book on the subject that we could more highly recommend than this little work of nearly 400 pages tastefully bound, cloth, $1.50.

Each of the 400 pages is worth more than a verse as ever entered your home, as to moral and religious taste, and withal not wanting in the elements of poetry, though wearing some of its loftier garb, is published by Messrs. T. Y. Crowell & Co., 11 Astor Place, New York. The work contains 186 pages, gilt edge, tightly ornate, beveled boards.

Messrs. T. Y. Crowell & Co. also publish Poems of George Eliot, complete edition illustrated by Schell, Tayler and St. John Harper. The work contains 442 pages, gilt, excellent paper, in rich cloth, gorgeous in design, beveled boards. The literature of George Eliot has long since made for its author an elevated place among the English writers of her century and language. Her poetry as well as her prose partakes of the associate thought, that strikes one on the mention of the name, George Eliot, as charming and attractive as woman, yet as vigorous and strong as man.

Throughout these poems of several classes, prosy reddles, and the melody of thoughts is equal to the rhythm of words; the imagination is delighted and the intellect strengthened. Read the book.

—Father Hollen, superannuated, of the Philadelphia Conference, is very low with consumption at the visit at the establishment was pleasant. He is among the earlier ministers who we remember.

—Rev. T. A Cuff, pastor at Frankford, Pa., was in the city last week. His people have purchased a lot on which to erect a parsonage, having built bricks on hand with which to begin.

—The Rev. J. C. Chambers has been appointed corresponding editor of the RECORDER in the absence of the manager, relative to matters with which he has been familiar in connection with the Publishing House.

When strong enough to receive them he derives much pleasure from the visits of his friends, and entertains with much of his old vivarity and eloquence.

Notes on Education.

EDUCATION HAS COME TO THE FRONT.

BY REV. A. M. BEEN.

DEAR BROTHER LEE:—The day to be used as one of the most exciting and important in the history of our Church has come and gone, and now we wait anxiously to know the result of the labors of the Directors of the Educational Endowment Fund within the boundries of our own connection. Many of us were kept the ball in motion here, in Baltimore, in the churches, pulpits, and public meeting out beyond our own connect on we we have been able, through the kind favors of brother ministers of other denominations, to hold educational meetings in their churches as well as our own. The result is a good showing for the Educational Endowment Day, both financially and is moral force. Three of the churches where we have been kept in the right places sed to, and behold, a burst of applause went up, followed by a shorter than an encore would allow. Once those 200 little savages (My Sunday School friends) sang for the company. In brokee English but good time, they sang "Jesus loves me," and "I am so glad that Jesus Loves Me." Tears started to eyes at once. Here were the children of this obdurate section swelling praises to that God who is the friend of all. A native gentleman consented to play the organ accompaniment. After the singing of these pieces, we had never see an organ until a month previous. Then the children sang and they the thirteen teachers who are so ably engaged in this great work. Mr. and Mrs. Hadley, the only white people who are whole-souled Christian people, and who seemingly gratified at their success in addition. Nearly the whole school followed us to our carriages to shake us with their handshakes and "Good bye." The wind had died away and the sun's last, faint rays flickered over all nature a purplish haze like a mantle of beauty covering the earth as we rolled away, as long as we could see, caps and bright colored shawls waved in the breeze from the children.

Since our visit, communications from the school have told us of several pleasant and laughable incidents. Among a few: "Shorty after you had gone a member of the children had a fathered case. Then Georgy, Pawuee boy, said to one of the girls, 'Virginia, did you laugh much?' She, meaning of course that she had not, did not understand his reference to the song and knew of the after noon. 'No, she answered, 'I don't laugh much, what makes you ask?' 'Because,' began George, but just then his feet flew up, and he sat over pimpo in the air. Virginia screamed with laughter, and George, jubilant over his fall and the sang out, 'I thought you not laugh much.' Could the gentleman sing sang laughing Dr. Hood, of Sunday school room, shortly after your departure, he would have had cause to laugh in good earnest. Bishop Cagger, Rev. Mr. Gaskins, Rev. Mr. Tedians scattered through the school, and the children never behaved better. Some of them slyly compared them. What a queer sight they presented! Here the Bishop of all the Indians, there the Bishop of all the Negroes, all things to all men, and little fedians and middle sized Indians. Some with long and braided locks, some short and bristly, and others that expressed total indifference. Some with features and color that seem purely negro, others of the anglo-Saxon type. Here sat a little Ashantee boy with curly hair and brown, which is peculiar to his race, and there sat a little Sioux boy with "tote" with colored beads and bracelets about their plump necks and arms, while their feet and legs were encased with, and Minneapolis, Minn. We shall be glad to hear from the Rev. Mr. Jones's Bethel, Baltimore, will receive a banner inscribed; "The Banner Sunday School of America." It has given two hundred dollars in two years.

Fourth, we shall furnish needy schools with Bibles, Testaments, song books and lesson leaves. Of other fine buildings now in course of erection; of the cost hundred mills' cows, the three new spans of mules, how rapidly the girls are learning the art of sewing, housekeeping, &c., &c., how naturally the boys take to plowing and planting. My mind leaves here as to kindly and beautifully cared for by our great government, and runs on flectual wings to her of her struggling race where thousands of black boys and girls are sitting in the dark, ignorance and superstition with lifted, helpless and appealing hands. O, that there were hundreds such schools scattered over the land where our boys and girls could learn the hand, the body, the intellect and heart, so trained that they may be able to cope with the great soldiers of the world.

A BRIEF ADDRESS TO ALL WHO ARE INTERESTED IN THE WORK OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION.

BY REV. C. S. SMITH.

As the executive officer of the Sunday School Union I feel it necessary at this time to say a few words to the many friends of our cause. First, I shall not be able to be absent from home for any length of time. The work of the office requires my personal supervision. We have a successfully growing mail, containing inquiries that no subordinate can satisfactorily answer. Again, we can afford at this time to spend but little money in traveling. The Union Sunday School Union is such a perfect and complete organization as to render the little personal explanation for it to be fairly understood. The Sunday School Union is established in all of our annual conferences, we shall have our Bishops and fifty district superintendents to aid us in the work. Each one of these officials have the official direction of the schools in his district, and it is expected that they will visit each one of their schools at least once a year. Our duty is to direct them in their labors, and to keep them supplied with the necessary information. Then, we have our Sunday School Union Quarterly Review, the Child's Recorder, prepare the Year Book of the Union, revise the Lesson Committee, compile a hymn book and arrange the "Centennial Volume." We must have a literature and no one can intelligently think, analyze, compare and write without first reading the papers. Such work requires quietude and composure. This is the centennial year of the organization of the American Methodism, and the sixty-eighth of the existence of African Methodism, and yet we can only point to one Sunday school publication it is now four years old and 4 Catechisms. In this light these we were reading our children with some of our own preparation. Let us not stay at home and think and write for the Sunday School Union, leaving the presiding elders, district superintendents, pastors, superintendents and teachers to do all the hard share of the work as the law directs. Therefore, brethren who are interested in the Sunday Union and in their annual conferences, will please take notice of the following: Bishop Lavinia, Stewart, 35 cents; Death, flades and the Resurrection, Steward, 30 cts; Bible Lands Paton, $1.00; Colored Race Weigbed, Marshall, 25 cents; Sunday School Library, No. 1, 50 vols. $25.00; No. 2, 50 vols., $10.00; No. 3, 50 vols. $20.00. These libraries may be bought in quarters at $6.25, $2.50 and $5.00 per quarter set. These are excellent and beautiful books for the Sunday school. We are very anxious to sell them in the next 30 days.

The A. M. E. Church at Darby holds its quarterly meeting next Sunday. Rev. Brice will be assisted by Rev. W. H. Bryant, of Media, in the morning; Presiding Elder Sibly in the afternoon, and elder McCoy at night. Brother Brice's quarterly meeting at Hornville, Sunday a week, will be aided by Elders Main, Chambers and Satchell.

FROM DOCTOR, ILLINOIS.

BY REV. J. D PETERSON.

Being appointed by Bishop John M. Brown to the Decatur circuit at our last session, I entered upon the work on next August 30th. On Sunday, accompanied by one of the stewards of the church, we stasted for the church assigned me. In conference in a new and to work for the interest of God and mac. We baked in front of one of the most neat and most tasty churches, I believe, in this district. I presented myself to the people as their pastor, and after being congratulated by a hearty hand shake, I was invited into the room of the house. The general leaders of construction employed and the great Pastor was present. Each one of number, I have met their several stations during my pastoral administration.

Friday, September 5th, I moved from the city of Decatur. On Sunday, September 7th I anticipate a glorious event in my life. But alas! returning from general class, which all seemed to enjoy, I retired with my wife, thinking to get a little rest and sleep. I was awakened by a terrible pain in the side, which they did our friends worked manfully to save what they could. I was sodden with chills, but keeping the spaces in our dear organ, Mrs. Peterson's address, Box 203, Decatur, Ill. Will you please excuse me for this long letter? I will conclude by saying to my co-workers, especially those of the Illinois Conference, I am here, and have given the first lost all of my earthly goods, &c., but through God I have been saved and by his assistance and your prayers, I shall come out like gold tried in the fire.

Dear brethren, the minutes are all printed and will be sent out at the adjournment of the Illinois Conference.

EVERY MAN WORKING OUT HIS DESTINY.

MR. EDITOR:—Every man has his own destiny in his hands. If he will be virtuous, he may be; if he is virtuous, he will be happy. FROM DOCTOR, ILLINOIS.

BY REV. J. D PETERSON.

Being appointed by Bishop John M. Brown to the Decatur circuit at our last session, I entered upon the work on next August 30th. On Sunday, accompanied by one of the stewards of the church, we stasted for the church assigned me. In conference in a new and to work for the interest of God and mac. We baked in front of one of the most neat and most tasty churches, I believe, in this district. I presented myself to the people as their pastor, and after being congratulated by a hearty hand shake, I was invited into the room of the house. The general leaders of construction employed and the great Pastor was present. Each one of number, I have met their several stations during my pastoral administration.

Friday, September 5th, I moved from the city of Decatur. On Sunday, September 7th I anticipate a glorious event in my life. But alas! returning from general class, which all seemed to enjoy, I retired with my wife, thinking to get a little rest and sleep. I was awakened by a terrible pain in the side, which they did our friends worked manfully to save what they could. I was sodden with chills, but keeping the spaces in our dear organ, Mrs. Peterson's address, Box 203, Decatur, Ill. Will you please excuse me for this long letter? I will conclude by saying to my co-workers, especially those of the Illinois Conference, I am here, and have given the first lost all of my earthly goods, &c., but through God I have been saved and by his assistance and your prayers, I shall come out like gold tried in the fire.

WHY DOES

a woman's health so often break down at an early age? Put a man at the wash-tub let him get heated from the hot suds until every pore is opened, then let him stand over the filthy steam that comes from boiling and fouling clothes until he has taken cold in the lungs, then the skin, and his health certainly would break down before long—and yet this terrible ordeal is exactly what has to go through on washday; and besides, while overheated and with her clothing wet from perspiring at the hot work, she has to risk her life by going out in the air to hang up the clothes.

Then she has to breathe the unhealthy atmosphere; its smell, so apparent to Visitors, showing that it finds its way to all parts of the house; the family, however, often becoming so accustomed to the peculiar odor from its own wash as scarcely to notice it.

These facts which are known to be true by every housekeeper, readily explain why so many women suffer with Rheumatism, Weak Nerves or Neuralgia, and while yet young in years; and Physicians and Boards of Health cannot draw attention too strongly to the injurious effects of the usual way of washing, with its necessary Steam and Scalding of Clothes, Bedding and Utensils used by the Sick, rendering it as it is so very often the direct cause of those dreadful diseases, Diphtheria, Pneumonia, Consumption, and Typhoid Fever. Fortunately this trouble can be AVOIDED. Thousands of families and Some done away with, and cheerfully and beautifully while from the saving in fuel the task is done at a less cost than when home-made Soap is used; and much by the old way, by using FRANK SIDDALLS SOAP; a Soap so Purifying and Cleansing that the dirtiest clothing can be washed in lukewarm water with very little rubbing, and any Clothes, Bedding and Utensils used by the Sick, are Infected and Cleaned without either Scalding or Boiling; while the work is so light, that a girl of 12 or 13 can do a large wash, without being tired; and yet as Mild and Healing is this Soap, that the Hands of the Washer is has no equal, and Thousands have been using it in preference to Imported Castile Soap, on wounds and sores, and to wash the youngest infants; and for families with delicate skin. Now that there is a remedy for the "great washday evil," for prominent as its use is to be within the reach of every Household, there is not a woman or who is not directly interested in doing his share in their homes THAT WONDERFUL WAY OF WASHING CLOTHES, which, when properly tried, does away with the hard work, Offensive Smell and Fearful Steam on washday, and makes the White Pieces whiter, Colors Fresher and Brighter, and Cleaner than they can be made by boiling the old way, and also leaves every article as Clean, as Sweet, and as Pure as it never was.

PHILADELPHIA, OCTOBER 23, 1884.

The people of this country enjoy a rare privilege in the presence of this popular preacher. We were present at the great Independence Church, 22nd and Bainbridge streets, Sunday evening, 12th inst., and heard him preach the test, "What shall I do with Jesus who is called the Christ?" The audience must have numbered about 2,000. The auditorium, lighted by 250 jets, the massive organ, with nearly 100 stops, church, beautifully carved, finished furniture, the highly attired auditors, the notoriety of those not, all excited our expectations that we should have a grand popular service. But the common hymns, sung in common tunes, not one chant, not one complex tune—the simple that a common man could sing—struck us with a home feeling. It is well with a soul; most sweetly but unostentatiously sung, inviting—nay, exciting—every one to join in its touching notes. "Saving the sexed," and others of the fascinating songs in the same style of the worship. The statement that Dr. Newman Hall would preach, forced itself into comparison with the distasteful hitches so often heard of. "The Reverend Doctor—formerly—now——, who will now preach to you." It is bad practice, especially since every one present is there to hear Dr. Hall, to hear the mere statement that he will preach. Indeed, where is he known by it, and has not been the attracting means to all, this is scarcely necessary.

The sermon was one of the plainest. There was no evidence in it of Newman Hall's acquaintance with any other language than the one used. There was no reference to the many learned works classifications in mineral, animal or vegetable kingdom; no racy, unique handling of old subjects; no introduction of hypotheses and speculation; no flights of unnecessary play upon the emotionals; no indulgence in light pleasantries; no sinking gospel figures in sensational terms; but everywhere the setting forth of the words with the appearance of a determination to know nothing but Christ and Him crucified; to make Christ's stead; to "run speak to that young man" to warn all men to repent. In short, it was a sermon, not a lecture, a gospel sermon, not a sermon on education or civil polity; a sermon of Jesus, not of Hall, spiritual, not metaphysical.

We have heard many sermons stronger in classic demonstrations and rhetorical curves, graphic depictings and beautiful figures; but few evincing the devotion to the truth as it is in Christ Jesus; few as gospel-like; few that seemed to leave so little tendency and so little time even to admire the absence of an acting, present, divine unction. The sermon was not one that would allow the expression, "The speaker held his audience spell-bound." No, for he did not hold the audience, but pointed it to the Lamb of God, whose holding is far better. Dr. Hall has brought Bobus Simpson, Campbell and Payne; Joseph Smith and Moody, Talmage and Beecher. We have studied that connection with God through the Lord Jesus Christ, personal consecration and personal holiness make those great when all else fails.

Humanity enjoys flashes, but it retires upon the steady, burning light. It smiles at fancies, but cleaves to the realities. It admires the sentimental, but depends upon the staid, rational and the true.

There is one thing that may be profitably watched and should be soon overcome among many who are superior to Newman Hall as orators—that is levity. How many good speakers remember themselves had preachers by bossings and rishidity, anchasie and blasphemous words. Devotion is wanting. Men seem to forget that oratory is only a means, and not the end of preaching.

Republicanism and Republicanism divide the better classes of American voters. The democratic party holds but a slight grasp upon our better men of the North. This makes it so much the harder for the republicans to gain in this year's election. It is useless to ignore it. John and his party; they hold and wield a considerable influence, and that influence is felt in the republican ranks most. The men who are upholding prohibition are of greater demagogic force to the republicans than are the independents, in that they "have their cause just," and are occupying a plane that, divorced of the prejudice of appetite and avarice, every one will pronounce right, but which can never carry a party to national success until the moral standard of the country is raised much higher than it now is.

These facts somewhat confuse many honest colored voters. Now, let us see: ought we to vote to split the republican vote when such an act only turns our nation over into the hands of the democrats? Ought we to vote for prohibition at the expense of the principles of republicanism? Should we do so, when, instead of prohibiting, it will turn the subject of license and whisky traffic generally into the power of a party more pronounced and practical whisky men than are the Republicans? Turn this government over into the hands of the democratic party this year and it will be many days before you will succeed in prohibitory reform.

Those conference members who have paid but one dollar subscription have not fulfilled the law for more than eight months' subscription. The subscription is made $1.50 uniformly. This is but one of the many errors in the air to be corrected by the issuance of the revised Discipline and the next Quadrennial Conference minutes. By the way, September 1st is past, the General Conference minutes have not reached the Book establishment yet. The General Conference would do well hereafter to issue a syllabus of its minutes, containing simply the points of law changed and the new law, scatter these by the thousands so as to avoid the embarrassment under which we have labored for one to three years after the close of each session of General Conference. We have attempted to execute newly made laws with all the sentence and procedure of old standing laws. But law must be proclaimed before it can be obeyed. The presiding eldership, the law on ecclesiastics and Sunday schools, are liable to constant misunderstanding, misapplication and confusion, until the law is published.

Endowment Day has not been reported to our office very extensively. We have preferred to not publish till we secure fuller returns. Dr. Johnson continues sending the items necessary to complete their work. The Doctor is in New England trying to enlist the patronage of wealth and wisdom. He is making himself at home in the right social popular service. But the common hymns, sung in common tunes, not one chant, not one complex tune—the simple that a common man could sing—struck us with a home feeling. It is well with a soul; most sweetly but unostentatiously sung, inviting—nay, exciting—every one to join in its touching notes. "Saving the sexed," and others of the fascinating songs in the same style of the worship. Dr. Hall has brought Bobus Simpson, Campbell and Payne; Joseph Smith and Moody, Talmage and Beecher. We have studied that connection with God through the Lord Jesus Christ, personal consecration and personal holiness make those great when all else fails.

Humanity enjoys flashes, but it retires upon the steady, burning light. It smiles at fancies, but cleaves to the realities. It admires the sentimental, but depends upon the staid, rational and the true.

There is one thing that may be profitably watched and should be soon overcome among many who are superior to Newman Hall as orators—that is levity. How many good speakers remember themselves had preachers by bossings and rishidity, anchasie and blasphemous words. Devotion is wanting. Men seem to forget that oratory is only a means, and not the end of preaching.

Personal

—Mrs. Julia Knight is still in very poor health.

—Bishop Turner's West Kentucky Conference is composed of very active men.

—Rev. S. G. Dorce sailed from New York for Port-au-Prince, Tuesday, 14th inst.

—Bishop Shorter has gone South to hold his Carolina and Georgia Conferences.

—Rev. John A. Clark, of Wilkesbarre, is in Philadelphia on business. He reports the University in good condition.

—Ex-manager Gould has had a revival in Harrisburg. The elder is never always blest with a revival. So he should be.

—Bishop Campbell is once more at home. His conferences are all closed and now we doubt not that our readers will hear from the Bishop.

—Presiding Elder Feiler' three years' old boy strayed from home last week. After three or four hours he was found fifteen blocks from home, walking still farther, saying he was going home.

—Dr. Tanner returns from the Pittsburgh Conference with upwards of $70 for the Book Concern, and a good subscription to the Review. Thanks, brethren of the Pittsburg Conference.

—The Rev. J. C. Waters, President of Allen University, and wife have our sincere sympathy in the loss of their dear little boy. We have known the fatherless bereaved; hence know how to sympathize.

—"The Manager's success may be seen from his notes in this number, especially his success at the Missouri dinner table. Thank the good Lord that you had those dear children at home; my good friend. "Grievous words stir up anger." Love's love pen is the best and to heavenly rest—the way of patience.

Notes on Education.

The present year is the centenary of the re-organization, after the Revolution, of the educational system of New York State. Among the addresses was delivered, it is said by Alexander Hamilton, by which the Board of Regents was created, for the purpose of promoting the organization of academies as well as common school education in every county in the State. The whole system was after the model of Columbia College, as King's College was patriotically called during the War. Life in Regents were made the trustees. The graduates of Columbia have more on paper than it did in reality, but it nevertheless gave a stimulus to education in New York State, and to the higher since. An interesting account of this plan is contained in the papers on "Columbia College" to appear in the November Harper's, taking up the history of that institution where it was left by the article on "King's College" in the October number. The celebration of the 125th "Alumni Centennial Carnival" which was the attraction of the Christmas issue last year. Dr. Hamilton Mabie, Harry Penn, Garrett Hassam, Satterlee, Miss L. B. Hamilton and Miss Anne Morrison also do work on the number.

CORRESPONDENCE BY THE MANAGER.

On Wednesday night, October 1st, we bade farewell to our office and faithful associate, and started on the far West to see our little ones and visit some of our conferences. Nine o'clock next day brought us to Pittsburg, and on the following day at about the same hour, we passed through the Union Depot at St. Louis and rolled into the Uni n Depot at St. Louis about five hours later. We had never before been to the two, and we were hurried immediately from the cars of the Vandalia to those of the Missouri Pacific. No time could be allowed to eat or refresh us with a little water. At noon we were at Jefferson City, the capital of Missouri. The porter had circulated cards on the train to inform us that a good dinner and ample time to eat would be given us at the dining hall to all who wished. Of course we wished," as we had ate but one regular meal since leaving Philadelphia; but you can imagine our surprise when, on entering the dining hall, the proprietor ordered us in a most imperious tone to the kitchen to work. Mr. Andrew Lang, who has recently become the English editor of Harper's Magazine, has made his appearance in it as a prose contributor in a paper on "Old Scotch Customs," in the November number. Literature.

Evening Rest, by J. L. Pratt. Young Folks' Rest, by J. L. Pratt. Cambridge Co. Price 25 cents. A simple, quiet story, whose chiefest thing is adequately expressed by the name.

Among the specialities of Wide Awake the coming year is a familiar and humorous account of the late Westminster Abbey, by Rose Kingsley, a daughter of the late Canon Kingsley. The Misses Kingsley no English woman knows better than Dean Stanley, the greatest of the Deans, Dean Stanley.

Mr. Curtis, in the Easy Chair of the November Harper's, expresses pleasantly, by the return to old time subjects that the excitements and turmoil of a Presidential campaign come, after a while, to an end. He discourses the Democratic Convention and Italian opera, and other delicate matters, and he refresh us with a little water. At noon we were at Jefferson City, the capital of Missouri. SOCIETY.

BY REV. J. M. GRIFFIN.

The happiness of communities, as well as that of individuals, is made to depend upon character. And character may be defined as qualities of individuals. The happy virtuous society is that society may be divided into two classes and by the one class of virtuous qualities the one is in direct opposition to the other and is made up of individuals of whom the virtuous qualities predominate. The cast or complexion of society is determined by the relation of individuals to the moral law. Whole nations may be encouraged by the true development of the rich and prosperous may be the victims of corruption and debauchery, and the poor may be miserable and the possessors and promoters of the high-sounding theories of the natural circumstances of individuals that give tone to society, but the course is determined by the moral law of the universe. Society is what it is because it is what it is. Society is what it is because it is what it is. Society is what it is because it is what it is

PHILADELPHIA, OCTOBER 30, 1884.

SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, in brief comment on Bishop Turner's reply to Elder Kenilworth, says: "It is astonishing how ungraciously these colored bishops talk. We believe there is not one preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church, either white or colored, who would do as the Bishop says. Our pastors have a fixed authority and exercise it, no matter who is present. They are responsible for the government of their charge, and cannot relinquish it to anyone."

You don't know what ails them, eh? "Those colored Bishops." Which colored Bishops? Does the Southwestern Christian Advocate understand Bishop Turner to so speak that it is impossible for any Bishop being a colored man to dissent from him? Does the Southwestern speak for the whole circle of advocates, as that we might retort, (but we won't)? How unreasonably these Advocates talk!

One colored Bishop, colored white, talked about as foreign to the faith fundamental of his Church, and "more so did [these] also [color] Bishop to one of the convocationalities of the polity of the African Methodist Church; but no one would have been unreasonable enough to have placed Bishops Simpson, Bowman, Foss, Hurst and all the others in the same line as that taken by Bishop Turner in reference to the Tract question, and so unkindly said, "Behold those Bishops! White Bishops." It is not colored Bishops, nor colored men, but men making mistakes. Bishop Turner's color had nothing to do with his opinion nor with his ideas of church economy.

THE CHRISTIAN RECORDER is a very small paper to supply a Church of 400,000, yet too many think it large enough to publish long sermons in all the local ports of Sunday school conventions, presiding elders' district meetings, &c. Words, words, words are not what make a strong and readable article. Ideas, thoughts, thoughts, thoughts. The Editor of the RECORDER would take pride in having all these papers if he could, but even would increase the size of the paper sufficiently, but as it is, brethren must not complain if we tail to print their lengthy articles in full. Even obituaries must be limited in small papers.

A gentleman sufficiently scholarly to get a State certificate to teach school says: "Send me fifty copies of your improved paper. It goes like hot cakes." Another friend sends word to us, "Stop my paper when my year ends; when the paper improves, let me know and you will take it again." Which of these brethren is most likely to be charged with an over amount of church loyalty and church interest? Which is the more likely to continue in advance?

THE RECORDER goes to the homes of some of the wealthiest and most intelligent men in Ohio, of both races. It is a paper that our old friend, who is waiting for his year to expire, council afford to dispense with. We are not unaware of our weaknesses, nor of those of all human beings and newspapers, but we know whether the AFRICAN METHODIST ODIST who is unwilling to pay $1.50 for the 208 folio pages of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER one year, can give a respectable statement of the amount of matter contained during the last three months, i. e., he has not read it.

JUBILEE SONGS, plantation melodies; these are pleasant terms. They bring to memory sweet thoughts of relief from bondage, of trust in God, of love to God exercised by the American slaves years ago. But are we not making a mistake to revive many of those old songs, premises in their day, for our children? Are we not committing a still greater mistake in adding both to the songs that our fathers made and to the number of those songs? Are we not making a gross mistake in singing that which, though it may have sense, has no place in the worship of God? An instance:

"Look at the sun set,
See how far she run,
Never let ye watch you

"Job was afflicted limb by limb, etc."

Oh! how much more serious and how much more instructive would have been

"My days are gliding swiftly by,
And I, a pilgrim stranger,
Would not detain them as they fly,
Those hours of toil and danger."

And, for the second:

"In all my Lord's appointed way, etc."

We make no urging that we be like any other people, but that we be thoughtful, worshiping God, not with the spirit only, but with the understanding, doing our worship decently and in order. We would not have it understood that we object to any hymn because it is called plantation melody, nor because it is a jubilee song; but because it has no reasonable connection or association within itself and when it lacks all the elements of worship.

READ DR. TOWNSEND'S article. While it is encouraging, it shows the necessity of redoubled diligence on the part of the Church. The days are approaching when we shall find our work drawing upon us with a constant pull. Our organized character in separate departments makes it necessary to enlist the interest of our masses. The missionary efforts necessary to the proper care and development of our new field, 10th district, must be realized by the masses. A general co-operation will cause the responsibilities of the A. M. E. Church to be discharged with perfect ease. One penny per member amounts to $1,000. The importance of the hour is great. Let us enter into a full appreciation of our surroundings and rally to the standard of the Church. Stand by our Secretaries in their urgent appeals. Send in your pennies, nickels and dimes to their fields and work in our Master's vineyard.

THE LETTER of Rev. I. P. Aldrige, on this page, referring to superstitions prevalent among his people, contains points of interest respecting the association of religion and superstition, faith and fanaticism, and how the latter fancies and inclination so frequently observed among men. The signs by which millions are guided are no signs; the principles of their faith are mere confusions and their tenets are modified by opinions and imaginations. This life is a most complex, forecasting and speculative one. Men looking upon it, feeling its throbs, studying its character, re-living its guilt, are prompted to a thousand thoughts and actions not to keep across the limits of reason.

There are very many views concerning the changes undergone in conversion. The variations in the experiences of men touching this topic are as great and as numerous as in any phase of human experience. The idea of one's going into hell to realize one's conversion is preposterous and silly, but this will not dislodge it from Elder Aldridge's friends.

In regard to baptism we have to say that a church admitting three modes to be correct cannot with consistency assail either of the three. We shall never convince those who believe it but one mode that they ought to abandon it. What if we do not? It is one of our own modes.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., Oct. 24.—Rev. C. N. Smith, the eloquent colored orator and minister, has created quite a sensation in Bloomington at Change of the State Republican convention last summer, has renewed the cause of Blaine and Logan, and at night delivered an address, which was listened to by a large audience. Rev. Mr. Smith will take the stump for Cleveland for the remainder of the campaign.—An Illinois Paper.

How the Rev. C. S. Smith can declare for Democracy, the upholder of slavery, the defender of the murderer of his people, the winker at kuklukism, the nursery of ballot-box stuffers, tissue tickets and empty marriage certificates, is very mysterious; but the most mysterious, the most reprehensible, the most unexcusable on the part of the African M. E. Church is, that the Secretary of our Sunday schools should use his influence, now at the close of the campaign, to set in the field a convention in opposition to all that a liberties, telling our Sunday school children that Grover Cleveland, with his character so besmirched that no body can successfully enter the White House were he his master, is preferable to a man with the character of Mr. Blaine. Like begets like, and the principles of the Democratic party are identical. Because "desires a murderer to be granted unto us," if what this paper says is true, we trust it is not true. If true, the work of Dr. Smith as Sunday school Secretary is ended; at least his success is impossible.

THE STAR CONCERT, Philadelphia, 22nd inst., was an enjoyable affair. Mr. Hergen merits the good feelings of both races for the benefit bearing of the talents of the two races, and Mrs. Nellie Brown-Mitchell and Miss Henrietta Vinton Davis won justly the ovation given by the audience on their every appearance upon the stage. The German Orchestra, the Corinthian quartette, the Philadelphia Concert Company and especially Mr. Wilder, contributed richly to the occasion. Till 10:25 an audience of 2,000 was handsomely entertained. The closing scene consisted in the distribution of prizes; two hundred dollars ($200.00) in gold was the first prize, second prize, one hundred dollars, $100.00, being paid to Mr. Orick, local preacher in Allen Chapel.

DR. MITCHELL'S report for the first district does not show what we would all expect to see. Brethren, we have no doubt but that quite on interest has been taken in the cause of education. If the three other districts report as well as the first there will be $1000 reserved for Christian education. President Burgan's letter shows how badly his district needs help. We know that Allen and Wilberforce need theirs and so does the Jacksonville school, while Morris Brown, just going up, needs a good sum. We have hope that our friends in Boston will see Sec'y Johnson through with his noble undertaking there.

THE MINUTES of the 37th quadrennial session of the General Conference A. M. E. Church are now on sale at our office. The book contains 448 pages well compiled, printed that our friends in Boston will see Sec'y Johnson through with his noble undertaking there.

STRANGE DOCTRINES.

BY REV. I. P. ALDRIDGE.

MR. EDITOR:—We think it nothing but right to make known the goodness and mercies of the great God to sinners and to encourage all penitent people. This being a fact, considered by all Christians, the CHRISTIAN RECORDER ought to have at the lowest 1000 subscribers, and 2000 readers in the "Old North State."

But how shall we secure this number of subscribers and readers among a people who read but little? There are none effect. This doctrine is, that there is but one mode of Christian baptism, viz., by immersion. But as John baptized with water in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, denied that John did so baptize.—Editorial modes of water baptism in the Bible; These are immersion, sprinkling and pouring.

1. Let us admit for the sake of argument that the Greek word for baptism is by immersion, as they both went "into the water and came out of the water;" then we as Methodists are prepared to immerse candidates if it is their method of baptism. But we believe that the best method of baptism is by sprinkling or pouring. By one or both of these modes I have baptized over 1,000 persons, and by the latter mode I have baptized more than 500 persons in the winter season, and in the coldest weather I have never had a case of sickness resulting from baptism by sprinkling or pouring. Therefore I believe that a man must go to the water to be baptized, and see the Spirit descending like a dove upon him, and hear a voice from heaven saying that he is the beloved Son of God, in whom he is well pleased, and see God on the throne, with the angels seated all around him, and thought the gold-streets crowned with gold, ring "hosanna," and then get a permit from God to return to the earth or world, and remain until he calls them back again.

However, this doctrine is found among the ignorant classes, whose theology is not learned from the sun, moon and stars by imagination; but we think God has left Bible, in the power of the Holy Ghost and proved it to be false and absurd; it is not so.

What is regeneration? It is a new birth and life, and is the work of the Holy Spirit by which we experience a change of heart; the recovery upon the part of the sinner of the favor of God. "Be renewed in the spirit of your mind and put on the new man which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness." Eph. iv. 23-24. "Faith is the instrument of justification," because this "is the great and only qualification for the kingdom of God." We might bring further proof that the doctrine is not received by the Church was revived and sinners being converted. Many backsliders were reclaimed and souls were brought to the Saviour. I am prepared to say that the preachers all fell in prayer-meeting as the result of their labors. We may all fall in our preaching, but we cannot fail in the work of the prayer-meeting fails I am of the opinion that vital piety is at a very low ebb in the Church. Faith in God's storehouse is full and the door is open, and God is ready to bless all who come to come and get a full supply; and if our wants are not supplied it is because we do not ask or not the promises. "Cleanse ye, make ye clean, saith the Lord, and put away the evil of your doings from together and running over." May God help us to be more faithful in our prayer-meetings are not a success it is not God's fault.

Old Bethel church has been revived and the people are in good spirits we have received into the Church on trial, the fourth Sabbath in November, the 30th, all which we hope to receive into our thousand dollars toward paying on a lot on one of the prominent streets in the city and build a church. Four grand enterprises for this little church to undertake, but we think will pay for us that we may be successful, not put in paying for the lot and then not be able to build the church. To this end please put a small donation in with your subscription.

RELIGION AND EDUCATION IN FLORIDA.

BY W. F. ROSS, S. D.

MR. EDITOR:—I have just returned from the North, having spent my vacation of two months in Pennsylvania and New York. I visited Rev. C. R. Jacksonville as pastor of Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church, Jacksonville, Fla. Rev. Pierce, one of the oldest and grandest Christian workers in the State of Florida. Rev. Pierce is a native of African Methodism in the land of flowers. The good Bishop Payne blessed by labors in this city. I have taken into my church the first Sabbath in September 1883, and the work still goes on.

When I came to this city, March 24, 1883, I found Bishop D. A. Payne, Rev. Paul Quinn College, at Waco, Texas, to locate a theological school in this city, which he has done, and now has over fifty students. The somewhat upset me for awhile; however I soon recovered myself and went to work for the education. Last fall a year ago we began with 125 students, 15 of whom were preparing for the ministry. We have now over 125 students, 18 of whom were preparing for the ministry. Young men and women from all parts of the State are coming to this theological department. Revs. C. R. Pierce and myself compose the theological department. Rev. Lee is our Professor of Mathematics. We have also in the South. Rev. Scott, the pastor of the Methodist Church, has carried out one of the strongest young men Wilberforce has ever sent from her theological department. He is a primary department is taught by Mrs. E. Miller and Miss S. Davis. Both of these ladies are from Wilberforce. Both of them did the finest educated young men we have in the South. Rev. Pierce is the great Hebrew scholar of our Church and Wilberforce has ever sent from her walls, is a successful teacher. The Denver fears an epidemic of small-pox this Winter.

The streets in St. Paul, Minn., are very poorly numbered.

The number of Quakers in the United States is put down at 100,000.

A Georgetowne, Ky., duck has three legs and feet, all fully developed.

A rural obituary relates that "the deceased had accumulated a little money and ten children."

Mr. Edwin Lowe again advocates the use of explosives for the bringing about an increased rainfall in New South Wales.

Oak pillars are better support for a building in case of fire than those of iron. The latter are liable to warp from the effect of heat.

Several British noblemen were recently arrested in Yellowstone Park and heavily fined for chopping off specimens from curious trees, which they proposed to carry away with them.

A young lady recently put a large quantity of chloride of lime on a clothes brush when there was a musty smell. The bad odor was entirely destroyed by the chemical, but a silk dress of a delicate color was bleached to a dirty gray tone and rendered useless.

Another electric girl has been discovered in France. Her name is Angilique Cavin, and her peculiarities consist in throwing about furniture. When she sits on a chair, and several persons attempt to fight, the chair is carried from their hand and broken to pieces.

The "cutting room" in a shoe factory is by reason of the intricate machinery it contains, the most dangerous room in the building. In a rare instance in which such a room in a large factory that does a notcertain one of the employees escapes a finger or a thumb. Sometimes frightful accidents occur. The racer, a huge machine, which cuts the uppers from the pellotine of France, is used in cutting the soles of leather in strips. A workman takes a knife four feet long, that would eat a man's arm off as easily as scissors eat a thread.

A fish auction in Holland is one of the oddities of Continental life. At noon a boatman rushes pell mell in a load of fish the fact is announced by the sounding of a large brass horn. Then all hands make purchases repair to the beach, where the fish are piled up in little heaps. The owner then proceeds to auction them off. Instead of letting the purchasers do the bidding, as in this country, he does it himself. He hangs out a price at which he will sell the lot. If no one takes it he comes down by stages till within what the purchasers are willing to pay.

A regulation of a remarkable nature has been made by the French postal authorities in regard to the method of affixing postage stamps to registered letters. The stamps are not to be placed close together, but are to have a space between them. It is stated that when several stamps are placed together they cover a space sufficiently large to let fraud be committed, as if made for the withdrawal of a bank note. The same paper being pasted over the opening, the fraud could not be discovered until long after the person to whom the letter and opened it, when he would have no redress.

GOOD FOR THE CHILD.

The disposition of childhood need careful attention and wise treatment. Some people think "anything is good enough for a child, and there isn't much the matter with it anyhow." But judicious mothers know better and do as Mrs. H. W. Perry of Richmond, Va., does. She says: "I take Brown's Iron Bitters and give it to my children with the best known remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, and Chills and Fever, and I find it does them good. Before I used it they were very poorly indeed."

PHILADELPHIA, NOVEMBER 6, 1884

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 28, 1884.

REV. B. F. LEE.—The dispatch you published is absolutely false. Please say so.
C. S. SMITH.

It is a great relief to receive this dispatch, and a great pleasure to publish it. There are comparatively few things that can be of greater disadvantage to the A. M. E. Connection than to have its ministers support a man who has been defeated by Cleveland, while the sharp caucasian critics in the first magazines of the land charge against the negro, especially the A. M. E. ministry disregard for the marriage relations, inconsistency, &c. The same mail brought us no word from any responsible State to the same effect, the correspondents writing directly from Bloomington, Ill. We set it down as properly authenticated by two witnesses. We do not remember ever seeing a man appear just as he does, nor hearing a prayer like his.

After hearing him pray and speak, one seems inspired with a different notion of faith, of the gospel ministry and of God's way of proclaiming that gospel, from that previously held. The plans by which Dr. Taylor intends to operate are sneered at by Christians, but these can hardly be called Wm. Taylor's plens—they are God's plans. William Taylor has tried them thirteen years in India, some time in Australia and Africa. He shows results that probably surpass those shown in the average instance, under men's plans.

The Church is in trouble to secure volunteers; men, women and children offer themselves; many urge him to take them.

He gives no salary, nor allows his missionaries and himself to have any connection with missionary societies for support, claiming that God understands the kind of adjustment essential between the wealth in the earth and the wants of his messengers; the wants of the heathen and the worth of the gospel; that his orders to the disciples, to take neither purse nor scrip are the orders given to all ministers, but, as in the case of Paul going to Macedonia, ministers going to foreign lands may need aid to travel and to build houses for worship and schools. He quotes: "Behold, I send you as lambs among wolves," saying God sent out seventy at one time on these principles to dispend upon the wolves for food, and that their success was so very great that they forgot to make any report concerning finances, support, etc., on their return, until the Saviour asked them "Lacked ye anything?"

THE MISERABLE CARICATURES to which the public have been treated by our most popular pictorials during the pending campaign constitute a ground for serious approbension respecting the country that produced such ideas, and the people who will be fed on such food, dealing it out to their children. There are doubtless few points connected with the civilization of the United States that have a more demoralizing influence upon the moral sentiment of our nation than Presidential elections.

Nature's incongruities are thrown to us no ideal, representing nothing. To child's question of what is that, a picture if you have nothing to say. Were the true answer given it would be something like the following: it is no picture, in the common meaning of the word. It is, however, a representation of a base ideality, by which the common life of the nation and the admiration is modified. If the first men of the country may be thus associated with the dog, the hog, the donkey; if men can be made to look like monkeys and be worthy of such mean degradation by the caricaturist, what must be the moral condition of those who are made weaker and whose good sorts we only scarce?

THE BRIEF article of Dr. B. T. Tanner in another column sets before us an unpleasant fact—a fact that should make us every A. M. E. reader, if not others, who have not the Outlines, cible himself for the remissness Words of praise are because we lack a characteristic literature, as well as the words of laudation of the literature of the day we have, fail to discharge obligation, and at the same time make a conclusive argument that we should assist the literature makers that they may improve and increase our literature. One dollar from each of three hundred persons would not be felt seriously, while the introduction of three hundred copies of Tanner's Outlines in three hundred families would work a great good and at the same time be of great service to the author. The publisher of two books like the "Apology for African Methodism," and the "Outlines" should not be left to bear it, but every A. M. E. Church, in no small thing for one man. It has cost much more than it has come to in financial results.

BISHOP TURNER'S address to his district is just what might be found necessary in many other districts, doubtless. The literacy is attended with many inconvenience and unpleasantness. There can be no doubt on the part of those who have observed that the position of a Bishop arranging and distributing his appointments is a very unenviable one. There are few fairer fields than the Kentucky, for good work, if not good appointments.

BEFORE OUR READERS receive this issue of the Recorder, the question concerning the national government will wear a very different appearance from that of to-day. The result will depend upon the Saviour asked them "Lacked ye anything?"

Personal.

—Dr. A. G. Haygood is to write the life of Bishop Pierce.

—Mr. W. H. S. Seals is principal of the colored school in Quincy, Ill.

—Mr. Daniel J. Williams, one of our compositors, is on the sick list, but is convalescent.

—Secretary Oresham's tenure in the Treasury Department was brief; he is now Judge of a Circuit Judge.

—Bishop Wayman called at our office, en route from New York to his home, last week. He spends a few days with Bishop Campbell and others at the Book Concern. Bishop Wayman is looking as well as ever. He is now on his Southwestern tour.

—Rev. T. G. Haynes, of Africa, is in Kansas City, Mo. The Professor will, after a few days, return to St. Louis, en route to the World's Fair in New Orleans, to represent Africa. His health is poor, yet he is full of energy and posh, and determined his country will be represented.

—Manager Embry arrived at the office last Wednesday, with his five children. He says that the death of his wife, in absence of four weeks. We have done the best we could for him on side of official business, but doubtless turn it over to him in worse shape than it would be had he been present.

Literature.

An important and enlightening series of papers have just been begun in Wide Awake. They are from the pen of Sarah W. Whitmen, of whom Clarence Cook, in the current, says in The Studio, speaking of these papers: "Nobody among us has a better right than Mrs. Whitman to speak about painting, for she is a painter of great force and individuality."

The great botanical gardens of England are at Kew, a few miles up the Thames from London, and they are under the control of Sir Joseph Hooker, the distinguished naturalist. A paper in the November Harper's will give an account of a day spent with him in the midst of his work, and will be illustrated with some fine drawings of plants from the pencil of Alfred Parsons.

When the tide is at the full, it turns. Our educational methods have been reverting in system and severity, if not in perfection, for many years; and the demands upon the pupil have constantly increased, until the necessities for gradating have become imperative, and the peculiarities of the individual are almost entirely ignored. It would seem that this state of affairs this further, and any change now must be in some other direction. A single state, one of the brightest and most fearless of Amer can writers comes forward with a strong argument against the whole system, a protest against the grading and cramming of the schools, much of the vitality out of the education we are giving to the rising generation. Dr. Edward Brooks Hale, in the November number of the North American Review, makes a plea for that training of the child which every parent and every school board ought to consider seriously. The other articles in this number are: "Woman as a Political Factor," by Judge Robert C. Pitman; "Our Naval Armament;" by Hobart Pasha, who thinks the United States Government has been wise to now constructing a costly navy;" Friendship in Old Norse Poetry," by Principal J. C. Sharp; "Herbert Spencer's Latest Critic;" by Hon. Timothy Youmans; "Neuro-Hypnotism;" by Charles L. Congdon; and "Restriction of the Suffrage," by William E. Scruggs.

The November number of the Magazine of Art closes the volume for the year with many attractions. The frontispiece of the number is from Mr. Millais' celebrated Jacobean picture, "The Bush at Home, Calro," and is a very suggestive of that artist's generous treatment of his subject. This picture accompanies an article on "The American Bush at Home," by O. Thompson, who was until he left this country for England the editor of the New York World. Mr. Brownell is an admirable critic and he has a fruitful subject. The illustrations of the picture exhibit in some no often their most striking work. The general effect of the number has been made their successes in the Salon. This is especially illustrated. The "Portrait of a Lady," by Wyatt Eaton is capitally reproduced and shows that this artist has done no work which was the best of its kind when he left Philadelphia months ago. Mr. Healy Heath continues his entertaining and instructive papers on "Engraving in the Fifteenth Century," with their droll cuts, and in an entirely opposite style Mr. Cosmo Monkhouse describes the delights of a day "By Stream and Spring." Mr. Sidney Colvin devotes a paper to Glindoia's Prince Henry before Judge Gascoigne, and Mr. Harrison discusses Greek Art at Cambridge, for the development of which Mr. Waldstein is entitled to much credit. Prof. Charles Waldstein, of New York. A very interesting paper on "Early English Painters" is contributed by Edmund Gosse, and Mr. Balfour discusses "French Furniture." Each one of these papers is illustrated with numerous drawings, specimens of them from nature, others from rare prints and notable exhibitions, and a faithful record of the art news of the month, both in Europe and America. This will be found in the usual place in the Magazine.—Cassell & Company, Limited, New York.

TUSKEGEE NORMAL SCHOOL.

BY "TOM SHORT."

I'haven't summer has past,
The rich harvest days are come,
And we were here at last
In our dear Normal School home.

The first day of September was one of joy to many. It was the opening of the fourth year of Tuskegee Normal School. Many were the pleasant smiles and hearty greetings as the old students met each other, and the old and several new instructors will be escaped in the work of the University with a few days' rest and good greasily. This year already promises greater success in every way. For further particulars and information, send for a catalogue to President J. G. Waiter, D.D., Prof. J. W. Morris, A. M., Dean D. Augustus Straker, LL. B., or Secretary O. Pierce Nelson, all of Columbia, S. C.

To the Editor of the Recorder.

We are still at work. Some things come to us that are very white and some that are very black. The school is larger than it was last year at the end of two months. Quite a number of our old students have not returned, and a number of new ones have come to take their places. We are greatly in need of more boarding accommodations. We offer but a needy work, unlobed over and over again, and still we are overcrowded. These all must be remedied before the 15th of next month. Our school is in the first of the current month. After the 15th, in the first of the month following. All must be paid up to date.

A MOST UNFORTUNATE AND SERIOUSLY DAMAGING STATEMENT

REV. B. F. LEE, D.D., EDITOR OF CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

DEAR SIR:—While busily engaged in the performance of the duties of presiding officer of the North Ohio Conference, at its late session, among other things received by my mail matter was a roll of fly-sheets, of which the following is a copy. Don't fail to publish it as an act of over-handed justice to both the author, pastors, trustees, stewards and presiding elders of the Church. This article is said to have been ordered by the Bishop of the A. M. E. Church, in Annual Council, August 20th, 1884, Detroit, Michigan:

ORDERED BY THE BISHOPS OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH, IN ANNUAL COUNCIL, AUGUST 20TH, 1884, AT DETROIT, MICH.

To Presiding Elders and Pastors of the A. M. E. Church:

This is merely the form of quarterly conference reports, which every presiding elder must see is prepared for the respective boards, read before the quarterly conference, corrected, if necessary, then adopted by the said conference and recorded before the Church rises, if conference is held and once without failure, so that the members may be kept posted as to the condition of their churches. They are always been the law of our Church, but we have come to the conclusion that it is not to keep the rule up. Hence, much of the trouble which grows out of mismanagement. These reports are to be read by the secretaries of the respective boards, and will be a part of every meeting, when the presiding elder is there in person; and when he has the general oversight and direction of affairs as he naturally has on the Sabbath when he preaches. Remember it is the business of the presiding elder to see that these reports are read to the people, and for him to give any other information which may be necessary for enlightenment, nor is he to attempt to make corrections, assessments unless he does it. These reports will be ready for occupancy on the close of this term is being fed by fair prospects.

A WORD TO MY BROTHER MINISTERS.

Writing for a copy of my "Apology," the letter said: "I am now writing the fourth volume of our Church History. It is so dull. I find your outline a good guide to my researches."

And yet, my brethren, almost a thousand copies of these "outlines" which Bishop Payne, the historiographer of the Church, pronounced a good guide to him, remain in my hand. I ask you, dear brethren, to buy these books—not because they are mine, and not because by so doing you will help me to publish; paying the three hundred and more dollars which I yet owe the printer and binder, but ask you to buy it, that you may be more fully acquainted with the facts and figures of our rise and progress as a church. The price is but one dollar.

Yours for a literature of our own,
B. T. TANNER.

THE CHRISTIAN RECORDER will be sent three months for 45 cents; six months, 80 cents; one year, $1.50.

Look out for the valuable premium list to be published shortly, and which will contain as premiums articles of value.

THE LATE JAMES WORMLEY.

I do not propose to write an obituary of this gentleman, for the fact has been well done by innumerable other hands, but merely to jot down a few words in memory of one whom it was my good fortune to know well. To speak of Wormley as a gentleman must exactly describe him, if we take that often misapplied word in its true and best sense.

He was a "colored man," but his color never stood in his way. He was a man among men, and by the like race, of such high order were his qualities of mind and heart and so natural always his bearing. The position of James Wormley as a caterer, a hotel keeper, and as a boy despised and down trodden by his race, was no bar to his becoming the most distinguished man of his time. It is to be truthfully said of James Wormley that he is "knew his place." But what was his place? You would be at no loss for a moment respectfully but emphatically to answer, that he was the man to order for a dinner and the next to none for a banquet, a position occupied by Charles Sumner. He was never a prejudiced man and was a thinker and reader himself, he never sought the friendship of men merely because they were rich or famous, but acquaintance might add to his importance. The prominent men of the country, of any note, were proud to know him. I should think a book could be written concerning the many distinguished men who were his guests. He has invited to his table the leading statesmen of the country, and the most distinguished people of Europe. Remember it is the business of the presiding elder to see that these reports are read to the people, and for him to give any other information which may be necessary for enlightenment, nor is he to attempt to make corrections, assessments unless he does it. These reports will be ready for occupancy on the close of this term is being fed by fair prospects.

A BRIEF ADDRESS TO ALL WHO ARE INTERESTED IN THE WORK OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION.

BY REV. C. S. SMITH.

As the executive officer of the Sunday School Union I feel it necessary at this time to say a few words to you in regard to the work of the Union. First, I shall not be able to be absent from home for any length of time. The work of the Union requires my personal supervision. We have a large correspondence, and the obligating inquiries that no subordinate can satisfactorily answer. Again, I am not able to spend much time in the money in traveling. Since the Union was organized I have spent over one thousand dollars in visiting annual conferences, and my salary is only $1,200 per year. Of course we like to see the brethren, and know that it is a good thing for the cause, but we can greatly help the work by making personal appeals, explanations, &c. This, however, we think rightly, too, that the Sunday School Union is a success. Let us see what it has given two years.

Fourth, we shall furnish needy schools with Bibles, Testaments, song books, lesson papers of last year's Sunday School Review and the Child's Recorder. All pastors having charge of needy schools will please send us their names, and we will send them to the superintendents; also state the number of teachers and scholars.

WRITING PAPER IN THE UNITED STATES.—From "The Paper Mill Directory of the World" we learn that there are 45 firms engaged in the manufacture of writing paper, exclusive of wrapping paper, which operate 55 mills and employ 2,738 hands. These mills contain 331 washing, beating and refining engines; 80 machines, varying in width from 62 inches to 84 inches, and have a producing capacity of nearly 155 tons daily. In addition to this there are 200 pounds turned out daily by hand. There are 5 mills which use engines alone for writing in addition to their product of book paper. These mills employ 1,697 engines, contain 1,246 engines, 451 machines, varying from 40 to 88 inches in width, and have a producing capacity of 37 tons daily.—[Pittsburg Commercial.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S MODEL SPEECH.

BY REV. R. O HOSTETTER.

It is said that when, on a certain occasion, the lamented President Lincoln visited a prominent Sunday School he was invited to address the children. As might be supposed, all eyes were turned to him, and he was expected to say something worthy of the occasion. Mr. Lincoln said simply: "My dear young friends, when you chew, do not smoke, do not swear." How had he failed in his duty? Many a man would have delivered a more sensible address, one of a far more pretentious character, one of greater study, have portrayed the beauties of the Christian life, and have left a more powerful impression upon the minds of his hearers. But, alas, Mr. Lincoln said simply "My dear young friends, when you chew, do not smoke, do not swear." How had he failed in his duty?

Major Knox Holmes, 77 years old, rode 115 miles on a tricycle in ten hours, the other day in England.

A man at White Lake, N. Y., was rendered blind and helpless by being stung by a hornet at the base of his brain.

The dog is the only animal able to follow man as far and as high as he can go, but the fear breeds of dogs cannot long endure the conditions of a height of more than 12,000 feet.

POOR FELLOWS!

Frustrated, debilitated, enfeebled, they feel as if they were hardly worth picking up. They would hardly give a chance of a choice between life and death Hot even such forlorn people can be restored by the use of Wolven's Iron Bitters. It vitalizes the blood, tones the nerves, and invigorates the system. Mr Isaac C. Wood, Burr's Mills, O., says, "I used Brown's Iron Bitters for general weakness, and it helped me greatly."

The bread really eaten in Turin, Italy, is a yard long and an eighth of an inch in diameter. It is called "grissini" after the physician who introduced it for hygienic principles, and is very crisp and exceedingly palatable.

HE KNOWS IT.

Hiram D. Maxfield, formerly of Silver Springs, Pa., has no doubt about the wonderful curative powers of Kidney-Wort. He was afflicted with Kidney Complaint that he could not stand on his feet from pain and weakness. As soon as he commenced using Kidney-Wort he experienced immediate relief and at once began to grow stronger and was relieved of all pain and unpleasantness. He says he knows he was cured by Kidney-Wort."

The Georgia papers report that sharpers are going over the line of Sherman's march to the sea, selling farmers into the belief that the Government is going to pay for the damages done at that time and collecting fees in advance for services to be rendered in pushing through claims.

"Man's work's from sun to sun; Woman's work is never done."

Work is a necessity to all; but, upon how many does it bear heavily. Many fall with the burden of the "last straw," and this, because their peculiar physical condition has not been relieved by judicial derangement. We cannot lessen your toil, but we can make it easier for you by making you stronger and better able to bear it. Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" will relieve you of nervous and other weaknesses, and all the ills peculiar to your sex.

Bosworth Park, the Leicestershire estate of Sir Beaumont Dixie, is in remarkable condition, and has not long been free 3000 acres of land in the country hunted by the Atherstone Hounds, and furnishing an income of £6000 a year. The prologue to the season's sport has the estate contains "King Dicks clump, where Richard III hoisted his standard to battle, and in the morning of the Battle of Bosworth Field."

CURED OF CHRONIC RHEUMATISM.

"I suffered almost intolerable torments from rheumatism for many years. Parker's Tonic restored my health." says M. A. Allen, Jackson, Mich.

The surprising information is given by a detective that there is no better place to be in case he is arrested than a reading-room. In order to keep posted with criminal news the thieves carefully read the papers, and they are capable of the large cities. Once an important arrest of a prominent criminal is made this way. A man who spent several days in reading an account of a jewelry robbery appeared so interested that he was arrested and found to be guilty.

Bellingham has a new postal card. No matter how wonderful cures a medicine sometimes have worked—it is cannot be relied on. Burdock Blood Bitters (Liver) Remedy is new known to fail and it has been used for years.

As soon as it became known that the duties on opium imports were to be increased from $6 to $10 a pound, the dealers of San Francisco brought in several millions worth of the drug, and so the supply exceeded the demand. It had to be stored away in various banks and warehouses. Many of the dealers are said to under the old rate was nearly abstaining, and the shipments under the new, consisting of 131 cases, netted the Government, in the way of duties, $95,000. This may give the nebic somnolities of the extent the habit of eating and using the drug has fastened upon the people in this country.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is to be had at the nearest drug store for a dollar. It is not claimed that this remedy is a panacea for every under the sun but that it does all that it claims to do, thousands of good women know and declare.

The arrangements for the establishment of the Mont Cenis colony in Africa are all but complete. A track of 100,000 acres has been secured and all that is wanted now is that the first settlers should be guaranteed. Mr. John Dillon, late M. P. for Tipperary, has accompanied Mr. Parnell through the country, he threw himself into the scheme with great vigor. At first it was intended that the settlement should be exclusively devoted to the Irish agriculturist. That scheme has been abandoned now. All poor people of all nationalities will not only be welcomed, but will be assisted until they obtain a footing and be allowed to pay for the land they occupy "as soon as they can."

Delicate diseases of either sex, however induced, quickly cured. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Gill, says Science, has recently paid a visit to the workshop of the Messrs. Repsold, and gives an account of the great Russian astronomical clock. Several particulars not contained in Prof. Newcomb's report. The clock consists of being clear-shaped, as is the Washington and Vienna chronographs, is beautifully and therefore no larger at the centre than at each end. The object of choosing this form is to bring the centre of gravity of the tube may be as near as possible to the polar axis of the instrument. The central part is of cast iron. The steel plates diminish in thickness from the centre toward the object-glass, so that the whole structure is extremely rigid. For order to get a sufficient field of view, the micrometer consists a small spectroscope, so arranged that the spectrum of any celestial object can be observed without any change of the instrument. It is expected that the telescope will be mounted at Pulkowa during the coming autumn.

A PECK OF MISERIES.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "bright as a button" and as lively as a cricket. It is perfectly harmless, and pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

"He that dwelleth under the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty."

THE REV. LEWIS HOOD and his church at West Chester are flourishing. We were surprised on entering their church, Sunday, 2nd inst., at its size and neatness. The audience worshipping there, bear marks of thrift, culture and devoutness. There are few small cities in which our people are more largely prosperity holders, or in which they have a more goodly property. The Sunday school is promising. The Superintendent bears the appearance of especial fitness for his office. We have seen very few congregations in which there was so large an attendance of young people and children as in this congregation. It is to be attributed to the right direction by pastor and Sunday school authorities. The collections were good and the spiritual interest was excellent. The choir sing well.

"The Lord reigneth, let the earth rejoice." "The Lord reigneth, let the people tremble." "God standeth in the congregation of the mighty; he judgeth among the gods" "In Judah is God known; his name is great in Israel."

DR. GAINES' letter is very encouraging. It looks as if there was scarcely a doubt as to his success. Too much credit cannot be given to him and his noble workers on his own hunting ground. Having resisted the pressure of slavery in his development, he shows capabilities for vigorous growth in any atmosphere.

The campaign has been remarkable in several respects. There has probably not been less said in campaign speeches by the Republican party reassuring to the negro. There has certainly no other condition for the future than we made the brilliant campaign canvass accomplished by Mr. Blaine. He has made a wonderful circuit and collected a vast amount of energy, correctness and endurance. There has never been a campaign so desperate and yet so well conducted on the part of Democratic side this year. There has probably been no campaign in which the respective parties relied more upon successful in undermining or overthrowing by means of attacking candidates rather than parties.

The colored man has now to go to work as he has been doing, day by day, in God's sunshine, give out as little as possible, acquire and hold fast to that which is good. We believe he is still to make a character in this land, as well as other lands. The question of a dark continent and a white man's government amounts to very little. Men are not going to live in any civil location supported on a color line. The continent of Africa will receive an emigration of white men in the next fifty years equal to that now received by America. The races cannot be segregated absolutely and entirely. They have never been for any considerable length of time. Our success in this country, as elsewhere, must depend upon our allying ourselves with its best men and living the very best moral life.

ELECTION DAY has passed. At this time—Friday morning—both sides claim the victory, but neither side is jubilant, their basis being mere guesses and estimates made upon limited returns. Of course, the solid South is for Cleveland. The gloom of doubt is in a few northern States—New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Indiana, probably we might add Wisconsin and California. The political atmosphere is very murky. The campaign has been one of the most desperate on both sides. If the Democratic party win, we question whether those colored men of New York have helped, will feel real nice when they see their work. If the democrats have won, we fear those colored voters who have withheld their suffrage from Mr. Blaine on personal grounds, will regret it by the time they get through with the new personal difficulties that will meet them in the future, resulting from the election of Mr. Cleveland. We still trust Mr. Blaine will be our next President. The immediate result of the election of Cleveland most serious to all, is its benumbing influence upon business. This will be felt for one year at least. There are many complications created by the election, in business, that will end in ruin. The plans of many will be suddenly shocked. Free trade will disarrange the plans intended for protection and work irrepairable and the remotest. The manufacturing establishments. The influence will spread through all classes of society like the plague, and will require three years at least to effect an adjustment upon which society will be as settled and business movements as regular as here-tofore.

"The Lord reigneth; he is clothed with majesty; the Lord is clothed with strength wherewith he hath girded himself. The world also is established that it cannot be moved."

THE ARTICLE in the A. M. E. Church Review on "The Proverbial Philosophy of the Colored Race," by J. A. M. Johns, is readable in the fullest sense of the word; yet a close comparison will probably throw some of those proverbs outside of the colored race. However, there are quite as many not included that may be attributed to the negro.

There are many ingenious freaks in the negro mind and they have strewn themselves along the race-life path like flowers, with all the fragrance of those strewn by other races.

Professor H. T. Kealing, of Waco, has written a lively, and in the main, correct paper for the M. E. Review for November on "The Colored Ministers of the South—Their Preaching and Peculiarities." All ministers will do well to read it. Of course, they can say you're another, i. e. The same may be said of the colored mun in any other profession. But the nothing connected with our standing and progressive work in to us than the interviews, reviews and criticisms we receive.

There are many ingenious freaks in Literature.

The illustrations in the November Century include six full-page pictures among them several reproductions of Elihu Vedder's illustrations of the Song of Solomon Khayyam, soon to be published in book form.

General Beauregard, in his article on the Battle of Bull Run, in the November Century, gives the reasons why the Confederate troops at Bull Run were not followed up by an attack on Washington. He also discusses his personal relations with Mr. Davis, and criticises, with much plainness of speech, the subsequent conduct of the war on the Confederate side.

Professor J. P. Sampson, pastor of the Bethlehem (A. M. E.) Church, N. J., scores one for the literature of the colored race, and, what is even better, one for the colored race in science. In the Burlington County Agricultural Fair his book on the "History of Race or Mixed Races," was awarded a premium and valuable gold medal most beautifully designed. On its face is engraved: "Among the first of the best in a very short time." "Mixed Races." We recommend this little work to Professor Gilliam and Shelton. We have examined it and pronounce it a most valuable contribution to the Burlington County Fair Association.

Prof. Gilliam, in November North American Review, on "The Negro Citizen as a unit." No nation, or race is absolutely a unit on any other subject: why will people make a unit on the negro question. "The blacks will consult." It is to be hoped that Prof. Gilliam's own admission, and from several observers, that the colored man called black will ever consolidate absolutely on any subject. There is a moral side of the question that these reviewers discard when they see it, or, if they see it, fail to act. Dr. A. G. Haygood says he is willing to leave the matter to the commandments and the sermon on the mount. A disregard for this moral subject will never bring permanent success to any class of people. Success in the best sense must be in accordance with God's will, way and law. No success is successful without it.

A plea for industrial education among the colored people by Henry Edwards Brown, of the Hampton Industrial Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations, is a pamphlet and gives, besides the opinions of many prominent men of both North and South; Governors, college presidents, colored editors, bishops and others. Among other things it shows that the industrial courts begin to complain that an undue proportion of their colored defendants are students in the schools. The hope of any people is in young men, but out of every hundred and fifty colored men between twenty and thirty years of age, one is practically unaffiliated on the battle field would it consent to accept the black man as a brother soldier. But the South has defied his former pride-gave way, and he most willingly consented to be served even by a Black.

Not until the results of the war of man to praise Him, as he has so often made us to see during the last score years and more.

Not until the white soldiery of the South will be unaffiliated on the battle field would it consent to accept the black man as a brother soldier. But the South has defied his former pride-gave way, and he most willingly consented to be served even by a Black.

Not until the results of the war of the Rebellion will be likely to slip from the hands of the white electors of the North would they consent to have the ballot in the hands of disfranchised black citizens. With this absolutely certain, as in the case of bearing arms, their race pride again gave way, and they have given the ballot to the negro two score years before, was returned.

And not until the North is made to know that she cannot rule without the protects the ballots of the black electors in the South, will she be willing to do it. Her present defeat, beyond all question, will be followed by a victory in the case of the war, only Bull Run, first and second, only the bloody fall of Chancellorsville, only the fall of October 20th, places me in an inconsistent and self-contradictory light, because I represents me as fully endorsing the so-called union, when all the readers of the RECORDER know that from the beginning of the movement towards organic union of the A. M. E. Church with the B. M. E. Church, I have always opposed and protested against it, for what I believe to be inadvisable reasons. This I did before all my Annual Conferences since 1881 up to the General Conference of 1884, and in the face of that General Conference. This I did also in the conventions in the basement of Old Bethel, in Baltimore, where the Bishops met during the General Conference, which meeting Bishop Disney was interviewed.

Then and there I told the Bishops I would sign "The Proclamation" under protest. Now, therefore, any protest does not appear along with the proclamation, I send, not my loagthy Appeal to the Consideration of the Members and Laity of the African M. E. Church in the United States of America," because that covers about ten pages; but I do send for publication my views of my protest, briefly stated, "Some of the Many Reasons for Opposing the Union of the A. M. E. and the B. M. E. Churches."

Yours truly,
DANIEL ALEXANDER PAYNE.

My opposition to the proposed organic union of the B. M. E. Church with the A. M. E. Church is based upon the following reasons, to wit:

a. The reasons which indicted the Methodists to separate themselves from us in 1805, and organizing the B. M. E. Church, are as operative and powerful now as they were then.

Now, what were those reasons? They were the British Methodist Bodies of the Church? They have set them forth in their Discipline which we have in our possession. Those reasons are briefly these: 1st. Union, hear and understand. They say "the Canadian Annual Conference found it to be inexpedient for it to be subject to a foreign Bishop and Conference."

Then we had two Bishops, who were foreign to the Canadian Conference, in Bishop Payne. Bishop Nazey was not foreign to them, because he had already been in Canada, and, last Assembly had sworn eternal hatred to Rome, so had he sworn eternal hatred to the United States. He soon became the idol of the Canadians. 2d. Because that its members became infused with his spirit of opposition to the United States. 3d. Because that "the Book of Articles of Religion," "We acknowledge the Queen Victoria" (Queen Victoria) "our rightful Sovereign, possessing supreme power in all things temporal, as it exists in Europe, North America, South Australia, North America, South America, the West Indian and other islands of the ocean; also, the Governors, Lieutenant Governors, and Governments of South America, and Canada. And we also believe that no foreign jurisdiction has any power or authority within the boundaries of her vast dominions; and inasmuch as we have been placed by the providence of God in the midst of a people among whom the Queen has no power, and ordained preachers in Northern conferences, transferred to Southern conferences, worked their way by this finally, through the influence of Northern fathers and brethren, to the position of Bishop. Now, brethren, our own history will show that we have not been allowed to go to the Conference. 3. The colored man has been a citizen for nearly a century. 4. These all must be brought in subjection to the Queen of England, and to her Parliament, and to her Lords and Commons, and to her Bishops and Clergy. Does not this mean that we are to be subjects of England? Does not this mean that we are to be subjects of England? Does not this mean that we are to be subjects of England?

Malica sucks the greatest part of her own venom, and poisons herself.

The faculty of Yale has unanimously voted to have semi-annual instead of annual examinations.

Walt Whitman will lecture in England in 1886, upon "Democratic, Industrial, Poetic America."

METHODIST CENTENNIAL.

The centennial celebration of American Methodism is to take place December 9-16, in Baltimore, Md. The excitement consequent upon the election has caused a corresponding lack of enthusiasm in everything else; especially in matters like this, in which men would have as high pleasure on ordinary occasions. One could almost wish the great governmental offices were not subject to a frequent change. We could wish that the changes might be accomplished with far less draft upon the nation. Seriously, it is too bad that everything else should subside while fifty millions attend to changing officers every quadrennium. It would seem especially a pity that religious matters should come to a stand just when we need most religion. There have been some movements with reference to Methodism, but our Church has been lamentably inactive.

The Southern M. E. Church, lodging from their organs, have made arrangements for good work in their own departments, and so with the M. E. Church. It is sadly to be feared that there is going to be a meagre representation of the A. M. E. Church. After the great expense of sending nine men to Europe, when three could have done the work, we can scarcely afford to treat the home centennial, that will cost us so little comparatively, with seeming indifference. How few of us remember that we owe our large representation in London to the strenuous efforts of Dr. Arnett. There are many chances like we would have been poorly represented but for his efforts. But just now, it is not a matter of getting money to send delegates, it is to exercise that is called into question. We publish this week a list of our delegates. Competition in this age acts significantly in religious affairs, if not in religion. Whether we will or not, we are put into comparison with those by our side. May we not hope that the A. M. E. Church will so earnestly unite in the spirit of thankfulness, praise and consecration to God for his blessed providence with reference to Methodism in America, that there may be no mistake as to our calling and our election.

THE HAYTIEN WORK.

It would almost seem as if this Church enterprise had been brought to a stand-still did we not remember who are at its head: Bp. Hev. J. A. Shorter, Revs. J. M. Townsend, D.D., and C. W. Mossell, A. M.; and did we not receive now and then a really hearty encouragement from Dr. Townsend. It is certainly reasonable that those who have contributed many thousands of dollars to the work should look for a report of its standing, at least, semi-annually. We are very anxious to hear of it. The effects of a word from the mission field once or twice a quarter would be of great assistance to the struggling home Church.

This Church assumes new proportions and becomes possessed of new interests by the return of Rev. Dorce and Rev. and Mrs. Moss to Hayti. The missionaries are loyal to the A. M. E. Church, devoted to her principles and they will render great service to Elder Mossell. They are deacons of great support; one of them being unmarried and the other the "husband of one wife." Mrs. Moss is a Christian lady, and should her life be spared, will be capable of associating with the noble, faithful, trustful Mrs. Mossell in the elevation of women in Hayti.

We have no doubt that those young brethren feel like entering upon their work at once. The A. M. E. Church has educated them, now they are anxious to ally themselves with it in the education of the race. It is to be hoped that with their native high moral and social tone they will develop somewhat of the Yankee ingenuity and practicability, that sailing their boats and ours in developing the wealth of their soil, the riches of their forests and rivers and the advantages of their commercial forces; that they will give to education a decided and emphatic turn towards industry. How we should like to see such a woman as Mrs. F. J. Coppin, of Philadelphia, associated with them. Yes, should like to see it. God grant us strength as a Church to support our mission work. We here, in the RECORDER, as we have done privately, urge the young brethren to keep commendations on the wing for our paper. God bless them.

"SLAVERY IS DEAD FOREVER." We trust this is true, but do not hesitate to warn our readers against trusting the demon, against yielding to the direst song of the vile and subtle passion of greed and race domination. "Gentlemen may cry peace, peace, but there is no peace" to a struggling race in the meshes of a more powerful race, disclosed to favor it in its struggles. Be not too sure of the death of slavery. We find an anecdote frequently related by that matchless orator, General W. H. Gibson, of Ohio, in his speeches approppos: colored man arrived his fellow traveler to pass or while he stopped by the way to kill a polecat that made its presence smell if not felt. His comrade completed his journey and, returning, found the old man still heating the animal with a club, both the cat and the club, as well as the old man, being well night exhausted. "Hello! you got him dead yet?" asked the returned companion. "O, yes, he's dead enough, but still Massa himself don't want to let him know that there's a God in Israel. The thing must be subdued."

Slavery has never been so subdued but it has just as oppressive smell. You may really scent it in the heart of race superiority, race priority, made by men with reckless indifference to their own race history and to God's demands. The incitement feelings toward the negro so often manifested by man whose calling, profession and calling would lead you to expect better of them, are the foul odors of the beast. We cannot forget these pitiful comparisons. We fully in advance of the colored American in every respect, have been reduced to hopeless and intolerable slavery. In fact, so far as being liberated as a distinct people with the power of reconciliation is concerned. Every colored man should feel himself called upon to, in the course of life, trusting God not impliedly and watching men most carefully and suspiciously. We do not expect to be reduced to slavery. We do not fear it; but we cannot forget its possibility. There cannot be, we admit, any danger of the return of slavery in its old form, but it may come upon us in a new form. We warn our people especially against the enslavement to parties in all forms at the same time watch men.

YOU CAN scarcely find any one wanting to go to Hayti. Hard times will be just now. All say they would not pass through the ordeal necessary to reaching the other for anything. But the climate and the stink away and the autumn of the term comes on, you will find very many willing to become the standard-bearers of slavery. The old missional ring of Maine and Blaine will probable ever again be heard in connection with the affirmative. Hayti is certainly one of the noblest countries that ever entered the races. It may be truly said of him he "ran for the office." The gallant fight he made will never be forgotten by the American people. Doubtless had he not been overdone by political agitators he would have run splendidly. The Americans prefer the intimation of Henry Ward Beecher with reference to their moral character to the intimation to the colored citizens that there is danger of the democratic administration remanding them into unconsciousness, by saying the President that "slavery is dead."

Professor B. K. Sampson, principal of Clay Street Grammar School, Memphis, ranks first among our teachers in this city. He is an able scholar, having taught in two of our leading colleges in this country. He is a second to say in the oratorical field, for his force of expression is such as to impress the sequence to attract, and his wisdom to instruct all who have the pleasure of being his auditors.—Cleveland Gazette.

Rev. Wm. D. Johnson, D.D ,Educational Secretary of the African M. E. Church, is in the city, pressing the claims for pecuniary aid. He found a hearty welcome at the late Unitarian convention in Saratoga. His cause was quite warmly espoused, and he is securing from members of that denomination material assistance. Their charity cannot be bestowed upon a worthier object. Funds entrusted to his care will be faithfully devoted to the education of colored youth under the supervision of the African M. E. Church.—Zion's Herald.

The Rev. Dr. Tolliver has arrived and preached his first pastoral sermon to his congregation in Warren Chapel in this city, Church, Toledo. It is currently remarked that there have not been as many people in the chapel for years as were there Sunday last, and it was also said that several years since he was pestilenced for by the people here, and very many congratulations expressed at his coming. He is here at last. The parsonage is to be fitted up, painted, and the whole premises put in order, and a desirable companion, Mrs. Tolliver, are being created, and every expression of kindness possible is being extended. We appreciate Tolliver.—Cleveland Gazette.

Notes on Education.

Wilberforce University is interested in the Industrial and Colored Exhibit at the coming New Orleans Exposition. Classes are to be examined during this year of 1884, "which are far superior to anything of the kind ever seen," both in typographical appearance and the general excellence of contents. In addition to the bright and charming new carols by such widely-known composers as Root, Murray, Sherwin, Tourjee, etc., there is a most beautiful Responsive Service prepared by Miss Etta Walker, arranged so as to permit the school to take part by classes, a feature that will be especially appreciated. On the whole, there is ample material for a most delightful entertainment, and the low price of 5 cents each, or 50 cents per dozen by mail postpaid, places the Selections within the reach of all.

General Law Wallace has written for the December Century an article on Fort Donelson. This will be the second paper in the War Series. The first one of which—General Beauregard on the Battle of Shiloh—is the largest number—has attracted wide attention. The extra demand for the Century in this month made necessary a second edition of nearly 10 000, and the December starts with 150,000. Accompanying General Wallace's article will be a reproduction of an autographic copy of Mr. Lincoln's famous letter to the Confederate general, Buckner at Donelson, requesting that "No terms except unconditional and immediate surrender can be accepted. I propose to move immediately upon your works." A portrait of Grant, full length, from a rare known photograph, is the frontispiece of the number.

The Forum Magazine, mentioned some months ago as in prospectus, is now in circulation. It is published in the interest of the graduates of Lincoln University. Rev. J. C. Embry, M. D., Rev. W. Sullivan, A.M., and Rev. J. F. Williams, B. D., are the editors. The appearance, in its initial number, of an interesting 28 pages, devoted to book reviews, history, correspondence, and in the brief sketch of the history of Lincoln University there is much that is encouraging, showing as it does the foundations are in the very best of American feelings and morals, even in the South particularly. It remarks, speaking of the Peabody fund, "The amount of this fund, declarable at the annual meeting, June 30th, 1885, "Many of whom came hundreds of miles to witness the dedication of the first college in which their children could receive a liberal education, free of charge." The same sentiments of the Institution, December 2nd, 1884, "Many of whom came hundreds of miles to witness the dedication of the first college in which their children could receive a liberal education, free of charge." The same sentiments of the Institution, December 30th

In a while a twinge of neuralgia."

Now, neighbor, you seem to want a general tuning up, and you've got it right in Brown's Iron Bitters. Mr. A. J. Harrell, of Weldon, says, "I was for a sickly man. Brown's Iron Bitters made me healthy and strong."

The common among Boston children now is the desire to play the violin. It is as usual to see little girls walking along the street with a violin box in one hand as to see them carrying their schoolbooks.

JUST FROM THE PRESS.

The New & Revised Edition OF THE UNDERGROUND RAILROAD, By WILLIAM STILL, With a Life of the Author.

A large, handsomely printed, highly illustrated, and beautifully bound book, which explains the Secret Service of the Underground Railroad, and preserves the only records, made at the time, of the thrilling incidents, perils, and sufferings of the fugitives.

The records were faithfully taken from the lips of the fugitives themselves, and preserved as fast as they could be written out. Many of them would have cost the life of the author had he been found out. Not only the fugitives, but many who have been long and favorably known, and who have been prominent in the thrilling history, don't know the records are preserved, and will be surprised on reading them. Their statements will be corroborated by the testimony of the fugitives themselves, and by the letters of those who aided them in their perilous flights from the land of bondage to the land of freedom.

The book is a large octavo, containing 774 pages, and is sold by subscription only. Agents are wanted to canvass the country. Send for circulars, terms, and specimen pages. Address, ILLINOIS AGRICULTURIST, 164 LaSalle Street, Chicago, Illinois.

WILLIAM WELLS BROWN, M.D.

This author and physician died at his home, 89 Beacon Street, Chelsea, Mass., Nov. 6, aged 68 years. Probably no other colored man has left so many books bearing his name as has Dr. Brown. His services in behalf of his race have been of the highest order. As among white men, so among colored men, death is striking down the men in the van of freedom's columns. THANKSGIVING.

This is Thanksgiving Day. We do well to close up the places of business, to throw off care and perplexity this one day of the year, significant as it is for more than the willingness to give one day to rest, not especially ordered by civil or divine law. The exercises, thanksgiving, & prayer, & hymns fifty millions to e stand-still once a year. It is the influence of religion. It may be objected that one day is given over more to pleasure and rest than to worship; that there is more preaching than worship. But, after all, there must be a large credit set down to fever of religion in the matter. President Arthur's proclamation is very brief and explicit.

One would infer that the democrats of the country would have a glorious time thanking God, did we not know that great success is the ready key to feed men of the world to a mere jubilation in their own praise.

OUR SCHOOLS.

The condition of all our schools is a subject demanding the attention of every member of the Church. Wilberforce, Paul Quinn and Allen have seamed the responsibilities of education by hundreds and paying several persons to perform this work. We can easily remember how men, a hundred miles from the battle-field, in the intimation that there is this fault to be found, and that fault, with our schools, but the truth is, there is no other place in all in the extent of our connection where the contest is hotter. fi t a where satisfied ignorance and dissatisfied ignorance meet in deadly combat. The faculty and students, leading the latter class, receiving the shot and shell of the enemy. It is where we feel more needed than almost anywhere else, the embarrasment of our poverty; for our very patronage is subjected to a very strong competition with wealth connected with other institutions. Here we have to contend with the question as to whether any good can come out of Nazareth.

OUR NOTE in issue of Oct 30th, touching a comment made by the Southwestern Christian Advocate on Bishop Turner's address to his district, is styled by the Advocate of Nov. 13th, "The Recorder's Defence of Reckless Talking." Readers will decide whether it assumed more the character of defence than condemnation of reckless talking. The Advocate says, "We object to the use of the PERSONAL PRONOUN THERE." Further, "fi t the same number of the Southwestern, we had also a comment on an article of Bishop Hood of the A. M. E. Z. Church." "We meant more than one." "we were compelled to say these." Any one reading the comments of Bishop Hood and Turner after reading the Southwestern's explanation, must read it as explained; few would be likely to do so before. "Webster's second definition of while," the Advocate says, "is the destitution of color." So Webster defines "destitution of color." Two things agreeing with the one same thing agree with each other; ergo? We have no reason to change our mind regarding the distasteful association of the word colored with the mistake of any Bishop.

THE EXECUTIVE BOARD of the Publication Department was represented at a session last week by elders C. Asbury, J. H. A. Johnson, W. D. Derrick and J. C. Embry, with Bishop Campbell acting chairman by request of Bishop Cain. The business was attended to in a few hours, yet there was good work done. The committee considered the necessity of increasing our stock of literature and periodicals. A great part of the stock that formerly brought a considerable revenue to this establishment is now placed into the hands of the Sunday school department.

The committee on revision of the Discipline met in the Episcopal Rooms Tuesday, 18th inst., Bishop Campbell, elders Arnett, Tanner, Townsend and J. H. A. Johnson being present. The Discipline will be out within a few weeks.

MR. CLEVELAND will not be likely to attend to civil service very closely. There is no doubt that he will have some regard for it. The democratic is not a party of great and healthful reform; it is staid, a sort of "what I said first, I say last" party. It rege the same chimes now that it did thirty years ago, only where the civil and political changes, affected by the republicans in their long reign, render it impossible. fi t is a white man's party in control of a white man's country. The country is not half so consistent with a democratic government as are the principles of our better memories.

THE AMERICAN, (Washington, D. C.), thinks it is forgotten by some that one-half of the people of the United States are as loyal as the other." It would seem that the American had forgotten that one-half of them are not as loyal as the other. fi t required a bloody war to turn the government from the "one-half" to "the other," because of "one-half" disloyalty. "The other" is liable in a spirit becoming the people of a republican government. "The other half" gained the predominance, which it has held so greatly twenty-three years, by its fairness; "the one-half" has "sneaked back into power," according to Mr. George William Curtis.

REV. T. G. STEWARD will deliver an address in Union Church on Thursday, Thanksgiving morning, at 10.30, on the subject: "Are the fears entertained by the colored people of the South unreasonable after all?"

Notes on Education.

William Paul Quinn College has many more students than last year, but is still in need of assistance from the three conferences in the Lone Star district, and from the general Church.

There can scarcely be any doubt that one of the wrong tendencies of our Church is the multiplying of schools more rapidly than its circumstances warrant. The great need of the times is the education of the children that would attend its school within the next fifteen years. Wilberforce, Wilberforce and Paul Quinn College at much higher rates than they have held it should attend school and educate them. So we might say with reference to the Alabama school and the Florida school in their relation to other institutions. Besides this, the tendency to increase from the battle-field, in the intention to break the interest of the general educational work.

ENDOWMENT NOTES.

BY REV. S. T. MITCHELL, A. M.

MR. EDITOR:—I suppose it will be generally conceded that Trinity Church, Wilberforce University, Wilberforce, Ohio, leads the whole connection in her collection for educational purposes. Rev. T. W. Arnett, Jr., A. M., Murphy, N. A. Banks, W. Anderson, Geo. Tillman, J. E. Mars and Mrs. Murphy, to their honored distinction. These young men, with paper and pencil in hand, and zeal and devotion in heart, spared no pains in trying to excel in the contributions of the day. To Mr. J. W. Arnett, who turned over $44, the Executive Board of the Church devoted a term's tuition. What will we expect to do with it? and what will we expect to double fi t and retain our place at the head of the connection.

The Sunday morning, at 10.30, on the subject: "Are the fears entertained by the colored people of the South so unreasonable after all?"

FROM HARRISBURG, PA.

BY JAMES DOUGLASS.

MR. EDITOR:—Bethel A. M. E. Church, Rev. Theodore Gould, pastor, has been renovated and painted, and presents quite an improved appearance, and is a deserved credit to the energy of its new pastor, seconded by Mr. Jamis Douglass and Mr. Joseph Bayley, of the Trustee Board. The basement of the church has been thoroughly repaired, painted and papered and placed in order for the use of the Sabbath School. Beautiful and appropriate mottoes adorn the walls with grand effect. Sunday and 6th Christian sentiment, Sunday, August 31st, at 1 P. M. the room was completely opened for the use of the school with appropriate services. On this occasion it presented a grand appearance, with the walls and pews with the choicest flowers and rare plants and vines arranged in endless profusion; it seemed like a garden of paradise, so beautiful was the behold. The exercises were grand and interesting, consisting of singing and speaking. The Superintendent of the school was ably, inscrutive and beneficial, and was assisted actively by others with admiration. A handsome illustrated Bible, gift of Brother R. Shaw, was presented to Miss Mary J. Simpson, on behalf of the donor, with eloquent and appropriate remarks, which was made by Superintendent, Jos. Barvely, for the school. Sunday morning, at 10.30, we had an inspired all with more than ordinary reverence for the Bible and the success of the Sabbath School as the nursery of the Church of Christ. Recitations were delivered and many things to be rich. well received. The recitation of Mrs. Washington and song of Miss Jennie Bricks, deserve special mention, also a solo which was sung by a daughter of Brother Wm. Wright. The little miss of not more than six summers. Sunday evening the Rev. John Sepperlandest, Jos. Barvely, for the school. son was present and his response was greeted with a hearty response. The pastor of last year, with his many friends, still looming up as a young man of large promise, head of the educational work in the Ohio Conference? What for Union Church, Philadelphia, with the Church's most promising theologian, T. G Steward, D.D. And what shall I say for the scores of students under the Third Episcopal District, who have been stimulated to greater diligence by opportunities of the eleventh hour are yet yours. If you will, you can make the time. Sacred your obligations and go down upon record with those whose fidelity to duty is the true measure of their Christian faith. You will not be alone in the work. A change in Pennsylvania sends in the handsome contribution of $503.35—number in Florida reports to-day $9—$6.75 cents to this office. These returns have thus been coming in ever since the 21st of September. Ministers of the Third Episcopal District, W. D. Derrick, will be required to submit their district in honor at the first meeting of the General Board. You shall I be compelled to submit that while a part of my district have done their duty nobly and with lasting honor to themselves and the church, the larger part have treated with like indifference the authority of the General Conference, the law of the Church, the light of the stock that formerly brought a considerable revenue to this establishment is now placed into the hands of the Sunday school department.

Considering the closeness of finance, the collections were good, realizing $35. The day was a beautiful one, the congregations were good and we want to say that Washington can now boast of a church which, for its exterior beauty and finish, will compare favorably with any. The cost of repairs was $650; of this amount we have paid $225, leaving a balance of $225, which we expect to pay in a few months, and at the latest conference we meet Washington for a station. African Methodism rules Washington in the moral, social and religious influence.

HOW TO USE WEALTH.

Paul had the double knowledge "how to be abased" and "how to abound." The two are not distinctly separable; each in some way intimately related to the other. There is far too little of the knowledge how to abound. Few men who abound come acting how to abound. Few men think it hard enough to get rich, but a very easy thing to be rich. Hence the love of adversity monopolies our thoughts. But it is also true that the man who has wealth, and does not flee from it, but uses it well, does more nobly than he who has it not. He does not come to tall mat of riches to throw away their riches and to flee from all their privileges and responsibilities. Beyond the duty of using wealth is the high duty of knowing how to be anything. No man has a right to be anything, simply as he knows how to be that thing. When Paul says, "I know how to abound," he has a knowledge of anything which makes life pleasant and ample,—money, of course, but ability, of flexibility, of great spiritual hopes and experiences. Paul didn't have all these, and yet he had the knowledge of how to use them. The power to use is the power to be abundance of its dangers was the knowledge of the true perfection of a thing. Paul knew how to do no harm. He knew how to be rich. The generous, sympathetic, artistic, high Christian man knows how to be rich. He has taken possession of life in the true sense, and is more than the blunderer who holds wealth and does not know how to use it. Wealth is a thing we are not to be ashamed of, but should learn how to live. The grand lesson to be learned is how to use it for the best that we have. Sometimes, a rich man feels that he has got far out of his line of money, he would become a better and stouter man. It is the old story of the rich young ruler. He could be a good man at the North Pole. The contrary of the poor is not the rich man, but against rich man who don't know how to be rich. The poor man's generosity and selfishness of wealth make the poor man's heart ache and his blood boil. Christ never blamed the women in this land knew this truth and used it.

There is also needed a knowledge of how to know truth. There is a vast deal of discretion in the use of information, and yet you feel no sentiment. He has no deep convictions, no fire. He has not grown from human. He values his knowledge as a botanist his specimens, and not as a gardener his plants. The highest knowledge comes by experience and devotion to God. It is said if there comes no time when the soul feels itself living by grand principles and dangers—sacred days when the joy is too deep for utterance, when the following of God satisfaction or of reactionary fear and distrust, ff peace and heavenly calm come to you, make them your own by the doing of some great, hardy thing in time of trouble. It is the only tabernacle which a man can make his home in. Some one has called religion an interesting discussion, in which the disputants are participating. Paul never preached the educational sermon. Bishop Brown preached it in his time. Many young Christ educate themselves. Rev. Brown's sermon was a masterpiece of its kind. It was a sermon to the point. The collection was $50. Four persons came forward in his prayed for. Brother Throckmorton is alive to duty. He is the right man in the right place. Revival. We ask the prayers of the church that the banner of the A. M. E. Church may be held up in this place.

CHURCH OPENING AT WASHINGTON C.H., OHIO.

BY MRS. M. E. CARSON.

MR. EDITOR:—I drop you a few words for the paper in regard to the progress of African Methodism in this city. Washington is the county seat of Fayette county, a beautiful little city numbering about six thousand in population, four railroads and quite a business place. This city has just completed a work which has established the A. M. E. Church as the lead of colored churches in the city. Our church was very much out of repair on the outside of our pastoral work at this place thirteen months ago. We commenced last August to repair. A new roof, new altar, flooring about six thousand in paper, new windows, papering walls and ceiling, painting and new carpet has constituted the bulk of repairs. Our church was reopened last Sabbath with services at 11 A. M., preaching by Rev. W. J. Johnson, of Chillicothe. At 2 P. M. preaching by Rev. Bigger, who took his text in the words of Brother Moore and his charge, Willie rather, seem bound to die together.

MEETING OF THE FIRST PRESIDING ELDER DISTRICT OF THE INDIANA ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

BY REV. D. F. ROBERTS.

MR. EDITOR:—Having been appointed by the District Conference of the First Presiding Elder District of the Indiana Annual Conference to report proceedings of the same to your paper, I beg to report as follows:

The Conference convened in Vincennes, Indiana, September 17th inst., at 10 o'clock A. M., Rev. Alfred Jones in the chair. After the conference was duly opened for divine worship, Bishop delivered his address to the brethren and conference in a very able and interesting manner. The manner in which he laid out the work showed that he was conversant with the wants and necessities and condition of people and things in the entire district. He spoke to the brethren of the best terms of the brethren in the district, and congratulated himself on having been appointed to preside over a district the work and men of which he knew so much about. He said that the presiding elder system was something that we did not feel like to do away with. After the conference, but that the General Conference thought differently, and we have had the work of the district for a few years, and to make it a success. Rev. Bishop A. W. Wayman, may God bless him, has put upon the Presiding Elder and ministers of his district much work to do, and has given them their privileges and responsibilities. Beyond the duty of knowing how to be anything. No man has a right to be anything, simply as he knows how to be that thing. OUR NEW BRICK CHURCH.

BY W. F. STEWART.

MR. EDITOR:—The 26th of last June a year, I laid the first brick in the foundation of a new church never before in the service of God in this earth. We told our beloved pastor, Rev. R. B. Bradford, we had not a penny in the treasury.

"We're starting trusting every Jew;
Expecting through a war-way,
Even when our strength is small,
Trusting that is all."

We began the great work for the help of God and the children. By the help of God we completed the walls, shingled and floored the building, and had a jubilee in it Sunday, September 30th, collecting ninety-seven dollars, notwithstanding that fearful disease, yellow fever, came into our city just about the time we began and took from among us two of our best workers and frightened others away from the city. Then we had to stop work and pay off debts, and the annual conference met. That checked our order because we were not able to get our pastor back again. But Bishop A. W. Wayman, may God bless him, sent us back to the work at last, saw fit to return him. He has the prayers of God's people and of A. M. E. Church wherever he is to day. We have the largest and best church in the city of Florida, and when finished will be the finest. It is 42 by 75 and 22 feet to the ceiling. Only not finished in its merits, is the most faithful and best man in the city. He is loved and honored mightily at night, and day after day he is the church fr seven o'clock, and he goes out to see the sick. He is at work as long as he could see. He did not spare himself, but labored for God's people and the church. Brother Martin, though among our people. The people have seem to be very anxious to help him, and he is educated and purrier and will see that we were shaking his hand for the last. And here you, for this moment we are very fortunate for a church here? Rev. J. W. Nixon, (Reading, Berks County, Pa.): "Mr. Editor, I thought it would not be amiss to say a few words in regard to our work and success on the Reading charge. Spiritual and financial. We have had success both in Reading and Fleetstown. We have had a parsonage at Fleetstown. It has been placed; frescoed the ceilings and walls, painted the ceilings with fancy colors, and put in the best of furniture all around the wall with fancy and elegant chairs. The trustees and leader for twelve years. When I came there I found the church in a very low state of affairs. The church was without a pastor, and the members were scattered, and some few buildings on the Sunday after my return from conference, they came up forward and pledged their support of the presiding elder. Financially we are ready for the fourth quarter. The Lord's with us."

Rev. F. P. Gresnies, (Asherville, N. C.): "Asheville is a city of about 5 000. fi t is there the colored churches besides ours. We have a church in Asheville. We was the Court House when we can see it. Our work here is in a state. fi t was organized by Elder Loake. We had intended to have our church built, and up to conference time we failed to do so, though we have the material on the ground. We are hoping to have a pastor at once. We shall support our Annual Conference will be in proportion to its amount it contributes to the Georgetown, Pee-Dee and Yawhenee conference among the native born. Gill-ravilla is owned by colored people; they are all our members. Rev. Lloyd Gaily and I have built the Trinity Church and St. Paul are owned by our people, and they are rapidly building them up."

Can you read the following terrible paragraph without a shudder? It comes from a man who trembles, but he could not read it in the language of downward current: "There is a dark eclipse, not of the sun, but of Sunday. Do not you read in the newspapers of the time? No star of the fig has already lost its sacred light and parsed under the coming shadow. California has included Men and Women in the Sabbath book. Our utter disregard of what we have to Sabbath. The theaters in Chicago and Cincinnati are open and doing a rushing business on the Sabbath. The railways have no Sabbath. The dime-at-the-gate, Sunday excursion camp-meetings have no Sabbath. Even the stores and groceries are open now for Sunday trade where one was open ten years ago. What will it be ten years from now? What class of people are most responsible for this condition of things? How can a reaction be brought about? Such questions forces themselves on every thoughtful mind. Meanwhile the heavens are darkening, and the earth growing ghastly, and shall with the coming eclipse."—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF MARIETTA DISTRICT.

BY REV. RICHARD GRAHAM.

MR. EDITOR:—After serving four years as presiding elder of the Griffin District, I was made sad by being appointed to Marietta District. Bishop Dr. Johnson, my predecessor, gave me much encouragement, and I became I had not outlived him that I would be so sorry to leave. He might have met me. The hospitality of Brother Williams is all that anyone could wish.

Obituary.

THE LATE REV. I. D. CROSBY.

When in attendance upon the Indiana Conference, at the session held last September, in Detroit, our attention was at rested to the and condition of Rev. I. D. Crosby. Though a comparatively a young man, he was evidently in the last stage of consumption. What was more distressing, he was also in destitute circumstances, and seemingly all no-friends. Our heart was filled, if fi t is a Christian sense, with sympathy for the brother. He received a donation from the conference, and the result is a development of the moral beauties usually possessed.

"When did you discover Corinne's remarkable talent?" was asked of Mrs. Kimball.

"I can hardly remember the time when her eyes would not sparkle at the sound of music; she began to sing before she could talk plain. But the first time I ever did she created a sensation and received the prize of a gold chain and locket at the close of the session of the National baby show in Boston. Next day the papers were full of it. Mrs. Brown's Bridge Band, and in 1870 Corinne was the soprano of the Centennial in the Juvenile Pleafore Company, and she has sung in opera and played various parts ever since."—Chicago World.

The New York public was surprised a few years ago at the arrest, at the instigation of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, of Mrs. Corinne, the child actress, and her little girl, less than eight years old, was taken from her parents and kept in confinement until released by order of the Supreme Court, after a term of days. He was presided over by the annual
